Poppy time

Members of the Ryley Legion Auxiliary were about busy last week to sell poppies to the public. There are also poppie displays throughout the communities of Tofield, Ryley and Holden. Services will be held this Friday, Nov. 11, in all three communities. (See story for details). photo by Kroetsch

Teachers favour strike

by Ken Kroetsch

Bargaining agents for the Elk Island teachers and their school boards met Monday for further negotiations and to decide what direction would be taken in the near future.

Winston Nettleton, bargaining agent for the ATA, said the final decision of that meeting was to go away and analyze each others' position and come back and meet at the bargaining table at a later date.

No date has been set for this. "We want to explore every opportunity and possibility before we do it (go on strike)," said Nettleton.

Nettleton said there is no position on a strike date at this time.

Elk Island Teachers met last week for a strike vote, voting 78% in favor of a strike action. There were 641 full and part-time teachers who voted on this decision.

Nettleton felt this vote clearly gave the message that the school board should be concerned.

The Elk Island Teachers have been without a contract since Dec. 31, 1982.

The teachers are asking for a 5½ per cent increase, to be within $50 of the provincial average. The school board has offered a 1½ per cent increase.

Home, School organized

. . . for Holden area

by Ken Kroetsch

The Holden and District Home and School Association was organized and the Future of Holden School committee was disbanded at an organizational meeting of the new association last week in Holden.

By an almost unanimous vote, parents attending the meeting ushered in the new association with the election of officers and the setting of membership fees.

Susan Tymchak was voted in as president of the HDHSA; Ron Mulick is vice-president; Fay Kraus is secretary; and Don MacKenzie is the treasurer.

Also formed was a three-person membership committee to co-ordinate a membership drive in the community. Pauline MacKenzie, Joyce Wilkinson and Jeanette Fleming will be co-ordinating the drive.

The goal set for the membership committee is 100 families to belong to the association. At the meeting, there were 30 families that joined. There are an estimated 176 families with children attending the Holden School.

Membership fees for the HDHSA have been set at $5 per year for family membership. Individual fees were set at $2.50 per year.

It was also moved that the newly formed association be affiliated with the Alberta Federation of Home and Schools.

The move to join the AFHS was made after it was explained that because there were many groups such as Holden members of the AFHS there would be more political clout and resources to draw on when needed.

The provincial group also keeps parents up to date on policies and how they reflect on the parents and students.

In closing remarks, the new vice-president, Ron Mulick, urged parents to attend the school board meeting to get to know the school system.

Volunteers were asked for to attend the school board meeting to bring back first-hand information to the rest of the group.

The next meeting of the HDHSA has been set for Dec. 1st.

Some suggestions, for consideration at future meetings, for activities and assistance by the association included supervision of sports events and other activities, the hosting of special events and activities and to help purchase school equipment and material that might be needed.

Another suggestion offered would be to help the school set up non-credit courses at the school, for adults.

These suggestions, it was pointed out, are only suggestions and will have to be dealt with at a future time to decide whether or not they will be used.

Remembrance Day planned

by Ken Kroetsch

This Friday, war veterans, their families and friends will meet throughout the country to honor courageous soldiers who gave their lives for their country, by holding services on Remembrance Day.

Already there has been a number of poppy displays set up around communities around the country. Poppies are sold for whatever the buyer is prepared to pay.

The money from the sale of these poppies is then used to help war veterans, their wives and their families, to insure their welfare is taken care of.

TOFIELD

In Tofield, everyone taking part in the services will meet in the Legion Hall at 10:30 a.m. and then march to the Community Hall for services at 11 a.m.

If the day is warm, there will be another march to the cenotaph for a wreath laying ceremony. If the weather is poor, then the wreath laying ceremony will be held in the Community Hall.

The Cubs, Scouts, Beavers, Guides and Brownies will be helping the wreath layers.

RYLEY

The services in Ryley will start at 11 p.m. at the cenotaph at the Legion Hall.

From the cenotaph, all those attending will march to the Community Hall for services.

The services will be conducted by Rev. Sid Haugen. Following the services, everyone will gather in the Legion Hall for a pot-luck dinner.

HOLDEN

In Holden, everyone will meet in the Legion Hall at 11 a.m. and march to the cenotaph for the laying of the wreaths.

After this ceremony, everyone will march to the Community Hall for services. After the services, Legion members will go back to the Legion for lunch.

Fashion show set

by Ken Kroetsch

The Tofield Fashion Show will be held for the fifth year in a row next Tuesday, at 7:30 p.m. in the Tofield Community Hall.

The fashion show is sponsored by the Hearthstone and Aspen Textiles. There will be many articles modeled by customers who have made their own apparel.

Many of these garments will have been either handmade or handknit, said Josie Aubrey, owner of Aspen Textiles.

The guest speaker this year will be Home Economist Maureen Bauman. She will be talking on proper management of craft and sewing workspace.

This year, along with serving tea for the show, the Tofield Dance School will be having a dance display.

There will also be a display by the library of craft and sewing books that are available for borrowing through the library.

Last year, there were approximately 25 models out to show the items they made.

New organization

Bit off too much?

Did Premier Bennett bite off too much? Is he trying too quickly to effect the major changes he feels are essential in the British Columbia civil service situation? Is he trying to go too far too fast?

Or is he hitting the B.C. unions where they are most vulnerable, where it hurts most?

Certainly the way they are fighting back, and the way Alberta's civil service union is coming to their aid, would suggest that the union leaders, as distinct from the union members, are fighting for their union lives.

Not all their members, it seems, are as sure they're right as their leaders would like to believe, and there is some doubt that support of the B.C. teachers will continue for long.

Despite a good deal of inconvenience to the public generally, it seems the largest part of the public, probably in B.C., and certainly in Alberta, is sympathetic to the long range goals of the government, even if they may feel the methods are a little hasty, a good deal more positive than is essential.

We don't know the overall situation in B.C. nearly as well as we do that in Alberta, and it may be that the government there had become entirely fed up with the attitude of labor that nothing could stop it. Watching from the Prairies, watching things like the ferries, the grain elevator problems, the woodworkers, and so on, led many of us to believe that union leaders, if not union workers or union wives, had lost sight of reason, had lost sight of economics, of the need to earn a dollar before you can pay a dollar, and the need to keep on working at the job, rather than relying on strike pay or Unemployment Insurance.

The feeling of the union leaders came through crystal clear, it seemed, in a statement only last night by one of them to the effect he felt the Pope would support the beleaguered worker in British Columbia as he had done in Poland, and he prayed for the workers there. And in that statement, surely, he gave the game away. Anyone who can compare the highly paid, fat-of-the-land worker in B.C. with the hunger-ridden, poverty-stricken overworked laborer in Poland shows clearly how restricted is his viewpoint, how uncomprehending is his view.

Premier Bennett may be striving for too much too quickly, but it is certain that in the long run he has the majority of the public with him. He might have been better off, seizing one small point at a time.

Thanks to foster parents

Dear Sir:

This week, November 6 to 12, is Foster Parent Week in Alberta, a week when foster parents are being recognized for the significant contributions they make to the lives of less fortunate children in our province.

I would like to take this opportunity to publicly thank our foster parents in Central Alberta. Being a parent is demanding. Being a foster parent can be doubly so.

We ask foster parents to take in children. In an emergency, that request can come at any time of the day — or night.

We ask them to love these children as they love their own, to feed them, care for them, and give them emotional support.

And we ask them to be ever prepared to have these children leave their care, to go back to their parents, or perhaps to adoptive parents.

Foster parents are special people. They deserve our heart-felt gratitude. They have mine.

Parents can choose

1834 Centennial Drive
Wetaskiwin, Alberta
T9A 2L7

Dear Sir,

A recent letter to this newspaper complained that parents have no choice in deciding "... what secondary language, if any, their children will be taught." My experience as a parent has shown that there are, in fact, several choices, the most obvious of which is to keep your child out of a second language class altogether.

The immersion program is available in Wetaskiwin because a group of parents got together, formed an organization and worked hard to establish it. The language of instruction in French because that is the language these parents chose. In Edmonton, a similar group of parents established a program in which the language of instruction is Ukrainian. That was their choice.

If parents want their children to learn "... Ukrainian, Italian, Polish, German, or Chinese ..." may I suggest that they organize themselves and find out if there is sufficient support in their community for such a program.

Sincerely,
Jan Thompson

Remember the Men Who Came Home

by Alice E. Chase

They fought on land and in the air,
On battleships at sea,
They went wherever they were sent
To meet the enemy.
They left behind them all the things
They treasured and held dear
And learned to steel themselves
Against their loneliness and fear.
They fought in many different wars,
Some well before our time.
And millions of them lost their lives
Before they reached their prime.
On Veteran's Day we honor them,
Our brave heroic dead,
But what of the men who lived
And made it home instead?
Still carrying their battle scars,
Yet trying hard to find
Some vestige of the world they knew
And had to leave behind.
They aren't seeking medals.
Praise doesn't pay their bills.
They want a job to go to —
A way to use their skills.
What better time than Veteran's Day
To recognize their needs
And show our willingness to help
Not just with word but deeds?
So as we pause to honor
Our brave heroic dead,
Let's pledge support for those who fought
And made it home instead!

The above poem was given to the Camrose Branch of the Royal Canadian Legion three years ago in hopes that it could be used to encourage readers to remember Remembrance Day, and to continue to support those Veterans and their dependants who still need all the help we can give them.

Stifling dissent

Opposition Leader Dave Barrett wasn't alone when he was dragged out of the B.C. legislature last week — a sense of fairness went out with him.

Nothing except the most offensive conduct can justify expelling a parliamentarian, and Barrett's conduct was hardly offensive — at least not to people who believe in democracy.

Barrett earned the wrath of acting speaker John Parks and Speaker Walter Davidson by asking that a ruling by Parks be put to a vote. Barrett's challenge was entirely legitimate. As an elected member of the legislature and as the NDP leader, Dave Barrett had a right to challenge the speaker.

B.C. residents should demand that Barrett be permitted to re-enter the legislature. Barrett must be reinstated so that this episode is viewed as an aberration and not as a precedent.

If not overturned, the expulsion may threaten the democratic fabric of British Columbia. If opponents of the government feel stifled when they play by democratic rules, they may feel inclined to ignore these rules in future.

This must be allowed to happen in B.C., Ontario, or any other part of this nation.

Fire losses drop

by Ken Kroetsch

The month of October was a quiet month in regards to fires. The only fire for this month was a small grass fire in the area of the new Gospel Church. The fire is suspected to have been started by children playing with matches.

Although it was quiet in regards to fires, the fire department was busy during the month of October.

At the beginning of the month there was the rescue seminar which was held over a two-day period. Several firemen from the Tofield Fire Department took part in the exercises as well as other firemen from other areas. There was also involvement from ambulance and RCMP personnel.

Following the rescue seminar, firemen were actively involved in Fire Prevention Week. The Tofield Fire Department had a display set up at the library during this week with pamphlets and information on fire prevention.

To end Fire Prevention Week, Tofield firemen had their annual Firemen's Ball.

Approximately 175 people attended the dance.

During Fire Prevention Week, the fire department gave out stickers to put on the telephone for emergency numbers. There are still stickers available, which can be picked up at the Town Office.

League opens

A new season in the Beaverhill Hockey League got underway on the past weekend.

Lamont will play in Mundare on Friday night while Tofield Satellites will be at home to Vegreville on Saturday night.

Tuesday contests will see Holden at home to Vegreville while Tofield travels to Lamont.

Two games were played on Saturday night in Tofield and Lamont when the 1983/84 schedule officially got underway.

In a tight defensive battle in Tofield, the Satellites were edged 2-1 by Mundare.

Holden travelled over to Lamont where they were whipped 10-3 by the home team.

Last night (Tuesday), Tofield hosted Holden while Vegreville played in Mundare with results to be reported next week.

Spilstead district news items

by Louise Berube

Ninety-one guests attended the Community Hallowe'en party organized by the Pathfinders. Children from toddlers to teenagers enjoyed the games while the adults enjoyed coffee and sandwiches. This, judging by the response, will become an annual event.

Sandra and Michael Goldie became the proud parents of a boy, Lyle Richard Michael, born Oct. 28 in Tofield General Hospital.

The Spilstead Cubs, Scouts and Pathfinders will be taking part in the Legion's Remembrance Day parade. The Scouts are also busy building bird feeders for the Ladies Society bazaar on Nov. 19th.

There was a rather small turnout for the Community League's general meeting but a lot of issues were discussed. It was decided to look into setting the skating rink up but on a smaller scale. A decision will be made after a few things are looked into.

With the many activities booked at the hall for November and December it was decided to hold the open house and whist drive after Christmas. Suggestions were also made as to guests for the Dec. 6th general meeting.

Moe Fisher volunteered to keep a scrap book of community activities.

Eldon Heflin gave the financial report and informed the group of the cost of setting up the Cubs, Scouts and Pathfinders.

The subject of vandalism etc. was also brought up. The hall is for the community so it was requested that anyone seeing anything of a suspicious nature to please check it out or call one of the members of your executive. They are: Gordon Lang 662-3509; Charlie Ray 662-2107; Terry Ziegler 662-2899; Eldon Heflin 662-2441; Birdie Brunner 662-2791; Doreen Ladouceur 662-2569; and Louise Berube 662-2136.

In the volleyball tournament in Holden on Saturday, Ryley Jr. High School girls came third.

The Ryley Junior High School girls won their volleyball game in Viking against the Viking team last Thursday, 3 games out of 5.

My apologies to Willie and Lorene Wideman. The paper left out Lorene's family in writeup about their 40th wedding anniversary held in the Salome Mennonite Church on Oct. 30. Her sister's Mildred and husband Gordon Buschert and Edna and her husband Neil Good of Carstairs, also her brother John and Dorothy Maurer of Tofield. Sisters Erma Mast of Glendive, Montana and Freda Voegtlin were unable to attend.

A supper was served at Marilyn Campbell's on Sunday evening, her guests being Wilfred and Carol Helgeland of Camrose, her Mom and Stan and Uncle and Aunt from Ryley.

The Senior Citizen Centre held their tea, bake sale and bazaar on Saturday. A large crowd turned to view the sewing, crocheting and other handwork, baked goods and enjoyed a lunch. Door prize winner was Kathleen Anderson and Signart Snortheim won the quilt raffle.

Last rites are held for Alfred Solberg

Alfred Oliver Solberg of the Autumn Lodge, in Berwyn, passed away in Berwyn Hospital on October 17, aged 88 years, from stomach cancer and heart failure.

His wife, Clara "Lyslo" Solberg passed away in 1978; and a son, Sam and daughter, Adeline also passed away a few years ago.

He leaves to mourn his passing, his daughter Beulah and grandchildren; a sister-in-law, Julia Anderson of Ryley; and a brother-in-law, Albert Lyslo of Kelowna, B.C.

Funeral service was held in the United Church in Worsley on Oct. 19, with Rev. Glen Simmonds officiating.

His favorite hymns "What a Friend We Have In Jesus", "Abide with Me" and "Amazing Grace" were played by organist, Deloras Hudak.

Alfred was known by many in Ryley and area.

Pallbearers were Arthur Murphy, Edward Erickson, Gerald Rowe, Ivan French, Keith Thompson and Harry Turner.

Interment was in Worsley Cemetery.

The Moran Funeral Home, Fairmont, handled all arrangements.

THANK YOU

Thank you to all my friends and relatives for their visits and cards and Doctor Lees and nurses and staff in the University Hospital while a patient there also a special thank you to Dr. Toliver and nurses and staff in Tofield Hospital and daughter Laura and Henry for having Elmer with them while I was gone.

Thank you.

Toros get split

The County (Camrose) Senior Hockey League opened its regular schedule on the past weekend.

Tofield Toros got off to a reasonably good start with a split in their first two outings.

After absorbing a 6-3 loss at the hands of Camrose in Tofield on Friday night, Toros went to Camrose on Sunday where they doubled the league's new entry, Nurse-ette, by an identical 6-3 count.

Toros will be at home to Kingman on Friday night and travel to Camrose for a game on Sunday.

A Monday night contest in Tofield will see Nurs-ette face Kingman.

Toros scored three unanswered goals in the middle period enroute to their victory over Nurs-ette.

Gilbert picked up a hat-trick for the Toros while Loshack had a pair and the single was scored by Jenkins. Toros outshot the Camrose team by a 46-39 margin.

Tofield got goals from Garner, Hudon and Loshack in their 6-3 loss to Camrose.

Tofield RCMP report

by Cst. R. Bell

Over the months of September and October, the RCMP Detachment has opened and investigated in excess of 300 new files.

With hunting season open and at present in full swing, we have issued 22 Firearm Acquisition Certificates.

Unfortunately, we have received numerous complaints from land owners of people trespassing and hunting. Most people in this area do not object to people hunting on their land as long as permission is granted by the land owner. If you do hunt, familiarize yourself with the appropriate regulations and use respect.

When hunting on other people's property, take the time to find out where buildings and machinery are located. These hunting ethics will insure the hunting privileges for future generations.

Conducting Alberta Check Stops on our highways have resulted in six charges of impaired driving, ten 24-hour suspensions, eight liquor tickets and 15 traffic notices being handed out.

While on the subject of driving, we have investigated five dangerous driving complaints, conducted 10 vehicle identification number checks and issued 163 tickets in regards to Highway Traffic Act violations.

Members of this Detachment over the last two months have responded to 50 motor vehicle accidents. Two of these were fatals and approximately 20% of the accidents had serious injuries.

Keeping the number of accidents in mind and the fact that snow will soon be on the ground, we would like to remind you, be prepared for winter driving. This might be the time for tune-ups, snow tires as well as blankets, first aid kit, rope, sand, shovel, flashlight, flares and booster cables in the trunk can't hurt.

Among other complaints were 53 assistance calls, 36 warrants/summons/subpoenas, 26 thefts, 15 mischiefs and 8 break and enters.

It seems that Hallowe'en was a good one. This Detachment received no complaints in regards to the festivities, other than minor littering.

Most of the cases we investigated originate from the public and with your continued co-operation, the majority will be solved.

Hastings Lake

The annual turkey supper at the Hall on Saturday waqs even more popular than usual, the large crowd including friends and visitors from Edmonton and St. Albert. The tradition of home-made food was continued, with fresh-dug potatoes and turnips, and home-baked pies, but the family fireworks were an innovation.

The Ladies' Club will be meeting at the Hall on Thursday at 1 p.m., when there will be a speaker from the Sherwood Park Women's Shelter.

Fires must be reported

by Ken Kroetsch

There are a lot of minor fires each year that aren't reported that, by law, under the Fire Prevention Act, must be reported, said County of Beaver Fire Chief, Laurie Weatherill.

"Basically, regardless of how small a fire, people are required to report it," said Weatherill.

Under the Fire Prevention Act, a fire must be reported within 10 days of the incident.

If the property is insured, the insurance company will report the fire to the proper authorities, said Weatherill.

For a fire that isn't insured or, is too small to make a claim, the responsibility of reporting the fire to the proper authorities is upon the property owner.

If the property owner doesn't report a fire they can be guilty of an offence under the Fire Prevention Act and can be fined a maximum of $100, said Weatherill.

When a report of a fire is received it is the responsibility of the fire department to investigate the fire, whether the fire department had responded to the fire or not.

"The conclusion of his investigation would be to file a report with the Fire Commissioner's office," said Weatherill.

All this information is then tabulated on a computer across Canada to find common situations that are arising.

"For example they may find a certain type of toaster is causing fires across the country," said Weatherill.

When trends arise they are dealt with by the Fire Commissioner's Office and preventative action is instigated.

If anyone has a fire, that was not responded to by the fire department, they can report it to the Fire Commissioner's office at 427-8393 or can phone their local fire chief who will provide assistance.

Easy save

Even though the Satellite goalie made some fantastic saves, Mundare Sabres beat the Tofield team 2-1 in the first game of the season last Saturday night.

School news

TOFIELD — Report cards go home on Nov. 15.

Parent interviews are on Nov. 17 from 2:30 to 9:30 p.m. with a supper break at six o'clock.

If a parent has an elementary student, an appointment may be made by calling the school.

Appointments for Junior High and Senior High students are not necessary. Mr. Petruk and Mrs. Kropielnicki will be here in the evening.

Tofield High School hosted it's second annual volleyball tournament recently. After round-robin play, Tofield and Devon girls met in the final with the strong Devon team emerging victorious.

The boys' final matched Ryley and Tofield. After losing the first game, Tofield fought back to win two games and take the championship trophy.

Tofield will be hosting both the Central East Zone championships and the county tournament in the next week.

Today (Wednesday) teams from Bawlf, Dayaland, New Sarepta and Tofield will play off to pick a representative for Zones in Devon on Nov. 19.

County tournament will be held on Saturday.

Minor hockey teams organize in Tofield

by Ken Kroetsch

There are 134 boys registered in the Tofield Minor Hockey League on seven teams that have been organized from six and under to 16 years old, said Minor Hockey President, Kye Christensen.

Four of the teams, two Pee Wee teams, Bantams and Midgets will be playing in the Highway 14 Hockey League, while the other teams, Tom Thumbs, Mighty Mites, and Mites will be playing exhibition games throughout the season, said Christensen.

Those teams playing in the Highway 14 League started their first games last week.

The executive for Minor Hockey this year are Kye Christensen, president; Ed Deepel, vice-president; Fred Bunny, 2nd vice-president; Carol Deepel, secretary; and Lacy Anderson, treasurer.

Author will visit

by Ken Kroetsch

Author June Bathia, better known by her pseudonym, Helen Forrester, will be visiting Tofield on Tuesday to talk about her craft.

She will be meeting with the school students in the afternoon to discuss her books and to talk to the students about writing.

At 3 p.m. Bathia will be in the Public Library to read from her books and will be open to questions from the public on writing and on publishing of a work.

Bathia has sold several books under her own name and under pseudonyms like Helen Forrester, J. Rana and June Edwards.

Originally from England, Bathia now calls Edmonton her home.

She has received achievement awards from both the City of Edmonton and the Province of Alberta.

One of the books written by Bathia, By the Waters of Liverpool, recently sold in excess of 250,000 copies in one month. Other books written by Bathia include the Latchkey Kid and Liverpool Daisy.

Holden and district news

by Mrs. G.H. Taylor

Roy Oberg was a visitor with Harry Olson for a few days before Harry left on his trip.

Mrs. Olive Good and Mrs. Mary Hardy were recent Sunday visitors in Leduc, visiting with Olive's family, Judy and Gene Dandala and grandchildren and later calling on their old friend, Mrs. Beth Campbell, a resident in Extendicare Nurses' Home.

Harry Olson left last week to spend the winter months in Costa Rica where he has a home. Herbie Olson of Camrose is staying in the house here until Harry returns in the spring.

Mr. and Mrs. George Taylor were Sunday guests with their son and family, Robert and Merle Taylor, Saylor and Aaron of Viking. Also visitors with them were Merle's sister and family, Linda and Willie Chrystian, daughters Tabitha, Samantha and son Joey of Camrose, formerly of South Holden.

Mrs. Ethel Fleming is home after being a patient for several days in Tofield Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Semotiuk of Red Deer have been receiving congratulations on the birth of their first born, a son, a grandson for Mary and John Semotiuk.

Mr. and Mrs. Gary Semotiuk have been receiving congratulations on the birth of their first child, a daughter, Melanie Lynn, who was born on Oct. 3rd, the first grandchild for Nestor and Nancy Semotiuk.

Alex Shelmiski is a patient in Tofield Hospital.

Mrs. Frances Hanson, a resident in Viking Nursing Home, was spending Saturday and Sunday at home.

Mrs. Sirgina Sizer is back from a trip to Calgary and Vancouver visiting there with her sister, Nina, a former Holdenite, going with her daughter and husband, Lorraine and Alvin Knudson.

Word has been received last week that Mrs. Sirgina Sizer, after her return from her trip to Vancouver, had had a fall and broke her hip.

Alan and Bobbi-Jo Tiedemann, daughter Sherry and son Shane of Edmonton were visiting during the weekend with their parents, Helen and Jim Zwierschke.

Ladies of the Royal Canadian Legion Auxiliary were selling Poppies on Saturday.

Ryley seniors get New Horizons grant

The Ryley Sunshine Club has received a grant from the New Horizons program.

The grant amounted to $13,382.

The money will be used to expand the existing senior citizens center in the village.

Included in the expansion program will be the addition of carpet bowling, disking, floor curling, floor shuffleboard, table tennis, physical fitness area, films and ceramics.

This is the tenth year of operation for the New Horizons program.

Since the program began, senior citizens groups in Alberta have received 1,301 grants for a total amount of $8,332,858.

Sale is held

Last Wednesday the 16th annual Four Star Polled Hereford Production Sale was held at the Howard Brown farm.

This year, the entire sale offering was from the breeding establishment HB Polled Herefords of Tofield.

The 33½ lots of bred cows and yearling heifers, heifer and bull calves sold for an average price of $980.63.

The cattle sold widely throughout Alberta, Saskatchewan and to Nova Scotia.

Local buyers were TV Polled Herefords, John Wood, Eldon Jeffrey, and A.C. Francis.

Meant for last week

The annual Hallowe'en dance was a gala affair, held in the hall last Saturday evening. The walls were decorated appropriately with witches, goblins, owls, and an added attraction was a large spider web made of baler twine, with a black spider and a fly in it.

Judges found it most difficult to choose prize winners from the many who came in costume.

For the most comical were a mother and her baby, who only a mother could love, in a wheelbarrow. The mother was Ian Ratcliffe and the baby Grant Wilson who played his part very well.

Most original man, as a banana who was Steve Forton.

Most original lady, as an orange Clare Padley.

Group, the Beetles, the Heilman sisters, Beverly, Leanna and Paula and a friend Paul Kyline.

Couple, Beekeepers, Baden and Joyce Bowerman.

Best ladies, Leopard skin lady, Evelyn Penman and Darlene Niles as a gal of the roaring 20's.

Best men, Leopard skin man, Larry Penman, and grapeman was Ray Looper.

After the judging was finished, a lovely supper was served by hostesses Olivine Sears, Margaret Paterson, Barbara Horricks, Margaret Jeske and Carol Dekinder.

Darlene and Debbie Brett and Crystal Dekinder assisted with the dishes.

A young peoples dance was announced to take place on Nov. 19th.

Many trick and treaters were out on Hallowe'en evening.

Rec Board seeks grant

. . . to compile data

by Ken Kroetsch

The Tofield Recreation Board has applied for a Canada Works Project Grant to hire three people to gather information and compile it for Tofield program services.

Board members were told that the work would centre especially around the library and recreational services.

After this information would be gathered, it would be the job of the three-person committee to produce a summary of the collected information.

They would also be responsible to distribute the brief to users and potential users and to establish the mechanics for a follow-up and update of the brief.

One of the main uses of the brief, at this point of time, is for the library breakdown of county users vs. town users, the board was told.

The library board is trying to get county funding for the library and the brief would give their bid for funds more justification. There are grants available at this time through the county for libraries that aren't being sought for because there is not a county library board.

The cost of the survey would be undertaken by the Federal Government.

The application has to be approved by the Federal Government before the Recreation Board can advertise the job positions. After this approval has been given, and applications received, then the applicants would be screened down to three people and submitted to the Federal Government for their approval.

In other board business, Tom Lyle was named the new board chairman, replacing Laurie Weatherill.

A delegation from the Fairground Advisory Board was in to see the board as to concerns the board had expressed from the last meeting.

The concern of the Recreation Board at the last meeting was that if the Fairground Advisory Board was going to handle funds then it should be an operational board instead of an advisory board.

The concern came after a user fee was collected then returned.

Delegate Jim Neufeld said the reason this was done was that when the fee had been collected there was no policy for user fees and therefore they had to give the money back.

He said the consensus at the time is that the Fairground Advisory Board would like to continue as an advisory board and not as an operational board.

The question of a user fee was raised as a recommendation from the Fairground Advisory Board to the Recreation Board to implement to help with the costs of maintenance of the fairgrounds. At the present time, 100% of the maintenance costs are picked up by the town.

A solution is being sought to share these costs with the people who are using the fairgrounds. The matter was tabled for further consideration in the future.

Kathy Bunny was in to see the board members about the Tofield Gym Club program.

She had concerns over the Rec Board taking over the gym club program. The board said this had not been their intention, but that they had been concerned about public opinion concerning the club's organization.

The board said there had been concerns that the gym club wasn't a club, but was a private business.

Bunny informed council that this matter was no longer an issue since an executive, with Darlene Dalinger as president, had been formed.

The Recreation Board said now this had been cleared up then the Recreation Board would recognize the gym club as a club.

Concerning what the $500 the Tofield Fire Department donated will be used for, Parks and Recreation Coordinator Jackie Dumouchel said they are back at square one as to what the money should be used for.

It had been suggested the money be used for a sound system to be used by the various clubs in the community but, said Dumouchel, this isn't a priority any more since some of the clubs have bought their own sound system.

CARDS OF THANKS

I wish to extend my personal and most sincere thanks to all our friends, neighbors and relatives for their kind expressions of sympathy through floral tributes, memorial and charitable donations, during my recent loss of my dear wife Ann Tkaczyk.

Special thanks to Fr. D. Zachareasevych, Fr. J. Kratko, Cantor J. Slechninski, Raymond Riffond for a hymn, Kevin Komarniski for digging grave, pallbearers, Park Memorial and ladies of St. Mary's for preparing & serving dinner. Your thoughtfulness and kindness will always be remembered and appreciated.

–Nick Tkaczyk 11p-4792

We would like to thank all the people who helped us celebrate our 40th wedding anniversary. Special thanks to our children and grandchildren, to the ladies who served and provided food, for the gifts, flowers and many cards. The meeting of old and new friends was most enjoyable. Life is good!

–Harold & Lilly Schultz 11p-6220

We wish to thank all those who through their love, prayers, kindness, thoughts, visits and donations shared in our recent bereavement, the loss of husband, father and grandfather, Fred Hostettler. May God bless you all.

County board plans for teacher strike

by Ken Kroetsch

The County of Beaver School Board has set in place a contingency plan for the county in the event of a teacher's strike, at their regular meeting last week.

A co-ordinating committee, consisting of School Board Chairman John Warner, Superintendent Bill Schoeman and deputy-superintendent Don Kondrat, has been organized to put the plan in to effect in the event of a strike.

A communication strategy was established deciding who should answer the phone, who will say what, and who will give updates and notifications for the committee. Bill Schoeman will be the spokesman of the committee, with all things going through the committee for approval in the event of a strike.

Another area of the plan deals with how students will be dealt with prior to and during a strike.

One option open to students in the event of a strike is to register in another school jurisdiction.

Other options open to students include hiring a private tutor and correspondence school for the duration of a strike.

Also under the plan a teacher would have to outline up to three weeks work and assignments for the students before going on strike.

If the need exists there will be one of the school libraries left open for students to have access to reference material.

Another part of the plan will deal with non-striking employees and how a strike would affect them.

And finally, the plan deals with securing school after the school is closed due to a strike.

In an interview after the meeting, new superintendent Bill Schoeman said the plan was put in to effect because the school board has a responsibility to the students and the non-striking employees to have a plan in place in the event of a teacher's strike.

At present negotiations are continuing between teachers and trustees. Strike action has been ratified by teachers, but Approaches concern council

by Ken Kroetsch

Concerns were raised over the unsafe conditions of the approaches coming into the Town of Tofield at a regular meeting of Tofield Town Council last Monday night.

The concern was expressed by several councillors that at night it is difficult to judge where the approach is into town.

Councillor Ed Regehr said that at night when a person meets an oncoming car that the approach can't be seen at all.

The consensus of council is that lights should be installed on both accesses to Town, but should be done by the Department of Highways and not by the town.

It was recommended that a letter be sent to the Department of Highways requesting a letter of their intention concerning this matter.

Other concerns over the new highway is the signs coming into the communnity aren't accurate and another concern expressed is who will be responsible for maintenance of the access road.

RSTV Cable have informed council that they are putting a temporary hold on their proposal to go ahead with cable in Tofield.

The reason given for the temporary hold on the cable is that RSTV is waiting for formal approval from the CRTC for the proposed American stations, before proceeding as planned.

Meanwhile, RSTV representatives have expressed they would like to enter into a lease agreement with the Town of Tofield for the location of their tower, satellite dish and building for their equipment.

The proposed site for the location of this equipment is the Sewer Lift Station on the east end of town.

RSTV have expressed they would like to enter into an agreement soon so they can pour the cement pads for the installation of their equipment.

Council approved in principle the agreement, giving RSTV the go ahead to install the cement pads.

Third and final reading was given to by-law 834 to enter into a ten-year agreement with Northwestern Utilities.

Before signing the agreement the town had requested that a compaction clause be added to the agreement.

The agreement has been renewed every ten years since 1993.

Council has requested that Tofield Industrial Development give a letter of credit for 100% of the construction cost for the proposed industrial development to the south of Tofield.

This request came after concerns were raised that lots could be sold and the developer not finishing the

Freebury feted

by Ken Kroetsch

The location for Dr. Freebury's Appreciation night has been changed to the Community Hall, from the Golden Club Senior's Drop-in Centre.

The change in location was made at the regular council meeting by councillors after concerns were raised about not enough room in the drop-in centre for the number of people that were expected to come.

The evening will be held tonight (Wednesday) from 8 p.m. to 10 p.m.

The evening is planned to recognize the 27 years Dr. Freebury has served as mayor and the three years he has served as councillor.

Walter Buck, MLA for the Tofield area and a representative from Alberta Municipal Affairs have been invited to attend, as well as the public.

Tough new act

It will be highly interesting to see if Ottawa's minister, Hon. Mark McGuigan, makes good on his proposal to institute exceedingly tough new anti-drinking legislation.

Almost as if he had just discovered how dreadful is the situation, Mr. McGuigan is suggesting implementation of measures far more stringent than anything ever yet contemplated in Canada, to the extent he is proposing that drivers guilty of causing death on the highways when legally impaired be denied a driver's license for the rest of their life.

Other similarly tough penalties are proposed for lesser crimes.

What will be most interesting is the response such legislation would receive from law enforcement agencies, such as the police, the courts, and from the general public.

It is thought police forces have been wanting something similar for years, if only they could get courts to accept the charges, and to convict.

All too often, they feel, the courts do not view the situation with such seriousness, or they seem to feel the penalties are so severe as not to be inflicted. In the inability to gain convictions under these cases, police forces have resorted to the unwelcome tactic of laying much less serious charges, but ones which they feel the courts will accept.

But it is remarkable how courts seem to be political, too, in some measure, in that they eventually tend to reflect popular opinion on issues of the day.

And there can be little doubt but what more and more people are coming to view drinking and driving as a very serious crime indeed. If the penalties are made more severe and if the public keeps on demanding more severity, it's just possible the message might trickle up to the judges and be heard.

Surely the day is past when a slaughter through driving can be satisfied with a mere $1,500 fine!

It's almost hard to believe that Amway officials could be so cynical as has been demonstrated in the courts, or that they could show so little contrition when they were found out in having successfully evaded many many millions of dollars in Customs duties in goods imported into Canada.

One official, reviewing the recent $25,000,000 fine imposed by the courts, is reported to have observed it was "the best thing" that ever happened to the company . . . it provided untold levels of free advertising and publicity.

It's at least slightly re-assuring to learn that some other members of the company are not quite so sure how customers may regard this. And we would think they have good cause to wonder how customers will view the news they have been ripping off Canadian taxpayers, the same people who are buying these products, of probably hundreds of millions of dollars in import duties.

None of it goes to the distributors whom the customers know. None of it goes to officers in Canada . . . it's all stacked up on the other side of the border, by people who are paying less than a reasonable level of Customs duties.

Sure, hundreds of Canadians try to smuggle in an extra carton of cigarettes or so. Some try to make it with a bottle of liquor they shouldn't have. Some wear their purchases across, and so on.

But millions of dollars? Hundreds of millions, even? The name of one candidate for leadership of the Conservative party was prominently associated with Amway, despite his disclaimers.

In the face of more recent revelations, maybe Canadians are lucker than they ever realized.

Arsenal

It may take years before history is able to report the whole story, the accurate story, of the U.S. 'invasion' of Grenada, and decide whether it was really a military aggression or a police release. The way things are going in recent days, more and more information seems to be coming out that the U.S. action was indeed one welcomed by the great majority of the islanders, and one which may have been highly important to the peace of this continent.

Stories hard to disbelieve suggest that the small island had become a veritable arsenal of weapons, and there can be little doubt where such an arsenal could have come from. Nor can there be much doubt, given the presence of a hitherto undreamed of arsenal, as to what its purpose may have been.

It's hard not to recall that the world was emotionally upset a few years ago when Britain and France together decided to pull a blitzkrieg type raid on Egypt, when it was thought Egypt was going to block the Suez.

But Britain and France pulled out. Just as the U.S. seems gearing to do in Grenada. By contrast, has anyone seen Russia backing down in the occupation of Afghanistan? Does anyone suggest Russia would have backed down in Cuba if it had been able to get there before the late President John Kennedy scored a diplomatic checkmate on their program? And does anyone not realize that Russia keeps on prodding, keeps on looking for soft spots, keeps on testing, but never giving up? Never.

CHRISTMAS SHOPPING BLUES

How many of you have all your Christmas shopping done? I know there are some of you out there — I was talking recently to someone who not only has her shopping completed, but most of her parcels mailed too. It's downright depressing.

I've tried for years to get all mine done early. The problem is that things like that come from organized minds. I find that if for some reason I ever get organized it doesn't take me long to map out of it.

Knowing what to give everyone on my list would undoubtedly speed things up. I don't know why they can't all be as easy to buy for as I am. I start dropping hints in September, have written lists lying around in October and if they aren't under the tree on Christmas morning, I'm still early February. (Well, Christmas is said to bring out the child in us all). But the people I buy for are either under 18 and want everything or over 30 and don't need a thing. Queries as to preference produce either an "I don't know" or a list as long as the index in Sears' catalogue. (In fact, it's usually an identical match.) And they continually alter their choices.

What would Christmas be without me threatening to shorten a few lives in their early teens if they change their minds one more time? It's too bad they aren't all in college so I could send money.

The one year that I was determined to get organized and do my Christmas shopping in August, my mother shot me down by suggesting we not exchange gifts that year. Of course, this was after I'd found the perfect gift for her daughters. Since I couldn't give them as intended, they are still in my closet. I don't know many little girls and my sons think Strawberry Shortcake stinks. And she does — I offer my closet as evidence.

As wonderful as being on top of it all sounds, I'll likely stick to my hit-and-miss methods. I always get things done, in my fashion. I don't mind wrapping gifts into the wee hours on December 23rd or running out to pick up one more stocking stuffer when I find I'm short. (I think I'm raising accountants — they count everything.) And I've yet to hear any complaints. Of course, that may be because they don't want the job next year. You know how grouchy an unorganized, harrassed last minute Christmas shopper can be.

New accounting guide is an aid to farmers

Today's farmers and ranchers require the facts, figures and techniques of modern management to make effective decisions.

Management terms and accounting terms are the language of business, and understanding and using this language can be of considerable importance to a farm manager.

Because the accounting and farm management vocabulary consists of many words which can either have other meanings in ordinary usage or are not used at all in day to day communications, Alberta Agriculture's farm business management branch has compiled a guide to terms that are commonly used in farm management.

It is called a "Guide to Farm Accounting and Management Terms".

To broaden the narrower field of farm accounting, attempt has been made in the guide to include expressions that are used in a wide range of farm management related publications, financial reports, the commodity trade, farm periodicals and newspapers.

An appendix lists and explains the most commonly used computer vocabulary.

"Farm Accounting and Management Terms", (Agdex 818-1f) can be obtained from Alberta Agriculture's district offices, The Farm Business Management Branch, Box 2000, Olds, Alberta T0M 1P0.

50% of teenage deaths are in traffice mishaps

An international symposium on young driver accidents is providing Albertans an opportunity to reflect on the tragedy of having 50 percent of all Canadian teenage deaths attributed to motor vehicle collisions, said Transportation Safety Branch Director, Ross Hogg.

Attending the symposium are 46 invited experts from Canada, USA and Britain who are examining existing traffic safety problems and solutions. The delegates are aiming to identify the directions needed to be taken to improve the traffic record of young drivers.

Mr. Hogg pointed to the Safety Branch's 1982 statistics which indicate that out of every 1,000 licenced 16-17 year old male drivers, 107 were involved in collisions. The 18-19 year old group was worse with 211 collisions per 1,000.

Through various information programs, he continued, "We're telling Alberta drivers to be responsible for their own safety and stop blaming the other guy. Because you are a good driver, if you want to be."

Herb Simpson, Executive Director, Traffic Injury Research Foundation of Canada and Symposium Coordinator said that the Traffic Injury Research Foundation of Canada, an independent Ottawa-based research organization, specializing in the study of accident involvement, reports that traffic injuries were the number one killer of males and females under 25 years of age and that injuries stemming from motor vehicle collisions are also a major leading cause of disabilities.

The International Symposium on Young Driver Accidents was organized by the Traffic Injury Research Foundation of Canada (TIRF) in cooperation with Alberta Transportation, the Insurance Bureau of Canada and the Hospital for Sick Children Foundation.

Police week

The Tillsonburg News

If we disarmed our police, would crime become less violent?

If we disbanded our police forces, would crime disappear altogether, leaving us to bask in glorious peace?

Unfortunately, no!

But that is how one might interpret the "logic" behind some of the pro-peace or anti-police statements "tat are made.

Society needs rules, and there must be someone to enforce those rules.

The game becomes impossible without the referee; the meeting is a shambles without a chairman; business does not function without a "policing" role by management.

It is such a role that police must play in society as a whole. They do not make the rules. That is the function of the elected representatives of the people. They are charged by society with the responsibility of seeing that those rules are enforced.

It is often a thankless job. Those who break the rules, obviously, will resent the intervention of the law enforcers. The majority, who go through life without any direct need of, or contact with, the law enforcers, are often indifferent or ignorant of what law enforcement is all about.

Yet, if the police are to do their job well, to keep the game of life under control, they need the full support of the public — the positive, active co-operation that can keep the lawbreakers under control, that can prevent crime, that can make society function just a little bit more smoothly.

The police are to be commended for trying to encourage such support — such respect for the rules of society — by their community relations programs. They are going into the schools, organizing public events, speaking to various groups, trying to impress on people that there are good reasons for the rules — that they can save lives on our street, prevent damage to property and abuse of other persons.

The message is prevention. And that is the duty of everyone in society, working in co-operation with the police.

It is time we showed a little more appreciation for the role our police play. Police Week is a perfect opportunity to say "thank you".

Landfill site approved

by Ken Krawiec

Approval for the construction of a regional landfill site for the County of Beaver was given by council at their regular meeting last week.

Five of the seven councillors were in favor of the regional landfill's construction. One councillor voiced against the project and one councillor abstained from voting.

Councillor Eric Monaghan voted against the project because in his words he didn't "feel like buying a pig in a poke".

This comment came after it was pointed out that there was no legislation forcing any of the communities involved to take part or stay in once the landfill was built.

Monaghan said there should be provincial legislation in place first to insure that no one could withdraw from the agreement.

It was pointed out that although there was no legislation, the present dumps in the county would have to be upgraded to health standards, and could cost the municipalities more than if they were to join the regional landfill.

Councillor Victor Romaniuk abstained from voting, saying that while he was in favor of a regional landfill he felt there were more important priorities in the county at the present time.

Councillor George Knudsen said that if the system was to work, and with government cutbacks, the system could cost considerably more in the future.

"If we wait around too many years, with government cuts, we could end up paying all the expenses," said Knudsen.

The site of the regional landfill has been tabled until the other municipalities involved can be contacted and their input considered.

In a feasibility study, conducted by Reed Crathers, it was shown the most feasible site would be closer to the west end of the county.

To put the site in the Tofield area, with five transfer sites in the county, the cost per capita would be $18.39 annually. The cost per capita annually for a site in the Ryley area would cost $17.94 per capita, while a site in the Holden area could cost $17.90 per capita.

Preliminary tests have shown the most suitable site to be one in the Ryley area. The site of the regional landfill has been tabled until the next regular meeting in December.

The site could be in use by next summer if everything goes okay, council was told.

At the present time the Town of Tofield's dump is full. The Village of Ryley have offered to let the Town of Tofield use their site in the interim.

Many of the costs of the new regional landfill project will be picked up by the Department of Environment. They will pay for the land, bins, and the trailer to haul the bins.

They will not, council was told, pay for the tractor to haul the trailer and it is questionable whether they will pay for an on site cat.

The County of Beaver council and the town involved said looked at different systems but felt the one they will be using will be the most feasible.

The system they will be using will be a tank and bin system. A bin will be dropped at a transfer site with a ramp to the bin. People using the bins will back up and dump their garbage into the bin.

Once a week, or when it is necessary, the bin will be dumped and the garbage taken to the regional landfill.

Molly Cunningham, director of the Vegreville Health Unit, said that the new regional landfill there will be a lot more control of what is dumped.

"Our concern is there is a lot of indiscriminate dumping. There are a lot of illegal things being done," she said.

She said that with the regional landfill site there would be more control over what is being dumped.

Things like pesticide cans and cement blocks would have a designated space in the landfill.

As I See It

by Dr. Walt Buck, M.L.A. Clover Bar

Another disturbing feature of our government highlights its desire to display arrogance and insensitivity to the electorate. Last week I talked about the unilateral 15% increase in [illegible] which will become effective on January 1st, 1984. I suspect that will be the first general provincial tax increase many Albertans can remember.

This week, I'd like to discuss the bizarre Electoral Boundaries Commission and the determination of constituency boundaries has traditionally been decided by a non-partisan seven member committee including a provincial judge, the clerk of the Legislature, a citizens-at-large, 2 members of government and two members of the opposition. It has been that way, and worked well since 1989.

This government which has 75 and 79 seats in the Legislature has moved to change the commission to three members of government and one from the opposition. Such a partisan move is most irritating. I find it odd that our government with its monstrous majority, seems intent on destroying all semblance of opposition influence on that commission, which, as I mentioned earlier, has been non-partisan and has served our citizens well.

As an opposition member and your representative in the Legislature, I will continue to defend your rights as citizens of Alberta. I will not be intimidated by the massive government majority.

If you have comments, questions or suggestions, please contact my office at 314 Legislature Building in Edmonton, or phone 427-2323 collect.

construction the town would be liable for the construction.

Although it was pointed out this might not be the case that this problem had surfaced in other communities in the province.

It was decided that rather than leaving the situation as it was that 100% of the construction cost would be required in a letter of credit. Council said this could be adjusted as the development was constructed.

Dealing with a request from William Kushle to establish a taxi business in Tofield, council felt that before he be given the go ahead that he meet with council with his proposal.

Because the town doesn't have a taxi by-law in place council felt there should be one in place before he establish his business.

One of the concerns of council was that he be required to file an inspection report annually on the condition of his vehicle.

In other business council has decided to tender snow removal for the Town of Tofield.

One of the requirements imposed by council on tenders is that a tender have a minimum of two trucks and one loader.

The work will be put out to tender by advertisement in the next issue of the newspaper

Playoffs held

The County Senior High volleyball journey was held in Tofield on Saturday.

Teams from all four county high schools competed for the trophies.

Finalists for the girls' side were Tofield and Holden with Holden winning the final, two games to one.

The boys' final saw Tofield beat Ryley in two straight [illegible]

Board plans for strike

no strike date has been set at this time.

In other business school trustee Bobbie Schweitzer asked if the superintendent and the other school trustees would be in favor of preparing a list of objectives they would like to see achieved over the next three years.

Schweitzer felt that, instead of "housekeeping" each month that the board members should be setting definite goals to achieve.

The school superintendent and the other trustees expressed they were in favor of long range planning.

"If we don't go in that direction, we're running from the pan into the fire. In fact we're doing that now," said trustee George Kondrat.

Superintendent Bill Schneeman said in his experience goals in education were long range.

He said he thought there should be policies set instead of dealing with problems as the crisis arises.

Schneeman said he was in favor of discussing this at the next regular meeting of the board in December.

In other business the board was presented with the pupil-teacher ratio for the county. The goal set for the teacher-pupil ratio has been set by the board at 19 to 1 considering including all teachers and staff.

At the present time the pupil-teacher ratio is 18.1 to 1, while last year this ratio was 17.5 to 1.

The board was informed that although the pupil-teacher ratio had improved over last year, there would still have to be cuts somewhere to bring the ratio up to the goal of the board.

The official title for Dan Kondrat was changed from supervisor of instruction to deputy-superintendent.

The change was made because the role of Kondrat has changed to that of a deputy-superintendent that is away from that of a supervisor of instruction.

Guest For Last Week

The annual fall bazaar held at the hall on Friday evening was once again a huge success.

It was the Ladies Club's 36th annual bazaar and Jean Ferguson convened every one of them.

Patrons came from Tofield, Ardrossan, Hastings Lake, Deville, North and South Cooking Lakes and two special guests were Jim and Bertha Moore of Whitecourt.

The gift certificates were won by L. Gordon of Edmonton and Marie (Williams) Tanner of New Sarepta.

The grocery hampers went to Esther Danielson of North Cooking Lake and Effie Northcott. The bingo blackout was won by Sandy Scott of Tofield.

Lunch was served to all present with many of the young girls of the community doing the serving.

Jim and Bertha Moore of Whitecourt were overnight guests of Dolly Roddick after the bazaar and next day, they visited with Barbara Herrick and Connie and Chester Leach.

We don't know if it was a typographical error or not, but the new resident of the crafts centre is "Bingo the dog" not a hog. Sorry about that, Penny and Russell.

Members of the Ladies Club met at the home of Vi Roddick on Wednesday (Nov. 9th) for their meeting and social afternoon.

The business session included the bazaar report which was a most profitable one. There were many cash and other donations from people outside the club.

The ladies will attend, as a group, the Tofield Hospital Auxiliary bazaar being held in Tofield on Nov. 12. Their Christmas party will be on Dec. 7th in the hall.

After the business session, four November birthdays were celebrated, each receiving a card. They were those of Lil Leach, Margaret Paterson, Gladys Roddick and Dolly Roddick.

Vi served lunch which included birthday cake with four candles on it, one for each lady having a birthday. All enjoyed a good visit before returning to their homes.

Patients in the Tofield Hospital are Sarah Kleinschroth and Doris Davenport.

The Christmas Cantata is to be held in the hall, is to be on Dec 23 rather than the 16th as previously announced.

This special treat is sponsored by the Ladies' club and lunch will be served.

Unpaid taxes amount to $600,000

by Ken Krooreh

There is approximately $600,000 in unpaid taxes in the County of Beaver, council was informed at their regular meeting last week.

This is approximately $200,000 more than last year and a $100,000 more than two years ago, said Ron Popper, [illegible] secretary-treasurer.

Popper said he thought a lot of this unpaid balance was an accumulation of two or three years back taxes.

Popper said that although these taxes haven't been paid the cash flow this year is better than last year.

Last year there was a $110,000 paid in interest for short term loans. This year there has been approximately $40,000 paid in interest to date on short term loans. This is well below the $100,000 budgeted for.

Popper said the better cash flow is partly due to an increase in the tax levy this year.

Council, in two instances, gave back a grant in lieu of taxes to ratepayers for mistakes made by assessors in the past.

The [illegible] in the first instance, Mr. Freid, said he had not appealed the assessment because he hadn't anything to compare his new house to.

He said that talking to a neighbor he had become aware of how much higher his taxes were.

He had his property reassessed by the new assessor and found there had been a gross error. He had come to ask his overpayment be [illegible] which [illegible].

The second delegation before council was Bruce Parker who also had an assessment problem. He was asking that the overpayment for the last two years be reimbursed.

When asked why he hadn't appealed he said he wasn't aware he could, since he had just moved in two years ago.

He was informed that the notice to appeal was put in both The Mercury and the Viking newspaper. Porter said he didn't get either newspaper.

Porter was granted a grant in lieu of taxes for his overassessment.

In other business council was informed that because of the wet weather the construction of secondary road 870 the construction was $22,000 over the tendered bid.

It was pointed out that it was not anyones fault, but that because of wet conditions dirt from elsewhere had to be hauled in.

The contractor, Russell Hanson, said he would be willing to cover $13,000 of the overrun if council would cover the other $10,000.

Council agreed to pay [illegible] of the $23,000 overrun.

Concerning construction council set its road priorities for paving and construction for the 1984 year. This information was requested by the Department of Transport.

First on the list of priorities is construction of Secondary 870; second on the list of priorities is paving of 824 south of Highway 14, third is paving of 855 north, fourth is construction of 613, fifth is construction of 616 south and sixth is construction of 857 south.

Some of the criteria in making the list of priorities was how much traffic is over the road and what condition the road is in now.

Council approved in principle a request from administration to install a radio system at Viking.

Garth Bancroft, secretary-treasurer for the county, said the Tower on the Splitend Road does not reach parts of the county.

An alternative to this problem would be to install the transmitter on the AGT tower south of Holden. A path test was done for a three-hour trial, at a cost of $1,000.

This method proved unacceptable as there were arms of the county that couldn't be reached.

The present alternative being looked at by the county is a tower and transmitter at Viking. Millmans have said they would install the new system for a cost of $8,000 and that they would guarantee that it would work.

Bancroft said the new system would probably be installed on a 30-day trial basis.

A proposed dog by-law was suspended until the county hired a by-law enforcement officer.

Council felt that there was no problem putting a by-law in place, but there would be a problem of enforcement.

The by-law was discussed at the request of rural crime watch after there has been numerous complaints of dogs running at large in the county.

In other business council approved the request that the minutes from each meeting be published in the Viking newspaper and that the Tofield newspaper be approached to see about rates for publishing the minutes in The Mercury.

All of council was in favor of this decision, feeling that the people wanted to know what was going on in the meetings.

Ryley Pool news

Another successful swim season is almost over at the Ryley Pool, with the pool scheduled to close on [illegible].

More than 8,000 recreation swims have been recorded thus far in the 1983 season and almost 600 sets of lessons have been given.

In addition to this, a number of specialized programs and events are held throughout the year.

The Ryley Pool is managed by the Beaver Heritage and Agricultural Society, which also carries out various other functions within the community including the annual summer fair during August.

The affairs of the society will be discussed at the annual meeting, slated for Nov. 23, at 7:30 p.m. in the Ryley Community Hall.

Anyone who is interested in the activities of the Beaver Heritage and Agricultural Society is welcome to attend.

Toros hold 2nd spot

Tofield Toros are in second place in the County (Camrose) Senior Hockey League.

Toros have gotten off to a reasonably good start with two wins in their first three outings.

Camrose (no name until sponsor obtained) has sole possession of the lead after going undefeated in three straight games.

A new team was added to the league last week when Rosalind was admitted after having played previously in the Battle River Hockey League.

In their only game of the past week, Toros survived a 6-1 defeat after the opening period and roared back to post a narrow 8-7 decision over Kingman.

Loshack paced the Tofield attack when he notched two goals while the singles came from J. Hudon, Gilbert, Friesen, Garner, Olson and Jenkins got the winner midway through the final period.

Because of Rosalind's admission to the league, the schedule had to be revised and as a result, the weekend's forthcoming games were not known at presstime.

However, there will be a game in Tofield on Friday night and it may still be with Nursette who were originally slated to meet the Toros.

Dale Olson of the Toros has taken an early lead in the goaltenders race with a low 2.40 average, and he is followed by Breen of Camrose who has a 3.33 average.

Loshack of Tofield is in second place in the individual scoring race with nine points, three behind Hawes of Camrose.

Pool tourney is held

by Ken Kroetsch

There was a good turnout to the 2nd Annual Tofield Legion Poolers Pool Tournament, with people attending from as far away as Calgary.

The tournament, held on the first weekend in November, saw Barry Thomson and Eamin McAnn come out the big winners winning the A event in the tournament.

Second place in the A event went to Larry Miner and Clarence Ziggy of Sherwood Park and Jasper Place, third place went to Terry Saitz and Vic Wetach of Camrose, and fourth place went to Doug and Ron Murray of Leduc and Camrose.

In the B event first place went to Doug Petrie and Brian Steinke of Calgary, second place went to Greg Mallory and Jim McDonald of Jasper Place, third place went to Wal... [illegible] ... of Led... [illegible] Ray Vincent and ... of Tofield. First ... B event was Norah Ryan and Vic Fairbrother of Tofield and first out in the C event was Rick and Wally Pawlick of [illegible].

The only lady in the tournament was Rubin Zinger of [illegible].

Ryley district news

by Lena Bell

Visitors on Sunday at Gerald and Lucie Owen in Camrose were Ida and Stanley Hanks, to help them celebrate their anniversary.

Lawrence and Anne Anderson and children of Thorsby, Elston and Maureen Solberg and children of Edmonton, Henry and Laura Pedrumey and Brent of Camrose, Craig Solberg and friend of Oyen and Nelson were visitors with their parents and grandparents, the Elmer Anderson's and Sylvia Solberg, on Sunday.

The Ryley United Church turkey supper is on Saturday evening in the Community Hall, starting at 5 p.m.

Sylvia Solberg was home during the weekend and returned back to Edmonton Sunday evening with her son, Nelson.

Last Monday, Olvie Petryshen of Ryley won $114.00 at bingo.

Remembrance Day turned out to be a chilly one. The service was held in the Community Hall with Rev. Sid Haugen conducting the service.

The people of Ryley who knew Andy Chou when he ran a grocery store were saddened to hear of his death. They found his body among a grove of trees in Edmonton. He had been on a kidney dialysis machine and had failing sight.

Andy Chou was 53 years old. He is survived by his wife; three sons, Jim, Chuck and Calvin all of Edmonton; and three brothers and two sisters in China. Funeral services were held on Thursday in Park Memorial Chapel with Rev. J. Mung officiating. Cremation followed.

Congratulations are going out to Jim and Yvonne Allan of Tofield who were blessed with a baby boy on Friday, named Craig Douglas. Proud grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Graham Allan of Tofield and Mrs. Clara Vergette of Ryley.

Subscription renewals, future dates, ads, etc. to be in before 9 a.m. Monday morning, please.

Elmer Anderson's brother, Morley and sister, Helen and niece, Betty visited with Elmer and Kathleen on Tuesday.

Reg Weigum was a visitor in Ryley with his mother and Dave on Tuesday.

Sylvia Zwolinski is still a patient in an Edmonton hospital.

Gerald and Lucie Owen were visitors in Ryley last week with Mr. and Mrs. Henry Nissen and they called in at Stanley and Ida Hanks's on the way home. They also visited Gerald's sister, Dorothea Kirkeland.

Thirteen ladies from the Salem Mennonite Church enjoyed a dinner in Camrose on Nov. 6 and lunch with Garnet and Ella Mae Bernstad, also in Camrose.

Palmer-Earling news

by Mrs. Joe Knudson

The families of Mr. and Mrs. George Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Brian Taylor and family of St. Albert and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Taylor and family Viking, hosted an open house at their parents home in Holden Oct. 27 to honor them on their 60th wedding anniversary.

Many long-time friends and neighbors called on them during afternoon and evening to help them celebrate the occasion.

A large anniversary cake was served to all attending. Bouquets of flowers were sent from family, Holden United Church, the Royal Purple, and B.P.O. Elks Lodges, also a plaque commemorating the day from Holden Legion and Ladies Auxiliary. A phone call was received from their grandson Ernest Taylor who is at college in Grande Rapids, [illegible]

The Taylors are long-time residents of Holden and are very well known in Palmer where George delivered the mail on route for many years.

Mrs. Agnes Jensen of Ferndale Wash., a former resident arrived by plane to spend a couple weeks here with friends and relatives.

The Harvey Pedersons spent a few days in Montana.

Saturday Eve guests at Ed Knudson's were Theo and Enid Watland and Michelle Obenhauer, Camrose.

Joe and Helen Chrystian were Sunday visitors in Bruce with the Paul Christians.

Remembrance Day observed

By [illegible]

In all three communities within The Mercury's coverage area, Tofield, Holden and Ryley many people braved the first real taste [illegible] preserve freedom.

In the crowds were many war veterans, who remember quite well the sacrifices of war. Also in the crowds were children too young to realize the importance of the sacrifices made to insure our freedom.

Malone marries

Crowfoot MP Arnold Malone got married last week in a quiet ceremony in the nation's capitol.

Malone was married on Saturday to Susan Meldrum of Ottawa, a member of Joe Clark's staff.

Members of both families and close friends were in attendance at the ceremony.

The couple intends to make their permanent home on the groom's farm just north of Camrose and will maintain an apartment in Ottawa.

The newlyweds will pay their first visit to the Crowfoot Constituency on Sunday when they go to Consort when the history book of that center goes on sale during special ceremonies.

These customers attended the Golden Club's first function, the Golden Club tea and raffle, last week. The luncheon was well attended, even to the point where there was standing room only. There were many bargains offered even a head. The new centre was started in June with the first event last week. photo by Kroetsch

Golden Club has tea

The Golden Club tea and sale held on Wednesday in the new drop-in center, was very successful with a very good crowd.

The winners of the raffle were: bedspreads and shams — Trish Hardy, Tofield; afghan — Ruth Bumgartner, Tofield; and the cushions — Mrs. Dan White, Edmonton.

Plants for the centre were donated by Judy Fleck and the Garden Club.

Watch for the official opening of the new Drop-in Centre in the near future.

BETWEEN THE COVERS

This week is Children's Book Festival, which we have celebrated with the visit from author Helen Forrester. There is also a poster-colouring contest for kids; pick one up at the Library and return it for judging by Saturday. While you are in, please check out the display of fine Canadian childrens' books available.

HELP! The Library is in need of new volunteer helpers. We have recently suffered a cut in volunteer hours, for personal reasons, of about 35 hours per month. There are many ways you can help out in your library: helping at the circulation desk checking books in and out, repairing or processing books; typing, filing, and shelving; perhaps helping with some of the programs. Our above-average long weekly hours (21) are only possible with volunteer help. Maybe you have an idea of how you can help, that has not been tried before.

A new program will take place for four weeks only, for school age children. "Christmas Readings" is an extension of our read-aloud program and will be offered on four Wednesdays from 4 to 4:30 p.m. A selection of Christmas stories will be read by Carol Wideman and Elizabeth McLachlan.

Library hours are: Tuesday 1-5; Thursday 3-5 and 6-8; Friday and Saturday 10-12 and [illegible].

Have you ever heard someone say that light barley should be sold and heavy barley should be fed? The following article, taken from the October 31 issue of Agri News will explain why.

FEEDING LIGHT WEIGHT BARLEY TO FEEDLOT CATTLE

A considerable proportion of Alberta's barley crop has a lower than normal bushel weight this year, and the general feeling is that the feeding value of light weight barley in high grain feedlot cattle rations is lower than that of normal barley.

According to the head of Alberta Agriculture's animal nutrition section, Ron Weisenburger, very limited research has been done to date to determine the difference in the feeding value of light bushel weight and normal bushel weight barley. He says only three studies in which the starting test weight of steers ranged from 725 to 887 pounds, and in which the proportion of barley in the rations ranged from 65 to 90 per cent, have been reported in the last 20 years. The first was conducted in Montana in the early 1960's, the second was conducted in Idaho in the late 1970's and the third was conducted at the University of Alberta this year.

In the Montana study, which involved only eight steers on 42-pound per bushel barley and eight on 52-pound per bushel barley, the steers on the light bushel weight barley gained 3.7 per cent less than those on the normal bushel weight barley, and their feed to gain ration was 3.9 per cent poorer. However, as Mr. Weisenburger points out, the differences were not statistically significant.

In the Idaho study, which involved 16 steers on 42-pound per bushel barley and 16 on 51-pound per bushel barley, the steers on the light bushel weight barley gained 11.3 per cent less than those on the normal bushel weight barley, and their feed to gain ratio was 9.3 per cent poorer. In this study the decrease in average daily gain was significant statistically, but there was no difference in the carcass fat cover or grade between the two groups.

In the Alberta study, which involved 30 steers on 34-pound per bushel barley and 30 steers on 52-pound per bushel barley, the steers on the light weight barley gain 0.7 per cent better than those on the normal bushel weight barley, but their feed to gain ratio was 3.2 per cent poorer. Again, these values were not significantly different statistically and there was no difference in carcass fat or grade between the groups.

"Although the reduction in animal performance from feeding light weight barley was relatively small in these studies" says Mr. Weisenburger, "it appears that light weight barley is worth less than heavy barley in high grain cattle rations when one considers the combined effect of more barley being required per unit of gain and a longer feeding period."

He stresses that the main thing to remember when feeding light bushel weight barley is to feed it by weight; not by volume. And he says the fact that a bushel of 34-pound per bushel barley has the same volume as a bushel of 48-pound per bushel barley, but weighs 14 pounds less, must be taken into consideration when the feed is being mixed and again when it is being measured for actual feeding.

League has a race

It's starting to look like it could be an interesting winter in the Beaverhill Hockey League.

After one week in the regular schedule, three teams are tied for the lead and two teams are winless.

Lamont has won its first two outings while the Tofield Satellites and Mundare have two wins and a loss.

Holden and the new entry from Vegreville absorbed defeats in their first two games.

Friday's lone game will see Holden playing in Mundare while a Saturday contest has Vegreville hosting Lamont.

On Tuesday night, Satellites will be at home to Mundare while Holden goes to Lamont.

Last night (Tuesday) Satellites travelled to Lamont with results to be reported next week.

A game between Holden and Vegreville, slated for last night, had to be postponed because of a lack of ice in Holden. That community expects to have ice on a regular basis later in the month.

Lamont made it two wins in a row when they dumped Mundare 7-3 on Friday night.

Satellites rebounded from a season opening loss when they walloped Holden 10-3 and then whipped Vegreville 13-2.

In the only other game that was played, Mundare tripped Vegreville by a 13-6 count.

The Mercury would like to run more information about Tofield and Holden games. If scoring information could be left at the paper's office by Monday of each week, those details will be included in the weekly write-up.

Keep Canada Beautiful

T.G.H.A. Flashes

During the October meeting of the Tofield Hospital Auxiliary, a new executive was elected marking the end of the first year of Tofield's Hospital Auxiliary.

The new executive is as follows: President, Dolores Roth; vice-president, Pat Litwin; secretary, Jane Good and treasurer, Bev Cargill.

Hospital visitation every second Thursday afternoon has become an established routine, with the tuck cart supplying a few extras.

As always, the drop box at Owl Value Drug Mart is available for donations. These donated items have been recycled into such things as tray favours; stuffing for toys; surgery gifts and cards.

A special thanks from all THA members to all who have generously donated those "odds and ends" as well as the overwhelming support of the community which is making the THA a working reality.

Members are reminded that the next meeting is on Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the Tofield School Library.

Oldtimers play

On the long weekend, the Tofield Coasters (Oldtimers) were engaged in a tournament in Sherwood Park.

As a result of round-robin play, second place was awarded to Tofield.

In the semi-final game played, the Coasters were beaten by a team from St. Albert in a shootout — 6 to 5.

The unfortunate part of this game was that with less than 5 minutes left the Coasters were ahead 5 to 1, and with only 38 seconds to go the tieing goal was scored by one of Tofields players, in his own net.

In regular exhibition play, the Coasters are 1 and 4 and can be seen trying to play each Sunday at two o'clock and most Wednesdays at 9:30 p.m.

Holden and district news

by Mrs. G.H. Taylor

Holden Lodge Order of the Royal Purple held their regular monthly meeting last Tuesday with H.R.L. Mary Semotiuk in the chair. Also attending the meeting were 13 ladies from Wainwright Lodge, bringing the travelling gavel.

Regular business was dealt with and correspondence read. The secretary's and treasurer's semi-annual reports were given, also the report of the finance committee. A committee to look after the Christmas Chamber of Commerce supper was appointed.

A donation was made to the Legion Poppy Fund. H.R.L. Semotiuk and Pianist Lady Good read poems appropriate to Remembrance Day and a poppy was given to each lady in attendance. H.R.L. Goddard of Wainwright then presented the travelling gavel to H.R.L. Semotiuk. The lodge closed and a lunch and social hour was enjoyed. Lunch hostesses being Ladies Helfrich and Semotiuk.

Holden Lodge will hold its first bake sale on Nov 26th in the Lodge. Money from the sale will be used to purchase items to start up craft programs for the residents.

New residents in the Lodge are Teodor Nakoneczyn and Anthony Van Hock.

Birthdays celebrated in October were Mrs. Annie Laskosky and John Listus.

Mr and Mrs Bruce Budd returned home at the end of last week from a two and one-half week trip to Winnipeg visiting with Bruce's brother and family and other relatives. On their trip home, they visited with relatives in Brandon and also in Saskatchewan.

Bob and Carol Carlson and three children of Calgary were visitors for the long holiday weekend with Bob's family Mr and Mrs Melvin Carlson and Eric, also the Lyle Andruskys.

George Mason has purchased the [illegible] residence on 51st Avenue and he and his family have been busy getting settled.

[illegible] Nakoneczny a resident of Holden Senior Citizens Lodge, has been a patient in Tofield Hospital.

Mrs Margaret Stanton of Edmonton, a former Holden resident for several years, passed away in hospital after a brief illness at the age of 69 years on Nov. 7th. She was predeceased by her husband, Austin G. Stanton in 1982. She now leaves to mourn her loss, her daughter, Judy Robertson of Vancouver; two sons, James Byron of St. Albert and John Michael of Edmonton; four grandsons, Chuck and Ken of St. Albert; John and Jason of Edmonton; one granddaughter, Dawn of St Albert; and numerous nieces, nephews and other relatives.

A prayer service was held at the Church of the Resurrection on Wednesday. Following cremation, a memorial mass was held at the Church of the Resurrection on Thursday with Rev Dave Norman, O F M officiating.

The Stanton family resided for several years in Holden after the 2nd World War, "Austie" operating a car dealership with Norman Saboe, then leaving later for Vegreville where they lived for some years before making their home in Edmonton.

Holden L.C.W. held their regular monthly meeting on Thursday with Mrs Margaret Olsen leading the bible study. Regular business was attended to and plans discussed and finalized for their annual bazaar [illegible] to be held [illegible].

Robert and [illegible] of [illegible] were [illegible] evening visitors with Robert's parents Mr and Mrs George Taylor.

Court report

Pork production is a very common farm enterprise in our area. It's one of the most dynamic enterprises in agriculture — there is always something new to be learned.

To provide producers with pertinent information on pork production, we've organized a Pork Production Seminar. A meeting was held with farmers, the D.A. and the Swine Specialist to develop the seminar. The topics are those [illegible]

A combination of guest speakers and "practical experience" discussion groups will constitute the two-day seminar. The guest speakers and the topics presented will be:

— Feeds and Feeding, Your Pig Management by Phil Thacker, Swine Specialist, Vermilion, Alberta Agriculture — Practical Management Routine and Record Keeping with Allan George, Swine Specialist, Lethbridge.

— "What Works For Me", [illegible]

— Breeding Herd Management — Leo Aba[illegible], Swine Specialist, Red Deer

— Swine AI and Its Benefits, Barry Callaghan, Reproductive [illegible]

— What's new in facilities and equipment with Brian Kennedy, Regional Engineer, Ver[illegible].

— "I Tried it and it Didn't Work" — open discussion.

— Using Hedging and the Futures Market to market hogs — Barry Carter Conti Commodity Services

— Herd Health Management — Casey Shipper, Alberta Agriculture

— Report from the Hog Marketing Board by delegate, [illegible]

— United Feeds, Pfizer and Cargill are providing lunch, coffee and short presentations on their products

Attend on November 17 and 18 — coffee and door prize registration at 9:30 a.m., program starts at 10 a.m.

To be held at Tofield Legion Hall

"EMPTYING THE BINS" GRAIN MARKETING SEMINAR AND WORKSHOP

It's in Wainwright — but don't let that discourage you from attending. If there is enough interest, we will be booking a bus and providing the transportation.

"Emptying the Bins" is a one-day seminar on marketing strategies for grains and oilseeds. It will be held on December 1 (9:30 a.m. to 3:45 p.m.) and will be followed by a workshop on December 8. The workshop will be an opportunity to work through some marketing examples and practise your marketing skills. The workshop location will be determined by where the majority of the seminar participants are from.

The guest speakers are very well informed and well known members of the agriculture industry. Don Bousquet, from the Farm Market Network in Winnipeg is heard daily on CFCW and other radio stations. Don will be speaking on the outlook of grain and oilseed marketing. He will discuss the factors influencing [illegible]

Paul Cassidy, Branch Manager of the Palliser Grain Company, is well versed in how the cash grain prices are determined. He will speak on the relationship between cash and future prices, the establishment of the "basis", and the Vancouver Spot Market.

The third speaker will be Dwayne Coldwell, Marketing Economist with Alberta Agriculture. Dwayne has had a number of years of experience as a Grain Trader with Cargill Grain. His presentation will be on marketing alternatives, producer cars, crusher, ATL, consigned cars, local feed grain market, wheat board contracts, Alberta Barley [illegible]

The workshop, one week after the seminar, will provide practice in forward pricing, using unpriced grain strategies such as storage tickets and basis speculation and Wheat Board cash advances, deferred cash tickets, etc. Your calculator will be [illegible].

Marketing is an aspect of the farm business which deserves a great deal of attention. Excess grain isn't currently one of the problems in our area. Small reserves, resulting from a generally poor growing season, is the situation many farmers are in. Although many people don't realize it, good marketing strategies are just as important for those small quantities as they are in surplus situations. Marketing is a topic that we can always [illegible]

Registration forms for "Emptying the Bins" are available from our office. The fee is $15 per person or $21 per couple. This includes the seminar, workshop and lunch at the seminar. Please register by Friday, November [illegible]

Small Business Owners and Farmers: It's Your Last Chance to Benefit!

If you're a qualified small business owner or farmer, there's not much time left to join the thousands of Albertans who have benefited from the Alberta Heritage Fund Small Business and Farm Interest Shielding Program. To receive an interest shielding payment, your application must be processed by your financial institution to meet the March 1, 1984 deadline. That means you must act now!

Here's How It Works

This program was designed to provide interest shielding benefits to small businesses and farmers during periods of high loan interest rates. If your total revenue over the past fiscal year was under $5 million, you likely qualify for a shielding payment, paid directly to you from the Alberta Government.

Catch Up On The Past

It's true ... interest rates are much better today than several months ago. But your Interest Shielding Program is retroactive to March 1, 1982, when interest rates were at their highest ever.

You can recover interest paid over the [illegible] program rate of 14[illegible]. If you were, or still are, paying more than 14[illegible], the program will shield you for the difference on loan rates up to 20[illegible]%.

Act Now! Your Banker Is Waiting

March 1st, 1984 seems [illegible] off. But don't forget ... your banker needs sufficient time to [illegible] interest. Because the program is retroactive to March 1, 198[illegible] several weeks to process your application, depending [illegible] of your records and the number of applications on file.

You Can't Afford To Wait

[illegible] time to process your [illegible] financial institution [illegible] and a detailed [illegible] are also available [illegible] and Small Business [illegible] local office [illegible] Alberta Agriculture.

I was able to attend the toy display in Edmonton, sponsored by the Consumers Association of Canada. On display were numerous toys — some with excellent play value and others questionable.

One point that came across clearly was how much we pay for a brand name. Once dolls were taken out of a package it was difficult to distinguish between the expensive brand name doll and the other one. In giving these kinds of gifts, try taking the doll out of its packaging and make a bedroom or house out of cardboard to present the doll in.

Craft kits are another item that seem to be over priced. Putting together your own kit of yarn, knitting needles and instructions, placed in a personalized tote bag would be more economical.

Once children grow out of the "toy" stage it's often difficult to think of appropriate gifts. This is where your observation skills are needed. Watch for any budding interests.

A child interested in science may enjoy a microscope with accessories. Model building, sports equipment, a musical instrument or a book on astronomy may activate an interest in your child. Don't forget magazine subscriptions, calculators and art supplies as gift ideas too!

Be sure to check out The Toy Report before buying newer toys that you're not sure of. They are available in this office or at your local library.

CHRISTMAS DISPLAY

Be sure to stop by the Farmer's Market in Tofield to view some Christmas gift and decorating ideas. I will have a [illegible] Christmas items and instructions. Be sure to stop by.

SPAGHETTI FROM THE GARDEN

Vegetable spaghetti has become a popular novelty vegetable. When the flesh is cooked it comes away from the rind in strands, similar to spaghetti. It can even be served with a sauce!

Mature squash is large and oval and averages 2 kilograms in mass. At this stage the flesh will form spaghetti — like strands after cooking. If picked before maturity the rind will be green and the pulp a greenish color.

To cook, cut squash in half lengthwise. Place cut side down on greased baking sheet. Bake at 350° F until tender (2—2½ hours). Remove seeds and scoop out pulp. Serve with tomato sauce spooned over top.

PRESERVING GOURDS

To preserve gourds, for decorative purposes, wash them in warm soapy water to which a household disinfectant has been added. Dry each gourd carefully with a soft cloth, being careful not to bruise or scratch the skin. Spread them on several layers of newspapers in a warm dry place. Turn the gourds daily, replacing newspapers as they become damp. This process takes about a week.

Immature fruits will shrivel or develop spots and should be discarded.

For a final drying, wipe the gourds with a soft cloth soaked in disinfectant and spread on newspapers again. Let dry for 3-4 weeks. They can be displayed without wax, or they can be treated in one of the following ways.

1) Wax them with paste wax, then buff with a soft cloth.

2) Shellac the gourds for a hard shiny surface.

3) Paint them with regular household paint in flat or enamel.

FASHION SHOW

Be sure to attend the tea and fashion show in Tofield on November 16. I will be doing a presentation on "Organizing your Work Space". See you there.

Beef club has meet

by Teresa [illegible]

On Wednesday the Tofield 4-H Beef Club held their first meeting of the year. There are 21 members in our club. Angie Rude led the 4-H pledge.

The plans for the turkey bingo were finalized. The bingo will be held on Nov. 30 at 8 p.m. in the Community Hall. Pop will be available.

One-half of the proceeds will be donated to the Tofield Senior Citizens Drop-In Centre.

The Christmas party and December meeting will be held at Peter Brown's on Dec. 11 starting at 2 p.m. Bring your skates.

Don Wood gave a talk on how to fill in the record books.

Food prices were set, so that everyone uses the same prices.

The judging team for the 4-H judging competition in Edmonton is Cathy Brown and Candyce Ray.

Why is the Sharps' electric bill always lower than the Shruggs'?

The Sharps are practical and thoughtful, so they care enough to manage their use of electricity.

1. Mr. Sharp always uses a timer when he plugs in the family car. (Result: about 75% less power consumed!)

2. Mrs. Sharp uses small appliances - her toaster oven and her microwave - whenever she can instead of the conventional oven. (She knows that 30% of the average family's electricity is used in the kitchen.)

3. The Sharp home is properly insulated so the furnace fan has less work to do. (They also use less gas!)

4. The Sharps always turn off the lights when they leave the room. (They save with 40-watt bulbs in hallways and staircases, too!)

The Shruggs are practical and thoughtful too - except for the wise and efficient use of electricity.

1. Mr. Shrugg plugs in the car as soon as he arrives home from work. (Result: 12 hours of energy use instead of 3 hours.)

2. When buying appliances, the Shruggs ignore energy efficiency. (Always look for and compare the EnerGuide rating when buying major appliances.)

3. The Shrugg children decide what they want for a snack after they've opened the refrigerator door. (Think of what you want before you open the door.)

4. Mrs. Shrugg washes several small loads of laundry during the week. (Instead of a few larger loads!)

Citizens honour Dr. Freebury

. . . for lengthy service

by Ken Kroetsch

The Tofield Community Hall was filled with applause as people gave Dr. W.H. Freebury a standing ovation, not once but twice, for his long service to the community.

There were 150 people who signed the guest book upon arriving to pay tribute to Dr. Freebury for 30 years of service, twenty-seven as mayor and three as a councillor.

Councillor Ed Gegehr, emcee for the evening, started out by welcoming those who had attended.

He mentioned that Dr. Freebury has served actively, not only on town council, but has been an active member of the curling club, the Legion and the Chamber of Commerce to name a few.

Regehr said that Dr. Freebury has seen the town grow from a population of 300 to its present population of over 1500 people and has seen the town go from "mud and gravel to pavement".

The second speaker of the evening was MLA Walter Buck.

Buck said that Dr. Freebury had a unique way of getting things done.

"He would very quietly and reasonably lay his case and then keep pecking away until it got done."

Buck ended by thanking Dr. Freebury, on behalf of the Legislature, the government and the people of Alberta, for a job well done.

Jack Fleming, Director, Municipal Service Branch of Alberta Municipal Affairs, presented Dr. Freebury with a plaque from Municipal Affairs for his 30 years of service.

Fleming paid tribute to Dr. Freebury for the time he has spent in local government, the grass roots level of government.

"It's the level of government where you truly get your dollar's worth," said Fleming.

Fleming said the town has grown and developed because of men like Dr. Freebury and his colleagues.

Administrator Neil Brodie said he has been asked several times 'what does a mayor do?' He has told them that the mayor has to be a leader for council in managing the affairs of the community.

He said that in the time that Dr. Freebury had been mayor of the community, there were several projects that had been completed under his leadership.

Some of these projects included the sewage lagoon, water reservoir, senior citizen's lodge, court house, new fire hall, Treasury Branch and the library-town office complex, as well as residential and commercial development and many paving projects.

Brodie ended his speech by presenting a plaque, with a picture of the new town office-library facilities engraved on front, from the town, to Dr. Freebury, for his service to the community.

Councillor Marie Werton said she has had the privilege of working with Dr. Freebury, in two different fields, 26 years medically and six years on council.

"I can vouch he's okay in both fields. There's no one around when he's at the helm."

On behalf of council, Werton presented Dr. Freebury with an engraved gold pocket watch.

The present mayor of Tofield, C.W. Sears, said it was an honor to follow in the footsteps of Dr. Freebury.

He said that they were not only paying tribute to Dr. Freebury, but also to his wife.

To coin an old saying C.W. Sears said, "Behind every good man is a good woman."

Just before Sears spoke, Dr. Freebury stood and thanked those who attended.

"There were lots of flowery tributes tonight. I don't know if they are all warranted," said Freebury.

Freebury said his was only one vote on council and that a lot of the credit should go to the former councillors and present councillors for their service.

He went on to say that the way people were talking that everything had gone smoothly.

He said he could remember a night in the old town office when an angry citizen threw a brick through the window and another time when sewage had been dumped in the doorway of the town office by a disgruntled ratepayer.

He finished by saying he had enjoyed his years as mayor of Tofield.

There were refreshments for all those attending, after the presentations were done.

Society could fold

by Ken Kroetsch

If the response and support is poor for the proposed home day care program, then the Tofield Child Development Society could fold, said May Korobko, society president.

At the present time, members of the society are doing a need survey to see if there is interest in the program. So far, surveys have been hand delivered to the residents to the east side of Main Street.

The surveys have yet to be delivered to the west side of Main Street residences.

Korobko said over the summer there was a lot of interest but, interest has waned since that time

At the reorganizational meeting held last week only the executive showed up. The society was hoping to have interested parents and people to operate home day care in their homes, attend the meeting.

Korobko said they should know which direction the society is going by the end of the month when all the surveys will have been returned and a strong support for the program is shown

Response to the survey has been good so far, said Korobko.

If there is not enough support for the program in Tofield, then the society could fold and the money collected so far would be donated to a charitable organization as decided by the board of directors of the society.

The society should know of this decision by Christmas.

The proposed home day care program would provide day care through private homes. Training for the home care providers would be on an on-going basis and would be supervised by the government and the society.

Surveys for the program can be obtained at the Town Office or by phoning May Korobko, at 662-2788.

The executive for the Tofield Child Development Society are May Korobko, president; Maralyn Tokarek, secretary-treasurer; and Sandra Norton, Sandra Van Engelen and Peggy Smith as the Board of Directors.

Christmas promotion set

. . . in Holden

by Ken Kroetsch

It was so successful last year the Holden Chamber of Commerce has decided to have a Christmas Shopping Promotion again this year to encourage shoppers to shop at home, said Chamber of Commerce spokesperson, Bobbie Schweitzer.

The promotion, from Nov. 24 - Dec. 3, will include most of the retail merchants in Holden.

Merchants will be offering specials to their customers and will also be offering their patrons a chance at winning a door prize.

Also, all of the entries made for the door prizes in each business will be eligible for the Chamber of Commerce $100 draw. There is no purchase necessary for any of these draws.

To wrap up the Christmas Promotion, the Chamber of Commerce, along with the Elks and the Art Society, will assist with Holden Santa Day.

There will be an hour of cartoons for the children starting at 1:30 p.m. At about 2:30 p.m., Santa will arrive and talk to each of the youngsters and then will be giving each one a free bag of candy.

The whole Christmas Promotion will end with the annual Chamber of Commerce dinner and dance. At the dance, there will be numerous draws for door prizes and there will also be the $100 draw.

Another part of the night will be the presenting of the Holden Citizen of the Year Award.

Schweitzer said the Christmas promotion was run for the first time last year. She said it generated a lot of interest, with many people saying they had a good time during the week

The merchants' specials will be displayed in the center of this newspaper.

Harlequin?

Albertans will be forgiven for asking, probably for some time to come, why it is they are being denied the services of Graham Harle as solicitor general.

The reasons given for his resignation simply do not wash. It is certainly no crime to be found, even at 2 a.m., simply talking to a prostitute in an automobile, nor, for that matter, is it criminal to be with her for any reason. Certainly he has not been charged with any crime, nor has any been even remotely hinted at.

He may have been guilty of indiscretion, of being naive. But those aren't crimes.

They are qualities which may make it difficult for a person to hold office, to be a politician, but they are also qualities which are more likely to make us respect, to genuinely like the man, rather than knowing how artful, how worldly-wise, how cunning, he may be.

Are we seeing the familiar colorless Harle in a new light, or are we seeing for the first time aspects of a many-colored Harlequin?

Are we seeing in evidence the symbols of a double standard for politicians in Alberta? Are we witnessing a statement that anything irregular, that is to say not absolutely conformist in the strictest sense of the word in the world of sexuality, is not to be condoned or tolerated in Alberta, all the while lapses in other areas of human behavior can be looked on indulgently? Lapses such as abuse of power, profit through insider information, driving while impaired, withholding of information, attempting to influence legislation or legal proceedings, these and many others, if indeed they can really be called lapses.

Is it possible that, like a recent resignation in Ottawa, it may be found there is good and sufficient reason for Mr. Harle's resignation? On the other hand, he is highly thought of in his own riding, an area where he is well and familiarly known over many years. Whatever the reason, it is tragic for Mr. Harle that he is being so seriously undermined at this stage . . . It would be doubly tragic if it is caused by nothing more than an error in judgment, an indiscretion. Either way it is tragic for the people of Alberta, whom he has served so well so long. It is especially tragic since we elect so few persons of his character, his calibre, his capacity and his competence.

Shoot the messenger

The public across Canada doesn't seem to be gaining additional confidence in Air Canada when they see the way in which penalties are handed out and the way discipline is enforced.

A pilot who twice objected that his plane didn't have enough fuel was directed to fly it anyway, and because he had to glide to a landing at Gimli, out of fuel, he has been suspended for months. Months during which there has been no suspension of the people really responsible for the plane taking off insufficiently fueled. People who today are being hidden behind the incredibly absurd explanation of a mistake between metric and imperial, people who at the very least should be charged with stupidity. If not criminal stupidity.

Such an unreasonble attitude towards pilots isn't something new, either. Only in recent days has another pilot been exonerated of responsibility for another crash landing, one in which two people, unfortunately, lost their lives. Yet for five years this pilot has been demoted to a desk job, with a severe reduction in pay.

Now he has been exonerated, and the airline has been ordered to make up all that lost pay. But that doesn't do anything for the Canadian public, who will pay all that make-up, and who will have received nothing for it. Nor is it likely to do justice to the pilot himself. He'll get his back pay, alright, but will he ever again be able to assume control of a plane? After being out of the air for five years, is it logical to think he can step right back into the cockpit he was driven from five years ago?

This, too, is Air Canada justice.

It's hard to relate that to the much publicized concern of Air Canada president Claude Taylor for working relations among his staff, one supposed to be a dramatic turnaround from that of the past. Yet, mockingly, it was this same Claude Taylor who protested vigorously only a short time ago when Canada's auditor general recommended a Parliamentary committee be given access to the airline's books in an effort to try to find out why it is costing the taxpayer so much money.

After all, the taxpayers are only the owners, the shareholders. Why bother to tell them anything? It's not good for the peasants to know too much, is it?

Depression drug helps alcoholics

An anti-depression drug may one day lead alcoholics back to sobriety, according to a researcher at the Ontario Addiction Research Foundation (ARF) in Toronto.

Dr. Claudio Naranjo, in a 10-week study of 16 alcoholic volunteers, found the subjects drank 15 to 20 per cent less after taking a drug called zimelidine, which is used in Europe to treat depression.

The drug also helped some of the subjects to double or triple their number of non-drinking days

Dr. Naranjo says no one knows how the drug works, although some scientists have theorized that zimelidine blocks a mechanism in the central nervous system that encourages drinkers to drink more. Without this mechanism's reinforcement, he says, alcohol consumption eventually decreases.

But he cautions that the test results are too preliminary for the drug to bve used regularly in the treatment of alcoholics.

"I would consider this an experimental finding," Dr. Naranjo said in an interview in the ARF Journal.

"I am not recommending to anyone to give this drug to alcoholics for this particular [illegible]."

He adds that one of the experiment's most interesting findings was that the test results corresponded closely to previous experiments with zimelidine on rats, which suggests that tests of similar drugs on rats can predict the drugs' effects on humans.

"The reason we are excited by this finding is because it is one of the few examples where there is concordance between animal and human data," he told the Journal.

Dear Sir,

I expect that all of us are reacting in some degree to the horror depicted in the film The Day After

Beware the pickle

Statistics can be used for many purposes, to support or condemn a point of view. This tongue-in-cheek report, reprinted in a number of publications, shows how statistics can often be misinterpreted

Few people realize the deadly, terrifying ability of the pickle to kill or injure a person for life Pickles are associated with all major diseases of the body They can be related to most airline tragedies Auto accidents are often caused by pickles

If you don't believe this, consider the evidence:

— 99.9% of all people who die from cancer have eaten pickles.

— 99.7% of all people involved in air or auto accidents have eaten pickles within 14 days preceding the accident.

— 93.1% of juvenile delinquents come from homes where pickles were served frequently — Nearly all sick people have eaten pickles.

— Of all people born in 1880 who later dined on pickles, there has been a 100% mortality rate

Researchers have found that rats force-fed with 20 pounds of pickles for 30 days developed bulging abdomens

Fashion show

There was a good turnout to the 5th annual fashion show in Tofield last Tuesday evening. There were 42 models modeling handmade clothes, sweaters, casual suites and fashions for evening. This is the first year that Josie Aubrey, right, on behalf of Aspen Textiles, will be sponsoring the fashion show. Next year, the fashion show will be sponsored by Especially for You, who bought out Aspen Textiles and the Heartline

Elmer Anderson who is 67 years old and a veteran of World War I where he had fought at Vimy Ridge and was serving our country for three years, appreciated being remembered by Emma who brought him a strawberry short cake. Ted and Edna an equal feed cake on Remembrance Day.

John and Elizabeth Keep are back from Vancouver where they had been for three weeks. John having surgery on one eye. They also visited friends there.

A large crowd turned out for the United Church turkey supper in the Community Hall. People from Camrose, Tofield, Holden, Ryley and are attended.

The Rebekah Lodge turkey supper is coming up on Dec. 7 for senior citizens.

Twenty-two senior citizens were bussed to Edmonton on Nov. 17

Mabel "Sister" Swanson's husband, Alvin, passed away in B.C.

Corrections

In the last issue of The Mercury, the Holden Junior High School volleyball players were reported as the Ryley players. The Mercury apologizes for this mistake.

Also, in the Remembrance Day story, the wreath for the Ryley School was laid by Lonnie Lasher, while Ken Pozdoborny laid the wreath for the Sea Cadets.

Ryley chosen as site

... for new landfill

by Ron Kroetsch

Ryley has been chosen as the site for the Regional Landfill for the County of Beaver, reported Dennis Daniluk at the Holden Village council meeting last Monday night.

This decision came last week after all the municipalities and the County of Beaver representatives got together to discuss this matter.

The proposed time line for the project outlines that by the end of November, the Regional Landfill Authorities Board should be organized, the design ready by March and the construction completed and the landfill in operation by August of next year

So far Tofield, Ryley and the County of Beaver have made a commitment to be part of the regional landfill. At the council meeting Monday night, Holden Village Council approved to accept the project in principle.

If all of the municipalities in the county join the regional landfill then the cost per capita would be $17.94 for five transfer stations

Daniluk reported that there is a possibility there could be six transfer stations, with one in the Lindbrook area. With six transfer stations the cost per capita would be $16.81.

The transfer stations would in all probability, reported Daniluk, be in the same location as the present dump sites throughout the county.

The transfer stations will be a push pit system consisting of a bin with a three-sided building over the bin to control the possibility of flying debris.

The Department of Environment will be picking up the cost of the land and other capital costs. The cost of the mobile equipment is in question at this time whether or not the department will pick up the costs for this

The Regional Landfill Authorities Board, consisting of representation from the municipalities and the county, when organized will set the regulations for the new system.

In other business it was decided an electrical service installed 19 years ago and never used will be abandoned. Council agreed to abandon the service after it was learned the service had been installed Southeast of Holden to be used for a water pump station in 1964, but had never been hooked up.

Council had been unaware that the service was even in existance, or why it had been put there in the first place.

Council's consensus was that in the last 19 years it had never been used and in all probability wouldn't be used in the future

At the present time there are five poles and a transformer that will be removed by TransAlta Utilities

By-law B-1983 was adopted after third reading. This by-law authorizes the assessor to use the 1982 assessment values for 1984 taxation purposes, except for properties where there is a change in the assessed value. These properties would be re-assessed.

A general assessment has to be made by a municipality every seven years. The last general assessment was in 1978.

First reading was given to a by-law that would allow the Village of Holden to enter into an agreement with Northwestern Utilities.

The agreement with Northwestern Utilities has been updated every ten years since 1923. Third and final reading will be completed after approval has been given for the first reading by the Public Utilities Board.

Council decided the Village of Holden was too small an operation to warrant the use of a postal metre.

With the use of a postal metre the Village would be entitled to a preferred rate for bulk mailing. To receive the rating the village would have to send a minimum of 200 bills at one mailing to qualify.

The rent for the postal metre was quoted at $53 a month. Since the bills are presently mailed every two months council felt it would cost more to use this system than to just use postage stamps.

At the present time the village is only mailing approximately 350 bills every two months Council will be requesting information from the Regional Arts Board as to its role concerning the Regional Arts Centre in Holden. There was some concern expressed over the raise between the board and the Regional Arts Society.

Council approved a request from the Chamber of Commerce for funds for the Christmas shop at home promotion. The $100 requested will come from the Rural Development grant and will be used to promote the community

Councillor Ken Sharpe requested a letter be sent to the County of Beaver inquiring as to why the county is not a member of the Battle River Tourist Association.

It was felt by the rest of council that with Camp Lake and Nuggat Lake in the county that the county could benefit through promotion of these areas.

Fornal is elected

by Ken Kroetsch

Joseph Fornal has been elected by acclamation as the new councillor for the Village of Holden, in the by-election held last week.

After nominations had closed on Nov. 15, there were two candidates seeking the empty seat, vacated by the resignation of Nick Shabinski shortly after the municipal elections.

The two candidates were Joseph Fornal and Peter Ogonoski, a former councillor. The next day following nominations, Peter Ogonoski withdrew his nomination, leaving Fornal to be elected by acclamation.

Fornal was sworn in as a councillor at the regular meeting of council last Monday night.

Fornal has lived in the community of Holden for the last 18 years, teaching at the Holden School.

Fornal is presently teaching pre-vocational students as well as high school math.

Fornal said he hadn't sought election in the municipal election because he was satisfied there was a good choice of people running for council.

Feeling there might not be a good choice of candidates this time, Fornal said he felt he should run for council.

Holden curlers ready for action

by Ken Kroetsch

Curling in Holden has gotten underway with eight teams in the mixed league. There will be curling for the ladies on an open house basis.

The mixed curl will be held on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings and the ladies curl on Monday evening and Thursday morning.

There is no men's league, since this has been combined with the mixed.

The first bonspiel of the season will start November 28 and go to December 4. There will be a minimum of 32 teams for each bonspiel.

There will be a Ladies' Bonspiel, January 30 to February 5; a Men's Bonspiel, February 13-19; and a Mixed Bonspiel March, 19-25.

The president of the curling club in Holden for this year is Marcel Zowtuk and the secretary for the club is his wife, Tina.

TAX BREAK — WITH RHOSP'S

You may be eligible for tax breaks by buying furniture and appliances in 1983.

This federal program is available to Registered Home Ownership Savings Plan holders, or to people who have never owned a home and begin contributing to the plan.

Briefly, this is how it works:
1) RHOSP holders acquiring a new home after April 19, 1983 and before December 31, 1984 can claim an additional tax deduction equal to $10,000 minus the total of all RHOSP contributions previously made by them. An individual who has made no contributions in the past and is otherwise eligible can obtain the maximum deduction of $10,000.
2) RHOSP may also be used for the purchase of qualifying furniture and furnishings for use in new homes purchased between April 19, 1983 and December 31, 1984.
3) In addition, individuals will now be permitted to withdraw all or part of their savings in RHOSP's, free of tax, for the purchase of new home furnishings and appliances in 1983, even though they do not purchase a new home.

Qualifying furniture and furnishings include: furniture for use in the home, most large appliances for use in the home, rugs, carpets, underpadding, drapes, curtains and blinds.

To claim the tax-free benefit taxpayers are only required to include sales receipts for the purchase of qualifying home furnishings with their tax returns.

Although the enabling legislation has not yet been passed by parliament, RHOSP funds can be released immediately upon the signing of a waiver by the plan holder at the bank or institution.

If you are presently contributing to an RHOSP or have never owned a home, you may be eligible for this tax break. Contact your financial institution or this office for more information.

Ministik and district news

by Catherine Roddick

Meant for Last Week.

The annual meeting of the Community League was held at the hall on Nov. 14th.

After the business session and the financial report was given, it was time for election of officers for 1984. President, Grant Wilson; vice-president, Pat Paterson; secretary, Margaret Paterson; treasurer, Joyce Bowerman.

Hall representative for hall rentals, buying supplies, etc. Jean Wittig.

With the exception of Margaret Paterson who replaced Carol Dekinder as secretary, the slate of officers remains the same.

Joyce Bowerman gave a report on the progress of the New Year's Eve Frolic and tickets are being sold.

Mostly all members of the Ladies Club attended the Tofield Hospital Auxiliary tea on Saturday afternoon in the Legion Hall.

Barbara Horricks presented the Ladies Club annual award to the grade twelve student at Ardrossan High School who had the second highest standing. This took place on the evening of October 27th, and the recipient's name was Melissa Noonan.

Laura and Miles Swann and children of Bon Accord were Sunday guests of Jean and George Kleinschroth. Sarah and son Bill Matheson and friend Violet Hart of Hanna, were also guests and all visited Sarah Kleinschroth in Tofield Hospital.

On Tuesday, Sonja and Ron Dumaresq, cousins of George Kleinschroth and his aunt Bessie Smith, were visitors and they, too, paid a visit to Sarah Kleinschroth in hospital.

Doris Davenport, who has been a patient in Tofield Hospital the last two weeks, was able to come home on Thursday.

Other patients in the hospital from our area are Russell Rowland and Jeanie Wilson.

The annual meeting of the Crafts Centre will be on Monday evening.

The district was shocked to hear of the untimely death of Vivian (Barnes) Clarke on Wednesday.

Vivian was the eldest daughter of six, born to the late Walter and Rachel Barnes.

She took all her schooling in Ministik School and went to Edmonton to work and resided there ever since. She made many visits back to the area to visit her parents and friends.

We had the pleasure of attending a games afternoon in the new Tofield senior citizens drop-in centre on Wednesday.

Hastings Lake

At the Community Association meeting last week, plans were finalized for the Christmas Concert, which will take place on Dec. 17th at 7 p.m., and will feature children's films, carol singing, an item from the Playschool members and perhaps an appearance by Santa Claus, before supper provided by the Ladies' Club.

The Ladies Club next meeting will be at the Hall on December 8th at 1 p.m. and will be followed by a pot-luck supper for families of the members.

TO ALL PERSONS (HEREIN CALLED "PRODUCERS" OR "PRODUCER") WHO HAVE MARKETED HOGS THROUGH THE ALBERTA PORK PRODUCERS MARKETING BOARD IN ALBERTA, FROM OCTOBER 31, 1969 TO AND INCLUDING DECEMBER 31, 1979

1. By Action No. 8003-09910 in the Court of Queen's Bench of Alberta, Judicial District of Edmonton, the Plaintiffs are Michael Myzuk, Harry Little, Brian McCutcheon, Dieter Feuerheim, Chris H. Von Wackerbarth, Marcel Kerckhof and Cobus Vreeling. The Defendants are Swift Canadian Co. Ltd., Canada Packers Inc., Burns Foods Limited, Fletcher's Fine Foods Ltd., Fletcher's Limited, Fletcher's (Alberta) Limited, Intercontinental Packers Limited, Burns Meats Ltd., Gainers Foods Ltd., Donald A. Cummings, Bruce M. Robertson and Robert C. Telford. This class action was commenced by the Plaintiffs on their own behalf and on behalf of all persons who produced slaughter hogs and marketed those hogs through the Alberta Pork Producers Marketing Board from October 31, 1969, to and including December 31, 1979.

2. The Plaintiffs allege, in part,
That the Defendants or their Predecessor Companies, conspired with each other and others, to lessen unduly the competition for slaughter hogs and thereby the price of those hogs by way of an agreement to share the supply of hogs on an agreed percentage and at a determined price.
And it is alleged that this conspiracy caused damage to the producers by the undue reduction of the sale price of hogs.

3. With a view to compromising the claim without admission of liability, certain of the Defendants, namely Swift Canadian Co. Ltd., Donald A. Cummings, Gainers Foods Ltd., Robert Telford, Burns Foods Limited and Burns Meats Ltd. (herein called "the Settling Defendants") have conducted negotiations with the Plaintiffs resulting in an Offer, which the Plaintiffs have accepted on behalf of all Producers, the acceptance being subject to the approval of the Court of Queen's Bench of Alberta.
The Plaintiffs intend to continue the action against those Defendants who have not settled.

4. The essential terms of the settlement are as follows:
(a) payment of the sum of $700,000.00, plus the sum of $105,000.00 in costs, in full satisfaction of any claims by the Plaintiffs against the Settling Defendants.
(b) That upon the approval of the Settlement by the Court, the Plaintiffs shall discontinue the action against all of the Settling Defendants and the Plaintiffs shall enter into a covenant not to sue the Settling Defendants.
(c) The Offer is conditional upon obtaining the approval of the Court of Queen's Bench of Alberta.
And in addition, the Settlement provides that:
(d) It is intended that this settlement shall NOT extinguish the Plaintiffs rights against the remaining defendants and their rights are expressly reserved against the remaining defendants and each of them.
(e) The Settling Defendants will be protected by the Plaintiffs against any claim for contribution which may be brought as a result of the continuation of this action against those Defendants who have not settled. This provision does not create an obligation on the Plaintiffs in excess of funds actually received from those non settling defendants.

TAKE NOTICE THEREFORE THAT by virtue of the Order of the Honourable Mr. Justice J. B. Dea, dated the 8th day of November, A.D. 1983:
(a) The Plaintiffs are causing to be advertised this Notice, in those newspapers as set forth in the said Order, on one occasion, and reference to the settlement and details as to the availability of further information in connection therewith shall appear in the Board's market summary.
(b) Publication of the Notice as required by paragraph (a) above shall be deemed to be good and sufficient notice of the contents thereof to all those persons who are members of the class.
(c) For the purpose of considering and accepting the proposed settlement, MICHAEL MYZUK, HARRY LITTLE, BRIAN McCUTCHEON, DIETER FEUERHEIM, CHRIS H. VON WACKERBARTH, MARCEL KERCKHOF, and COBUS VREELING, have been appointed to represent all members of the class who are or may be interested in the proposed settlement and that though the persons or the class and the members thereof can be ascertained, it appears to the Court expedient, regard being had to all the circumstances, that the seven above named persons shall represent all members of the class and in the exercise of that power shall bind the class represented by those seven named persons.
(d) Any hog producers who object to this proposed settlement may appear before the Honourable Mr. Justice J. B. Dea at 10:00 A.M. in the forenoon on Friday, the 9th day of December, A.D. 1983 at the Law Courts, in the City of Edmonton, in the Province of Alberta and set forth their objections.
(e) All hog producers on whose behalf this action is commenced will be bound by the terms of any settlement which may be approved by the Court.

AND FURTHER TAKE NOTICE that upon the settlement being approved, a supplementary application will be made by the Plaintiffs relating to the distribution of the proceeds of the settlement.
The Plaintiffs will propose that:
(a) The $700,000.00 plus any other amounts which may be recovered against the remaining defendants shall be divided among the Producers on the basis of the number of hogs sold during the period from 1970 to and including 1979. The total number of hogs sold during that period is 15,265,782; and
(b) The $700,000.00 be retained pending the finalization of the action against the remaining defendants in order to avoid the excessive costs arising from multiple distributions of funds.
Copies of the Statement of Claim, the Order of Mr. Justice J. B. Dea of November 8th, 1983, and the terms of Settlement are available for inspection by Producers, at the Alberta Pork Producers Marketing Board offices at Edmonton, Calgary, Lethbridge or Red Deer, during normal business hours.
The solicitors for the Plaintiffs will be in attendance on the following dates, at the Board's place of operation in each of the following cities, to provide any additional information to Producers in respect of this Settlement:
Edmonton December 1, 1983 at 1:30 P.M.
Red Deer November 29th, 1983 at 9:00 A.M.
Calgary November 29th, 1983 at 1:30 P.M.

Lakeshore-McKenzie

by Ellen Eaton

Once again your correspondent is asking if you will please cooperate in having news ready when I call if you wish to keep this column going or better still, call in once in a while. I was hoping someone would take over the column and write the news while I am absent.

Six senior citizens from Tofield and Ellen Eaton accompanied by 34 from Provost and others from Grande Prairie and surrounding districts and some from Edmonton made up a bus load on a tour of B.C. and Vancouver Island.

We left Tofield on Sept. 19th returning home Sept. 28th. We went by way of the Yellowhead route and enjoyed a very delightful tour making many stops along the way of places of interest.

Vi and Elmer Googlein left for Arizona the end of October for the winter. Their son Ron and Barbara accompanied them for a short holiday returning home a little over a week ago.

Ellen Eaton had Thanksgiving dinner at the farm with her son, Leroy and Shirley Eaton and son Ron.

Mae Ferguson of Lakeshore and her daughter Loretta Weir of Tofield motored to Sherwood Park on Tuesday.

Ellen Eaton spent from Oct. 18th to the 28th in the hospital having tests both there and at clinics in Edmonton. Her granddaughter Marg Eaton of Edmonton visited her while in hospital.

The Lakeshore U.C.W. met at the home of Ellen Eaton on Wednesday with nine members and visitors present. After the usual readings and references to Bible chapters by the president, Edna Jones, roll call, followed by the report of business from the last meeting, then the business on hand.

It was decided to hold the December meeting at the home of Melita Wall on December 12th. This being the Christmas meeting the usual exchange of gifts will be given. After all business was over lunch was served by the hostess with the help of Edna Jones and one or two of the other ladies.

Marg Eaton, Lynn Waddel and a friend and co-worker of Edmonton were recent visitors at the home of Marg's grandmother, Ellen Eaton.

Mrs. Florence Ingram and family are receiving sympathy on the death of her husband and their father, James (Jim) Ingram who passed away on Saturday morning in the Tofield Hospital. Jim has been ill for some time and been in and out of hospitals, both here and in Edmonton. The funeral was held on Tuesday in the Tofield United Church.

The Golden Club held their tea and bazaar in their new drop-in centre recently and also will now be holding their Wednesday meetings there.

Marg Eaton of Edmonton is staying at the farm with her parents, Leroy and Shirley Eaton for a couple of days and called on her grandmother, Ellen Eaton.

Spilstead news

by Louise Berube

Miquelon Lake Saddle Club held elections and the new executive is Graham Buckingham as president; Brenda Wall as vice-president; Moe Fisher will be the new treasurer and Rhonda Wall will continue as secretary. The new executive will take over at the February meeting.

The Spilstead Pathfinders travelled to Edmonton on Friday for an evening of roller-skating. Last Saturday the girls were busy serving tea at the Tofield Hospital Auxiliary's tea and bazaar.

Last Sunday, several men in the area labored away the afternoon and [illegible] skating rink. The first family skating party will be arranged at the general meeting on December 4th.

The Ladies Society held their charity bingo and auction on Saturday. A large crowd was in attendance and everything was sold, including [illegible] built. Myrtle Nerland of Tofield was the winner of the quilt and Jaqueline Heinz of Hay Lakes was the winner of the pillowslips.

Horse club has trophy night

On Saturday Katchemut Creek Family Horse Club held its second annual trophy night in the Tofield Legion Hall.

A pot-luck supper was enjoyed by the club members, trophy donors and invited guests.

After supper, the trophies and ribbons were given out.

Assisting with the trophy distribution were Teresa Williams and Dianne Harper, the Club's Rodeo Queen candidates in Camrose and Tofield, respectively, and Club Princess, Tannies Lovell with Club Prince, Shane Norton.

First on our long list were the pee wee class. Each of these youngsters received a trophy for their efforts. They were Colleen Shaw, Megan Shaw, Sheri Parsons, Shane Norton, Jenny MacCormac, Klay Krystal and Kristy Krystal.

The good sports class was made up of very inexperienced, or non-riders, who entered our ghymkhanas. They each received a plaque in recognition of their achievements. These ladies were Betty Williams, Anne Neufeld, Catherine Brewster, Sharon MacCormac, Mildred Wood, Susan Shaw, Mina Krystal and Nikki Parsons.

Novelty events for the year covered a wide range of races. This was split into two age categories.

Senior Trail Class: 6. Renee King; 5. Karry Krystal; 4. Ruth Hardy; 3. Kasey Krystal; 2. Gord Hardy; 1. Norma Smith.

Chariot Racing: 5th place tie: Ward Norton and Ron Hisey; 4. Jake Neufeld; 3. Ed Gustavson; 2. Kasey Krystal; 1. Walter Krystal.

This year's Sportsmanship Award went to a special couple who contributed very, very much to the club through their encouragement to the young people all through the year. Jake and Anne Neufeld were the winners. Anne our 'Club Grandma', went from her very first horseback ride on Mothers Day to riding unaided, on our last trail ride October 30. Jake, despite his bad back, sure gave the other charioteers a lot of competition.

There were several thank you plaques given out this year in recognition of jobs well done. They were social convenors, Marge Dafoe, Anne Neufeld and Deanna Norton; announcer, Blair MacCormac; time-keeper, Scott Parsons; top hand, Ed Gustavson.

The award for most improved horse and rider went to Linda Cheney and "Prince". Runner-up was Mildred Wood.

Ribbons were given to the top ten total points riders. These were 10. Karry Krystal; 9. Ruth Hardy and Teresa Williams; 8. Susie Wood; 7. Rhonda Wood; 6. Blair MacCormac; 5. Kristy Krystal; 4. Angela Wood; 3. Tannies Lovell; runner-up to high point, Shawn Lovell.

The Neufeld Memorial High Point Trophy was presented by Ken Neufeld. The winner of this award had to work hard to earn the right to take this trophy home for another year, but she did, congratulations go to Norma Smith on her win!

When presentations were over everyone enjoyed some visiting over coffee and dessert. The year's record sheets were posted giving everyone a chance to see their various times in the events.

Holden and district news

by Mrs. O.H Taylor

On Wednesday evening, the Holden Ladies Auxiliary held a regular meeting with president, Mrs. Helen Stecyk, in the chair. Also attending the meeting was District Commander Mrs. Harriet Bloom of Ryley, speaking on several subjects of interest to the ladies, and showing some of the items that can be purchased to celebrate the 50th anniversary of the Legion in 1986. She also gave an interesting talk on compiling a branch history. Donations were made to the Ladies Auxiliary Hospital fund and to the Salvation Army.

Election of officers for 1984 was held and elected were president, Helen Stecyk; first vice-president, Carol Chomic; second vice-president, Emily Ogonoski; secretary, Ethel Brekstad; treasurer, Irene Taylor. The meeting adjourned and lunch and a social hour was enjoyed, lunch hostess being Mrs. Nellie Kaluzny.

Mrs. Virginia Siser, who had been a resident in Holden Senior Citizens Lodge before taking a trip to Vancouver and then having an accident after her return, is now a patient in St. Mary's Hospital in Camrose. She had broken a bone in the upper part of her leg and is making satisfactory progress. She had not broken her hip as was first reported.

Mr. and Mrs. Pete Milimaka and Mr. and Mrs. Matt Heidrich were visitors for a day in Edmonton last week.

Joe and Emma Knudson of South Holden were visitors in Holden the past Friday afternoon.

Otto Hurum was taken to Tofield Hospital on Saturday morning for tests and observation.

On Nov. 14 a birthday party was enjoyed in St. Gregory's Church parlor in honor of seven senior parishioners who celebrated their birthdays

The Holden Friendship Group held their monthly meeting last Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Edith Carlson with Mrs. Taylor in charge of devotions. A chapter in the study book was read and discussed. The next meeting will be the Christmas meeting and will be held at the home of Mrs. Kate Nichols. The meeting closed and a lunch was served by the hostess.

Saturday afternoon callers with Mr. and Mrs. George Taylor were their son and wife, Brian and Dineke Taylor of St. Albert and grandchildren Ronald, Barbara, Cathryn and Richard, with all going to Viking to their son's home, Robert and Merle Taylor, who held a family dinner party

Miss Jessie Cwihla is a patient in Viking Hospital with a severe case of asthma

The Holden L.C.W. are holding their annual tea, sale of home cooking and bazaar on Saturday in the church parlors

Last rites held for Anna Tkaczyk

Ann Tkaczyk (nee Tchir) was born on Oct. 26, 1898 in Holden. She grew up on the family farm south of Holden and took her elementary schooling at Scona and her high school in Holden.

After leaving school, she went to work in Edmonton. On Oct. 15, 1929 she married Nick Tkaczyk. They made their home in Edmonton.

Ann was very ambitious, hard working, loved entertaining and enjoyed working with flowers. After many years of experience, working at Alberta Florists, she spent a lot of her spare time making flowers for her friends. Later, she was employed as a receptionist for an optometrist until her retirement.

Ann passed away in Misericordia Hospital on Oct. 15, after a very lengthy illness, at the age of 85 years.

She is survived by her loving husband, Nick; loving parents, Mike and Pearl Tchir of Vialta Lodge and Nursing Home in Viking; one brother, Bill Tchir of Vancouver, B.C., one sister, Irene Psanak of Holden; two nephews and two nieces; and numerous other relatives.

Prayer services were held in Edmonton on Oct. 17 in Park Memorial Chapel.

Divine Liturgy was held on Oct. 18 in St. Mary's Ukrainian Catholic Church in South Holden with Rev. O. Zachariaschwych and Rev. J. Kratko officiating.

Interment was in St. Mary's Cemetery

Pallbearers were Barry Tchir, Maurice Psanak, Walter Harsaymchuk, Fred Malak, Ray Dalk and Ed Lewchuk.

THANK YOU

The family wish to express our appreciation to relatives, friends and neighbours for their kindness, prayers, visits and help throughout our beloved one's illness and a special thanks to all those who sent flowers, cards, memorial donations, baking and helped in any way with the dinner served at the hall. Your sympathy and understanding is certainly of comfort in time of sorrow and will always be remembered.

Satellites share lead

Tofield . Satellites own a share of first place in the Beaverhill Hockey League

Satellites are tied with Mundare for the lead as each team has an identical 3-1 won-lost record with Lamont just two points off the pace

Both Holden and Vegreville are winless to date

Games last night (Tuesday) saw Tofield at home to Mundare while Holden played in Lamont with results to be reported next week.

Friday's action will see Holden at home to Tofield while Vegreville plays in Mundare

No games are slated for the weekend and on Tuesday, Mundare will host Lamont with a Wednesday game seeing the Satellites going to Vegreville.

A game last Tuesday between Vegreville and Holden was postponed.

In the games that were reported, Satellites edged Lamont 5-4 while Mundare whipped Holden 7-3.

A game between Lamont and Vegreville, scheduled in Vegreville on Saturday night, was not reported to CFCW. The Mercury could not obtain results of this game because the paper doesn't have a "contact" list.

Toros hold 2nd place

Tofield Toros are in sole possession of second place in the County Senior Hockey League.

Toros trail Camrose by only two points with the latter being undefeated in four games.

Toros will host the league's new entry from Rosalind on Friday night with Kingman being in town for a game on Monday night.

In their only match of the past week, Toros scored an easy 7-3 triumph over Narsette.

Garner and Loshack each scored a pair for the winners whose singles were netted by Schmidt, Friesen and Jenkins.

Olson of Tofield is the top goalie in the league with a low 2.[illegible] goals against average while Loshack is tied for second place in the individual scoring race, only two points behind the leader.

"Four to go" set for Friday's show

Press reviews of Kaleidoscope Story Theatre stress the actors' high energy level, talented skills and variety of program.

The performance of Kaleidoscope Story Theatre, "Four to Go", promises to enthrall the audience with music, drama, stories, dance and mime.

This presentation will take place on Friday at 7:00 p.m. in the Camrose Performing Arts Centre.

The performance is the second of a series sponsored by Kaleidoscope for Kids

One aspect of Kaleidoscope Story Theatre setting it apart is the audience involvement.

The theatre company have performed to a variety of audiences across Canada. The result is the same; groups of all ages thoroughly enjoy the performance and there is often a rush for tickets based on this theatre company's excellent reputation.

Tickets will be available at the door of the Performing Arts Centre

Between the Covers

Nearly twenty-five people enjoyed Mrs. Helen Forrester's reading from her autobiography last Tuesday afternoon at the Library. Many questions followed the reading, and those attending were pleased to be able to purchase copies of Mrs. Forrester's three most recent books. So pleased, in fact, that one of the Library copies of "By the Waters of Liverpool" was also inadvertently sold!

Approximately seventy-five junior and senior high school students were also able to take advantage of this Alberta author's presence in Tofield, as a program in the school preceded the one in the Library. Thank you to Mrs. Worden for organizing the school part of the program.

You will find on the New Book display table, copies of "The Latchkey Kid", "Liverpool Daisy" and "Most Precious Employee", three of Mrs. Forrester's previously published novels. All three volumes of her autobiography are also available.

Other new books this week include an appetizing recipe book entitled "Pork, Perfect Pork", prepared by the Canadian Pork Council. "Trails in the Sunset" is a 60th anniversary publication of the Alberta Wheat Pool. A collection of short stories, beautiful Alberta photographs, memories and inspirational thoughts, this is a delightful book. Young fans of teenage author Gordon Korman will be happy to see his latest book "Bugs Potter, Live at Nickaninny" available now.

The Library Board recently applied for a Priority Employment Program (PEP) Grant and were informed this week that it has been approved. This means that one temporary full time position as library clerk will become open for the period Dec. 1 through April 30. As directed in an ad elsewhere in the paper, applications should be through the Town Office. Just as a matter of interest, library usage is almost double what it was two years ago, and is about one third more now than this time last year, while staff hours have remained the same. Between the temporary clerical help, and the good response to an appeal for new volunteer help, the backlog of work and orders should begin to ease up!

Don't forget the Christmas Readings for school age children (Kindergarten to about Grade 4) for the next four Wednesdays, Nov 23 — Dec 14 at 4 p.m. This will take place in the Library, open for just that time on Wednesday, and there is no charge for the program.

Regular library hours are: Tuesday 1-5, Thursday 3-5 and 6-8, Friday and Saturday 10-12 and 1-5.

Honour students feted

Al Pollock, principal of Tofield School, has released the names of those students from Grade 7 to 12 whose mid-term averages were 80% or higher

The names of these students are as follows. Grade seven honour students were Danny Neufeld, Erroll Hastings, Karen Sware, Melody Sommer, Lisa Voltner, Craig Smith, Karen Hubbard, Kelcey Carlisle and Michelle Polster

Grade eight honours went to Connie Thiessen, Peter Oosmen, Bobbie-Jo Connolly, Rashid Kashani, Stacy Neufeld and Debbie Litwin.

Honours in grade nine went to Lisa Brodie, Rami Hastings, Cheryl Jeffrey, John Kallal, Lyle Voltner, Paul Strong and Duane Kopelstadt.

Grade ten honours were earned by Jennifer Neville and Armand Eglauer.

Honored in grade eleven were Debbie Undie, Darren Lammerts, Teresa Williams, Rebecca Laidlaw, Reva Robillard, Cathy Litwin, Chris Strong, Jason Mason and Ruth Collins.

Grade twelve honour students were Debbie Kallal and Tracy McShane.

BARBARA BENNETT

Culling cows has been a recent topic in the district — pregnancy testing and culling the open cows, selecting replacement heifers and selling others. The Alberta Beef Performance Bulletin recently printed an article by Bill Shirley on selecting replacement stock. You'll find this an interesting approach. Perhaps it will also be a useful guide in your herd management.

ORGANIZING YOUR EYEBALL DECISIONS

This is the time of year when the commercial cow/calf operator makes those "eyeball" decisions that will control his profits in future years. This is when he selects his replacement heifers from his current calf crop.

In recent years most operators with less than 200 mother cows were better off selling (or feeding) all their heifer calves and purchasing young cows for replacement stock.

As sacrilegious as that idea may sound, it has been my observation that such a move is still the best business decision in at least 50 percent of the operations. In many other operations the most profitable strategy is to keep only a few heifers and purchase at least half the replacements.

Economic pressure from the retail market is telling the cattle feeder to select off the weaned calf that can go on full feed at such a tender age that he is a finished animal before he is 14 months old. Most of these animals sell to the packers at choice prices who then merchandise the beef as a "non-rolled" house brand. The consumer wants tenderness, flavor and very little fat. Young full fed beef fills the bill perfectly.

The marketplace is slowly but surely increasing the profitability of the cow/calf producers who wean 600 pound steer and 550 pound heifers at 205 days. These animals can quickly move into finishing operations that have them on the rail when their contemporaries are just coming off spring pasture as long yearlings needing 100 days of full feed.

The cow/calf producer would really be in trouble if the market was sending economic signals for him to produce some other type of animal. The fact is that the cow/calf operator's most profitable product is exactly what the consumer wants.

If you are a profitable cow/calf producer with 450 pound calves, you will be more profitable with 500 pound calves, and will be producing the animals that will be in the greatest demand in the future. Some areas of the country are already paying a nominal premium for the young, growthy animal. This trend will accelerate over the next three years.

The size of cow herd is not relevant. The operator with 70 mother cows can produce heavy weaned calves as well as the operator with 700 mother cows.

The heavy weaned calf is not necessarily the calf with the heaviest birth weight. You do not have to have 1,300 pound cows to deliver the calf that can wean at 550 pounds 205 days later.

The fast growing calves demanded by the market are not just the exotic breeds or even exotic crosses. There are Hereford and Angus blood lines that produce growthy animals. The required traits are herd specific, not breed specific.

I've examined many different methods of selecting replacement heifers and have concluded that the final selection based on the combination of savvy eyeball judgments and good herd records leaves much to be desired. And anything less than a good "Cattleman's Eye" supported with good records is a total [illegible].

I've developed an approach to heifer selection that is more effective than the method used by most operators. I call it "triage".

The experienced cattleman can certainly trust his judgement to cull those heifers that obviously have structural problems such as bad feet, a narrow pelvis or poor muscling. The operator divides the herd into three groups based on conformation. These groups are "the keepers", "the goners", and "the NTS's" ("NTS" stands for "Not Too Sure").

Unless the herd is of outstanding quality the "keepers" will be considerably less than one-third of the heifers. If the operator is really honest, the "Not Too Sure" group will be the [illegible].

The next step is to examine herd records that give the birth date and birth weight of each calf. You have already culled the "goners" so you now triage the remaining heifer crop based on the growth per day of age. Preweaning growth per day of age is primarily a measure of the mother's milking ability, but there is a strong correlation between postweaning growth rate and preweaning growth rate.

If you just consider the 205 day weaning weight without the growth per day of age, you will also be selecting for high birth weight which can lead to great difficulties.

Your triage produces three unequal groups of 'goners', 'keepers' and 'NTS'. While the 'goners' in this triage are structurally sound, their growth rate is well below the crop average and should be culled.

If your herd is good quality, you probably still have more heifers that you normally keep. Those calves that exhibited both strong conformation and rapid preweaning growth are definitely kept.

Then list all of the remaining animals in order of their growth rate with the fast growth rate at the top of the list. Most of these are 'NTS'. And 'NTS' is exactly what they are — there is no way you can be sure about these girls'. If you use this system, you will discover when you look back three years from now that from half to two-thirds of your best cows from this crop were in this 'NTS' group.

Even if you must purchase more hay than you would like to, make every effort to keep as many heifers from this middle group as possible. If you must cull, cull from the bottom of the list, keeping as many animals as you can afford. These young heifers have lots of growing to do in the next few months so they should be kept separate from the mother herd and managed accordingly.

In the spring the ones that have not reached puberty are culled without excuse or exception. It often happens that a very high percentage of the animals with the best conformation are not ready to breed 30 to 45 days ahead of the older cows.

In the spring when you weigh the ones that have reached puberty, you have a very significant measure of postweaning growth rate per day of age. Triage the group again on the basis of post weaning growth rate. Don't hesitate to put a large number in the 'goners'. If you need more replacement stock because of deep culling, purchase it. Don't lose sight of your objectives to produce heavy weaning fast growing calves.

You will be pleasantly surprised to see that a large number of the heifers that were [illegible] the preweaning growth rate list have reached puberty and are exhibiting above average post weaning growth rate. This is the justification for keeping as many of the NTS heifer calves as possible. They just needed more time to exhibit their worth.

There is still more culling to do. The heifers that don't become pregnant in a [illegible] are culled. The young mother that loses a calf is culled. There are many tests that these heifers must pass before they earn the rank of 'cow'. In a well managed herd, the ones that are promoted wear their title with pride. They had to be outstanding to survive.

The concept behind triage is quite simple. You use your cattleman's eye and herd records to identify the 'goners', not the 'keepers'. To the extent that your resources will allow, you let each animal demonstrate its genetic ability to improve your herd. At each stage of the selection process you triage the group, keeping as many of the 'NTS' group as possible to give them time to prove their worth.

The consistent, hard-nosed application of this selection method will increase the weaning weights in a well managed herd very rapidly by the third year.

Waste authority okayed

... by Ryley council

The Village of Ryley is in favour of the establishment of a solid regional waste management authority.

That resolution was passed when village council held a regular meeting last week.

It was agreed that the village would contact representatives in Tofield, Holden and Viking to see if they were interested in a joint meeting with Frank LeBlanc, [illegible] inspector with Alberta Municipal Affairs.

Councillors decided to ask Mark Lawrence of Alberta Municipal Affairs to attend their next meeting, which is scheduled for Dec. 12th.

It was agreed that the village should apply for participation in the 1983/84 PEP program.

A motion was passed reaffirming the new council's position of support for a waste disposal treatment plant within the boundaries of the Village of Ryley.

The firm of Masuda, Braun and Jackson was appointed as the village's auditors for 1983.

Discussion on the reclamation program for the old sewage lagoon was tabled to a future meeting.

Information for this news story was obtained from the unapproved minutes of a council meeting held on Nov. 14th.

Goodtimers plan annual tournament

Camrose Goodtimers are gearing up for their sixth annual oldtimers' hockey tournament.

The three-day event will be held in the city's two arenas and will open on Dec. 2nd.

Twelve teams will be participating with three teams entered in each of four divisions.

Goodtimers are entered in Group A with the other two teams being Edson and Lloydminster.

Teams in Group B are Hinton, Medley and Sherwood Park while Group C consists of Alix, Drayton Valley and Wainwright and entered in Group D are North Battleford, Ponoka and St. Albert.

After competing in round-robin play, teams will advance to the playoffs according to final standings in each division.

The playoff for first-place teams is sponsored by Molson's Brewery with the Duggan Mall sponsoring second-place [illegible] and the third place playoffs has the Norsemen Inn as the sponsor.

Other details and a tournament schedule will be printed next week.

Palmer-Earling

by Mrs. Joe Knudsen

Diane Kathan, Camrose, was third prize winner and Joan Starcheski, Bawlf North, placed first in the gingerbread house cake decorating contest at Duggan Mall recently.

On Nov. 11, Mr. and Mrs. Adrian Bergquist had a welcome-home supper for their daughter Shyla, home from Vancouver, B.C. where she completed a course with high marks. She is presently employed at a beauty salon in Camrose.

Christopher Rempel observed his fifth birthday that day. Guests were the Peter Rempel family and Mr. and Mrs. Gordy Pope, Edmonton, the Clifford and Ron Bratrud's, Lyle and Keith Bratrud's and [illegible].

Teachers' strike probable

by Ken Kroetsch

Some 600 teachers could go on strike this Thursday, if teachers reject the latest proposal from the board, said ATA bargaining agent [illegible].

[illegible] has been recommended by the strike committee that it be rejected," said Nettleton. The teachers were to vote Thursday evening, but because of The Mercury's Tuesday publishing date this information was not available.

Nettleton said the school boards were not prepared to negotiate monetary matters to the satisfaction of the teachers. Another issue expressed by the teachers at this time is a continuance clause. The teachers would like the agreement to continue into 1984 as 1983 is just about over.

Ken Kozak, bargaining agent for the Alberta School Trustees Association, was unavailable for comment as he was attending a convention in Calgary.

Bill Schoeman, County of Beaver superintendent of schools, said all the principals in the county have been contacted and informed of board policy concerning the impending strike.

If the teachers vote not to accept the proposal and go out on strike, then parents will be notified Wednesday and teachers will be informed of the terms of the contingency plan, said Schoeman.

The contingency plan once set in place would be operated by a co-ordinating committee consisting of School Board Chairman John Warner, Superintendent [illegible] and Deputy-superintendent Don Kondrat.

Shoeman will be the spokesman for the committee with all matters going through the committee for approval.

Under the plan teachers will have to outline up to three weeks work and assignments for students before going out on strike.

Students will have the option of registering in another school jurisdiction, hiring a private tutor, or will be able to take correspondence.

If the need should arise it will be one of the school libraries open for students to have access to reference material.

Another part of the contingency plan will deal with non-striking employees and how the strike will affect them.

And finally, the plan deals with the closure of the schools within the County of Beaver.

Society shows profit

by Ken Kroetsch

For the second year in a row, the Beaver Heritage and Agricultural Society have shown a profit, these attending the annual meeting of the society were informed.

This was partly attributed to good swimming pool management and to the fact the pool has been paid for over the last couple of years.

The profits from this year weren't as high as last year, but this was due to Red Cross badges, towels and other supplies needed.

While there were profits shown, the fair lost $130 this year.

In a report, Gail Booth said she felt that poor gardens and hot weather had reduced the number of people attending, but that it could have been that last year was an exceptional year and that this year was just a general down trend.

This year at the fair there were increased costs in supplies. Booth said this happened to be the year supplies such as ribbons were needed.

Booth said most people were happy with the general format of the fair, though there were minor suggestions for change in the fair for next year.

She said for the size of the community it was a pretty good fair and that it had generated a good deal of interest.

In the operational report of the swimming pool it was noted that the operational committee had been happy with the staff and had felt that two or three members of the staff had operated with a professional attitude in dealing with the public.

It was reported there had been over 6,000 recreational

John Moore inducted

. . . to Hall of Fame

by Ken Kroetsch

John Moore of Tofield, along with two other Albertans, was inducted into the Alberta 4-H Hall of Fame at a 4-H conference banquet in Grande Prairie recently.

The other Albertans to be honored by being inducted into the Hall of Fame were Bob Burns of Pickardville and Bob Bunbury of Castor.

Moore's wife, Evelyn, was presented with a bouquet of flowers at the ceremonies.

Also present at the ceremonies as special guests of the inductee, were Moore's daughter, Marjorie and his granddaughter, Heidi along with Tofield 4-H Beef Club president, Don Wood.

Along with being inducted into the Hall of Fame Moore was presented with a plaque for his enthusiastic leadership and his outstanding dedication he had given to 4-H in Alberta. Moore served as a leadership capacity in the club for 30 years.

He said he owes a lot to this community for their desire to have him as leader of their club.

This is the second time that Moore has been inducted into a Hall of Fame. A year since he was inducted into the Alberta Hereford Hall of Fame for his work and promotion with Polled Herefords.

Moore is still active in the 4-H program, judging public speaking, showmanship and in helping out any way he can.

Moore said he believes in helping young people become better citizens through the 4-H program.

Lerning proper procedure for a business meeting, public speaking, debating, with everyone taking part are all important to young 4-Hers.

Tofield has an entry in Reach For The Top

On Saturday, Tofield will make it's third appearance on CBC's Reach for the Top program.

The team members are James Moses, Chris Smith, Robert Stutzman, Arthur Sutherland and Ted Wood and the coach is W. Banpola.

Tofield was quite successful last year in winning two games before being defeated by Barrhead on the flight finals.

Barrhead went on to finish second in the National competition.

The taping of the show is open to the public and spectators are invited to do so. Be at CBXT Studios, 8861-75th Street in Edmonton before 10:30 a.m. on Saturday.

The show is scheduled to be shown on CBC Channel 5 on Saturday, Dec. 3 at 12 o'clock and Sunday, Dec. 4, at 4 p.m.

Smell the coffee

It's only a few years ago that things were booming in the Alberta construction industry so much that union workers were able to hold their companies and their customers to ransom as they swung wages higher and higher. Why, on many union construction jobs unskilled laborers were able to earn more than highly skilled tradesmen in other non-union situations.

They were so successful that they helped to burst the balloon. Construction costs soared so high that numbers of would-be builders drew back when they compared costs with potential earnings.

Oh, sure, high interest rates played a big part. World oil gluts following shortages following gluts played a part. Galloping inflation and rapidly escalating taxes contributed their share. But one of the major components had to be the inflationary wage rates, and the matching situation with work contracts, fringe benefits, holidays, overtime and so on.

Suddenly the bottom dropped out and the number of contracts shrivelled.

Some people still wanted buildings, but wouldn't or couldn't face the costs involved. So they started talking to non-union contractors, who, they found, could do amazing things . . . like building at more reasonable levels.

Suddenly they found all kinds of union workers anxious to take their jobs, at far lower wages, simply to keep something coming in.

Now the unions are protesting vigorously against the legislation Labor Minister Lee Young is bringing in, attempting to allow union companies to find work for their men through non union-associated agencies. The big companies have the experience, the know-how, the contacts, and the establishment to be able to handle all of this work, to find jobs for their people, but the unions complain it is union busting, that it denies union workers their rights.

It doesn't deny them anything. Any union worker still would have the right to belong to his union, to be considered a part of the work force of some big union company, to close it down by strike (while drawing pay from some other company).

It even allows him the privilege of going without any work at all when his union-bound company can't get a job because their union contract puts too high a premium on wages.

The construction unions did great things for their members, over a period of years. They raised their wages and their working conditions to such unexpected and unprecedented levels during a few boom years that now all but the oldest members accept this as the norm, as the proper level, and have great difficulty in even thinking down to the level of their friends and neighbors.

They're facing real trouble adjusting to the real world. They smell the coffee but they can't wake up.

Loose Ends

PAINTING IS A 4-LETTER WORD

I have come to the conclusion that painting is not my thing. I don't mean the kind done on an easel, I'm talking about the kind done on walls, fences, garages and various other parts of the old homestead.

I did not arrive at this conclusion quickly. As I applied two coats to over 700 lineal feet of pre-mitric fence several years ago, I began to suspect that ours was not a lasting relationship. Suspicion blossomed into fact about 3 years ago when the walls of our newly acquired home each slurped up 4 coats of one-coat paint. The thrill of redecorating soon paled, believe me. (Did you know that the quickest way to scatter unsuspecting callers is to wave a paint brush in front of them? I bet Houdini could have used that in his act.)

It was with great reluctance that I renewed my acquaintance with a paint roller this weekend, because it's only recently that I've recovered sufficiently to hold my hand steady enough to paint all 10 fingernails. I know that painting is a necessary part of beautifying my surroundings, but if it were up to me, I'd just as soon throw a bag over it and pretend it wasn't there. If it weren't for my claustraphobia, I'd get someone to spray the darned stuff on, covering woodwork, baseboards and window panes in one solid coat.

The unfortunate thing about combining me with paint is that while I dislike it, paint loves me. I act as a magnet for the stuff and have yet to tackle any painting project without looking like one of the Great Speckled Birds when it's all over. I could wrap myself in a drop sheet and cover that with a rubber suit and goggles and I'd still have paint all over myself, the floor, the dog and any other unfortunate being who comes within stopping distance (My range is about 2 kilometers.) And I don't merely splatter — I glob it on, rub it in, brush against it and smear it around. The only thing I haven't done is fall in it, but don't give up on that yet.

Some people actually enjoy painting, but it baffles me how anyone can do it for a living. Those who do have my undying sympathy, not to mention my admiration. I admire anyone who can do that job without giving in to the urge to stuff all the necessary paraphenalia into the nearest john.

And the cleaning up! I don't have the time to discuss my feelings on that subject Suffice to say that it is even less popular than painting Feel free to use your imagination as you take it from there

Rewards of exhibiting

Fair exhibiting can be rewarding. In addition to the possibility of monetary and personal gain, exhibitors derive educational benefits and support their community when they enter a competition.

Bertha Eggertson, Alberta Agriculture's provincial clothing and textile specialist, says individuals experience a great deal of satisfaction when they show their products to others. And the recognition of good workmanship is a very rewarding experience in itself.

The features of a high quality product are identified when the product is rated. And the comparing of exhibits is a learning experience for both the exhibitor and the public. Since a judge's comments often include suggestions for improving methods and techniques, they contribute to further learning.

So Eggertson encourages exhibitors to be creative and original. She points out that a new idea or approach can add interest to any display and inspire others to try new ways of doing things.

So, plan to contribute to, and to support, a summer fair in your district. Contact your local fair convenor or district home economist for a prize list and judging standards for food, sewing and handicrafts.

Deficit spending: A dangerous lure

By W. Roger Worth

There is some pressure on the federal government to support proposals that would allow an extra $5-billion or more for spending on make work projects, thus driving this year's federal government deficit to about $35-billion.

Furthermore, some reports claim that business in general supports this view. Nothing could be farther from the truth.

It is true that Canadian Pacific executive Ian Sinclair has suggested as much, but this view is not backed by all of big business.

For example, the Business Council on National Issues, which represents 150 chief executive officers of the nation's largest companies, is adamantly opposed to such government spending. In fact, the high powered group suggests some family benefits will have to be cut if Ottawa wants to dramatically expand politically popular make-work programs.

At the other end of the business scale, the Canadian Federation of Independent Business, which represents 64 000 smaller firms is outspokenly forceful in its condemnation of such proposals.

Naturally, there is a very good reason both prospectives warned Finance Minister Marc Lalonde the country should not overspend.

While business expressions for the 1.6 million unemployed, the real issue is the fear that an excessive deficit will result in even higher interest rates, or at least a diminution in the downward trend.

For businesses large and small, of course, interest rates are all-important. With low rates, Canadians will borrow to purchase everything from consumer goods to houses. Businesses will also borrow to expand, and at the same time create jobs.

If, on the other hand, interest rates rise, the opposite happens. Normally successful firms will be forced to cut even more staff, there will be little expansion or new employment and the make-work jobs created through deficit spending will not be enough to offset those employment losses.

The key to the equation of jobs versus excessive public spending is interest rates, which are irrevocably tied to federal government deficits. Most Canadians understand only too well that if Ottawa spends more than it gets from taxpayers, the end result is that taxes go up, or that the next government will be forced to do so.

The [illegible] which would only further economic [illegible] and [illegible] problem. Such measures only make a bad situation worse.

Queen of Canada stickers FREE

Oakville,
November 13, 1983

Dear Sir:

The Monarchist League of Canada is an organization which seeks to explain to Canadians the value of constitutional monarchy, and to defend vigorously the Crown from both the misinformation and attack which occasionally surround it.

As part of our ongoing programme to publicize the work of the Queen and the institution which she graciously represents, the League sells to its members sheets of colour stickers of Her Majesty wearing both the Order of Canada and the Canadian Order of Military Merit. These we encourage our friends to use on mail (when stamps bearing Her Majesty's portrait are so frequently 'out of stock'), on tax and other forms, as favours for children, decorations and so forth.

Due to a printer's error, we have some 1000 sheets of stickers surplus to our order, and we have agreed with him to distribute these, free of charge. Accordingly, we invite your readers to request their complimentary sheet of 20 Queen of Canada stickers by writing to The Monarchist League of Canada, 2 Wedgewood Crescent, Ottawa, Ontario K1B 4B4. It would be appreciated if a self-addressed, stamped, business-size envelope were included. Teachers, Guide leaders, 4-H groups and other youth organizations are, of course, welcome to request multiple copies. In this way we hope that an error may be turned to advantage and allow more Canadians to manifest publicly their undoubted loyalty to our Sovereign.

Yours sincerely,
John L. Aimers,
Dominion Chairman & Founder

Patricia Young Says . . . . .

Canada, like most other nations in the free world, has not been immune to the long tested and tried "divide and conquer" technique which operated successfully in Korea, Vietnam, Germany and elsewhere.

In North America we have seen it at work dividing black from white. Indian from white man, French Canadian from English Canadian, youth from adult and even male from female. Along with these ongoing confrontations, we find a growing move to set up hatreds between the border nations of Canada and the U.S.A. At the same time, these movements would also see Canada "liberated" from the British Commonwealth of Nations.

In defense of Canada's monarchial system of check and balances, it might serve us well to look at some of those nations who were so "liberated" from their Monarchy. Bulgaria banished King Boris III in 1945 and was declared a Communist Republic one week later. Rumania deposed King Michael on December 30, 1947 and was declared a Communist Republic on September 30th 1952. King Zog of Albania was overthrown in 1939 and was in the hands of the communists by 1945. Yugoslavia deposed King Peter II on November 29th 1945 and was a communist Republic by April 7th 1963. Hungary, declared a Republic February 1st 1946, lasted only three years before it came into the communist orbit August 20th 1949. Germany after King Wilhelm, became a Republic in 1919 and fair came for the ambitions of Adolf Hitler.

In most of those nations liberated from the British Commonwealth of nations, we find a new climate of tribal warfare, religious hatred and barbaric rule. In Chad, Angola, Nigeria, Zambia, Burma and Biafra, a benevolent colonialism has in many instances been replaced by local despotism.

About the only nation which did actively fight for its liberation" from the British Empire was the U.S.A. For the rest, the "divide-and-conquer" technique continues from within most free societies. The trouble is, good men are the surest to deceive . . . . . .

Toros are in second

Tofield Toros are in sole possession of second place in the County Senior Hockey League.

Toros trail the first place team from Camrose by only one point after last week's action.

Tofield had to work hard to pick up a win and a tie in last week's two outings.

Toros will play in Camrose on Friday night in the team's only action of the coming week. There will be a game in Tofield on Monday when Kingman hosts Rosalind.

A goal midway through the final period enabled the Toros to earn a 5-5 stalemate with Rosalind on Friday night in a penalty-filled contest.

Lashuck had two markers to lead the Tofield attack while singles were netted by Jenkins, Olson and T. Dunnas.

Dalke Olsen came in on relief in the second period and shut the door in Kingman's face as Toros roared from behind a 6-0 deficit to beat the visitors 7-4.

Dupeul picked up a hat-trick for the winners with the singles being scored by Berrien, Olson and Fryness.

Olson of the Toros continues to lead the goal-tending race but, his lead over Bruce of Camrose has been reduced while Lashuck has moved to within one point of the lead in the scoring race.

swims over the season, with over 800 sets of swimming lessons being held.

It was also reported that there had been requests from the pool staff to have a policy in place for next year to deal with the everyday operations of the pool. The matter will be dealt with by the new board, at a later date.

In the pool managers report, given by pool manager Rod Knudsilen, he said that due to recently enforced labor relations that employee salary levels had been increased this year, but that they had tried to offset this additional expense by using basic materials rather than convenience products, which Knudsilen said, tend to cost more Knudsilen also suggested that each year the pool manager be sent to a workshop at the beginning of the season to avoid problems through inexperience compliments of the year.

The pool, reported Knudsilen, is in fair condition and that of the society was planning improvements in the future that they should be done on the filtration system. Because the filtration system is old, Knudsilen said that any repairs in the future could be expensive.

Knudsilen reported that the operations of the pool had gone smoothly this year though better communications had to be worked on between the pool and the Bruce-Viking area.

Knudsilen said he had been disappointed with the school systems in how little they used the facilities.

He suggested that the new superintendent of schools for the County of Beaver be contacted to see if the school couldn't use the pool more to their physical education programs

Knudsilen ended his report by informing the group that he had set up a course for instructors for level 1 for the beginning of next season so there wouldn't be a shortage of qualified instructors for next year.

In other business five people were elected by acclamation to the society board. Gary Manderson, Gail Smith, Dan Price, Gertie Mixers and Vanda Stefura, were named to the board. Some of these people had completed terms on the board, but had been renominated to the board.

Other members of the board are Martin Hamm, Jack Weins, Ray Kropielnicki, Ran Temke, Maralyn Campbell, Harold Johnson, Dianna Marian, Gene Munkedal and Patsy Jeffery. There is one member short on the 13 member board.

Meeting planned
by Ron Knudsen

Approval for the constitution and bylaws of the newly organized Holden and District Home and School Association is one of the items to be discussed at the next meeting of the association this Thursday, said President Susan Tymchak.

Also to be discussed at the meeting will be a short resume of activities of the association in the future.

"These are not hard fast things that are going to happen," said Tymchak. She said these things are to be discussed at the meeting and the direction of the association determined from there.

Another items to be discussed will be the last meeting of the County of Beaver Board of Education. The executive will also be asking for volunteers to attend the next Board of Education meeting in December.

The meeting will be followed with a tour of the Holden School facilities with an explanation of the various sections of the school, followed by a discussion.

Ryley curlers active

by Ken Krawchuk

Curling has been organized in Ryley and is underway for another season, said curling club president, Sid Haugen.

The Ladies League will be curling on Tuesday afternoons, the Men's League on Tuesday evenings, the Mixed League on Wednesday night and the F[illegible] League will be held every Thursday afternoon.

An additional evening of curling will be held every Friday evening for anyone wishing to socialize or set up a game. This will be a free night of curling by arrangement, said Haugen.

There are several bonspiels planned for Ryley for the coming season.

The first, a Mixed Open Cash, will be held Dec. 13-18; the next, a Ladies Open, will be held Jan. 16-22; the Farmers Bonspiel from Jan. 26-29; the Mixed Bonspiel from Feb. 20-26; and the Mens Open from March 12-18.

Ryley will also be hosting the Men's Zones for curling this year.

The new executive for the curling club in Ryley this year are president, Sid Haugen; treasurer, Madeline Andrukow, secretary, Hal Strilchuk; and vice-president, Bernie Kope.

Round Hill's history book still has editions for sale

After three years of work the book "Round Hill and [illegible]" was printed by Douglas Printing Ltd., of Edmonton and offered for sale at the Round Hill History Book Presentation and Homecoming this past [illegible]

The program for this event included entertainment on Friday evening and on Saturday a pancake breakfast followed by an enjoyable parade, then an open-air program, with Fred Gotheridge as emcee, of addresses by a number of dignitaries; Casper Yurkoski, president of Round Hill Agricultural Society and chairman of the Homecoming Comittee, William Banack, Reeve of the County of Camrose; Ron Williams of New Hortons who presented an award from Monique Begin to the Committee, accepted by Emma Bowthorpe, editor of the book; Gene Wzubko of Omnitext Interfacing Services of Edmonton; Don Mazankowski, M.P. of Vegreville Constituency who presented a large Canadian flag from the [illegible] Round Hill History Book and Homecoming Committees.

The special white bound collector's book was auctioned by Laurie Lindstrand of Linstrand Auctions and was sold to Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Banack of Round Hill for $3300.

This was followed by the barbeque and a dance in the school gymnasium in the evening.

The book contains 848 pages and about 2000 pictures.

It contains sections on the early history of Round Hill and Dodds, churches, schools, clubs and associations, sports and about 1,000 family [illegible].

There are also poems, stories and photo sections on Armed Forces, wedding anniversaries and four and five generation pictures.

The books sell for $35 each and sales have been going well.

Books are available from Tom Nahirniak or Mrs. Emma Bowthorpe in Round Hill; Toys for Tots in Camrose; Banack Bros. Supplies and the General Store in Round Hill; That Place in Tofield; Ryley Variety Store in Ryley; or, Irene Olson in Holden.

As I See It

by Dr. Walt Buck, M.L.A. Clover Bar

Dr. Walt Buck, Independent Member for Clover Bar, introduced "An Act to Amend the Hazardous Chemicals Act" today.

The Act compels the [illegible] to establish a schedule of hazardous chemicals and compels individuals who have those hazardous chemicals in their possession to advise the Minister within 90 days.

The Act further compels the Minister to establish restrictions governing them and demands that the best available technology be used before their storage or disposal.

The Act contains a penalty provision, including fines up to $10,000 and terms of imprisonment up to six months.

"the Bill really contains two important aspects", Buck stated. "The first principle is [illegible] an inventory of all hazardous chemicals. At present, we simply don't know who has what types of chemicals on their property. With this Bill there will be no chance of another situation like the recent PCB storage problems in Edmonton."

Buck also stressed the importance of the use of the best available technology. "We can't allow companies and individuals to continue to dump [illegible] the place, allowing them to leak into underground water systems. Under this new legislation, we will be demanding that the best available technology be used for storage of these chemicals. For instance, recent research in the United States shows that PCBs can be broken down into their atomic components by discharging large amounts of electricity into them. This is the type of technology that we must begin incorporating to prevent the increasing amount of dumping going on in the province."

When your mornings lag and you sorta sag

And you can't keep up with the group

And you're not in tune till the afternoon

Then you've got the no-breakfast droop.

Yes, breakfast is probably the most important meal of the day. In years past, [illegible] for the whole family, but today eating on the run seems more the order of the day.

Studies show that 85 per cent of school children start the day without a nutritiously adequate breakfast. Teachers tell me that they can spot a child who hasn't eaten breakfast by their attention span and general [illegible]

It's not that difficult to plan an adequate breakfast even if you're on the run. Here are some 5-minute breakfast ideas.

Make a morning milkshake of milk, a banana, an egg and orange juice blended in a [illegible]. Presto — breakfast! Have muffins on hand in the freezer and serve with cheese slices and juice.

To make breakfast pops — coat bananas with peanut butter thinned with orange juice and roll in crushed cereal. Serve on a stick to breakfast skippers and they'll be back for more.

A breakfast packed with a bag lunch can be eaten on the [illegible]

Below is a recipe for muffins that can be used as part of a quick nutritious breakfast.

250 mL (1 c) bran cereal
[illegible]
[illegible]
50 mL (¼ c) vegetable oil
250 mL finely chopped apple
250 mL grated Cheddar cheese
300 mL (1¼ c) all purpose flour
15 mL (1 T) baking powder
5 mL (1 t) salt
75 mL (⅓ c) firmly-packed brown sugar

1. Combine bran and milk; let stand until most of the moisture is absorbed. Add egg and oil, beat well. Stir in apple and cheese.
2. Stir together flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. Add to bran mixture; stirring only until combined.
3. Fill greased muffin tins ⅔ full and bake at 200°C (400°F) about 20-25 minutes. Yield: about 1½ dozen muffins.

Holden and district news

by Mrs. G.H. Taylor

Mrs. Annie Mikunaka who has been a patient in Tofield Hospital for the past three weeks, returned home last Wednesday morning; her son, Lud bringing her home.

Mrs. Jack Stambough is a patient in an Edmonton hospital after having had surgery.

Mrs. Annie Komarnitsky was a recent visitor with her brother, Fred Ozubko in Viking Nursing Home.

Otto Hurum, a patient in Tofield Hospital, was taken to the University Hospital in Edmonton Wednesday morning for further tests and then brought back to Tofield, later in the afternoon.

Patients in Tofield Hospital from Holden were Alex Shehinski, Teodor Nakoneczny of the Senior Citizens Lodge, Nick Shihinski and Jennie Lemko, who had been hurt in a hockey game.

Sunday evening callers with Mr and Mrs. George Taylor were their granddaughter, Saylor and her friend, Dean [illegible]

Mrs. [illegible] who has been resident in Viking Nursing Home for the past few months, came home on Sunday.

A former Holden resident and teacher at Holden School, Alex Gordey of Vegreville passed away suddenly on Nov 19th at the age of 72 years. Mr. Gordey was well known in the Holden District, being M.L.A for over 10 years of the Vegreville Constituency. Both Mr. Gordey and the late Mrs Rita Gordey taught at Holden School for two years, then moved to Vegreville. While M.L.A., he was a frequent [illegible] and district taking active interest in its affairs and needs.

He is survived by his wife, Nancy; one son, Ernie of Whitecourt; two daughters, Mrs. Jim (Darlene) Scoular of Tofield, Mrs. Alex (Elaine) Prockiw of Warspite; four grandchildren; one brother, William of Vilna, three sisters, Mrs. Pearl Kallat, Mrs Katie Dushinski and Mrs. Lena Kozak, all of Edmonton.

He was predeceased by his first wife, Rita in 1955 and two sisters in the Ukraine.

Prayer service was held on Nov 22nd and the funeral service was held Wednesday in St. Vlademir's Ukrainian Orthodox Church with Rev. J Pak, Very Rev. M. Kryschuk and Rev. L. Kubin officiating. Interment was in Mount Pleasant Cemetery in Edmonton.

Mrs Margaret Olson (nee Robertson) passed away early last week in an Edmonton hospital, after a lingering illness.

A memorial service was held on Saturday in the Holden United Church with Rev Dan Newell in charge of the service. Mrs Olson, before her marriage, taught for a number of years at Holden School.

Satellites have lead

Tofield Satellites own a share of first place in the Beaverhill Hockey League.

Satellites won the only game they played last week to move their won-lost record to 4-1, while Mundare had a split in two contests and their record is now 4-2.

Results of a game between Lamont and Mundare, played last night (Tuesday) was not available at presstime.

Satellites are playing in Vegreville tonight (Wednesday) and will be at home to Lamont on Friday.

Holden will travel to Vegreville on Saturday and will be hosting Mundare on Tuesday, if ice conditions permit.

The only other contest scheduled for the coming week will be on Tuesday when Lamont hosts Vegreville.

Satellites moved into top spot last Tuesday night when they stopped Mundare 8-5. In the other game played the same night, Lamont stopped Holden by an identical score.

In the only other game that was played last week, Mundare swamped Vegreville 16-0.

A game between Tofield and Holden, scheduled for Holden on Friday, was postponed until Dec 20th.

Results of a game scheduled for Nov. 19th between Lamont and Vegreville still has not been received by The Mercury or CFCW and neither outlet has a list on contacts for the league.

Gardeners meet

The Tofield Garden Club held their Octobedr meeting at the home of Theone Jones.

Because of poor attendance, no formal meeting was held.

The new fertilizer came and was discussed and sold to those present.

It was felt that meeting every second month when special business needed attention, should be tried. The December meeting would be the Christmas party with gifts exchanged and a Christmas lunch.

Theone Jones finished a friendly gathering with lunch.

EVER FEEL LIKE IT'S YOU AGAINST THE WORLD?
When you look at your car and it seems to be physically falling apart before your very eyes?

Small Business Owners and Farmers: It's Your Last Chance to Benefit!
If you're a qualified small business owner or farmer, there's not much time left to join the thousands of Albertans who have benefited from the Alberta Heritage Fund Small Business and Farm Interest Shielding Program. To receive an interest shielding payment, your application must be processed by your financial institution to meet the March 1, 1984, deadline. That means you must act now!
Here's How It Works
This program was designed to provide interest shielding benefits to small businesses and farmers during periods of high loan interest rates. If your total revenue over the past fiscal year was under $5 million you likely qualify for a shielding payment, paid directly to you from the Alberta Government.
Catch Up On The Past
It's true ... interest rates are much better today than several months ago. But your Interest Shielding Program is retroactive to March 1, 1982, when interest rates were at their highest ever.
You can recover interest paid over the minimum program rate of 14½%. If you were, or still are, paying more than 14½% the program will shield you for the difference on loan rates up to 20½%.
Act Now! Your Banker Is Waiting
March 1st, 1984 seems like a long way off. But don't forget ... your banker needs sufficient time to calculate your applicable interest. Because the program is retroactive to March 1, 1982, your banker may require several weeks to process your application depending upon the complexity of your records and the number of applications on file.
You Can't Afford To Wait
Be sure you allow enough time to process your shielding benefit. Visit your financial institution today for an application form and a detailed information brochure. Forms are also available at any office of Alberta Tourism and Small Business, or your local office of Alberta Agriculture.

Choir plans concert

Camrose Lutheran College Concert Choir will present its annual Christmas Festival Concert on Sunday and Monday, both at 8 p.m. in Grace Lutheran Church, 53 Street and 50 Avenue.

This year's concert, Christmas with Dr Martin Luther, will feature Luther himself, who will deliver excerpts from some of his famous Christmas sermons, interspersed with music which tells the story of Christmas, from the Annunciation to the Presentation.

Much of the music is from Luther's day, including his own Christmas carol, From Heaven Above.

The concerts are being held at Grace Lutheran Church, which is the temporary home of the college's new pipe organ.

Because the seating in Grace Lutheran Church is limited, a place is reserved for everyone who wants to attend one of the concerts.

Persons planning to attend the CLC Choir Christmas Concert should either pick up their free tickets for the Sunday or the Monday concert from the receptionist on the first floor of Old Main on the CLC campus or phone the switchboard operator at 679-1100 to reserve tickets which will be held for them at the door of Grace Lutheran Church, until performance time.

CP installs detectors

. . . at Bawlf, Ervick

CP Rail has installed two hot box detectors in the Camrose area as part of this year's $8.5 million national program to improve the safety of train operations and help protect communities in the vicinity of the railway lines.

[illegible] to over-heating freight car wheel assemblies — known as 'hot boxes' — which can cause [illegible].

The detectors are to be installed four miles (6.4 km) west of Bawlf and five miles (8 km) west of Ervick at a cost of [illegible].

The detectors are among eight to be placed at various locations in Alberta by the end of 1983. In 1982 and 1981, 11 detectors were installed in the province for approximately $1.3 million.

By the end of 1983, CP Rail will have 232 detectors in service on its lines. It began installing detectors in 1975 on its Western Canada lines travelled by heavy freight trains hauling coal, grain, potash and sulphur. The railways' nation-wide detector program will have cost a total $25 million by the end of this year.

Hot boxes are caused by wheel bearing failure which produces heat and can weaken the steel at the end of the freight car axles, causing it to break under the weight of the car.

The detectors are track-mounted heat sensors that measure wheel bearing temperature in passing trains and alert train crews to overheating wheels, sticking or defective brakes and dragging equipment.

Information from a detector is transmitted to a large, trackside screen which automatically displays the data for train crews, and indicates the precise location of the hot box, sticking brake or dragging equipment.

Officials honored

by [illegible]

Former County of Beaver School Board trustees and county councillors were honored for their service to the county, at an appreciation night in their honor last Friday night.

Six former trustees and councillors were recognized. The evening began with supper followed by the presentations.

Certificates were presented by Don Kendrat to Hjordis Armitage, Eugene Ewaniuk, Gordon Heimes, Leo Kelly, Harriett Ruddy and Nestor Semotiuk for their membership on the Board of Education.

Following this presentation George Knudslien presented each of these people with a wall hanging plaque indicating the number of years they had served either on the Board of Education or [illegible] County Council.

Following this, Reeve John Warner presented each of the honored former trustees and councillors with engraved wrist watches for the service they had given.

The last presentation was made by Ken Pepper on behalf of the ASTA. Hjordis Armitage and Eugene Ewaniuk were presented with their nine year service award. These awards were made at the appreciation night as these former trustees were unable [illegible] to have [illegible] presented to them there.

Horsemen meet

The regular monthly meeting of the Ketchemont Creek Family Horse Club was held on Sunday at Beaverhill Family Centre.

It being Grey Cup Sunday, there was not a big attendance, so it was decided the secretary would send out a newsletter so the absent members would learn what is coming up.

The club is holding a work day at Beaverhill Hall on Dec. 10 at 10:30 a.m. Members are urged to come, bringing hammers and saws.

On Dec. 11, there will be a hayride starting at the hall at 1:30 p.m. On Dec. 18 the club will once again be a part of the Beaverhill Family Centre Christmas party.

It was announced that the annual meeting will be held on January 15. There will be elections of officers at that time.

Ministik and district news

by Catherine Reddick

The whist drive held last Friday at the Crafts Centre was once again a most successful one.

Prize winners were, gents, first Pat Petersen; second Bob Berrecloth; consolation George Kleinschroth.

Ladies, first, Jean Kleinschroth; second, Louise Kyle, consolation, Gladys Gill.

Lunch was served by the ladies. Whist drives will continue some time in the new year.

The games afternoon for the centre will be on December 10th with many games played and a pot-luck supper.

The date of the Christmas Cantata sponsored by the Ladies Club and being held in the Community Hall is on Dec. 22 at 8 p.m. Lunch will be served. Children attending will receive Christmas treats.

The district was well represented on Monday afternoon as friends paid their respects to the late Vivian Clarke at Ottewell United Church in Edmonton.

Keith Williams has joined other patients in Tofield Hospital; they being Russell Rowland, Sarah Kleinschroth and Jennie Wilson.

The young peoples' dance held at the hall on Saturday evening was a most successful one. After a turkey supper, complete with all the trimmings, was served by convenors Grant Wilson and Glen Lawrence, the dance got underway.

Heather Ratcliffe prepared the supper for the boys to serve. The boys plan another dance in the new year.

Tickets are available for the New Year's Eve Frolic from Joyce Bowerman or members of the Community League.

On Tuesday, three ladies from Ministik took advantage of the new senior citizens bus service that is being provided each Tuesday. This service extends to Edmonton if patrons so desire, on a Strathcona County bus from Sherwood Park. Otherwise, any location in Sherwood Park is used by patrons. This bus holds 16 people and was packed on it's initial run.

Children at Ministik School are busy these days preparing for their annual Christmas concert to be held at the hall on the afternoon of Dec. 22nd.

Puffs upset

With a good crowd on hand, the Tofield Powder Puffs had their first upset on Sunday against the Hardisty Hawks.

Although the Powder Puffs had an advantage of players, it didn't seem to discourage the Hawks, coming away with a 3-1 victory.

Scoring for the Hawks were P. Downie and T. Mogg. The Hawks nearly came away with a shut-out but, in the last dying seconds, T. McLennan scored for Tofield.

The Powder Puffs will be travelling to Lamont on Sunday to face the Chipmont Ladies at 11 a.m., returning home later in the afternoon for their regular practice at 1:30 p.m.

Along the corridors

Tofield Senior High boys went to Devon on Saturday to compete in the 2A Highschool Zone volleyball competition.

Senior High basketball practices have started under the direction of Ken Puslen for the boys, and Constable Powers for the girls.

At the junior high level, Mr. Lysko for the boys, and Mr. Wahlstrom for the girls are both looking forward to a good season.

If the number of players trying out for each team is any indication, it should be a super year for junior high basketball.

Curling has started under the direction of Mr. Poslock and Mr. Irwin. Eight teams are playing, however, Mr. Irwin says that there is room for four more players, needed as subs.

All exhibition games involving the Czechoslovakian team will be played in British Columbia, preceding and following the tournament.

Lost as Canadians, rabbi tells Rotary

Words from a bench beside a tranquil pool in a secluded garden at Lake Wells, Florida, formed the opening on which Rabbi Lewis Ginsberg of Calgary based a talk to Rotarians on Monday.

"I came here to find myself. It is so easy to get lost in the world," was the message on which Rabbi Ginsberg expanded. "It is so easy to get lost in the world today," he said. "It is a problem causing many of the world's leading thinkers serious reflection. Something is wrong and we know it," he continued.

As nations, Americans and Canadians have outgrown the adolescent period, continued the rabbi who is very well known in Edmonton where he served several years prior to moving to Calgary. And during that period, we have learned that we can't just blame someone else, like the Russians, for our troubles because the problem is in ourselves.

We don't know where we're going, or indeed if we're going anywhere, he declared.

For all our wealth, for all our technology, for all our development, people concerned with world development over the next few centuries worry over the future.

Not only are we lost as Canadians, he emphasized, but we are also lost as human beings.

There is no one single reason explaining the predicament we find ourselves in, he continued. Rather, it is due to a number of reasons, among which are our worship of success, our pre-occupation with status, our love for surrounding ourselves with "things", all of which combine to distort [illegible]

We tend to confuse worth with wealth, said the rabbi, whereas it is important for us to learn that what a man is is infinitely more important than [illegible]

[illegible]

The greatness of a nation cannot be measured by its missiles, its television, its cars and highways, declared Rabbi Ginsberg, but in the greatness of its ideals, in its passionate belief in the philosophy of liberty for all men in its ability to champion the cause of liberty without counting the cost, in its ability to inspire in the hearts of its children a deep respect for the rights of other [illegible]

In this season leading to the highest religious holidays both for the Christian and the Jewish world, he said, we must learn to repair the wrongs we have done, to ask ourselves "Have I lost the way?" and to find ourselves in the idealism, the visions and the dreams of our younger years.

Most of the world lives in Asia, continued the speaker. Most of the world is non-white. So we must realize that we are actually a minority and learn to live in that realization.

Most of the world [illegible] abysmally, abjectly poor. Most of the world is ill-fed, ill housed, illiterate and ill. Most of the world is hungry. Most of the world is neither Christian nor Jewish. Most of the world is non English speaking. Most of the world is different from us.

With all of these [illegible] tives [illegible] must learn that [illegible] the world are [illegible] terdependent. We [illegible] to the realization that it is imperative for us to support world mindedness.

Tofield may be energy audit site

by Ken Kruschak

Tofield has been chosen as one out of three possible sites for an energy audit to be done by TransAlta Utilities, council was informed at the regular meeting Monday night.

Mark Lawrence, planner for Alberta Municipal Affairs, said the Department had been asked by TransAlta Utilities to approach the community to see if they would be willing to take part in this project.

Lawrence was asked what the cost would be to the Town of Tofield. He said there wouldn't be any cost to the community as far as he knew.

"The price is right," said Mayor C.W. Sears.

Lawrence did not name the other communities which are being considered along with Tofield. He said that out of the possible three locations that two locations would be chosen for the energy audit.

Lawrence said the intent of the audit is to make recommendations on how the municipality can save energy.

"As to the specifics and how it is going to be done . . . I'm at a loss," said Lawrence.

Lawrence said he was vague on the way the program would be set up, but said that if Tofield were selected then representatives of TransAlta Utilities would come and speak with the Town about the proposal.

Council moved to concur with the energy audit stating they were in favor of it.

Lawrence's visit to council was four-fold in nature.

He was there to introduce himself to council as the new representative of Tofield for Alberta Municipal Affairs planning and to discuss with council future plans for 1984 and to discuss current planning issues.

Lawrence requested that he be notified of council meetings so he could attend to get to know the needs of the Town of Tofield. Council approved his request.

There were five tenders received by council for snow removal for this winter. The tender was awarded to Larry Elliott and Vicki Fitzerbert.

One of the conditions of the tender is that if the Town Foreman is not satisfied with the work done he can make arrangements to find someone else to do the job.

Council said they do not want snow dumped on boulevards this year nor do they want to see windrows of snow left overnight.

It was explained by the Town Foreman that a windrow had been left a short while ago, but this had been done only because the equipment being used to remove snow had broken down.

Ed Regehr and Hans Christensen were appointed as representatives from the Town of Tofield to sit on the Regional Landfill Authority Board.

Each municipality will have one representative on the board, with one alternate to fill his place when not available for meetings.

Council gave third and final reading to By-law 828 to authorize the Town to enter into an agreement with Tofield Industrial Developments to develop an industrial park north of Highway 14 and west of the main entrance.

Before the by-law had been passed there were some changes in the agreement that council had been concerned with before development could go forward.

One concern expressed by council concerned the letter of credit be 100%, instead of the proposed 25%, and that sewer and water be done into the lots.

Tofield Industrial Developments have agreed to these terms.

A letter will be sent to the County of Beaver Board of Education to inform them of the cost of a flashing cross walk sign to see if they are willing to enter in a cost share agreement to have one installed on secondary highway 834 and 35 Ave.

Council have been looking into a crosswalk at the request of parents who had expressed concerns of children from the Belvedere area crossing the highway to go to school.

At the present time council has painted crosswalks across the highway and set up crosswalk signs. The school zone signs have been set further apart along the highway.

Concerning signs, council have decided to remove the two stop signs at the intersection of main street and secondary highway 834. This decision came after several complaints have been received that it was unnecessary to have them there.

The signs will be removed in the near future and a no-U-turn sign will be erected at the head of Main street.

The street light committee reported there was a need for street lights along 55 Ave. east of the football and ball diamonds.

The installation of the street lights was left up to the committee to install at their discretion.

Council has accepted a bid from Tofield Town and Country Drug Mart to purchase the old Town Office. Council accepted the $23,500 bid on condition that the building be demolished within six months, by the end of May, and that the titles of the acquired property consolidated with the Drug Store property.

The agreement is subject to a lease agreement between the Town of Tofield and Ducks Unlimited.

Last rites are held for Margaret Olson

Margaret Ethel Robertson was born August 18, 1927 at Robin, Man., to Mr and Mrs Harry Robertson into a family of five boys, namely Chris, Harry, Nick, Donald and [illegible].

She passed away on Nov 22.

Margaret's career was teaching school. She came to Holden in the early '40's and taught at Holden School for several years.

Margaret married Lars Olson on March 22, 1975. She has resided in Holden ever [illegible].

Margaret was pre-deceased by her husband, Lars in May, 1976 and by her parents and four brothers.

She leaves to mourn her loss a brother, Ronald of Edmonton; a cousin, Walter of Edmonton, several nieces and nephews; and four step-children, Bernice, Kay, Glenn and Jim, many step-grandchildren, and numerous friends.

A memorial service was held at Holden United Church on Nov. 26.

We would like to thank the people who helped in many ways to make our sudden bereavement more bearable. That included many concerned friends from Holden and Tofield. Also Rev. Dan Newell for conducting the service and Mrs. Olive Good for playing the organ. Thank you very much.

Lakeshore McKenzie

by Ellen Eaton

Born to Brad and Kathy Goots of Camrose, a baby girl, Nov. 18, named Gina Marie, also born to Tony and Joanne Danak of Round Hill, a baby boy, on Nov. 25, named Jarrod Thomas.

The proud grandparents are Allan and Alma Ferguson, parents of Kathy and Joanne of Lakeshore and Stan and Ann Banach of Round Hill, parents of Tony, proud grandparents are Mrs. Emma Ferguson, mother of Allan and Mrs. Josie Vice, mother of Alma; both of Tofield.

Marg Eaton, security guard at the University Hospital, spent four days at the home of her parents, Leroy and Shirley Eaton on the farm. While here, she called on her grandmother, Ellen Eaton before returning to Edmonton on Thursday morning.

Nelson and Ren-Ai Ferguson and children of Sherwood Park came down to the farm Saturday to visit Nelson's mother, Mae Ferguson. Nelson returned to work, while Ren-Ai and children stayed to attend a skating club tea and banner with Mae during the afternoon in the new Golden Club in Tofield.

Ellen Eaton accompanied George and Ida Niemetz to attend the funeral of Joe Yurkowski of Merritt, B.C. at a church northeast of Hilliard. Nancy Mazur of Tofield and Mrs. Langel of the Tofield Senior Citizens Lodge also accompanied George and Ida. All the children and some of their families were there, also, several others from Tofield who were relatives and friends of the family attended the funeral. The Yurkowski family lived in the McKenzie District before moving to Tofield several years ago, then Joe moved to B.C.

Crime Watch meets

Beaverhill Crime Watch held their meeting at Shaw Hall on Nov. 28th.

Sergeant George Vandenburg from the Highway Patrol gave an interesting talk on traffic, rules, driver licenses, licenses, purple gas, etc.

Peter Watt then addressed the group about different policies available to farmers and acreage owners.

The annual meeting will be held on March 22nd in the Tofield Legion.

Nominating committee members are Peter Brown, Carl Staal and Ted Strickell.

What alternatives are available to you in marketing your grains and oilseeds? "Emptying the Bins" is a marketing seminar that will explore these alternatives and look at the grains and oilseeds marketing outlook for the coming year. Speakers are to include: Don Bousquet from the Farm Market Economist with Alberta Agriculture. The seminar is to be held at the Wainwright Communiplex on Thursday, Dec. 1 at 9:30 a.m. Registration fees are $15 per person or $21 for husband and wife. For those farmers that would like to know more of the details for some of these marketing alternatives, special workshops will be organized at Irma, Provost, Hughenden, Edgerton, Wainwright and the County of Beaver. The location of the workshop for the County of Beaver will depend upon the interest expressed by farmers and which part of the county exhibits most interest. Pre-registration is with us at the Ryley District Office of Alberta Agriculture, 663-3555. Please give us a call if you are interested in going.

November and December are two months that many farmers "hit the books". That is, many farm account books and calculators are pulled out and pondered over in an effort to determine the taxable position of the farmer, while there is still time to do something about it. The objective of income tax management is not necessarily to reduce income tax payable but rather to maximize income after taxes. True enough, for many farmers, this year may not have been a very prosperous one and payment of income tax may not be very likely. However, various strategies exist where taxable income can be raised in one year to take advantage of personal exemptions. This has a partial averaging effect because income would be lower by the same amount the following year. An important point to remember is that taxes are rarely avoided, but may be deferred to another year.

The income and expense statement (to date) is the first place to start. The advantages of a good accounting system are very evident at this point. If net farm income (after expenses) is too high, consideration could be given to making payment on accounts receivable, buying farm supplies for next year, paying wages to children or spouse, postpone or defer sales of grain or livestock to the following year. If net farm income needs to be increased on could sell grain or livestock inventories or make use of the livestock inventory provision.

The use of these strategies, however, must be with caution. Be certain that lowering taxes this year will not put you in a precarious position for the following year in which income may be substantially higher.

In any farming operation, there are years of high income where the tax bill is high and years of low income where you may lose tax exemptions. If the high and lows can be smoothed out, "after-tax-income" will be maximized. Also, the importance and usefulness of a good accountant cannot be over emphasized. If you would like more information on the subject, please give us a call.

VILLAGE OF HOLDEN

SNOW REMOVAL NOTICE

Residents of the Village of Holden are reminded that By-Law No. 2 1978 states in part that every occupant of every house shop building, lot or parcel of land shall within the first 48 hours after any snowfall remove the same from the sidewalk fronting or abutting each house building lot or parcel of land. If there is no occupant this becomes the responsibility of the owner. Failure to do so will result in the work being done and the charges levied against the property and collected as though they were taxes. Your co-operation in complying with this By-Law is requested.

BETWEEN THE COVERS

There are no RRSP's, or RHOSP's at the Library, but you can get tax shelter there. Did you know that the Tofield Library is a registered charitable institution? Because of its non-profit nature, the library may issue tax-deductible receipts for donations of money towards its operations or purchases. Small or large, such dontions are gratefully received, and put to good use. Some of the immediate needs are a new encyclopedia, an increase in the picture book collection, and a slide projector.

On the new book shelf this week, look for two biographies of western Canada. "The Silent Song of Mary Eleanor" by Marjorie Campbell is her mother's story of her early years and hardship on a Saskatchewan homestead, and her struggles to provide a good life for her family of six daughters. Quite a different character is "Wildhorse Jack", one of the most successful early ranchers in Western Canada, well known for his exuberance and many misdeeds. This new Grant MacEwan book was, in his words, "fun to write" and should also be fun to read.

A topic much discussed these days is the problem of drinking and driving. A new book published by the Council on Drug Abuse is Peggy Mann's "Arrive Alive" which covers much up-to-date information on the subject, and how citizens' groups can help.

The third in Victor Suthren's Paul Gallant series is ready: "In Perilous Seas". It is set in the 18th century, during the period of conflict between England, France and Spain, over the riches of the New World.

Don't forget the Wednesday Story Hour; this is for school age kids, for the next three weeks. The session is a short one, 4-4:30, and the last week will include a puppet show. There is no fee.

Regular library hours are: Tues. 1-5, Thurs. 3-5 and 6-9; Friday and Saturday 10-12 and 1-5.

Ross gets scholarship

Mrs. Jane Ross, R. M. B. Sc., APO, M.A., M. PHil. of Camrose is in her second year at the University of Cambridge, England, where she is working on her Ph. D. in Medical Anthropology.

Ross was the first nurse to be awarded a scholarship from the Alberta Heritage Foundation for Medical Research each year until her program is completed.

Ross has extensive background in international health and development and is focusing her current research on culture, health and technology; the interface between traditional culture and modern medicine in the development of useful health care programs in Sierra Leone, West Africa. She was awarded as M. Phil. in Social Anthropology by the University of Cambridge in June, 1983.

Ross has travelled in more than forty countries, has lived in four, has worked as a nurse in three and currently holds active nursing registration in two. Her employment record has been gained from nine different organizations. Her curriculum vitae includes such experience as nursing in Indiana, U.S.A., instructing Nursing Refresher courses, teaching at Camrose Lutheran College, working at the Camrose One World Centre to Health Study and Research in various countries. Her last employment, before beginning her current studies, was as a nurse at Bethany Nursing Home in Camrose.

She is presently working on a book dealing with the "Native Conceptulization of Health and Disease" among the Kuranko people of Sierra Leone, West Africa.

Schweitzer is Holden citizen

by Ken Kroetsch

Through tears of joy and surprise, Bobbie Schweitzer accepted the Citizen of the Year Award from Chamber of Commerce President, Matt Helfrich.

Just prior to revealing her name, Helfrich said the person receiving the award had moved to Holden in November of 1979 and before she was unpacked she was involved in her first community effort, a skit held in the Holden Community Hall.

Since moving to Holden four years ago, Bobbie Schweitzer has been active in the community and has made an impact on the community, said Helfrich.

She has been the Chairperson of the Future of Holden School committee, president of the Brownies and Guides, president of the Figure Skating Club, and was the founder of the Holden gymnastic club.

Helfrich went on to say that Bobbie Schweitzer also has been involved with the Creative Playground committee as secretary and has been active in the Chamber of Commerce.

In an interview after the ceremony, Bobbie said she hadn't given the award much thought because she knew that it was being taken care of and she didn't have to worry about it.

"I was really surprised. I was actually too busy to think about it," she said.

Bobbie said she and her husband Bert, UFA bulk agent in Holden, and their two daughters, Robyn and Shala, moved from Calgary where they had resided for 15 years, prior to coming to Holden.

While in Calgary, Bobbie was actively involved in the organization of Calgary Amateur Softball Association, scheduling bookings for 1,200 teams in Calgary.

For her work for this organization Bobbie was awarded a lifetime membership with the organization.

She also served as chairperson of the proposed World Women's Softball Championship and was involved in the Canadian Women's Championships.

Bobbie said the only thing she likes as well as ball is curling. Since moving to Holden Bobbie has been active in Ladies curling.

A radiology technologist by profession, Bobbie works with her husband Bert keeping the books and recently has been involved in the school system first as the Chairperson of the Future of Holden School and then as a school trustee for the Village of Holden. She also played an active part in the organization of the Holden District Home and School Association.

Bobbie and Bert and their two children are members of the Holden United Church.

Bobbie said two of her trade marks around the community are her rust colored snow suit, which between October and April she wears continually and her little Blue Toyota, which she affectionately calls her Blue Bomb.

Playschool gets grant

The Community League Playschool at Hastings Lake has just been awarded a $4,080 starter grant from the Clifford E. Lee Foundation, an organization interested in assisting social and educational projects.

The playschool has a short history, having been started in 1981 by Anne Kasasi, a new resident who saw the need for a social spot for preschoolers living on relatively isolated acreages and farms.

She and Joy Rabby, followed by Joyce Lindberg and Inge Peulsen, did a fine job as volunteers, using simple play materials and very little financial support.

With the aid of some of the mothers, they organized a program for about thirty preschoolers, on one morning of each week.

The popularity of this program was evidenced this fall when enrollment reached 50.

The active parents' group, led by Linda Darroch, was encouraged and advised by a local resident, Sheila Campbell, who is an expert in early childhood development.

The successful application for the grant was only one of several new features, the play group now caters for preschoolers of all ages, and concentrates on pure play, with the children being free to Teachers' strike averted

by Ken Kroetsch

County of Beaver Teachers, along with the other teachers of the Elk Island Association, voted 68.5 per cent in favour of accepting the latest board proposal rather than go out on strike as recommended by the strike committee, said Winston Nettleton, bargaining agent for the ATA.

Nettleton said that while the school boards were prepared to have the teachers go out on strike for a half per cent less than other teachers in the province were getting, the teachers were not.

"The teachers were not prepared to close schools for that little money," said Nettleton.

The 800 teachers in the Elk Island Region accepted a 2 per cent increase from Jan. 1 to July 1 and a 3 per cent non-compounded increase from July 1 t Dec. 31.

This gives the teachers a 5 per cent increase from July 1 to Dec. 31, the contract is retroactive to Jan. 1, giving the teachers a sizable cheque in back pay.

Another major issue, the continuation clause, was not agreed upon. Nettleton said that in the past this has always been a "gentlemen's agreement', with the school boards having no committment to meet the expired contract.

The bargaining agents for the ATA wanted it in writing rather than have someone's word on it.

Nettleton said in the past the school boards have always honored the expired contract, but wouldn't have to if they didn't want to.

"It was either accept his word or go on strike," the teachers said. "Let's take them at their word," said Nettleton.

Ken Kosak, bargaining agent for the ASTA, said the total cost to the school boards will be 3½ per cent. He said there was an additional 3½ per cent increase in allowances over and above the other increase for those eligible for allowances.

Kosak said that the new contract will expire on Dec. 31 and that both parties have mutually agreed to meet before Feb. 15 to talk about the 1984 contract.

Kosak said normally notice is served prior to the contract expiring and if no notice is served then the existing contract continues for the next year.

Kosak said this year the negotiations will be held some time in February.

Negotiations had broke down last week between the two sides at the bargaining table and a recommendation had been made to take strike action. The tentative strike date had been set for Dec. 1.

The final decision was however left up to the teachers to either accept the latest board proposal or strike. The teachers chose to accept the boards proposal.

Jurisdictions under the Elk Island Region include the Counties of Beaver, Lamont, Minburn and the School Divisions of Provost and Wainwright.

Toros get big shock

Tofield Toros had a shocking experience last week.

Toros went to Camrose on Friday night and played against a non-goalie who stonedthem.

Despite outshooting the Camrose team 51-35, Toros had to settle for a 4-4 draw when forward Wilf Story came up with a sensational game in goal for Camrose after never having played that position before.

The game had an unfortunate side for the Toros when high-scoring forward Laurie Lashack suffered an injury and may miss action for a number of weeks.

The game had an unfortunate side for the Toros when high-scoring forward Laurie Lashack suffered an injury and may miss action for a number of weeks.

Lashack scored one goal before he was injured and the other markers were netted by Gilbert, Doepel and Olson.

The tie with Camrose was Tofield's only action of the past week and left the team in sole possession of second place.

Toros will be going to Rosalind on Sunday for their only match of the coming week as a game with Nurnette scheduled for Friday night in Tofield had to be postponed because the college students are tied up with exams.

Following their tests, the college team goes on Christmas holidays and won't play again until January.

In the only other game that was played, Kingman outgunned Nurnette 11-7

Who's in charge?

Canadians may well wonder who's in charge of the Post Office, if union boss Jean Claude Parrot gets away with his proposal to charge only ten cents postage for Christmas cards mailed next week.

Monsieur Parrot and his workers must have lain awake nights trying to figure out something like that, something that would grab the public, yet drive Post Office officials to distraction.

It's all so simple, he points out, with his characteristic Gallic shrug. It gives the public a break, it brings in more revenue for the Post Office, and it matches the cheap rates given the large corporations.

What he doesn't point out is that the large corporations are attractive simply because of their huge volume, that they already do a major part of the work themselves, even coding and presorting almost right down to the individual postal walks. What he doesn't point out is that these large corporations operate under rates negotiated with the Post Office, just as are the wages of the postal workers.

And he just laughs at the suggestion that the Postal workers might ever be disciplined . . . perish such a thought. They're too numerous. They're too powerful. They're too essential. They're too well organized. They're too important politically.

But Mr. Parrot should be careful, lest he overreach. Even under government, there are no absolute monopolies forever. The government is now rid of the Post Office . . . it's a Crown corporation. But the rules can change overnight. The rules may empower other carriers to compete, to carry "letters" or bills at commercial rates. Technology may even make the Post Office obsolete. Mr. Parrot might conceivably win one particular battle, by embarassing the authority. But he could lose the war.

He may draw attention of the public to the supposed empathy the workers have with the public. But if it really costs thirty-two cents to carry the mail, who will pay the Posties if they ask only ten cents?

Is the Post Office running the operation, or is the union?

Loose Ends

by [illegible]

I read an interesting magazine article the other day. It asked several questions about the time we spend in front of the Tube, the effect of advertising on our family and whether or not we can converse on non-TV related subjects. The answers given determine if we are TV addicts.

My answers determined that my family and I are not addicts. We're hopeless junkies. With children who wake [illegible] at 7 a.m. to wa[illegible] G.I. Joe cartoons on Sunday mornings, how could we be anything else?

Like most parents, I've tried limiting the TV my Yabba-dabba-do duo watch, but it's difficult when I watch so much myself. I think it all began when our firstborn was introduced to and fell in love with those wonderful babysitters, Ernie, Bert and Big [illegible]. I had no way of knowing that TV addiction is contagious and those small doses would lead eventually to total dependency. Do you know that at one time it was a neighbourhood pastime to get together with a friend and watch soap operas from 1 to 4 every weekday afternoon? When cable was introduced some friends never left their sets from dawn till dusk. You can see why I choose to cut down — they don't call it an idiot box for nothing.

Television does have its good points, of course. No one can deny that it is cheap entertainment in an age when going out is out. (Cheap should not be confused with good, [illegible]er. After awhile, the repitition makes my eyes cross.) And if one is able to remain awake long [illegible], TV is a font of information. If it weren't for watching the box, I would never have learned who does the voices on the Smurf cartoons, why Allan Thicke has left us for sunny California, what a "Mr. T" looks like, how to get rid of morning breath and prevent overwash, where Fraggles go when they have a problem or that Laura is returning to General Hospital this fall.

See? I told you I was a mainliner. It isn't a nice feeling but like everyone caught in the grasp of an unwanted habit, I know that I can quit anytime — if I really want to.

Then I can find out if there really is life after reruns.

Patron Saint

For years we've understood that Santa Claus was the patron saint of children, but it took New Brunswick Premier Richard Hatfield to admit publicly that Santa Claus is also the patron saint of politicians.

"If I had a choice between believing in free enterprise and Santa Claus, I'd tell you I believe in Santa Claus," declared the premier near the end of November.

His comment came as he commented on his concern over the number of people, including Ronald Reagan and Margaret Thatcher, who continue to champion free enterprise, and say it is up to the private sector to create jobs.

"The private sector does not have the financial capacity to do it," he asserted. Mr. Hatfield declared the current economic recession was not caused by excessive labor demands, expensive benefits for executives nor by excessive government spending. But other countries now are able to create goods and services that were once provided by the developing countries.

It was the late Premier Aberhart who used to claim that the average voter had the mental development of a twelve-year-old. But it has taken almost 50 years for another premier, Mr. Hatfield, to demonstrate that a politician can get along with the mental maturity of the average six-year-old . . . one who still holds firm to the belief that Santa Claus will straighten everything out.

We don't really want to suggest that Premier Aberhart was too complimentary, but it does seem that too many voters, like Mr. Hatfield, still believe in Santa Claus. Too many voters still believe that Christmas presents will be rained down on us, if only we're "good little boys and girls". In other words, if we don't rock the boat. If we don't ask too many questions. If we don't grow up to disbelieve in Santa Claus.

How can a supposedly intelligent electorate continue to elect so many representatives who still believe in Santa Claus? At the federal level, the provincial level, even the local level?

Unions needed

Dear Sir,

Regarding your article of November 30, "Smell the Coffee", I find it interesting that a newspaper with a circulation of 3,000 or more would openly show disapproval for the [illegible] province.

The picture you paint for your readers gives the impression that unions are out to mug the already wealthy government and contractors of Alberta. There is no mention of the union members and their human rights.

The main reason for the difference in union vs non-union wages is that many of the non-union contractors employees are newcomers to this country or people who are ignorant to the fact that the right to have decent wages, safe and clean working conditions are human rights, not an idea that was dreamed up overnight to make it difficult for the employers. If that were the case we would still have 9-10 year old children working 14-16 hours a day in mines.

The non-union contractors prey on these individuals because they know they have to work to get by. The employer is interested only in getting the job done and could [illegible] his employees health — safety — wages.

If you think that union wages are too high, then you haven't done much research in the area of non-union versus union.

For example. The removal of asbestos from some of our older refineries and buildings is a hazardous job which if done properly is a slow step by step process that can be done safely. But, there are non-union contractors who are aware of the dangers but send their employees in to do the job with no safety precautions such as proper tools and protective clothing and no briefing of how to remove it safely even though they know the dangers themselves. These employees will develop asbestosis to varying degrees. But, the employer has the job completed and for far less money. Who cares about the [illegible].

Another concern lately is the threat of "acid rain". Construction workers are exposed to "acid rain" in lived plants on a daily basis.

There are too many areas pertaining to the conditions under which a union worker must be exposed, to mention all of them. If you were aware of the environment that these employees have to work in you would be flabbergasted — The very jobs that are making a living for the employee and his family and contributing to the economy of this country are, in many cases, the cause of that workers death.

I am sure that somewhere along the way the ideals of good tradesmanship, fair working practices, good working conditions and fair wages, which unions stand for, play a large part in the reason you are publishing a newspaper today.

With 160,000 new immigrants expected to arrive in Canada next year, the non-union contractor should have a field day.

You and Les Young should get along just fine with your socialist attitudes to keep the workers on the bottom, but it isn't your type that make the world go around, it's the working men and women.

Dear Sir,

Those who have followed recent attempts to blockade Cruise missile shipments at England's Greenham Common, may not know that a women's peace camp has also been set up near the Primrose Lake Air Weapons Range northeast of Edmonton. The camp arose from a Women's Gathering to Stop the Cruise Missile held last August.

The peace camp was established not only to protest Cruise missile testing, but to air the unresolved issue of aboriginal rights to the land currently being used as a weapons range.

The Primrose Lake Air Weapons Range, a 3-million acre tract of land straddling the Alberta-Saskatchewan line, is bordered on three sides by Native communities.

The women at the peace camp intend to stay in Cole Bay to present on-going opposition to the Cruise missile, and to other manifestations [illegible].

You can support the peace camp by helping to provide it with supplies for the winter.

Food (canned or dried), warm winter outerwear, and money are all needed.

Donations can be mailed to: Women's Peace Camp, General Delivery, Cole Bay, Saskatchewan S0M 0M0 (phone (306) [illegible] to make other arrangements).

WHOA! Minister

During the process of examining Bill C-155 clause by clause, a revealing statement was made which should worry western grain producers. It should also cause all westerners to re-examine the terms "efficiency" and "impartial government". The statement was by the new Minister of Transport, Lloyd Axworthy.

During the review by the Standing Committee two railway costing economists testified that their figures do not support recommendations of Carl Snavely where grain traffic is concerned. John Edsforth of Travacon Research, Washington, demonstrated to the Committee that, based on 1981/82 costs, Bill C-155 would pay the railways $119 million more than they deserved. In other words, the government of Canada proposed to overpay the railways for their grain related losses. The second economist, R.L. Banks, also of Washington, agreed in principle.

Now in separate action Mr Axworthy decided to refer the method of payment to a study committee. This is to be a three to five member group required to study the economic [illegible] ferent method of paying grain freight subsidies. Alright, well and good IF the study will be unbiased and will examine any and all evidence presented. It should give special attention to consideration of financial losses to grain growers under each scheme.

The Budget is nervous about these points when we read what Axworthy said about the two economists' testimony on too rich recompense for the railways. He rejected the testimony of Edsforth and Banks. He said their testimony was influenced by their clients, the prairie Wheat Pools (Edsforth) and the Alberta Government (Banks).

If only opinion which coincides with what the Department of Transport has prescribed can be considered in one hearing, can we expect anything different in a method of payment study?

Our readers deserve to know that John Edsforth is an experienced and prestigious railway costing expert. He was involved throughout the Snavely Commission hearings as counsel for the three Pools. Edsforth is recognized by the railways in the U.S.A. and Canada as a realistic analyst. It is worth noting that he would reject instructions from a client as to how his figures [illegible].

In Banks' case we understand he was given no direction before his appearance before the Standing Committee. Neither was he given a paper to present. Banks spoke from papers he possessed, some no doubt also developed during his work during the Commission hearings.

In summary, there seems to be no justification beyond political expediency for Axworthy's action. Who advised him so badly? What is happening to our political honesty?

AMMONIATION — IMPROVING THE NUTRITIONAL VALUE OF STRAW

What is this rumour bout — using anhydrous ammonia on straw instead of in the soil? It isn't just a rumour — it has been done. Anhydrous liquid ammonia can be applied to cereal straw to improve its feeding value. Wheat straw has shown as high as a two to threefold increase in crude protein and an eight to twelve percentage unit increase in digestibility expressed as total digestible nutrients (TDN). Wheat straw shows a better improvement on ammoniation that oat or barley straw. Experiments have shown the following results:

	Crude Protein (%)		In Vitro TDN (%)
	Untreated	Ammoniated	Untreated	Ammoniated
Wheat (Average of 6 varieties	3.5	11.7	37.0	49.8
Barley (Average of 5 varieties	4.9	10.2	38.1	41.8
Oat (Average of 3 varieties	3.9	8.5	43.5	46.8

The method involves adding anhydrous, supplied by fertilizer dealers, to straw in a gas-tight enclosure. A permanent structure is not recommended for ammoniating straw. The chemical reaction will be complete in approximately three weeks. Once the cover is removed, the excess ammonia should be allowed to evaporate. Cattle will not consume feed with a strong odor of ammonia present.

Determining the moisture content and nutritive value of the straw before treating it is important for two reasons. First, knowing the moisture content, TDN and crude protein of the straw initially is necessary to compare to the feeding quality resulting from ammoniations. Second, the chemical reaction is greatly reduced if the mositure content is too low. The moisture content of the straw must be at least 12 per cent, preferably 15-20 per cent, to make the treatment worthwhile. The straw also must be of reasonably good quality to produce an ammoniated product with a high feeding value. The TDN of wheat straw should be at least 33 per cent and barley at least 28 per cent before considering ammoniation.

Conducting the treatment as early in the fall as possible is important. The chemical reaction works at high temperatures.

Improving the feeding quality of your straw may be an economical option in your operation. This article simplifies the actual method of ammonification. For more detailed information, just give us a call.

Tourist zones plan on joint promotions

Tourism promotion in Central Alberta is going to be more of a co-operative effort in the future.

When the BRTA held its regular monthly meeting last week in Coronation, members were advised of the co-operative effort that was being planned among three zones.

Zone 3 will promote Central Alberta during a Vancouver show while Zone 4 will attend the Calgary Stampede and Edmonton Klondike Days and the BRTA will attend shows in Regina and Red Deer and all three zones will be represented at Sportsmen's Shows in Edmonton and Calgary.

Members were disappointed to learn that the Hon. Al Adair would not be promoting Kananaskis Country beyond the boundaries of Alberta as they felt it was an attraction that could bring many visitors to the province.

It was agreed that the BRTA would forward a resolution to the Travel Industry Association of Alberta which would urge the Minister to reconsider his decision and promote the facility both nationally and internationally.

Members were advised that BRTA's application for a PEP grant had been approved and that a person would be hired with these funds to act as a marketing representative.

A tender for the purchase of a new van from a Stettler firm was accepted at a cost of $14,850 and it was also agreed that the old van would be sold to Miquelon Funland.

It was decided that the tourism promotion essay contest for grade eleven students would be revived.

The project was dropped this year but, feedback to BRTA members resulted in a decision, at last week's meeting, to have the essay competition brought back in 1984.

The next BRTA meeting is to be held in Castor on Dec. 8th.

Holden School is toured

by [illegible]

[illegible] meeting in Holden last week, [illegible] given a tour of the school [illegible]

People on the tour shook their heads in amazement as tour guides, members of the school staff, showed the 'tourists' through the maze of hallways and stairs.

The tour began from the library into the elementary section which, as the tour guide explained, had been built 27 years ago.

One thing apparent to the group was the different types of school desks in the [illegible]

It was explained by the tour guide that a five-year plan had been in effect to replace the [illegible] in recent years this plan [illegible]

From the elementary section the group was shown the gymnasium, built in 1956 and [illegible]

After leaving the gymnasium it was pointed out by the tour guide the only way to get to the Senior High section of the school was through the 'breeze way' or the 'freeze way' as it was called by students, depending on what time of year it was. This is a long passage way that connects the two sections of the school together.

From the passage way a student must go down a flight of stairs across through the basement to get to the Senior High section. This section of the school, said the guide, was built in 1946, 37 years ago.

One of the 'tourists' asked what the life of a school was. She was informed that the life of a school was 35 years and that parts of the Holden School [illegible]

One of the things commented on by everyone was the drastic temperature changes. One woman said she had always thought students clicky for wearing jackets in school all of the time. Now she understood why, she said.

The tour guide said there was a constant battle of the [illegible] the east side complaining of [illegible] on the west side complaining things were too hot.

Other things noticable on the tour were the multi-colored tiles, from being replaced due to water and alkali damage, and the plumbing running on the outside of interior walls.

Back at the library where the tour began, plans of the school were shown to interested persons, showing [illegible] added onto through the years, and to show them how old sections of the school were.

Puffs defeated

On Saturday night, the Tofield Powder Puffs, were challenged on an unexpected game against the local Sodbusters. Playing with a sponge puck proved to be somewhat difficult and hazardous to the Puffs as they were defeated unwillingly.

Then, on Sunday, the ladies were on the road against the Chipmont Ladies in Lamont, where they were once again defeated by a 4-2 upset. Scoring for Tofield was T. McLennan and S. Fuekell.

Powder Puffs' next game is Sunday in Tofield Arena against the Hardisty Hawks, game time is 1:30 p.m.

SMALL BUSINESS BOND PROGRAM EXTENDED

As a result of pressure from small business and farm organizations and the Progressive Conservative Party, the federal government announced recently that it will extend the small business bond program for another two years beyond 1983.

This program, first introduced by the Clark government in 1979, provides low-interest loans to small businesses and farmers experiencing financial difficulties.

Although interest rates have fallen substantially, they remain very high in real terms, that is after discounting inflation. The small business bond is a valuable means of protecting farmers and businesses from such unusually high real [illegible]

[illegible] the bond receives a tax exemption which allows them to loan money at interest rates 5 to 6 percentage points below the regular rate. The loans must be applied for through a financial institution and are approved on the basis of normal commercial considerations.

In the last two years more than half of the money loaned under the SBB program, over $250 million, has gone to farmers. The bond has worked well and we are pleased that the government is extending the program, especially in light of their failure to provide the Farm Credit Corporation with sufficient funds to meet [illegible]

Our Party believes that it is essential for the well-being of the agricultural sector and the economy as a whole that an adequate supply of farm credit be available. This credit is particularly important in the present circumstances with low commodity prices and reduced cash flows. Accordingly, we have put forward several proposals, including the establishment of an agribond program similar to the small business bond only available to all farmers, to ensure a sufficient source of funds.

While the extension of the SBB is a positive step, more must be done to meet the needs of the average farmer and those new farmers just establishing their operations.

Trips to a doctor are tax deductible

If a person has to travel a long distance from his or her home to a doctor's office or to a hospital, he or she may qualify for a tax deductible expense.

Dan Hilsenteger, farm management specialist with Alberta Agriculture, reports that recent changes to the Income Tax Act allow an individual to claim reasonable travelling expenses when they are necessary to obtain medical services. He points out, however, that the patient must be transporting himself, his spouse or a dependent, and that the route travelled must be reasonably direct, considering the circumstances. The distance must be in excess of 80 km one way, and similar medical services must not be available closer to home. The method of transportation can be by air, water or land vehicles.

When a patient goes by car, he can include the cost of the gas for his car, meals, lodgings and any other reasonable expense related to the trip. If an attendant is required, and a doctor verifies this in writing, the meals and lodging for one attendant can be included as an expense.

Mr. Hilsenteger stresses that it is essential for a person who wants to deduct the cost of his trips to his doctor or to a hospital for tax purposes to keep all his receipts as proof of his expenses. These should be added to other allowable medical expenses, such as eyeglasses, crutches, dental expenses, when these are not covered by a dental plan, etc. Mr. Hilsenteger suggests that anyone who does not know what expenses qualify as an allowable medical expense ask Revenue Canada for their pamphlet that lists them.

He also points out that an income earner is entitled to claim any medical expenses that exceed 3 per cent of his or her net income as a tax deduction.

According to Mr. Hilsenteger, it is possible, and in many cases beneficial, when both spouses have a salary, for the one who has the lower income to claim the medical expenses. However, he suggests that individuals in this situation ask their tax adviser to calculate which spouse should make the claim.

He also recommends that people keep track of their charitable donations next year because legislation that is presently being proposed would eliminate the $100 standard deduction for medical expenses and charitable donations in 1984.

What can you do about the weather?

Winter – and especially a harsh one – can have a considerable effect on your heating bill.

There are many steps you can take to control energy and reduce heating costs.

- Turn down the thermostat – 20°C during the day, lower at night or when you're out
- Replace or clean dirty furnace filters
- Make sure windows and doors are weatherstripped and tightly closed. Electrical switches and receptacles on exterior walls can be sealed too. Your local hardware should have seals to go behind the face plates to stop air leakage.
- Replace or clean humidifier pads or plates. Proper humidity contributes to comfort and economy.

Natural gas is the best buy for home heating. You can make it better by stretching every energy dollar.

Home and School organizes

by Ken Kroetsch

The constitution and by-laws for the recently organized Holden and District Home and School Association were set, at a regular meeting of the association last week.

There are twelve articles in the constitution and by-laws setting out the name of the association, the objectives, the aims and policies, membership and fees, officers and executive committee, terms of office, committees, elections meetings, banking procedures, quorums and amendment process.

Under objectives of the HDHSA the association will be striving to promote the welfare of the children through legislation and by fostering a better understanding between the parents and teachers, and also between other organizations that concern themselves with better education.

They would also like to obtain the best for each child according to his physical, mental, social and spirtual needs.

The aims of the association are to foster a better understanding between home and school and to unite with educators and the general public for a better education for each student.

Another aim of the association is to study educational problems and raise the standards of home life and national life by strengthening public interest in the development of boys and girls as individuals.

The association will be non-sectarian, non-partisan and non-commercial in all of its relationships.

Anyone who can support the objectives of the association is eligible for membership. The annual membership fees will be set at each annual meeting. At the present time the fee is $5 per family, $2.50 per individual and $1 per senior citizen.

The officers for the association will consist of a president, a vice-president, a secretary, a treasurer, a past president, program co-ordinator, communication co-ordinator and in an advisory capacity, the school principal, or someone as designated.

There is no past president this year because of the newness of the organization. The past president's position is to insure continuance from one year to the next.

The terms of the officers will be for one year, with the elections held at the annual meeting every year. If an officer cannot be found then a former officer can serve another term.

No one will be able to fill a position for more than two consecutive years, with the exception of the principal of the Holden School.

Meetings for the association will be four times a year, which will include the annual meeting. Only members of the association which are in attendance are eligible to vote. The annual meeting will be held in June of every year.

To hold a meeting there will have to be the majority of the executive present as well as 15 members of the association.

After the constitution and by-laws were passed, a report was given by treasurer Don MacKenzie on the finances of the association. He reported there were 84 memberships sold with $405 being collected. He reported there were several expenses to be paid out of this amount.

After a report on the last school board meeting by a member of the association, school trustee Bobbie Schweitzer, gave a report of [illegible] of the County of Beaver Board of Education.

After the report it was brought up that there was a lot of information given to the [illegible] available to the public at the [illegible].

This material is going to be [illegible] tion members attending the meeting through Bobbie Schwe[illegible].

Also minutes of each Board of Education meeting are to be made available to the [illegible].

The next meeting date for [illegible] for February 2. It is tentative at the moment whether the superintendent will be in attendance at the next meeting.

After the meeting adjourned those in attendance were given a tour of the Holden School.

Holden Lodge news

We welcome four new residents to the lodge this month, including Alice Kontek, Frank Kontek, Donald MacGregor and Gordon Decton.

Satellites lead loop

[illegible] ed into sole possession of first place in the Beaverhill Hockey League.

A win and a tie in two outings during the past week moved the Satellites ahead of Mundare who dropped to third place as Lamont moved up into second spot.

Satellites will be going to Mundare on Friday and will [illegible].

Mundare plays in Vegreville on Sunday while a Saturday contest between Lamont and Holden has been postponed.

Vegreville played in Lamont last night (Tuesday) while a game between Mundare and Holden was postponed until Dec. 21st.

Holden has natural ice and because of temperatures not being cold enough to the present time, that center has been unable to hold any home [illegible].

Satellites went to Vegreville on Wednesday night and [illegible] tory over the improved home [illegible].

[illegible] hat-trick while E. Nachtigal picked up a pair and singles were netted by Budinski, D. Nachtigal, Rachinski and [illegible].

Tofield hosted Lamont on Friday night with the two teams battling to a 2-2 stalemate in an exciting con[illegible].

Frayn and Rachinski picked up the goals for the Satellites.

In a contest between two teams looking for their first victory of the new season, Vegreville doubled Holden 10-5 and in the only other match that was played, Lamont stopped Mundare 7-4.

In that previously unreported contest, Lamont edged Vegreville 7-6 and league officials have assured The Mercury that all problems with reporting games have been cleared up.

RCMP monthly report

Over the month of November, the Tofield RCMP Detachment opened and investigated 185 new files.

Last month, Tofield and area experienced its first snow storms. Accompanying the snow was a total of 40 motor vehicle accidents which were responded to. Most were of a minor nature. However, there were some seriously injured people.

Again we would like to take this opportunity to remind you to prepare for winter driving. Tune-ups, snow tires along with flares, blankets, a shovel, sand and a tow cable in the trunk may prevent a tragic situation. Above all slow down and adjust your driving to the road and weather conditions.

As a result of patrolling our highways two people were charged with impaired driving, one had their licence suspended for 24 hours due to drinking. Five people were charged with drinking in a vehicle, one charge of careless driving was laid, five vehicle identification checks were conducted, three traffic notices were issued and sixty tickets were handed out for violation of the Highway Traffic Act.

Hunting season has now terminated. Over November this Detachment registered two firearms and issued fifteen Firearm Acquisition Certificates. We investigated fifteen hunting related complaints. Most of the people charged as a result of these hunting complaints were from the surrounding more populated areas. If you happen to come across a hunting occurance in progress, we suggest that you copy down licence number, get description of vehicle and call the RCMP.

This Detachment also investinged twelve mischief complaints, thirteen thefts, five break and enters, two missing persons, one weapon assault, two cruelty to animal complaints and seven lost and found livestock complaints. As well we responded to twenty-four assistance calls and served nine summons/subpoenas and executed eight w[illegible].

Just a remainder that now that the snow seems here to stay your snowmobile is classed as an [illegible] vehicle and must be licenced and insured if not operated on private property.

With the holidays upon us please be advised that the Members of this Detachment will be conducting the Stop Check Program on a daily basis. If you are attending any festivities and you will be drinking make [illegible] plans for getting home, other than driving yourslef. Tips for the host, serve food throughout the evening rather than just at the end. Offer a non-alcoholic beverage well before the party is over.

Again with Christmas fast approaching now may be the time to check light strings for worn wires or loose connections and make sure they are safety approved. Plan to place your Christmas tree well away from drapes and electrical outlets.

At this time the members of the Tofield RCMP Detachment would like to wish you and your families a very Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

Cst. R. Bell

T.G.H.A. Flashes

Christmas plans and preparations were discussed at the recent monthly meeting [illegible].

It was decided that Dec. 19 at 7:30 p.m. at "that place" members and their spouses are to meet for a pot-luck supper and short meeting. Ladies are reminded to bring along their casserole or salad (sufficient for 5) plus a small tray of Christmas goodies.

Also, the THA extends their congratulations to the following door prize winners at the recent tea and bazaar. R. Kraus, O. McGinitie, A. Frolich, Y. McAllistair and G. Gates. Congratulations to Walter Buck, the new owner of the dollhouse; Mrs. P. Brooks (Kingman) who now uses her afghan and Mrs. Kadatz (Holden) for her newly acquired baby quilt.

All members again wish to express their thanks to Mr. Hasbert for his dollhouse as well as the decorators P. Price, J. Fleck. Thanks again to G. Severson for the donation of the afghan and D. Roth for creating the quilt.

The Pathfinders and Pioneer Girls did a delightful job of serving at the tea and the Girl Guides are to be congratulated for their lovely job of decorating the hall.

move from location to another, according to their interests of the moment.

The Hall is temporarily divided into several locations, which include a kitchen area, a climbing and sliding zone, a painting and crayoning spot, a dress-up centre, a doll area and a tot-spot for toddlers.

A parent discreetly watches over each location and is available to read stories and help with difficulties if required.

Ruth Kleinschroth is the co-ordinator this year, and Linda Darroch represents the parents and all give their time on a voluntary basis.

The grant money is to be used in building cupboards and doors, making storage facilities for apparatus, and finishing the outdoor playground.

The Community Association makes the Hall available each Tuesday morning and afternoon and one-half of the children attend at each session.

Four lives lost in rural mishap

Four Rosalind-area residents died yesterday (Monday) as a result of a two-vehicle head-on collision.

Edward Alexander Ruley, approximately 38 years of age, Brad Kroetsch, 28, his son Corey 4, and Rudy Gerber, 30, died as a result of the collision, a Camrose Detachment RCMP news release says.

The accident occurred at approximately 1:50 p.m., one mile west and three miles south of Rosalind.

Mr. Gerber's son Brandon, a passenger, received minor injuries and was transported to St. Mary's Hospital where he was treated and released.

The accident is still under investigation by the Camrose Detachment of the RCMP.

Funeral arrangement details for the deceased were unavailable at press time.

Holden product is manufactured

By Ken Kroetsch

Three years in the planning, Alinaco Food Products in Holden have started production of Granny's Choice baking powder for distribution throughout the province of Alberta, and eventually Western Canada, said A.G. [illegible] Manager.

The product is locally formulated, blended and packaged in either 250 g containers or 500 g containers, before being distributed through his broker, said Mian.

At the moment, has product is being marketed in Safeway stores in the northern part of Alberta and in local stores in the area.

The product is available in all three stores in Holden and through the IGA in Tofield.

Since a broker only deals with larger centres, Mian does a lot of local marketing [illegible].

"I found quite a vacuum that could be filled on my own."

Mian said he will be expanding in the near future into other areas in the vicinity, such as Provost and Wainwright.

The product is packaged in the plant in Holden, located on Main Street, with the help of local people and with the help of his wife and family, three daughters and a son.

Each batch is mixed with the basic ingredients and is checked for quality before it is packaged.

"The quality control is well maintained and every batch is checked out before marketing," said Mian.

On a regular basis the quality is also checked by the Alberta Government Lab, as well as routine checks on the premises by Mian.

As the containers are filled random samples are taken from off of the assembly line to also check the weight.

Production at the present time is only done as the demand makes it necessary. Mian said that currently he is operating on a small scale, but hopes to eventually expand his production.

"I hope to create five to six jobs in the area eventually."

Mian said he is in the process of developing a few other business location.

He started looking around for a place to establish a business. Through the Department of Tourism he was provided information about properties available in various communities.

He found the community of Holden was friendly and that the Village Council in favor of his business being established in the community.

He said he had originally applied for a grant from the provincial government to establish his business, but after a year and a half he was turned down.

"We were left cold in a way," said Mian.

He said he has spent the last year and a half doing it on his own from savings he had and from the sale of imports, a [illegible] business.

"On a small scale started in business, without any kind of assistance from the federal or provincial governments."

Although Mian is the managing director, he is also foreman, distributor and part of the labor for his company, until he can expand enough to hire additional help.

products in the line of specialty flours, such as muffin mixes.

These products could be available on the shelf in the near future.

What does the Western Grain Transportation Act mean to Western grain producers?

On January 1, 1984, the Crow's Nest Pass Agreement will be replaced by the Western Grain Transportation Act. The new Act will have far-reaching effects on Canada's whole economy. In the west, it will guarantee grain producers a vastly improved grain handling system that allows them to produce and deliver more grain and grain products to world markets.

The Demands of a Growing World

Over the last two decades, there has been a continual rise in world demand for grain and grain products. And more Canadian farmers are discovering profitable "cash crop" markets created by rising world demand for crops like canola, sunflowerseed oil and legumes.

At the same time, a growing world has increased demand for coal from British Columbia, potash from Saskatchewan and other Canadian resources. All of these products move by rail, and in peak years like the "78-'79 crop year, the system backs up. And Canada loses as much as $600 million in export sales. The solution is to increase rail capacity and share the cost equitably, so that grain doesn't become a second class commodity as demand increases.

Rates will Change

On January 1, 1984, rates will change. A new rate scale will be determined before April 30th of each year. The railways must publish their tariffs by May 31st of each year, so that producers can plan for the next crop year.

The Producer's Guarantees

1) PRODUCERS WILL BE PROTECTED FROM RAILWAY COST INCREASES

The Government of Canada will pay all annual railway cost increases over 3 percentage points in the first three years, and all increases over 6 percentage points after August 1, 1986.

2) RATES WILL NOT EXCEED 10% OF GRAIN PRICES

Producers have a legislative guarantee that the average freight rate will not exceed 4% of the price of a basket of the six major grains in 1984. In 1985, the average rate ceiling moves to 5%, in 1986 8%, in 1987 - 9%, and 10% in 1988.

3) RATES WILL REMAIN STATUTORY

The railways will not have the freedom to charge whatever they want. The Canadian Transportation Commission will establish new rates annually, based on actual rail way costs.

4) STATUTORY PROTECTION WILL BE EXTENDED TO NEW CROPS.

In addition to those crops currently shipped under statutory rate protection (wheat, oats, barley, rye, flax and rape seed) - canola oil and meal, linseed oil and meal, sunflowerseed, sunflowerseed oil, mustardseed, triticale, peas and their derivatives, and beans and their derivatives (except soybeans), will be included.

5) THE RAILWAYS MUST MAKE GUARANTEES

In return for adequate compensation for moving grain, the railways will be required to make massive new investments in branch line and main line improvements, double tracking, improved switching systems and tunnels to improve the system. Panels will be withheld if performance and investment guarantees are not met.

Forty by 'Ninety

If Canada is to maintain its position in world grain markets, we must start to invest now to increase our rail capacity for the future. Lack of capacity cost Canada $400 - $600 million in lost grain sales in 1977-'78, and about $600 million in 1978-'79, dollars that came directly out of the pockets of Canadian producers. In the peak year of 1981-82, we moved 31 million tonnes of grain by rail. But to capture a growing share of world markets, we must be able to move 40 million tonnes consistently by 1990.

The railways will invest $16.5 billion over the next decade. Because Canada's Rail Expansion is a truly national endeavour, and grain transportation is of national importance, the Government of Canada will contribute more than $658 million per year toward the cost of moving grain.

Ensuring Success

A new Grain Transportation Agency and a Senior Grain Transportation Committee will be established to improve grain handling and monitor railway performance. The agency and the committee will co-operate with producers, grain companies, the railways and others to improve our grain handling system.

In 1985-86, there will be a comprehensive review of the new Act. The Act will be fine-tuned to ensure it meets the needs of producers, and all Canadians, in their efforts to meet the demands of a growing world.

A brochure on the Western Grain Transportation Act will be sent to Western grain producers. Others wanting copies of the brochure may write to:

Rat control is vital

Did you know that under ideal breeding conditions one pair of Norway rats can produce 350,000,000 descendants in three years?

Sounds incredible, but is is apparently true. A pair of rats can have a litter of 10 or more every month, and the offspring are ready to begin reproducing in three to four months.

And did you know that rat droppings, urine and hair can transmit infectious jaundice, salmonella and other intestinal bacterial diseases to man as well as trichinosis via pigs? Rats can also transmit bubonic plague via fleas, rat-bite fever via a direct bite and other diseases to both domestic animals and to man.

On the farm rats consume, contaminate and cause the splage of tonnes of grain by chewing holes in storage bins, etc. They also eat produce, eggs and even live poultry. And in industrial areas, they destroy merchandise, woodwork and other material as well as chew wires.

It has been estimated that if rats were to become established in Alberta, the annual loss to the province would be over $90 million! That they have not become established in the province is due to the vigilance of its citizens and to Alberta's rate control policy. Under the Agricultural Pest Act it has been the legal responsibility of every Albertan since 1961 to prevent the establishment of Norway rats and to destroy any that gain entry to their premises, whether these premises are owned or simply being occupied. And every city, town, village and rural municipality is required to appoint a pest control officer to handle local rat control problems. At the present time Alberta has more than 250 part-time municipal pest control officers who investigate reports of rat sightings and supervise any action that is required.

Seven full-time rat control officers are employed by Alberta Agriculture along the Alberta-Saskatchewan border. They maintain permanent poisonous bait stations on the farms and in the grain elevators in the area as well as in garbage disposal dumps, and they generally supervise the control measures.

Alberta Agriculture supplies the rodenticides to the municipalities along the Saskatchewan border that are distributed by the pest control officers. Nearly 10 tonnes of ready-mix poisonous bait are supplied to this 600 km long border area, known as a buffer zone, each year. It is enough to control the estimated 20,000 - 40,000 rats which invade it annually.

The number of rats that get into the rest of Alberta probably averages about 200 a year but it may go as high as 1,000 in some years. Of the 75 to 100 infestations that are discovered each year, many are single rats but a few can involve as many as 50 rats. The maximum number of rats that are destroyed in Alberta in a year would probably be around 2,000.

If you would like to know more on Alberta's rat control program, and if you would like to know how to identify a Norway rat, you should get a copy of a publication entitled Rat Control in Alberta. In addition to containing information on rat control methods, eliminating their sources of food and rat-proofing buildings, it has a section on the identification of the Norway rat. This section contains some excellent drawings of the Norway rat, the roof or black rat, the wood or pack rat, the pocket gopher and the muskrat.

From The Hack

Zone coveners, Randy Erickson and Les Zaraki have finalized the dates of competition for Zone 11 playdowns. Anyone who wants to defeat Ed Werenick for the Silver Broom must begin the long playoff road for a zone winner Jan 12-15 in Ryley. This will be a triple knockout competition with the winner advancing to the Northern Alberta playdowns. Last years winner from Zone 11 was Pat Miller of Strome.

The Senior Men's playdown will be held in Strome Jan 27-29. Junior Men's will be in Round Hill Jan 6-8 and the Mixed playdown will be in Sedgewick Feb. 3-5. These three playdowns are all modified double knockout events.

Entry fees for all these playdowns are $80 per rink and the entries must be forwarded to Randy Erickson 682-3661 or Les Zaraki 672-3788 the Tuesday before the playdown. All players must be paid up members of an affiliated club.

A two-way tie still exists after last week's play in the Andy Hedberg Memorial Super League. Wilf Dyer and Reg Enright won their respective games, however on Dec. 8 these two teams are scheduled to meet so there will be only one leader next week.

In last weeks play it was Dyer edging Stroh 6-5, Reg Enright over Stang 8-5, Pat Miller destroyed his namesake Elmer 6-0, Sears 11, Haugen 4 and Erickson easily outdistanced Merrick 7-1. Erickson forfeited his postponed game to Zaraki so Zaraki picked up one win and 1 loss as he was defeated by Lorne Enright 8-4. Here are the standings after last weeks play.

TEAM	W	L

Holden and district news

by Mrs. G.H. Taylor

Friday evening the Holden 4-H Beef Club visited the Holden Senior Citizens Lodge, presenting a varied program under the direction of Mrs. David Gibson, with other senior citizens also invited to attend the evening event. After the program, the group served lunch to all, ending a very enjoyable evening's entertainment.

On Dec. 1st, ladies from Holden U.C.W. and other friends drove over to Leduc and attended a luncheon at the home of Mrs. Marjorie Campbell who was entertaining for her mother, Mrs. Beth Campbell, who was celebrating her 91st birthday.

The ladies attending the festivities were Mrs. Olive Good, Mrs. Doris Hunchuk; Mrs. Pearl Allen, Mrs. Mary Hardy, Mrs. Mary Zwierschke, Mrs. Ethel Brekstad, Miss Ethel Brown, Mrs. Helen Zwierschke, Mrs. Edith Carlson and Mrs. Kate Nichols.

The ladies from the U.C.W. took along a birthday cake and a pointsetta from the United Church.

On Sunday, there will be a pot-luck supper for senior citizens in the Drop-in Centre, with a program to follow.

Otto Hornen has been a patient in the University Hospital in Edmonton for the past week, having further tests.

Saturday afternoon visitors with Mr. and Mrs. George Taylor were their son, Brian and wife, Danske, grandson, Ronald and granddaughter, Cathryne of St. Albert to congratulate and help Brian's father celebrate his 83rd birthday.

Holden Santa Claus Day was held on Saturday with a program of cartoons held in the Holden Arts Centre in the afternoon and then Santa giving out free candy bags. The event was sponsored by the Holden B.P.O. Elks, the Holden Chamber of Commerce and the Arts Society.

Mike Tchir of Vialta Lodge, formerly a resident of South Holden, is back at the Lodge after a trip to points in the U.S. and B.C.

The Parent Nursery Program in Holden is now underway with about 25 children of various ages, from babies to four years old. It is held each Tuesday morning from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. in the Holden Legion Hall. About twenty-two mothers enjoy the get-together with the children and teach a varied assortment of games, dancing and crafts. The program will continue until April, anyone with children of this age wishing to join can get further information from the president, Deborah Ulmer.

The curling season has begun in Holden with the first bonspiel, from November 28th to Dec. 4th. Approximately 32 teams are entered for this event. The ladies' bonspiel is from January 30 to Feb. 9th and a men's bonspiel is from Feb. 13th - 19th and a mixed bonspiel is to be held from March 19th to the 25th. Marcel Zewtuk is president of the club for this season and his wife, Tina, is secretary.

The ladies of the Order of the Royal Purple were catering to the Christmas supper on Saturday, serving about 175 plates and convened by Lady Kathleen Harum.

Mr. and Mrs. George Taylor were Sunday guests with their son and wife, Robert and Merle Taylor of Viking, to celebrate Mr. Taylor's 83rd birthday.

Ladies of Holden Legion Auxiliary held their annual Christmas party on Sunday evening entertaining husbands and escorts to a turkey dinner with all the trimmings. During the evening, several different games were played with lunch and coffee served later to end a very enjoyable evening.

Father-in-law of Mrs. Connie Macdougall, Sparst River, (nee Connie Barlow, a former Holdenite) Duncan Allan Macdougall of Sparst River passed away recently at the age of 105 years. He farmed in the Sparst River area for many years and in the early days, drove freight teams and stage coaches on the Cariboo Road in central B.C. before the turn of the century and remained active in his later years.

After the snow storm over last weekend there were a number of people out shoveling their sidewalks off. There was approximately 13 mm of snow that fell in the Tofield area photo by Kroetsch

Hospital on schedule

by Ken Kroetsch

The new Tofield [illegible]. The Tofield Health Centre, is doing well and is right on schedule, said Hospital Administrator Donald Roth.

"The north wings of the acute care and the east wing walls are completed," said Roth.

The contractors are now working on the mechanical area. The walls in this area will be two stories high with ramps below that.

Phase one of the construction of the facility will be completed by mid-May, said Roth.

Phase two of the construction will be tendered out in January and work could commence on this phase as early as March. Phase two will include the remainder of the work to be completed on the new hospital.

The completion date for the new hospital has been set for the summer of 1985.

A model will be available later this week and will be on display at the hospital and the occasional functions in the [illegible].

The new facility is estimated to cost $11 million when completed.

The new hospital will house 50 beds when completed. 40 for acute care, 30 for nursing home patients and 20 beds for auxiliary patients.

County Act is debated

by Jim Lovatt

County councillors and school [illegible] met last week to discuss and give their reactions to a report of the County Act Review Committee in regards to issues, ambiguities and other concerns in the County Act, especially in regards to the Board of Education.

The report, jointly done by Alberta Education and Alberta Municipal Affairs, will be dealt with by the Legislature at a later date after comment has been made by counties across the province.

The first part of the report deals with cities. At the present time when a town becomes a city they have to automatically establish an independent school system.

In the proposed amendment to the County Act, cities would have a choice of whether or not they want to remain a part of the county system or establish their own school system.

A motion to agree with this amendment was made by council.

The next section deals with the division of powers between the council and school board. Five proposals were dealt with by council.

The first alternative is the Committee alternative where council would establish a corporate resources committee consisting of equal number of [illegible] and county [illegible]. This group would have power to make decisions on [illegible]ers, enter into contracts, [illegible] agreements or documents and to have the county seal affixed to them. In addition, the Committee would be able to pass by-laws concerning matters in their jurisdiction.

The expanded council alternative would consist of the councillors and either an equal number of school trustees or all of the school trustees with the authority to deal with those matters under the School Act that require the action of the corporate authority.

The third alternative is the Cooperation alternative where the act would be amended for clarification rather than as to policy.

Under this method of operation both the school board and the county would develop a cooperative approach to deal with issues without a duplication of services to the taxpayers

The amendment to the Act would say that the council is responsible for the municipal functions and the school board is responsible for the educational or instructional services.

The next alternative is the Strong Council alternative where the county council would have absolute authority and the school board would be in an advisory capacity with all the final decisions made by council.

The last alternative would be to repeal the County Act and return to their status before counties were formed.

After voting on each one separately the clear choice of Landfill reconsidered

by Ken Kroetsch

County of Beaver council members are having second thoughts about the Regional Landfill project and are proposing that there be further investigations before the county commits itself to the project.

In the regular meeting of council last week several concerns surfaced during the meeting.

Reeve John Warner questioned the validity of the study that was done by Reed and [illegible].

"I ran a copy of a study done in [illegible] Warner used figures to compare with the study done in the County of [illegible].

"They said they can operate a transfer site for $94,000; a long way from what Fred Grothers has said," said Warner. Reed and Crothers have said that the operation of a transfer site can be done for considerably less.

Another concern raised by Warner was the transportation costs per ton mile. Warner said that $.09 a ton mile was way out of line. He said he felt he couldn't drive his car for this little money.

Other areas where concern was expressed were confusion over exactly how the pits worked and that other sites hadn't been looked at other than the Ryley site.

Council felt with these concerns there were too many unknown factors to commit themselves to the project.

Another grave concern was that the county is putting out the greatest part of the cost with only small representation on the board that is being organized. Warner said with the County of Beaver putting out approximately 69 per cent of the costs that they should have greater representation on the board that will be governing the Regional Landfill.

Another fear expressed was that if the county did commit themselves to undertake the Regional Landfill project and the other parties involved pull out then the county would be stuck with the bill.

Councillor Victor Romaniuk expressed concern over the proposed location of the landfill. He said that no where did he recall that it was down in print that the final site was to be Ryley.

Councillor George Kwadelen, in favor of the Regional Landfill, said it would be foolish to close doors before the county got started. Kwadelen said that the county should be a part of this project, but shouldn't push it or discourage it, but should let everything take its course before deciding to go ahead with it or not.

The decision of council is to take a little more time and further investigate the problems.

It was pointed out that the county had agreed to the project in principle, but because the by-law to organize the landfill had been defeated in April that the county had no authority to proceed with the site.

Administration was requested to write letters for information from some of the other areas to find out how they are dealing with this issue.

Reuben Hoveland was appointed to sit on the Regional Landfill committee with Donald Monaghan as his alternate.

Alarm sounds

by Ken Kroetsch

Tofield Firemen responded to a fire nine miles west of Tofield last Wednesday evening.

The structure fire, at the Bill Whalley residence, started in the zero clearance fireplace from undetermined causes, said County of Beaver Fire Chief, Laurie Weatherill.

The firemen were able to contain the fire to the part of the house where the fire had started. This area suffered extensive structural damage with a hole burned through the roof of the house. The rest of the house suffered from smoke damage, said Weatherill.

While two trucks responded to the fire, only one of the trucks were used to put out the blaze; with less than 800 gallons of water used.

"The fire department did a good job in getting the fire out," said Weatherill.

The fire is estimated to have caused in excess of $50,000 [illegible].

None for the road

Over 35 percent of all fatal traffic crashes involve booze, says the Canada Safety Council, adding, It's a Fact!

And their crusade against drinking and driving seems slowly to be gaining acceptance, as more and more parties join the bandwagon.

We were impressed last weekend to see the Calgary Transit System advertising free rides on New Year's Eve for drinkers. We were impressed a few days earlier to learn that an international firm in the sanitation business is encouraging employees to maintain a 18-consecutive-year record of safe driving over the Christmas and New Year's holidays by offering to pay half of any taxi bills incurred by employees who feel they should use a taxi rather than drive their own car.

We're impressed by motorists whose cars carry a new (at least to us) bumper sticker admonishing drunks to get off the road. It's well nigh impossible to "spot" such a bumper sticker and be guilty yourself.

We're impressed with the increasing pressure being mounted by members of PAID, an acronym which translates into People Against Impaired Driving, and similar organizations.

Slowly, it seems, but surely, the message seems to be getting through that drinking and driving is NOT smart. It's stupid, it's criminal, it's vulgar. We'll be happy when the message reaches the Courts.

Last week was national Safe Driving Week. But every week should be. And the Council's motto "None for the Road" seems like an excellent reminder. For all year.

It's interesting to note that both alcohol and gasoline are members of the same family, the hydrocarbon family. And maybe they're like many human families, where two members of the same family can be absolutely great as individuals and apart from each other . . . but they can be utterly deadly when they're brought together. Hadn't thought of alcohol and gasoline in the same light as people . . . maybe they're remarkably like humans!

Parrot backs down

President of the Postal Workers union, Jean Claude Perrot has been shown up as irresponsible by the Canada Labour Relations Board, in his bid to invite ten cent postage on Christmas cards. And his assurance that members of his union would illegally pass such Christmas cards through the system.

Not only did the Board declare the policy would be tantamount to an illegal strike, but they demanded that Mr. Parrot urge his union members not to proceed on such an illegal course, harmful to themselves as well as the union, and the system.

Making all the political hay he could from the situation, Mr. Parrot continued to claim he was acting on behalf of the Canadian public he maintained is protesting the cutback in service, and that he and his union would maintain the pressure at a later date.

It seems impossible that Mr. Parrot, who is highly intelligent, cannot be hearing the message from the Canadian public. They are not happy with the cutbacks in service, to be sure.

But unhappy as the public may be with present and projected cutbacks in service, they are purple with rage over the altogether arbitrary cutback in service and efficiency of the union members themselves. There are continued, and all too frequent, examples of impossible service (the word is used loosely) and impossible attitudes, for the public to retain confidence in Mr. Parrot's utterances. Indeed, for all his protested interest in benefit for the public, that same public interprets postal attitude as one of withdrawal of service, tantamount to the declaration of strike. It's not true of smaller centres, such as we see in Camrose, Coronation or Cold Lake, but when the union in centres such as Edmonton goes out of its way to tell the president he's exaggerating the competence of the service, it isn't hard for the public to see how threadbare the whole thing has become. Mr. Parrot notwithstanding.

Reduce farm tax bite

by Merle Good
Farm Business Management Branch, Alberta Agriculture

Farmers who would like to increase their taxable income so that they can make full use of their personal exemption (if they cannot be claimed each year they are lost until a five-year block average is filed) and their Canada Pension Plan contributions or who would like to claim previous losses should consider:

● Selling inventory items, postponing paying expenses and deducting less than the maximum allowable capital cost allowance.

● Using the livestock inventory provision to artificially increase their income. A farmer who has livestock can add to his current year income up to the fair market value of the livestock. However, he must deduct the amount that he adds in one year from his income in the following year. (See "Tax and the Livestock Inventory Provision" — FS 827-0, available from District agriculturists).

● Withdrawing all or part of their registered retirement savings plan before the end of the year. A withdrawal tax will have to be paid when the withdrawal takes place, but it will be credited to the income tax that is payable in that year.

● Cashing grain tickets, taking cash advances or making small short trigger capital gains. These strategies will bring more income into the current tax year and will facilitate a reduction of debts and interest costs without incurring a corresponding tax liability.

● Using the block averaging provision. It may result in a refund of taxes that were paid in one or more of the past five or six years. However, the quirk in the rules that allowed an unemployment tax credit to be claimed twice when using the block average provision appears to be in jeopardy if the April 1983 budget is passed.

● Claiming the maximum capital cost allowance deduction in conjunction with the livestock inventory provision. By claiming the maximum capital cost allowance deduction, and by artificially adding income through the livestock inventory provision, a livestock producer can generate a larger deductible expense in a subsequent high income year.

● Becoming informed on the proposed amendments that are contained in the April 1983 budget. One of these would allow losses incurred in 1982 to be carried back three years and forward 10 years as opposed to back one year and forward five years. In addition to extending the time limits on losses, the amendment drastically changes the procedure involved in claiming losses. In the past, a taxpayer could not use his personal exemptions or the current drilling deduction to reduce his taxable income until he had used up all his losses. Under the proposed amendment he would be allowed to use those exemptions and the tax-free portion of his income to reduce his taxable income before he had to apply any losses against it. This would mean that in some cases a taxpayer would be in a position to carry forward some or even all of his losses.

The use of a good set of records and a consistent accountant are extremely beneficial when it comes to determining which tax strategies are best suited to an individual farm business.

Calgary MLA advocates store sale of beer, wine

Legislation to permit the sale of beer and wine in Alberta food stores under specified conditions was introduced into the Alberta Legislature today by Calgary Buffalo MLA Brian Lee.

Bill No. 207, an act to amend the Liquor Control Act authorizes the Alberta Liquor Control Board to license applicant food stores subject to:

— Shelf space for such sales not to exceed 10% of all available merchandise.

The application is deemed by the Board to "provide a service to the local community that complements the food store."

No sales on Sunday.

Tough fines to protect against sales to minors.

Municipalities have the option to prohibit such sales through the passage of local by-law.

Strict provisions to provide for adequate premises security measures.

The MLA stated his objective for initiating the legislation is to strengthen the competitive free enterprise system by making available an independent avenue for new source of sales revenue, thereby strengthening their marketing during a period of economic recovery. Mr. Lee stated other potential benefits of the legislation include:

— Improved convenience for residents of remote areas.

— Revenue from a trend to increased consumption of beer figure.

— Reducing the virtual monopoly presently conferred upon the ALCB.

— Providing an alternative avenue of supply to consumers in the event employees of the ALCB exercise their recently obtained right to strike.

— Responding to growing public support for a service presently experienced in many provinces and States throughout North America.

While serving as an alderman in the City of Calgary and a director of the Mickleham Stadium Society, Lee strongly advocated the sale of light beer in paper cups at local professional sporting events.

That change in the Liquor Control Act was brought in by the Solicitor General in 1980.

The proposed legislation is not expected to reach the top of the order paper for debate during the fall session and will be reintroduced in the spring of 1984.

Thank goodness for governments If it weren't for them, what would the rest of us laugh at?

Have your heard the latest from those wild and crazy guys in Parliament.

You remember how upset they got when the press found out about the Mounties' security service pulling dirty tricks in Quebec?

There was all kinds of running around and yelling and royal commissions and inquiries.

It was bully show biz, just a laff a minute what with cabinet ministers ducking for cover like seasoned actors.

There were great lines like The minister knew nothing about it" Talk about funnee

It went over so big that now Ottawa is going to bring us a sequel

Only this time it's going to be even funnier and it could run forever.

You see, the gags which brought down the House (and a couple of barns) couldn't keep on going because, through some oversight, they were illegal

But now thanks to Big Red Booby Kaplan (that's him with the spectacles and the fake nose in the first row), this next round featuring the civilian security service could run for ever

Where the Mounties got in trouble for breaking the law, the new service won't have to worry about the law

If the new outfit comes into existence, we can look forward to life being one long

As in gagging the public, gagging the press, gagging the Opposition, gagging

WELCOME TO CHEZ L'HOSPITAL?

Have you heard that some hospitals are starting to serve their patients gourmet meals? In the future, there will be people checking into hospitals like they are luxury resorts, telling their friends, "I go there for the food." Instead of talking about their operations, patients will compare menus. It will certainly change the image most hospitals have, that anyone wishing to stay healthy shouldn't eat there

This could be the beginning of a patient segregation program. In 1st. Class they will receive 'full service', including a limo to and from home, their own wheelchair [illegible] valet service for setting out nightwear and polishing slippers and doctor visits by [illegible] only. Their bill will be hand delivered on a silver tray. And then there will be 2nd. Class or 'no frills' accommodation where a patient not only will be expected to bring in his own food but his own bed, towels, doctor and pills. They will be asked to pay in advance

We can expect full blown advertising campaigns to spring up on nation-wide TV, each hospital trying to outdo the competition with thicker carpets, older antiques, [illegible] and fancier meals, ("Check in at Chez L'Hospital. Free back rubs, your choice of stitching. More than 100,000 served.")

Of course, the planners should take into consideration the fact that some of the people admitted into hospitals are sick and therefore might find gourmet food a bit rich for their digestive system. Then there are those who might find it digestible but too rich for their pocketbooks. These will undoubtedly be kicked down to 2nd. Class in very short order. Such meals will also alter the relationship between patient and visitor since half the fun of visiting is seeing how many goodies you can sneak past the nurse's desk And once returned to the bosom of his family, what patient will be content to eat just plain cooking, the kind mother makes . . . I forsee definite problems there, especially in my house where 'gourmet' means beans and weiners

I'm not sure tha' I want to see this sort of thing catch on Let's not forget that the true purpose of a hospital is the care and feeding of the sick and injured, not just the feeding. If they take away the usual meals, what will we patients have to complain about" That is really taking all the fun out of a hospital stay

BRTA plans Calvacade

The Battle River Tourist Association will finalize plans for its 1984 BRTA Calvacade next month (January).

During a meeting in Castor on Thursday, BRTA members agreed that next year's Calvacade would be held on May 26 and 27.

All persons participating in the '84 Calvacade will meet in Camrose for the "kick-off" of a portion of the BRTA Run.

A chairman for next year's Calvacade committee will be named at the next BRTA meeting which is to be held on Forestburg on Jan. 19th.

At Thursday's meeting, members saw a slide presentation which highlighted attractions in the Castor area which prompted BRTA president, David Smith to suggest that other communities follow suit when they host a monthly BRTA meeting.

Consort asked BRTA support in obtaining a permanent tourist information center in their community with the request being tabled to the January meeting until more information about the overall information center program could be made available.

Dan Wilcox, the BRTA's new marketing representative was introduced at Thursday's session.

Members agreed to forward a resolution to the Travel Industry Association of Alberta asking that the body petition the Provincial Government to promote Kinnaskin Park on both a national and international basis in an effort to attract more tourists to the Province of Alberta.

Standby power unit is good investment

. . . for farmer

An emergency standby power unit is a good investment for a farmer whose livestock depend heavily on a continuous supply of electricity for heat, ventilation, automatic feeding, etc. or who has a bulk tank.

Such a power unit can be driven by an engine or by the power take-off on a tractor. Units run by a power take-off are a less expensive than engine-driven units and are less complicated than an automatic engine-driven unit.

Engine-driven units can be started manually or automatically, they can be fuelled by gasoline, diesel or propane and they come in a variety of sizes

Most automatically started units restore power within three to 15 seconds after a power failure, and they shut off when normal power is restored. The main disadvantage of an automatically started unit is that it costs roughly two and a-half times as much as a tractor-driven unit. The main disadvantage of a tractor-driven power unit is that the tractor must be manually connected to the unit.

The size of a standby power unit required will depend upon type of livestock whose surprises involved and whether the unit is to be used to supply electricity for the whole farm or to supply just enough to keep certain essential equipment going in an emergency. And its location will depend upon such things as the number of buildings that will have to be supplied with electricity in an emergency and the location of the electrical system to which it will be connected.

More detailed information on choosing a standby power unit is contained in a Trans-aAlta Utilities publication entitled "Emergency Standby Power". It can be obtained from district agriculturists or by writing to the Publications Office, J.G. O'Donoghue Building, 7000-113 Street, Edmonton, Alberta. T6H 5T6.

District news from Ryley

by Lena Bell

Earl Hetzar of Calgary was home for the weekend with his mother and Stan, also visiting his sister, Marilyn Campbell and girls.

Elmer Anderson, Terry Sutton, Mrs. Chambers and Mrs. Dagny Johns are patients in the Tofield Hospital. A ladies' organization passed out perusing plants tot he patients in hospital.

Irene and Henry Hehn of Viking visited with Kathleen Anderson in Ryley and Irene's sister, Elmer Anderson, in hospital.

The Rebekah Ladies served a turkey supper last Wednesday in the Ryley Community Hall. Rev. Rewlett spoke. A couple of skits were put on by the Rebekah Ladies. Then the ladies led the singing by Christmas carols with Harriet Ruddy at the piano. Happy birthday was sung to harold Parsons and happy anniversary to Mr. and Mrs. Rudy Masters. Winners of the Christmas stockings were Julia Anderson and Peter Nemo.

The Ryley Junior High School girls was the basketball game in Tofield last Wednesday and on Dec 8, the Ryley team lost their game in Viking and the boys also played in Viking and they won.

Mrs. Baerg of Cranbrook, B.C. has been visiting her relatives in Ryley and attended the Rebekah turkey supper before returning to B.C. on the weekend.

County Act debated . . .

council and trustees was the Cooperation Alternative, with the Committee Alternative as the second choice.

The next section, the retention of school representatives, was not discussed by council because they felt that because it didn't apply to the County of Beaver they couldn't give a valid opinion on the matter.

Other areas dealt with briefly were the Separate School Supporter as a Councillor, County Office Buildings, County Secretary and other officials, Summer Village School Representatives, Elected Officials' Pension Plan, and the Annual Meeting.

In other business council met with a delegate from Tofield to discuss the prospects of a county library board and funding for the Tofield Library.

Liz Hubbard, Tofield Librarian, came to council on behalf of rural residents in the area with letters from Divisions 5, 6 and 7 residents saying they were in favor of a county library service in the way of a county library board.

The new library board, if accepted would be in charge of funds and buildings now and improving library services in the County of Beaver, said Hubbard.

Hubbard said she had contacted the Ryley and Viking librarians and found they were in agreement of this proposal.

County Reeve John Warren expressed concern that if the county were to go ahead with the project that they didn't want to be paying off the capital costs of the library.

Hubbard said that they weren't asking for contributions toward the building, but were asking for support for the operations of the facility. At the present time there are a great percentage of the users of the Tofield Library that are county residents.

In discussion after the presentation by Hubbard, Reeve Warner indicated that he felt the funds should come from those using the library through realistic fee increases.

The matter was tabled until the new year when the three libraries are proposing to give a formal presentation.

A letter from Disaster Services has said that farmers in the County of Beaver do not qualify for assistance under their guidelines for flooding problems that were encountered this year.

They said an investigation was done into the loss of land that is flooded, but damage to assistance was warranted.

Representatives from Alberta Transportation, the County of Camrose and the County of Beaver met on site to discuss the re-designation of 833.

The consensus of this meeting was that 833 and 617 should remain as is. Council made a motion that they concurred to leave 833 and 617 as is.

The proposed road when completed, sometime in the future, would be a secondary highway from Camrose to Sherwood Park, via Lindbrook north.

In a report on the hospitals in the County of Beaver it was pointed out that both hospitals in the area would end up with surpluses. It was reported this was a concern because the funds left that would give a their budgets next year could be cut back.

The councillors giving the reports indicated the hospital boards were looking for some way to deal with this problem.

Council passed a motion that teachers be given a 5 per-cent increase and non-union staff be given a 4 per cent increase for the 1983 year. The increase for bus drivers was not disclosed because the bus drivers have to meet to ratify the agreement.

Fairground budget set

by Ken Knudsen

The Fairground Advisory Board in Tofield met last week to set the budget for 1984 and to discuss other areas of concern.

The budget for 1984 has been set at $11,300. This is broken down to: $2,000 for gravelling in the fairgrounds; $1,700 for an announcing booth; $1,500 for fencing around the men's baseball diamond; $2,000 for landscaping and $500 for any other fencing that has to be done.

This budget will be forwarded to the Recreation Board for their approval, and then will be included in the Recreation Board's budget that will be submitted to the Town of Tofield council for final approval.

The announcing booth that has been budgeted will be on 8 ft. by 10 ft. building that will be built so that it can be moved anywhere on the fairgrounds. This will make the booth available to anyone that would like to use it.

Estimates have been obtained for the construction of the booth, but board members felt a better price could be obtained on the construction of the bottom portion of the building.

The fence around the men's baseball diamond will be 4 ft. high and will be 800 ft. in length to totally enclose the ball diamond. A twelve foot gate will give access to the diamond.

Estimates have been obtained for the fencing, but board members felt that some of the cost could be trimmed by using volunteer labor.

In other board business there was a discussion about the change of maintenance fees in the future.

There was a general concensus that at the present time there wasn't a need for maintenance, but with the benefits of grants that in the future this could be an issue.

Some board members felt that since it wasn't an issue at the present time it shouldn't be looked at until it was.

Others felt that the time to plan for maintenance fees was now, so that when the time came a plan would be in place.

Several types of maintenance fee structures were discussed, but no decision was made. It was decided however to take the subject back to each of the organizations for further discussion and input and to bring back to the board at a later date.

Chairman of the Fairground Advisory Board, Jim Neufeld, reported to the board that Earl Rose and himself had met with the Recreation Board to discuss whether or not the advisory board wanted to remain in an advisory capacity or wanted to be an operational board.

The question had arisen out of the minutes of the advisory board when they had refunded a fee for use of the ball diamonds. Neufeld said they had no policy to collect the fee in the first place and therefore the money had been given back.

Ken Stauffer, Recreation Board representative, said there had been some concern on the part of the Recreation Board that some time in the future that if maintenance fees were collected that the role of the advisory board could turn into that of an operational board.

Chairman Neufeld said he felt at the present time it wasn't feasible for the Fairground board to be an operational board and it wouldn't be a likelihood in the next few years. Board members were in agreement with the decision.

Lions Club member Ken Pullen made a request to the board that the Lions be given permission to put an outdoor skating area in. He said the area had originally been slated for a playground, but he said the Lions had decided that it was not a good place for a playground.

Pullen said the Lions Club is proposing to put in an ice pond for the youth if different problems can be sorted out.

One of the difficulties, he said, that could be a problem is finding a water source to get the water to the area.

One of the board members suggested that a fire truck could be used. Pullen said it was better to have a continuous stream of water rather than one big dump.

Pullen said that the Agricultural Society might be approached to use water from the Arena, or the Fire Department might be approached to get water from the fire hall.

When asked if the Lions were asking for any funds, Pullen answered that they weren't seeking any funds, but were seeking permission to go ahead and were asking for any suggestions the board could provide.

Pullen said if enough interest is shown this year in the facility then the Lions might be considering a more permanent structure for next year.

Eventually down the road there could be boards, a canopy, dock and lights could be permanently installed. In his closing remarks, Pullen said that the Lions Club is not committed to do this at the present time, but that this is one project they are looking at.

There was no objections from the advisory board. Several board members thought the idea was good and that the Lions be given permission to go ahead with the project.

The ag greatlems grounds will be shortened up and evened up with the rodeo grounds. The Ag Society will spearhead a committee in the spring to do this work.

Several members felt there would be enough material salvaged from the past to be torn down to fix it up.

The work will be initiated in the spring prior to the rodeo.

When asked if there would be a conflict between the old grandstand, grounds and the Lions proposed skating rink project a member of the Ag Society said that both could complement each other.

The Tofield Gun Club reported that they plan to build on to the Gun Club building to extend their gun range if permission could be obtained from the advisory board.

President of the Gun Club, Gordon Garford, explained that the club had lost its gun range and despite to buy a new one hasn't been successful. He said it was impossible to get a gun range anywhere.

He said the Gun Club plans to extend the tunnel to the south to make a 30 yard range four stands wide.

The structure would be metal lined to go along with regulations regarding gun ranges.

There is also some interest expressed that the Archery Club would like to use the facility.

The facility would be used every week, he said. The board gave approval for the project to go ahead.

It was suggested that the same member of each organization attend the meetings to insure continuity on the board.

The Advisory Board is made up of all the organizations that use the fairground facilities, including the Legion, Lions and the Golden Club, who use the facilities.

Other members of the board include representation from the Ag Society, the Curling Club, the Gun Club, minor sports, all of the ball teams, the Beaverhill Lighthorse Association, the Historical Society, the Arts and Crafts Society and from the Recreation Board.

Man freezes

by Ken Knudsen

A 28 year-old man from the Minburn area was found frozen to death by local householders last Sunday afternoon.

The man was found on the Beaverhill Lake road, 500 yards from the south end of the lake, said Tofield RCMP constable Terry Renner.

Renner said the man was found laying on top of the snow, improperly dressed for the cold weather.

It hasn't been determined how long he had been there as the RCMP have no date of when the subject went missing, Renner said he may have been out there for several days.

It would appear, said Renner, that the man was overcome by the cold weather and died of exposure.

It doesn't appear at this time that there was foul play, but the RCMP will be continuing their investigation.

The name of the man is being withheld pending information of next of kin.

Card displayed

The Community Christmas card is now on display at the Ryley Variety Store.

The card allows Ryley and District residents to extend "Seasons Greetings" to local people.

The card is sponsored by the Beaver Heritage and Agricultural Society and the funds generated are used in the operation of the swimming pool.

In the past few years, the big friendly Santa has become a familiar sight in Ryley as he passes on Christmas wishes to all.

School enrolment drops

by Ken Knudsen

There was a noticeable drop in enrolment during November. County of Beaver school trustees were informed at the regular meeting of the board last week.

There was a drop of 23 students across the County, with the most significant changes in Tofield, Ryley and Viking.

Tofield School's enrolment was down seven students, Ryley School's enrolment was down six students and Viking School's enrolment was down seven students also. There was a loss of three students from the Hutterite Colonies.

In an interview after the meeting Superintendent Bill Scheeman said he didn't know why there was such a loss of students from September to November.

When asked if the tentative strike could have been a factor in the loss of students from the County of Beaver, Scheeman said he hadn't considered it as a factor.

In other board business there was a recommendation from the Superintendent Advisory Council (SAC) to adopt a transfer form for students leaving the County of Beaver.

The forms would be filled out by the students teacher, or teachers, on the students performance in each subject.

This would give the new teacher in another area knowledge about the students progress and his weak spots, so that the new teacher can know just where the student is at in his studies.

Superintendent Scheeman proposed to the school board delegates some of its responsibilities to himself to deal with according to policy, to leave more time to deal with more important issues.

Scheeman pointed out to the board that a lot of items were dealt with on the agenda, such as field trips, sick leave, personal leave and use of facilities during the summer, to name a few, that could be delegated to himself leaving room on the agenda for more important things.

Scheeman said a lot of time was taken up by dealing with these items when they could be dealt with by policy. He said as long as there was a policy on the matter then they could be delegated.

This item on the agenda was discussed briefly and will be dealt with at a later date.

The Future Goals of the County of Beaver School Board that trustees were to have submitted for ideas, was tabled until the next meeting in January due to a lack of time to deal with it.

The school board recommended that the non-union staff be given a 4 percent increase in salary for the 1983 year. Bus driver's wage increases were also recommended, but this amount hasn't been disclosed because the drivers have to ratify it yet.

Discussions of the preparation of the 1984 salary negotiations and a continuation clause were discussed in camera.

The Christmas concert on Saturday will be at the Hall, starting at 7 p.m. and will include an item by the playschool children who have been active in the program mentioned last week. They have also recently had a ride in a school bus, culminating in the excitement of a visit to a pig farm, and in their play they have been introduced to concepts which appear late in math and science and language arts.

The Strathcona County authorities are responsible for some of the financial backing, especially involving the outdoor playground, the remainder being extensively devoted to purchase of equipment for future fundraising.

The Community League's general meeting was held on Dec. 6 with a small crowd in attendance. January's meeting will be held on the second Tuesday of the month.

The topic of dances for the young teens in the area was again discussed. The executive stated that unless volunteers come forward to help organize these dances there won't be any. Requests for numerous events to be held have been made but, unless community members are willing to pitch in a little bit these requests are impossible to follow up on. If parents of the young teenagers would like to give a hand planning a dance, give me a call at 662-2136 and we'll get the ball rolling.

A water truck has been hired to flood the skating rink and hopefully it will be ready on Dec. 18 which is the date of the Sunday School Christmas concert which is open to everyone.

Final plans were made for monthly bingos which will start in January. The bingos will be held the second Thursday of each month, ending in April.

The New Year's Eve dance, sponsored by the Spilstead Men's Club, will be for adults 18 years and over.

The Spilstead Scouts toured a rig site recently and were explained the functions of the big machine.

The Cubs and Scouts travelled to the Millwoods Wave pool. It was a first time experience for many of the boys. Drivers for the evening were Ben Pelster, Larry Winder, Chuck McBurney and Ken [illegible].

The Pathfinders ran a concession booth at the county art show and sale held in the Hastings Lake Hall recently. The girls and their leaders travelled to Edmonton last Wednesday where they toured the CBC station.

An open house will be held at the hall on Jan. 22.

Miquelon Lake Saddle Club held their trophy banquet and dance in the Spilstead Hall. The Hall was decorated by the club members who had decided to have the banquet in conjunction with the annual Christmas party. A supper was followed by trophy presentations — for Pee Wees — Barry Ollenberg; Juniors — Allan Buckingham; Intermediates — Les Ollenburg; Ladies — Cindy Fisher Sanfranski; Men's — George Wall; Overall High Points — George Wall. The good sportsmanship award went to seven year old Mark Buckingham. Games for the young and old preceded the dance.

Santa Claus dropped in and gave all the children in attendance a homemade-decorated Christmas bag full of goodies. The adult door prize, a ham, papier-mache to look like a pig, was won by Gordon Olson and the winner of the Christmas stocking loaded with goodies was Darren Ray.

Guests for the evening travelled from Edmonton, Kingman, Edgerton, Vermilion, New Sarepta, Hay Lakes and Spilstead, Tofield and Ryley.

Holden and district news

by Mrs. G.H. Taylor

Otto Hurum, who has been a patient for the past two weeks in Tofield and the University Hospitals, returned home last Thursday afternoon.

The Holden L.C.W. held their monthly meeting last Thursday afternoon, with Mrs. Irene Olson leading in the Bible study. Regular business then attended to and correspondence read. A donation was made to the Lamplighter program. Mrs. Cheryl Chetney read the worship meditation. At the conclusion of the meeting, a lunch of Christmas goodies and social hour was enjoyed.

Mrs Melanie Sharawara of the Holden Senior Citizens Lodge has been a patient in Tofield Hospital, for several days.

On Dec. 5th, Lyle Gronlund, Earl Hardy, Don Allan, Ted Kelly and Ron Chetney, members of Holden Masonic Lodge, were guests with Mr. and Mrs. George Taylor and to offer their congratulations to Mr. Taylor on his 93rd birthday.

Alex Shebinski, who had been a Tofield Hospital patient for several weeks, has been transferred to the Viking Nursing Home.

Conrad Meiby moved into the Senior Citizens Lodge several days ago.

Mrs. Helen Bilyk and Mrs. Anne Scherger were prize winners at the recent Bruce Agricultural Society bingo. Lorraine Laske was a winner of the mini bonanza.

Olga and John Omelchuk with Jim and Minnie Tymchuk have been spending a holiday at various points in California and visiting with Olga and Minnie's aunt and other relatives.

Linda and Ken May and children of St. Albert were weekend visitors with Linda's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Budd.

Members of Holden United Church visited at the Holden Senior Citizens Lodge recently, presenting a small program followed by a coffee party for all.

Mrs. K. Kenoway of the Lodge celebrated her birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Budd have [illegible] grandchildren from [illegible] for several days while their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Budd, were away on holiday in Hawaii.

Saturday morning callers with Mr. and Mrs. George Taylor were Robert and Merle Taylor of Viking, stopping in on their way to Edmonton and Mrs. Taylor went along with them.

The Holden Friendship Group are holding their December meeting a week early. It will be held today (Wednesday) at the home of Mrs. Kate Nichols. This is their Christmas meeting and the collection is sent to the Bible Society for their work of distributing Bibles and scriptures.

On Dec. 1st, St. Gregory's C.W.L. held their December meeting combined with a Christmas turkey pot-luck supper. In attendance were fifteen members with their husbands and escorts. The evening was spent in playing various games of cards. Coffee and squares were enjoyed at the closing of the evening.

Mrs. Irene Olson returned Monday after spending the weekend in Edmonton, visiting with family.

Hayride is held

Twenty-five hardy souls braved the winter weather on Sunday to attend the hayride held by the Katchemut Creek Family Horse Club.

The wagon was pulled by a team of horses, driven by Walter Krystal.

After the ride, there were hot dogs and hot chocolate served in the Beaverhill Family Centre.

Members are reminded that next Sunday is the Christmas party in Beaverhill Family Centre, starting three o'clock.

BARBARA BENNETT

Our newscolumn two weeks ago discussed income tax strategies and year-end planning in very general terms. The following is an article from the November 28 issue of Agri-News and discusses the income and expense statement in much more detail.

YEAR-END PLANNING TO REDUCE THE FARM TAX BITE (PART I)

With 1983 drawing to a close, farmers should be seriously thinking about income tax management. The first step is to check the accuracy of all income and expenses that have been recorded during the year so that the various tax strategies can be properly evaluated.

Check all records to make sure that:

— All expense items have been included. [illegible] of pocket expenses that [illegible] missed can be costly. If, for example, a farmer fails to claim a $1 purchase as an expense, the net cost of the purchase, assuming a 25 per cent tax bracket, will be $1.33.

— Individual tools and equipment that cost more than $200 have been depreciated. Items that cost less than $200 can be fully deducted in the year in which they were purchased.

After the November 1981 federal budget it was thought that only 50 per cent of the purchase price of an item costing less than $200 could be deducted.

— That the business portion of various expenses have been included in the list of expenses. A quarter of house maintenance expenses, utility expenses and up to two-thirds of car expenses, including depreciation, can usually be claimed as business expenses.

— Annual accounting and legal fees for the management of the farm and for income tax purposes have been deducted. Legal, appraisal and accounting fees that were associated with buying land or equipment can be added to the capital cost of the asset concerned.

— Government subsidies or rebates that were designed to reduce expenses or compensate for income losses in the current or previous years have been reported as income in the year in which they were received.

— Proper procedures have been followed when reporting income from such unusual sources as patronage dividends, insurance proceeds, commodity trading or oil or gas lease revenue. A publication entitled "Reporting Unusual Farm Income for Tax Purposes" (FS 837-10), available from your local district agriculturist, discusses these and other unusual sources of income.

— A reasonable sum has been deducted as a business expense for business travel and for up to two conventions per year when applicable. Eligible expenses include travel, registration fees, meals and lodging. Receipts are necessary to document these expenses.

— Half the normal capital cost allowance has been deducted on any depreciable assets that were purchased in the last year, after the trade-in value has been deducted. Prior to the November 1981 federal budget, the whole of the capital cost allowance could be deducted in the first year.

— Interest charges associated with commodity trading that yielded a capital gain have been added to the original purchase price of the contract. This change, which resulted from a recent federal court ruling, means that a capital gain can be reduced and that a capital loss can be increased.

A farmer who has determined through the above procedure what his projected taxable income is likely to be, is in a position to decide whether he wants to adjust it, and if so, in which direction.

Concert planned

A Christmas program featuring two county musical groups is planned for the Arts Centre in Holden on Tuesday [illegible].

The Holden Evangelical Church band will present a selection of Christmas songs and carols.

The band, under the direction of Lawson Brown, has been together for several years and utilizes the instrumental talents of the younger members of the congregation.

This will be followed by singers from the Gospel Church in Tofield presenting the Christmas story through a lively selection of songs and music entitled "The King of Love".

The choir is under the direction of Randy Benson.

The program is set for 8 p.m. with no admission charge. All residents are invited to attend.

Satellites still on top

The Beaverhill Hockey League is turning into a two-division loop after slightly more than a month of action.

Tofield Satellites are in sole possession of first place and are closely followed by Lamont and Mundare.

A distant fourth is the new entry from Vegreville while the winless Holden squad is in the basement.

Holden and Tofield played last night (Tuesday) in Tofield with results to be reported next week.

Satellites will be at home to Vegreville on Friday night [illegible] on Tuesday.

Holden will play in Lamont on Saturday before hosting Vegreville on Tuesday in the team's first home game of the [illegible].

Tuesday's action is the league's final games prior to a Christmas holiday.

Satellites had only one game scheduled last week when they went to Mundare on Friday night and they returned home after posting an easy 6-2 triumph.

In the only other two games that were played, Lamont blasted Vegreville 10-3 and then Mundare edged Vegreville 5-3.

A game between Lamont and Holden was postponed.

The first set of statistics for the league was released last week by Lloyd Maslak and covers league play up to the end of November.

D. Nachtigal of the Satellites is leading the individual scoring race with 18 points, four ahead of his nearest rival, J. Ewasiuk of Lamont. G. Sargent of Holden is in fifth place with nine points.

G. Kissel of the Satellites is in 2nd place in the goaltenders' race with a 3.00 goals against average, just behind O'Brien of Mundare whose average stands at 2.66.

[illegible] of Mundare leads the penalty parade with 38 minutes followed by Vestby of Lamont with 31 minutes and Williams of Tofield with 30 minutes.

Olson stars

Tofield Toros had a major star shining when they went to Rosalind on Sunday night.

The Toros were quite short-handed as they were able to muster only seven skaters for the contest and their hopes for a victory were quite slim.

[illegible] team to a narrow 4-3 triumph over the home team which almost totally dominated the [illegible].

According to a source out of Rosalind, the home team easily outshot the visitors by at least a 2-1 margin but, couldn't get the puck past Olson.

Scoring details of the game were not available.

A game between Tofield and Nursette scheduled for Tofield on Friday night, had to be postponed because the Camrose college team's players were involved in examinations.

Toros were to have played in Camrose this coming Friday but, this game has also been postponed.

Next action for the Toros will be on Monday night when they will be at home to Kingman.

Sunday's victory in Rosalind enabled the Toros to retain their grip on second place in the County Senior Hockey League standings.

McDades perform

Those who braved the cold to attend the performance of the McDade Family Band on Saturday evening, were treated to a toe-tapping evening of old time and country music.

Right from the opening number "The McDonald Breakdown" to "The Orange Blossom Special", Danielle, the mother of the group, kept the audience involved. However, when it came time for "The Red River Jig", six-year-old Jeremia outshone everyone.

The group used a variety of instruments but the star of the show was Shannon, the fourteen-year-old fiddler who gave a commendable performance. Completing the group were father, Terri and nine-year-old Solon, the bass fiddler.

Tofield gets service road

by Ken Kroetsch

The Town of Tofield will be responsible for the management and service of the service road into Tofield, council was informed by a letter from the Department of Transportation.

In his letter, the Minister of Transportation, Marvin Moore, said that the part of the old Highway 14 that was reverted into a service road is considered to be in good condition. He said maintenance patching was done this fall and if required there would be patching done in the spring as well.

[illegible] consideration will be given to overlaying the old highway in combination with other projects in the area.

The gravel portion of the old highway, near the Northwestern Utilities property, will be oiled in the spring by the Department of Transportation.

Lighting along the new section of Highway 14 will be done during the next construction season.

In regards to the east and west approaches, Moore said in his letter that these are presently being reviewed and the findings of this review will be discussed with council sometime in the new year.

In discussion after the letter had been read, Councillor Ed Regehr said council should approach the Department of Transportation to see if they would take care of snow removal on the access road.

"I don't think we can take on that responsibility," said Regehr.

Regehr said that the town doesn't have the manpower to take care of this section, feeling that with the manpower that the department has that there wouldn't be a problem for the department to take care of it.

Council was concerned that stop signs along 834 north, the south part of main street hadn't been changed yet.

Town Foreman, Ernie Duchesne, said it should be done by the first part of this week. Council said that if he couldn't get it done he should cover the signs with garbage bags and remove the 4-way part of the sign.

A motion was made at the last council meeting to remove these signs to have a smoother flow of trafic through this intersection.

Council approved the rate increases proposed by the Recreation Board for the Community Hall and the rental of [illegible]. The new rate for the Hall is $210 up from $200 [illegible] $.50 per mile, up from $.40 a mile previously.

By-law 836 received last and final reading. This by-law [illegible] 1984 assessments except for exceptions where there has been construction or improvement to the property.

The final agreement, between [illegible] Tofield Transit Ltd. Aino Jensen and Norsk Investments, that provides for the construction of roadways when and if they are required to provide legal access to the properties was signed.

The agreement was necessary to complete the planning and registration of the subdivision to create titles of certain properties south of the railway.

An advertisement will be put in the paper next week to inform Tofield residents of office hours and garbage pick-up during the holiday season.

Where Monday is a holiday garbage pick-up will be done on the following Wednesday.

Tofield team is on tv

On Dec. 3rd the Tofield Reach For The Top team competed against Sexsmith High School and defeated them with an impressive score of 415 to 140.

That same day, Tofield met Austin O'Brien High School from Edmonton and was defeated 415 to 205 in a hard fought battle.

One defeat eliminates the team from further competition, but all players felt that the experience was very worthwhile. The first showings of the program have already appeared on T.V., but the second will be reshown on Dec. 17 in the afternoon.

The team members were Ted Wood, Arthur Sutherland, Robert Stutzman, Chris Smith and Jason Moses. The coach was Mr Bandola.

Handicapped are people

by Marie Sakeroff

It was September 1982 that we undertook to care for Exceptional boys. What a lot of fears we had — at first — because we were sure we should have a guide-book, telling us what to do and how to do it.

Friends said, "You must have lots of patience to be able to look after these boys."

Over and over again we had to tell folks, "It's not patience, but love". Love can overcome any obstacle no matter how large it may be.

We discovered that most people would like to put us into a mold, so we could all be perfect, like well made Gingerbread Men.

This came home to me one evening when the boys were helping me make Gingerbread Men for our party. One boy's cookie-man had a crooked arm and leg. I said, "Don't you want a perfect little man?" and he replied, "He is perfect! He's playing soccer!"

Don't try to put your fellowman into a mold. God created us — 'Unique'

What a dull world this would be if we were all quiet and had no song to sing or laughter to wrinkle our faces.

So I ask you, "What do you see?" Do you see that boy running clumsily along and kicking the ball the wrong way so that his team loses?

I see him as a winner. He has exercised his body and has enjoyed the game.

What kind of man would you like to be??? I'd like to be the crooked one, with arms and legs not quite right, but loving life and enjoying life to the full extent of God's love.

Note: Marie and Fred Sakeroff were foster parents in Camrose for over twenty years.

BATTERIES NOT INCLUDED

The line "batteries not included" has become as much a part of Christmas as Jingle Bells. Knowing what type of battery is best for your needs isn't easy. The November issue of Consumer Reports rated batteries and below are the results.

Things that have motors or lights generally need a lot of power ie. a cassette player, with its moving tape, uses more power than a radio.

When a device uses a lot of power, is left on for a long time or must have a long storage life, alkaline batteries are the best bargain. This is the case, despite the higher initial cost. Because one brand of alkaline battery lasts pretty much as long as another, buy the cheapest ones you can find.

For things that don't draw a lot of power, or are allowed to rest between uses, heavy-duty or regular batteries make more sense. Out of pocket savings can be considerable. The quality of these batteries varied; Radio Shack being consistently the best.

It's a good idea to buy batteries at a store that does a brisk business in them. Batteries keep best when they're dry and cool.

Don't mix old and new batteries in one item. They'll both last as long as the weakest battery. When you throw batteries away, don't throw them into a fire, as they can explode.

Ministik and district news

by Catherine Roddick

Meant For Last Week

It was a very special occasion on Dec 3rd, when many friends and relatives gathered in the Community Hall for a pot-luck supper and miscellaneous shower for Kevin O'Neill and his bride-to-be, Arletta Bacheldor

After the supper was enjoyed, Kevin and Arletta opened their gifts and put them on display for all present to view.

Kevin thanked all for the supper, and the gifts and especially thanked hostesses Barbara Horricks, Margaret Jeske and Debbie Holmes. They were assisted by Linda Holmes, Shirley Horricks and Patricia Holmes.

Jim Holmes took the gifts to the front and Jeff Jeske was in charge of the guest list.

Kevin is the son of Betty and Keith Williams and Arletta is a daughter of Art and Yvonne Bacheldor. They were married on Dec. 10th and will make their home in Edmonton.

The Ministik Ladies Club's annual Christmas party was held at the hall on Wednesday [redacted]

After a short business session, Mrs. Santa played by Gladys Swabey, called on each lady to receive a gift, after performing in some way. She was assisted by Margaret [redacted]

After the gifts were all looked at and enjoyed, a dinner complete with all the trimmings was served by hostesses Gladys Swabey, Lil Leach and Laurie Swabey.

Guests for the occasion were Gladys Roddick and Vi Rod-[redacted]

A very special occasion was observed on Nov 27th when friends and family members came from all parts of Canada to be present.

It was the 50th wedding anniversary of Alphonse and Eva Loch, now of Edmonton, after 17 years residence in Ministik, and was held at the Captains Inn in Edmonton.

Ernie Loch, youngest son of the couple, of Toronto, acted as master of ceremonies.

Grandchildren put on a program to entertain the 150 guests present, after a buffet dinner

Guests from this area were the Maurice Paterson family, Joe, Eva and Doris Davenport, Jean Wittig and Dolly Roddick.

The Christmas Cantata will be presented in the hall on the evening of Dec. 22.

John and Truus Vandermeer returned home last week after spending five weeks in the Niagara Falls area, visiting relatives and friends.

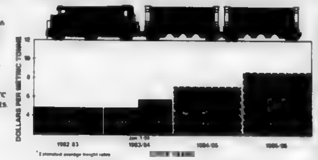
What does the Western Grain Transportation Act mean to Western grain producers?

On January 1, 1984, the Crow's Nest Pass Agreement will be replaced by the Western Grain Transportation Act. The new Act will have far-reaching effects on Canada's whole economy. In the west, it will guarantee grain producers a vastly improved grain handling system that allows them to produce and deliver more grain and grain products to world markets.



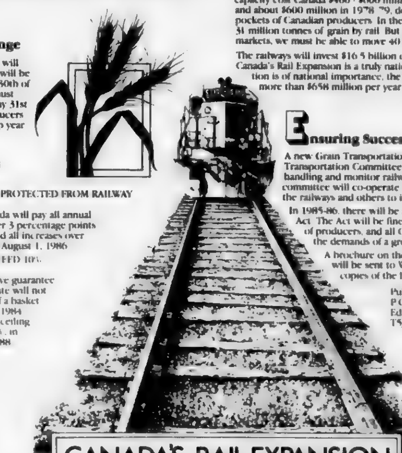
The Demands of a Growing World

Over the last two decades, there has been a continual rise in world demand for grain and grain products. And more Canadian farmers are discovering profitable "cash crop" markets created by rising world demand for crops like canola, sunflowerseed oil and legumes.

At the same time, a growing world has increased demand for coal from British Columbia, potash from Saskatchewan and other Canadian resources. All of these products move by rail, and in peak years like the 78/79 crop year, the system backs up. And Canada loses as much as $600 million in export sales. The solution is to increase rail capacity and share the cost equitably, so that grain doesn't become a second class commodity as demand increases.

Rates will Change

On January 1, 1984, rates will change. A new rate scale will be determined before April 30th of each year. The railways must publish their tariffs by May 31st of each year, so that producers can plan for the next crop year.



The Producer's Guarantees

1) PRODUCERS WILL BE PROTECTED FROM RAILWAY COST INCREASES
The Government of Canada will pay all annual railway cost increases over 3 percentage points in the first three years, and all increases over 6 percentage points after August 1, 1986.

2) RATES WILL NOT EXCEED 10% OF GRAIN PRICES
Producers have a legislative guarantee that the average freight rate will not exceed 4% of the price of a basket of the six major grains in 1984. In 1985 the average rate ceiling moves to 5%, in 1986 - 8%, in 1987 - 9%, and 10% in 1988.

3) RATES WILL REMAIN STATUTORY
The railways will not have the freedom to charge whatever they want. The Canadian Transportation Commission will establish new rates annually, based on actual railway costs.

4) STATUTORY PROTECTION WILL BE EXTENDED TO NEW CROPS
In addition to those crops currently shipped under statutory rate protection, (wheat, oats, barley, rye, flax and rapeseed), canola oil and meal, linseed oil and meal, sunflowerseed, sunflowerseed oil, mustardseed, triticale, peas and their derivatives, and beans and their derivatives (except soybeans), will be included.

5) THE RAILWAYS MUST MAKE GUARANTEES
In return for adequate compensation for moving grain, the railways will be required to make massive new investments in branch line and main line improvements, double-tracking, improved switching systems and tunnels to improve the system. Funds will be withheld if performance and investment guarantees are not met.

Forty by 'Ninety

If Canada is to maintain its position in world grain markets, we must start to invest now to increase our rail capacity for the future. Lack of capacity cost Canada $400 - $600 million in lost grain sales in 1977/78, and about $600 million in 1978/79, dollars that came directly out of the pockets of Canadian producers. In the peak year of 1981-82, we moved 31 million tonnes of grain by rail. But to capture a growing share of world markets, we must be able to move 40 million tonnes consistently by 1990!

The railways will invest $16.5 billion over the next decade. Because Canada's Rail Expansion is a truly national endeavour, and grain transportation is of national importance, the Government of Canada will contribute more than $658 million per year toward the cost of moving grain.

Ensuring Success

A new Grain Transportation Agency and a Senior Grain Transportation Committee will be established to improve grain handling and monitor railway performance. The agency and the committee will co-operate with producers, grain companies, the railways and others to improve our grain handling system.

In 1985-86, there will be a comprehensive review of the new Act. The Act will be fine tuned to ensure it meets the needs of producers, and all Canadians, in their efforts to meet the demands of a growing world.

A brochure on the Western Grain Transportation Act will be sent to Western grain producers. Others wanting copies of the brochure may write to:

Kingman district notes

by Sharon Soady

A large crowd gathered at the hall on Nov 26 for Bob and June Kerr's 25th anniversary. The cake was decorated by Sharon Krezanoski and Shelley Kerr, music was supplied by Peterson's band, and Shannon Kerr was in charge of the guest book. June's wedding dress and bouquet were on display as well as a collection of photographs of highlights in Bob and June's life. Their bridesmaid, Sharon (Johanson) Krezanoski, and bestman Lloyd Fankhanel of Namao, were both present.

Guests attended from Didsbury, Edberg, Fertstoch, Kelsey, Red Deer and Edmonton, as well as locally. June's mother, Gladys Johanson, her sister Sharon and brother Edward and their families attended as did Bob's brothers, Alec, Gordie, Bill and Jimmy and his sisters, Ellen, Marie, Marjorie and Evie and their families. Bob's sister, Gladys and her husband were to the open house held at Kerr's the following day.

Kingman Recreation held their annual Lutefisk supper recently with a very good crowd supporting it.

Dick, Sharon and Rick Soady were weekend visitors with Ann and Larry Kozack of Duffield on Dec 3 and 4.

Bob Kerr was a patient in Tofield Hospital where he underwent surgery.

On Nov. 27 Alicia Brady celebrated her first birthday along with the Kerr's open house. Alicia is Sharon and Steve Krezanoski's granddaughter.

Kingman residents have realized the necessity of candle power lately as there have been two power outages in as many weeks. Both times electricity was out for about 2½ hours.

Gone fishin'

This young lady tried her luck at the fish pond at the United Sef tea and bazaar held last weekend in the United Church basement. There was a variety of crafts and baked items for sale as well as tea and goodies for everyone.

Christmas edition printed next week

Next week's edition of The Mercury will be the paper's annual Christmas publication.

All businesses, clubs, organizations and individuals wishing to extend Christmas greetings should be prepared to do so in next week's edition.

The Mercury's advertising salesperson, Marcia Lissack, will be making her rounds as usual next Monday.

The Christmas publication will be the final edition of The Mercury printed in 1983.

There will not be a paper printed during the final week of December.

Following next week's edition, the next publication of The Mercury will be printed on Jan. 4th.

Correspondents, contributors and advertisers are asked to note the lack of publication during the final week of 1983.

Puffs win

With a good crowd on hand, the Powder Puffs not only displayed their new uniforms, but their skating and scoring ability with a 6-0 shut out against the Hardisty Hawks.

Scoring for Tofield was a single by J. Duchesne, a pair for Sharon Portsky and with a hat-trick was B. Boettger.

There have been no other games scheduled until after the New Year.

Homecoming set

Ryley High School will hold its 17th annual Homecoming on Saturday in the Ryley School.

Alumni from the past five years have been invited to attend the event. However, all alumni are welcome to attend.

Volleyball games will commence at 4:30 p.m. followed by basketball action at 7 p.m.

Various displays will also be open for public viewing. There will be no admission charged.

Round Hill district notes

The Round Hill Women's Institute held their Christmas banquet at the Legion on Dec 1st along with their husbands and guests. There were 42 in attendance. Games were played and prizes were given to the winners.

After supper Anton Maslanka and Mickey Kushneriak supplied the music and Christmas carols were sung by all.

Lunch and coffee was set out on tables for the rest of the evening.

Harvey and Doreen Foss, Curtis and Mallisa went to Buck Lake for the weekend and were guests with Mr. and Mrs. Louie Banack. They brought a load of Christmas trees back with them.

Coasters winning

The Tofield Coasters (oldtimers) are certainly not living up to their name.

In the last four games, they have outscored the opposition 37 to 5. This included a 16-0 game against the Bruderheim Barons.

These last three wins puts the Coasters record at 9 wins and 7 losses and they have outscored the opposition 96 to 60.

The next home action is on Dec. 18th.

Medically Speaking

by Dr. Bob Young

There is an oft-told tale in medical circles of an incident that occured many years ago, when prepaid medical care, as we know it today, was new. An affluent, indeed a very wealthy businessman, owner of a firm that employed hundreds of workers, developed a stomach ache.

He was a fair and up-to-date employer, one of the first to pay medical insurance premiums for everyone who worked in his plant.

Being a somebody, it was only reasonable that he sought out the most respected physician in town, a man who in those days was referred to as a society doctor. The physician was a good one, being recognized as such by both his medical colleagues and his patients. He was able to command fees considerably higher than average.

The air, it was reported, was electric in the consulting room when the fee was discussed. The businessman, worth millions, pulled his medical insurance card from his wallet and offered it to the doctor. The doctor took the card, looked his patient right in the eye, said "these are not for the likes of you," and tore the card in half.

The insurance payment for an office visit at that time was about five dollars. The physician, by his action, became, in all probability, the province's first opted-out physician!

There are no opted-out doctors in Alberta today. All physicians bill the Alberta Health Care Insurance Plan for the insurance benefit paid on behalf of the patient. While about one-third of physicians balance bill, the actual number of services balance billed is only five percent. Thus, physicians accept as their full fee, in 95 out of 100 services provided, the benefit paid by AHCIP. Moreover, the average balance bill is around $10.

Is there a place for society physicians in today's world? Should the family fortunate enough to live in a mansion and drive a Rolls not have the right to pay more for luxury attention? Would such a system attract all the exceptional doctors leaving the rest of us in the hands of the less gifted? Would the medical plan save much money by allowing those wishing to pay for "special care" do so?

I do not have the answers. Certainly the day when a doctor can tear up a patient's medical card is long gone.

Medically Speaking is published with the cooperation of the Alberta Medical Association and this newspaper.

Acre measure returns to Alberta Agriculture

The Honorable Leroy Fjordbotten, Minister of Agriculture has announced that, effective immediately, all agricultural publications and material being printed by the Department of Agriculture will include both acre and hectare land measurement, where applicable.

"Making mistakes can be costly for producers, especially when converting expensive chemicals and fertilizers for proper acre applications. I want to make sure that farmers have every advantage to ensure they are maximizing their returns," said Mr. Fjordbotten.

The use of acre and hectare measurements in agriculture publications follows a government decision that all departments and agencies of the Government of Alberta which have moved to the use of the hectare as a unit of measurement, be required to provide the equivalent land area information in acres with the option of which unit of measurement appears in brackets.

The only exemptions from this policy would be the Energy Resources Conservation Board and specific areas of the Department of Energy and Natural Resources pertaining to their responsibilities and interactions with the oil and gas industry.

Said Mr. Fjordbotten, "The identification of both acre and hectare measurement will allow farmers to make better management decisions. Farms were developed on an acre basis and farmers can relate to acres better than hectares."

The Department of Agriculture will be providing acre/hectare equivilencies in all future publications, fact sheets and related information available to Alberta producers.

Drive is midway

The Christmas Seal fund-raising drive has reached the mid-way mark.

The fund-raising effort will continue until the end of January.

This year's provincial objective is $860,000 and as of the first week in December, fifty-two percent of that objective had been reached when $443,804 was collected.

The drive in the Camrose area is slightly above the provincial average.

The latest returns show that the campaign in the Camrose region has netted a total of $11,935.

That represents fifty-five percent of the total objective of $21,700.

Although Camrose and area did lead the fund-raising drive at one time, it has since dropped into fourth place.

Drumheller is leading the way having raised sixty-four percent of its objective while Peace River and Lacombe are tied for second spot at sixty-one percent.

Other communities that have passed fifty percent include Brooks, Calgary, Edmonton, High River and Ponoka.

The campaign in Camrose is a joint effort of the Kinsmen and Kinettes with Sharon Yandt as chairman.

BETWEEN THE COVERS

There are a number of self-help books recently added to the library collection. Even if you have no need for them at the present, you may know someone who does. The new titles include: "Can't Read, Can't Write, Can't Talk Too Good Either", a guide to recognizing dyslexia in your child; "How to Win Back the One You Love", fighting to retain a good marriage; "Aids to Make You Able", a listing of numerous gadgets for the handicapped, and where to get them; "A Guide to Dying at Home", and "Better Dancing".

Another book by Wallace Stegner, author of Wolf Willow, is "Mormon Country". This is a popular history of the settlement of the Mormons in Utah.

A new approach to learning arithmetic is covered in the book "The Complete Book of Chisenbop", the counting-on-your-fingers system.

Please note that the library will be closed from Saturday, December 24 through Tuesday, December 27 inclusive, and also on Tuesday, January 3. However, during the two weeks of school holidays, the library will be open on Wednesday, Dec. 28 and Jan. 4 instead. Other days and hours remain the same.

Today, Wednesday, Dec. 14 is the last day of the Christmas Readings program for school age children. An added attraction to the 4 o'clock program will be a series of short puppet plays presented by the Tofield Girl Guide troop. There is no charge; the program will be about 45 minutes long.

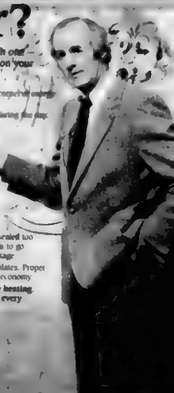
What can you do about the weather?



Winter – and especially a harsh one – can have a considerable effect on your heating bill.
There are many steps you can take to conserve energy and reduce heating costs
- Turn down the thermostat – 20°C during the day, lower at night or when you're away
- Replace or clean dirty furnace filters
- Make sure windows and doors are weatherstripped and tightly closed
Electrical switches and receptacles on exterior walls can be sealed too. Your local hardware should have seals to go behind the face plates to stop air leakage.
Replace or clean humidifier pads or plates. Proper humidity contributes to comfort and economy.
Natural gas is the best buy for home heating. You can make it better by stretching every energy dollar.

Viking Cup draws near

In just over two weeks, action in the third Viking Cup international hockey tournament will get underway.

Play commences on Dec. 30th and will continue until a tournament championship team is determined on Jan. 3rd.

Six teams are involved and they include the host CLC Vikings, Czechoslovakia Junior Selects, Helsinki IFK of Finland, Edmonton's NAIT Ookpiks, St. Albert Saints and St. Paul Junior Vulcans from Minnesota.

The Vikings are entered in a division with Czechoslovakia and St. Albert with the other three entires competing in a second division.

Teams will be involved in round-robin competition in their own division with the top two teams advancing to tournament semi-final play while the two third place teams meet to decide fifth place.

Two games will be played daily during the tournament except on the Monday which has three games slated.

Advance tickets are now on sale and may be obtained by calling 679-6005.

As has been the case in prior Viking Cups, it is expected that the tournament will attract a large number of scouts form the NHL and will warrant fairly extensive media coverage.

The opening game goes on the afternoon of Dec. 30th between the USA and NAIT while the evening game between Czechoslovakia and the Vikings will be preceded by official opening ceremonies.

Games on Dec. 31st will be between Finland and NAIT while Czechoslovakia faces St. Albert and that evening, there will be a banquet for all tournament participants.

New Year's Day games will pit the Vikings against St. Albert while Finland and the USA will tangle.

Playoffs start on Jan. 2nd with a game to determine fifth place and two semi-final contests.

The consolation finals will go on the afternoon of Jan. 3rd with the championship game scheduled for the evening.

Both Finland and the USA will be involved in area exhibition games while in Canada and exhibition games involving the Czechs will take place in B.C.

The USA squad will be in Killam on Dec. 28th for a match with the Central Alberta Junior B League All Stars and they will go to Red Deer for a match with the College Kings on Jan. 4th.

Finland will be playing in Lloydminster on Dec. 27th and then go to Fort Saskatchewan the following night.

Marketplace

Comparison shopping takes time but there's an obvious payoff — you save money and get a better deal! No matter what you're shopping for, there are five steps to the "right" choice. Ask yourself:

— "Why" am I buying? If the item is something you actually "need", you can justify the purchase. But, if you merely "want" the item, think carefully before proceeding. It's all too easy to become a chronic impulse spender, buying the things you want as you see them, then not having enough money left for the things you need and want more.

— "What" should I buy? Almost anything you decide to buy is available in a wide range of models, brands, sizes, prices . To make the best choice learn how to interpret advertising claims and label information; check your local library for product test reports and relevant books; collect informative pamphlets from retailers, manufacturers, and consumer help agencies.

Don't overlook your friends and neighbours. Sometimes the best information comes from people who have had first-hand experience with the product.

Finally, don't rely on price alone to tell you which is the best buy. The most expensive item is not necessarily the right choice for you nor is the cheapest item.

— "When" should I buy? Prices on almost everything vary throughout the year. Plan your purchases in advance and take advantage of the seasonal and other sales. Be sure an advertised sale is a genuine sale.

— "Where" should I buy? Find out where you can get the best servicing, the best warranty and the lowest price for the specific brand and model you've chosen.

If you have not previously dealt with the companies selling the item you plan to buy, ask your friends and neighbours for referrals.

The Better Business Bureau can tell you whether they have received a significant number of unresolved complaints against a specific retailer. Save footwork, phone around.

— "How" should I pay? If you plan far enough in advance you'll likely be able to pay cash for your purchase, or at least make a substantial down payment. If you decide to use credit, realize that it is just as important to comparison shop for credits as for the item itself. Interest rates and other conditions vary, so shop around to get the best deal.

Book goes to press

The members of the Holden History Book Committee breathed a sigh of relief last Thursday when all the photos and the last of the printed material finally went to press.

That doesn't mean that their work is over.

During the next six months they will continue to meet Tuesdays and Thursdays after noons as there is still a great deal of proofreading to be done. All the material will be returned for proofreading twice more. There will also be the task of assembling the book and preparing the index plus jobs that they aren't even aware of yet.

Plans are for the book to be completed in time for the Holden Homecoming, to be held August 4 [illegible]

Anyone wishing to order a book may still do so. All monies received as prepayment for the book will go toward the printing costs, which must be made periodically as the book progresses. Needless [illegible]

VOL. 67—No. 17 WEDNESDAY, DEC. 21st, 1983 PUBLISHED WEEKLY AT TOFIELD, ALBERTA SINGLE COPY 25c

LEGISLATURE LIBRARY DEC 2 1983 (EDMONTON)

May the radiance and the glory of the light that shone over Bethlehem bring enduring faith and hope for all. In this season of gladness, we wish to express our gratitude and hopes for your happiness.

The Story of the Nativity

ST. LUKE, CHAPTER 2, 1-20

1. And it came to pass in those days, that there went out a decree from Caesar Augustus, that all the world should be taxed.

2. (And this taxing was first made when Cyrenius was governor of Syria.)

3. And all went to be taxed, every one into his own city.

4. And Joseph also went up from Galilee, out of the city of Nazareth, into Judea, unto the city of David, which is called Bethlehem; (because he was of the house and lineage of David).

5. To be taxed with Mary his espoused wife, being great with child.

6. And so it was, that while they were there, the days were accomplished that she should be delivered.

7. And she brought forth her firstborn son, and wrapped him in swaddling clothes, and laid him in a manger; because there was no room for them in the inn.

8. And there were in same country shepherds abiding in the field, keeping watch over their flocks by night.

9. And lo, the angel of the Lord came upon them, and the glory of the Lord shone around them, and they were sore afraid.

10. And the angel said unto them, Fear not; for behold I bring you tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people.

11. For unto you is born this day, in the city of David, a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord.

12. And this shall be a sign unto you; "Ye shall find the babe wrapped in swaddling clothes, lying in a manger."

13. And suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host praising God, and saying:

14. Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men

15. And it came to pass, as the angels were gone away from them into heaven the shepherds said one to another, Let us now go even unto Bethlehem, and see this thing which is come to pass, which the Lord hath made known unto us.

16. And they came with haste, and found Mary and Joseph and the babe lying in a manger.

17. And when they had seen it, they made known abroad the saying which was told them concerning this child.

18. And all they that heard it wondered at those things which were told them by the shepherds.

19. But Mary kept all these things, and pondered them in her heart.

20. And the shepherds returned glorifying and praising God for all things that they had heard and seen as it was told unto them.

Fuel Prices Too High!

Dear Sir:

We are 2 middle-aged people, mixed farmers who have worked hard all of our lives, 13-16 hours a day, 7 days a week, rain or snow, hot or cold. We've been trying to produce more food to help support everyone in this country, as well as those abroad.

We've been hit hard with high interest rates as well as everyone else. Now we must deal with the rocketing price of gas and farm fuel, as well as high machinery costs.

We've now come to the point where it is no longer profitable, affordable or satisfying to farm. It's no longer something that can be assured of; that you'll make it through from one year to the next.

All farmers, whom I know work hard, are trying to support not only themselves, but our country and the rest of the world.

It seems that while we are doing this, we are not getting much recognition or support from the federal and provincial governments, nor the public in general as it is taken for granted that farmers will always continue to farm and supply and support this country and the world with the food that is needed. How can anyone expect this to be true when there are so many farms and farmers going bankrupt or quitting because they can't afford to pay the outrageous gas prices and interest costs to maintain their operations.

In the spring of the following year, 1984, we do now know if we will continue our work for the upcoming crop year or not. We cannot afford to manage our farm at 30c/L for fuel, unless the prices drops to about 10c/L in order to be able to run the machinery for the next crop year.

We, as farmers, enjoy our work and would like to continue, but a major decrease in the price of farm fuel is justified and essential.

All I am asking, in which I assume I am speaking for other farmers as well, is a major decrease in the price of fuel being sold to the farmer.

We have a team of two large work horses. They've been working hard and haven't broken their harnesses, yet. But when they do, they'll never work again.

So think about it before it happens, Mr. Lougheed.

—Concerned Farmers

Take a Stand

Dear Sir:

At recent family gatherings we have talked much about the precarious position the world is in. We have decided to appeal directly to the world powers by sending the following telegram to Mr Ronald Reagan, President of the United States, and to Mr. Yuri Andropov, President of Supreme Soviet Russia.

Our family is angry that the United States and Russia refuse to meet and negotiate for nuclear arms reduction. We think that you have no right to manipulate events and truth for short term political advantage, when to do so puts the whole earth in danger and its children in fear. We ask that you resume talks on disarmament and that you come with honesty, responsibility and goodwill toward all mankind. Unite for peace while you still live. It is in your power to do so.

"There lies before us if we choose continual progress in happiness, knowledge and wisdom. Shall we instead choose death because we cannot forget our quarrels? We appeal as human beings to human beings: Remember your humanity and forget the rest." (Bertrand Russell).

We support any effort that promotes peace and so we have also sent the following telegram to Mr. Trudeau.

"There's night and day, brother, both sweet things; sun, moon, and stars, brother, all sweet things' there's likewise a wind on the heath. Life is very sweet, brother; who would wish to die?" (George Borrow) Your work for peace gives us hope. Thankyou from our family.

We urge other families to make their feeling on the peace issue known. Take a stand with us.

Sincerely,

Pat Ferguson, Brent & Kathleen Dase; Bob, Maxine, Matthew & Bobby Howland; Elaine Ferguson; Leonard, Florence, Arthur & Stephen Sutherland; Leonard, Joyce, Susan, Elisabeth & Ruth Sorochan; Helen, Lance, Murray, Michael & Danny Davis; Frank, Lois, Timothy, David & Jennifer Yuhasz; Bob, Jean, Pamela, Nora, Grant & Sarah Klappstein, Tracy Hicks; Bill McKeown; Donald, Debra & Benjamin Mousseau; Pat Fairbairn; Krista-June Sederlind.

LIVE IN MEMORY

The joy of life is to live in the memory of our friends.

Christmas greetings to the many friends I have found since coming to Tofield. So many of you I do not know by name, but your smiles, jokes and welcome when we meet are so heart warming.

All the best to each and everyone. May you have a wonderful Christmas and a very happy and health 1984.

Mrs. Agnes Anderson
Tofield Lodge

Loose Ends

by [illegible]

[illegible]

Well, here it is, a few days before Christmas. Are you ready?

It seems to me that it doesn't matter how organized you are, how many hours you spend baking, shopping, mailing or decorating, there is always some little thing that [illegible] it's too late to do something about it. Unless it's something like forgetting to buy a turkey, I try not to let it get me down. I console myself with the fact that even elves make mistakes. (They took jobs at the North Pole, didn't they? If that isn't a mistake, I don't know what is.)

A periodic glance at a Christmas checklist could help any of you who might have omitted something from your busy schedule.

Have you sent cards to all those people you didn't intend to send to this year? You know the ones I mean — they've kept you on their list so now you have to buy a new box of cards and send one late.

Do you have all the ingredients for turkey dinner enough to feed an army and a turkey large enough to serve in casseroles well into March?

Is the tree up and all its lights working? Nothing is more dismal than a half-lit tree. The same could be said for people.

Do you have all the gifts wrapped and properly tagged so Sam doesn't get the doll intended for Susie? This would be especially sad in our house, because Sam is our dog. I'd hate to think of one of the children chewing on those tough rawhide things.

Are the Christmas albums all dusted off? At this time of year, John Denver and the Morman Tabernacle Choir are as welcome in our home as Waylon and Willie.

Was anyone left off your annual Christmas letter list? Someone is always left off mine, as the December telephone bill proves.

And last but not least, did you meet all the mailing deadlines? You can look at a late gift in two ways — as an anti-climax that has none of the fizz of opening gifts Christmas morning, or as a chance to have a second Christmas. I prefer the second Christmas and hope that any recipient of my late arrivals do the same. Most of them should know me well enough by now to expect the odd foul-up.

I hope that you haven't neglected anything or anyone that is important to your Christmas. And have a really great one, won't you?

Farm Corner

Merle Good from the Farm Business Management Branch of Alberta Agriculture has put together an article dealing with year-end planning to reduce the farm tax bite Here are a few strategies you might wish to employ Purchasing supplies at the end of the tax year. Even with high interest rates, it may pay to borrow additional funds to take advantage of significant tax deductions, early purchase discounts, etc.

Using deferred grain tickets to reduce income and increase expenses This strategy entails endorsing the tickets and giving them to the dealer as a type of post-dated cheque. The result is a deductible expense in the current tax year and the deferral of income until the following year when the dealer cashes the tickets Paying spouse and children a salary for their work An additional benefit of this strategy is that the spouse will then be eligible for the Canadian Pension Plan and able to contribute to her own registered retirement savings plan.

Buying new machinery when it is needed before the end of the year to take advantage of the capital cost allowance in the year in which the piece of equipment was purchased

Loaning funds to spouse and children on an interest-free demand note and having them invest the money so that each earns up to $1,000 of interest income per year

Contributing to a registered retirement savings plan (RRSP)

Using cash to retire any personal loans and, if necessary, re-borrowing the funds under a business loan. Interest on the new loan will be deductible because it will be used for business purposes

Asking machinery manufacturers to send rebate cheques directly to you, not to the dealer. A recent court case indicates that rebates that come directly from a manufacturer to the purchaser are tax free.

Finally, make sure that you are informed on the proposed amendments that are contained in the April 1983 federal budget. Although these amendments have not yet been passed into law, a number of them are very important One concerns the use of the investment tax credit When the amendment is passed, it will allow credits earned in 1983 to be carried back two years and forward seven years And in 1984, the carry-back period will be extended to three years Also, a 40 per cent special refundable tax credit will be available from Revenue Canada on investments that were purchased between April 15, 1983 and May 1, 1986

In view of the complexities of the present taxation system, the knowledge and advice of a competent accountant is almost a necessity today.

Couple loses home

By Ken Kroetsch

Fire completely destroyed a couple's home in the early hours of Monday morning.

At approximately 2 a.m. the Tofield firemen responded to the Darren Olson residence,three miles west and three and a half miles north of Tofield, said County Fire Chief Laurie Weatherill.

Weatherill said the trailer was gone by the time the firemen had arrived. The damage to the unit is not known at this time.

Weatherill said there were no injuries in the fire, but Olson was treated at the hospital for frost bite to his feet.

When the fire started Olson sent his wife and small child to the neighbors to get help. He had attempted to get some of their valuables out of the burning structure, but after several attempts found it was futile, said Weatherill.

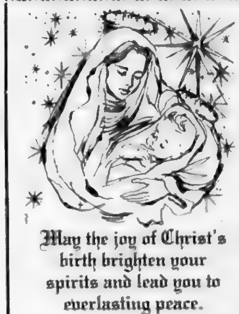
He then ran in either his bare feet, or stocking feet to the neighbors house approximately a half mile away, causing frostbite to his feet.

The cause of the blaze is unknown. Weatherill said the fire so completely burned the trailer that he was doubtful that the exact cause would ever be known.

He said he suspected that it probably started in the furnace or stove.

"We'll probably put it down as source unknown," said Weatherill.

The couple were without insurance on their home or the contents, said Weatherill.



May the joy of Christ's birth brighten your spirits and lead you to everlasting peace.

CHRISTMAS IS..

I found the following passages in an old Peg Bracken column and thought I'd share my giggles:

-If you must guess at a woman's size, guess littler; at a child's age, guess older.

-The ideal present for any husband is four fake colds a year - a chance to have the sympathy, the early bed and the hot wine and cinnamon without having to spoil it all by feeling ill. Attach that to the package and even your choice in ties may become an acceptable gift.

-That lady puzzles me, who'll s'oeuvre

A quite delectable hors d'oeuvre

Preceded (why?) by countless trays

Of calorific canapes
That fill the stomach, well-to-well..
Doesn't she trust her meal at all?

-To see that the children get more excercise during the holidays, try putting the TV set and the refrigerator farther apart.

-For a Christmasy vegetable - cook broccoli as usual, then melt half a cup of butter and to it add several pimentoes cut in strips, to pour over It tastes good and matches the holly.

I wish you and your families all the best this Christmas season and much happiness in the New Year.

Marketplace

Credit is something we're all familiar with. In fact, it's so much a part of our everyday lives that we take its availability for granted.

It offers many advantages but alternately it can cause a lot of grief. The difference often lies in the attitude of the borrower.

Problems can be avoided if you are responsible in choosing when to use credit, if you know the available alternatives and if you shop around to get the best terms to suit your personal circumstances.

GUIDELINES FOR WISE USE OF CREDIT

– Do you use credit to make impulse purchases? All credit purchases should be planned in advance.

– If you are tempted to buy something on credit ask yourself, "Is there any other way to buy the item? Could I save money and buy it for cash or make a larger down payment? Could I buy something less expensive? Could I buy it second-hand, rent it or do without?

– Don't use credit to purchase things that will be used up or discarded before you have finished paying for them.

– Set your own credit limits and stick to them – don't just take as much money as you can get from a credit grantor. Decide for yourself how much money you're willing to allot to credit payments each month and what total amount of credit you are willing to carry.

– Don't count on your income growing faster than inflation! Many people buy on credit in the hope that their income will be higher in the future and they'll have no trouble paying the credit bills. That's a dangerous approach. Although incomes are rising, so is the cost of living.

– If you do decide to use credit, shop around for the least expensive credit deal. It will have a large down payment, a low annual interest rate and as large a monthly payment as you can afford resulting in a shorter repayment period.

– Plan the use of credit cards as carefully as other forms of credit. Credit cards may seem "painless" to use but using a card to buy something you really can't afford can be the first step towards serious debt problems.

– If you use credit cards as a convenience, pay the bill by the due date to avoid the interest charges.

– Keep track of what you charge on your credit cards so that you won't be surprised when the bill arrives.

Between the Covers

Several new works of fiction have been placed on the new book table this week. Look for "Eden Burning" by Belva Plain, a suspenseful romance set in the Caribbean, or "The Seventh Child" by Brooks Stanwood, a novel of terror set in New England. Gabrielle Lord's book "Fortress" is a short, but well-written fictional account of a teacher and her class held hostage in an underground cave.

Planning any renovations this winter? The new copy of Reader's Digest Home Improvements Manual may provide you with good ideas and information on skills needed. If it is just your kitchen you are planning to re-do, try "Better Kitchens" by Cecile Shapiro. These two books are new to the library, but there are numerous other ones which may also be helpful in that area.

If winter sports are more to your liking, you may be interested in "Ski the Canadian Way" by David Ritchie and members of the Canadian National Ski Team. Equipment, exercises, ski racing, and other aspects of downhill skiing are covered.

Don't forget that there are many appealing Christmas picture books for reading aloud during the holiday season. There are books of music for singing favourite Christmas songs and carols or recipe books that include that special last minute Christmas treat.

The Library will be closed Christmas Eve through Tuesday, Dec. 27 inclusive, but open Wednesday through Saturday, Dec. 28-31 inclusive.

The staff and volunteers of the Tofield Library wish you all a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

Tourney set

A minor hockey tournament has been scheduled for Tofield during the Christmas holidays.

The four-day tournament will involve midget and bantam teams and will open on Dec. 27th.

Entered in the midget category are Camrose, Sherwood Park, St. Albert, Stoney Plain and Tofield while the bantam classification has entries from Ardrossan, Bashaw, Bruderheim and Tofield.

Passes for the entire tournament are available and daily admissions will also be sold. A door prize will be offered each day.

Organizers of the tournament feel that it will be an entertaining event and are hoping to draw good support from the community.

Palmer—Earling district news items

St. Mary's Community Hall was filled with well wishers Dec. 11 to honor Oscar and Doris Afseth on their silver wedding anniversary. The capable M.C. was Nick Laskoski of Hodlen South. In charge of the guest book was Chris and Stacy Afseth their grandchildren. Bonnie Hellekson and her sister Marilyn Bratrud sang a song composed for the occasion, accompanied by Brian Hellekson on the guitar. Mrs. David (Margaret) Gibson rendered three solos.

At the bridal table, a two-tier's wedding cake in pink and white with pink flowers and a silver candle decorated the head table where Oscar and Doris were seated, with one attendant her bother Richard Ordway of Outlook, Sask. present. At the table were their son David and wife Ivy Afseth of Stony Plain and her sisters June Griner of Invermere, B.C., and Hazel Adams of Winfield, B.C., and Mr. and Mrs. Nick Laskoski.

Their son David Afseth proposed a toast to his parents.

The ladies of St. Mary's served a beautiful buffet lunch to all present.

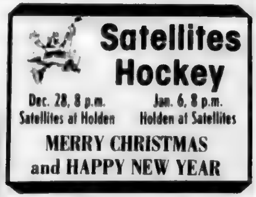
[illegible] of Palmer and Doris Ordway were united in marriage Dec. 11 at Outlook Sask. by Rev. Henry Haugen. They lived on their farm at Palmer until some years ago when they moved to Holden where they have since resided. When farming Oscar was busy with his cat clearing brush land and also had a grain cleaning machine.

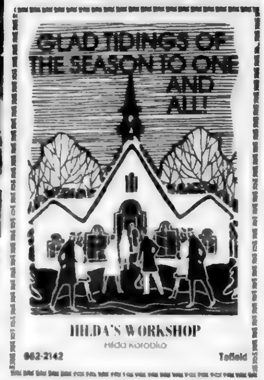
Past week two air fans were installed in the ceiling at Skudesness Church by Bob Beattie and Walter Bratrud. Their wives did the clean-up job afterwards.

Christmas guests at Peter Jensen's, Ryley E will be their son John Jensen and wife, of Hanna, and Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Calhoun of Victoria, B.C.

$25 winner

Brent Stnichuk, son of Brian and Marilyn won the $25 children's draw during Customer Appreciation Days at the [illegible] Branch in Ryley. The cheque was presented to Brent by bank manager Doug Coupgreen. Photo by Kroetsch





CLC teams idle

Most of the athletes attending CLC are now enjoying a Christmas holiday.

Except for the hockey team.

Although action in the ACAC ended for the '83 portion of the schedule on Dec. 11th, members of the Vikings are holding regular workouts.

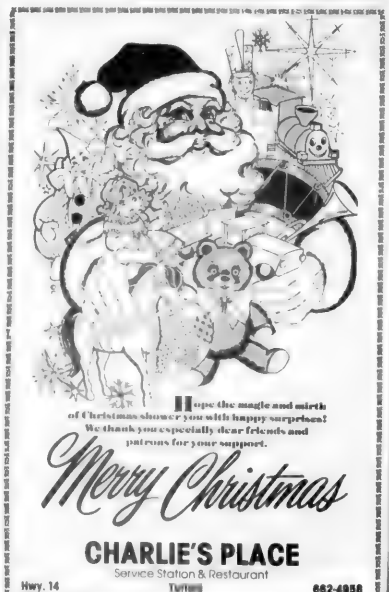
The reason is that the team will be hosting the third Viking Cup international hockey tournament which opens on Dec 30th (see separate story).

Currently holding down second place, Vikings will not resume league play until Jan 7th when they will be at home to NAIT, the team currently in first place, by two points over the Vikes.

The college's two basketball teams will be hoping to show improvement in the '84 portion of the ACAC schedule.

Both Vikettes and Vikings went through the 1983 part of the regular season without a win.

The two teams won't see any league action until Jan. 13th when they will be hosting Red Deer.



Christmas turkey care

by Linda St. Onge
Food and Nutrition Specialist
Alberta Agriculture

Choosing a turkey takes a little planning.

You should allow approximately 0.2 to 0.3 kg (½ to ¾ of a pound) per person. Hence, if you are planning to have 12 people for Christmas dinner, you should choose a bird that weighs from 2.7 to 4 kg. For 20 people you will need a bird that weighs from 4.5 to 6.8 kg. However, if you want to freeze some of the turkey to enjoy later, you will need a larger bird.

All Canada Grade A turkeys should have an excellent appearance. In other words, there should be no large tears in the skin and there should be no pieces missing.

Turkeys are often packed with "optional extras" like butter-basting and a pop-up indicator that shows when the bird is cooked. Remember, though, these "optional extras" add to the cost of the bird, and that you can achieve the same results by basting the turkey while it is cooking and using a meat thermometer.

Utility Grade birds are usually just as tender as a Canada Grade A bird, but they will have a tear in the skin, a crooked breastbone or a piece missing. And they usually cost a few cents per kilogram less than a grade A bird.

If you buy a fresh turkey, you should not buy it more than two or three days before you intend to cook it, and you should keep it in the refrigerator. On the other hand, a frozen turkey can be kept for up to 12 months at a temperature of -18° C. It is best to thaw it in its wrapping in the refrigerator. You should allow a thawing time of 10 hours per kilogram, which means that a 5 kg turkey would take two days to thaw while a 10 kg bird would take four days.

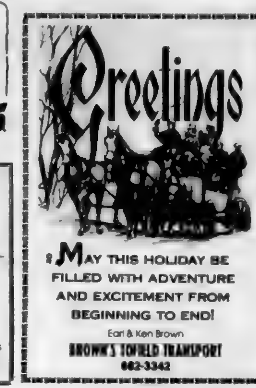
Turkeys and other poultry can be thawed at room temperature if there is no space in the refrigerator, but they should be refrigerated or cooked as soon as they have thawed.

When thawing a turkey at room temperature, allow three hours per kilogram. If you leave it in its plastic wrap and then wrap it in newspaper and put it into a paper bag, it will thaw more evenly, but it will take a little longer.

Before roasting your turkey, brush its surface with melted fat, place it in a shallow roasting pan and cover it loosely with tin foil to prevent it from becoming too brown.

Then, insert a meat thermometer through the stuffing and cook the turkey until the temperature registers about 70°C. This will take about four and a half hours for a 5 kg turkey and about six hours for a 10 kg turkey.

To be on the safe side, remove the stuffing as soon as the bird is cooked, and remove any left over meat from the carcass as soon as the meal is over. Wrap it in tin foil or plastic wrap and put it in the refrigerator or freezer. It will keep for three or four days in the refrigerator and for up to about three months in the freezer.



Next Mercury is on Jan. 4th

The Mercury will not be printed next week.

Following a tradition established many years ago, the staff of the Mercury will have an opportunity to enjoy a Christmas holiday.

This week's publication is the paper's annual Christmas edition and is full of Christmas greetings from advertisers, organisations and individuals.

The next edition of The Mercury will be printed on Jan. 4th. The Mercury's advertising salesman, Marcia Lissack, will make her next rounds on Friday, Dec. 30th with advertisers and correspondents asked to take note of these changes.

$100 winner

Irene Potter of Askern Doncaster, South Yorkshire, England never thought that when she came over to visit her daughter and son-in-law, Ron and Marilyn Wade of Ryley that she should be $100 richer by winning the draw sponsored by the Treasury branch during their Customer Appreciation Days. The cheque was presented by bank manager Doug Capogreco.

Skaters get ice

By Ken Kroetsch

Extra ice time has been scheduled for the Holden Figure and Power Skating because of the late time of years that the ice was put in, said spokesperson Bobbie Schweitzer.

Schweitzer said the extra ice time was scheduled to insure that the 45 registered children would be given 15 lessons over the season.

The extra lessons will be held in January on two of the Saturdays from 8 a.m. to 11 a.m. These dates have been set for Jan. 7 and Jan. 21.

A notice will be sent out to the parents to inform them of the individual class times, said Schweitzer.

These classes are in addition to the regular Thursday classes which run 3:30 p.m. to 8 p.m. every Thursday.

The fees set for this season are Learn to Skate $15; Beginners, Preliminary 1 and 2 Figure Skating, $25. This is for the Alberta Recreational Skating Program.

In the Canadian Skating Program the fees for Power Skating 1 and 2 and Figure Skating are $35.

Schweitzer said there is still room for children in all of the programs.

A Level 3 or Advanced Power Skating class could be taught if enough interest is shown. The plans for the program include qualified instruction from the club with assistance from hockey players from the University of Alberta Bears, the NAIT hockey club and the Camrose Lutheran College Viking Club.

This is the first year the Holden club has offered Canadian Figure Skating.

Schweitzer said the club is confident that Roseanne Yakimchuk of Vegreville will do a good job, with a silver in seniors dance, working on a gold, her 5th year in Figure, a silver in senior free skating and is fully qualified in power skating.

Schweitzer said with these qualifications Yakimchuk will be an asset to the club.

The 2nd Annual [illegible] has been set for Feb. 26 in the afternoon.

Anyone interested in registering their children in either Figure Skating, or Power Skating can contact either Alice Baida evenings at 6[illegible]-7326 or Jan [illegible] at 6[illegible]-2156.

4-H has meet

The Tofield 4-H Beef club held their December meeting and Christmas party on Sunday at Peter Brown's.

Despite the cold weather, all 4-H members enjoyed their afternoon of skating.

Then we held our meeting and Penny Wood led the pledge.

Each member of our club gave a short impromptu speech. Cathy Brown gave a talk on Club Week. Daniel and Doug gave a talk on their exchange trip to Ontario and showed slides. Mrs. Yvonne Brown showed slides of the closing ceremonies at Universiade '83.

After the meeting we had a potluck lunch.

Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year to all 4-H members and their families.

Kingman district notes

Waiting in line

There was a line-up of kids all the way to the back of the Tofield Community Hall during the Lions Santa Day held last Saturday. Most of the children waited impatiently for a chance to sit on Santa's lap and tell him what they wanted for Christmas. Some were there just for the candy.

On December 10th the staff, and students of Kingman school and several parents went by bus to Camrose where they enjoyed bowling and roller skating. The buses were driven by Bob Petersen and Sharon Kreianowski. In the afternoon the children had Christmas parties in their rooms and had snacks and exchanged gifts. The students attending Round Hill school had a potluck dinner and a dance in the afternoon. They also exchanged gifts.

Kingman residents were saddened to hear of the passing of Mrs. Carol Christenson after a lengthly illness. Carol passed away on Wednesday, December 14 in the Bethany Auxiliary Hospital where she had been living since 1978. Carol was born on January 23, 1944. On August 22, 1964 she married Lester Christenson and two children, Charlene and Kevin, were born. Carol lived with her family around Kingman for several years. First north west of Kingman then moving to the farm north east of Kingman before going to Bethany home in Camrose. Carol was a hairdresser and many ladies in the area went to Carol to have their hair done. Carol was predeceased by her mother Mrs. Marie Cunningham in 1981 and her father, Wilbur Cunningham in 1982. She is survived by her husband, Lester, one daughter Charlene, one son, Kevin, three brothers, James, Lenard and Neil Cunningham of Kelsey and one sister, Fran McDonald of Obaton. Funeral services were held at the Salem Lutheran Church in Kingman with Pastor Dennis Wig officiating. Organist was Bernice Neiberg and pallbearers were Jim McDonald, Rupert Haselgruber, Roy Cunningham, Bill Christenson, Wyman Christenson, and Terry Brasco. Interment was held in the Kingman cemetery. A lunch was served in the Lutheran Church.

Cemetery trees are stolen

Vandals are dampening the Christmas spirit for some property owners.

Quite a few rural residents are reporting that people have been invading their properties in search of Christmas trees.

What is creating a problem and causing owners to get upset is the fact that some tree snatchers are removing valuable trees from hedges or from ornamental positions.

Trees are even being taken from cemetery properties.

Two trees were taken from a cemetery located in Kingman and the theft was apparently committed in bold fashion early in the evening.

The only consolation for caretakers of the cemetery was the fact that the tree stealers didn't leave just stumps. They actually climbed the twenty-foot trees and cut off just what they wanted so that what remains could be trimmed and shaped for a fairly decent appearance.

Many property owners have Christmas displays erected on their front lawns or, have put up outside light displays.

No reports of theft in this regard have been received to date and many householders have indicated they are keeping a close watch for thieves and vandals.

Hay Lakes

Laurie Grahn returned home from Cornwall, Ontario on Tuesday evening following a six week familiar observation course. She will depart on December 28th for the North and will spend a two month stint at the weather station in Sachs Harbour, N.W.T.

Bill and Frieda Harke have returned from a trip to Nevada where they spent an enjoyable few days at Las Vegas.

The Hay Lakes history book "Each Step Left Its Mark" is still available and makes a fine Christmas gift. The books are available at the Municipal Library and Arnston's Insurance Office or from members of the history book committee.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Chmielnicki and family of Slave Lake, Mr. and Mrs. Metro Repchuk, Mrs. Josie Trubin, all of Ardmore, were guests at the home of Bernard and Emily Aspell while here to attend the funeral of Maurice Aspell last week.

A very Merry Christmas and good health and happiness in the new year to all readers and the staff of the Camrose Canadian.

No extra time off for Christmas Day

Under normal circumstances, Christmas and Boxing Days are holidays and most people get time off.

But, for a second straight year, it won't mean much extra time off for most people.

Since Christmas falls on Sunday, only Boxing Day will actually be observed as a public holiday.

Last year, both days came on a Saturday and a Sunday with most people not getting any extra days off from work.

Government and bank employees along with workers covered by union contracts will get extra days off in accordance with their agreements which means they won't be working on either Monday or Tuesday.

The same situation exists one week later when only people working for the government or under union contracts will get time off for New Year's Day which also falls on a Sunday.

Family plans first free Christmas

... after leaving Poland

Many Canadians associate Christmas with peace, brotherhood and good will toward men and take the adage for granted, unlike the Durlak family of Round Hill.

For Tadeuse Durlak, his wife Barbara and their sons Darek, 11, and Marcin (Martin), 8, Christmas this year will be one of laughter and tears.

The family recently arrived in Round Hill from their native Poland as political refugees and while the family is joyous for having left Poland, they are also sad for leaving behind relatives who must now endure harassment from the country's police.

Speaking no English, the Durlaks communicated with The Canadian through interpreters Rudy and Pat [illegible] of Round Hill.

Sponsored by Catholic Social Services, the Durlaks arrived at St Anne's Monastery in Round Hill on Oct. 22 after a 15-hour, two-city stop-over flight from Warsaw.

The family bought their way out of the Communist country with their life savings and about $3,000 from the Canadian government.

The Durlaks lived in a southern Polish city of Jastrzebie, about 300 kilometres from Warsaw. Tadeuse worked in the coalmining trade, in the city with a population of about 100,000.

Jastrzebie's main trade is coalmining and about 100 coal mines are operating within the district, Tadeuse said.

[illegible] worked in the coal mine's laundry, cleaning miners' clothes.

Tadeuse, a Solidarity supporter, served a [illegible] jail term as a political prisoner in Poland for signing a petition in an underground movement against the Communist government's choice for the country's leader, he explained. His wife also, signed the petition but, because of the couple's children, was not sentenced to imprisonment.

While in prison, a diet consisting of black bread, water, black coffee and watered-down soup could not sustain Tadeuse, who succumbed to illness and was released to serve the 1½ year sentence reporting to a probation officer on a daily basis.

Tadeuse was also fined three month's wages for signing the petition.

Prisoners were not permitted visitors and received daily lashings with a whip, Tadeuse described. Prisoners were also beaten with clubs, fists and were kicked by the guards.

Tadeuse estimates 15 per cent of Poland's population is constantly incarcerated as policital prisoners. The prisons are constantly full, he said.

After placing a memorial wreath of the monument of a solidarity worker and friend, Tadeuse was fined one month of Barbara's wages.

A day's wages for Tadeuse, who worked in a higher paying job, could purchase 13 loaves of bread.

Canadians, Tadeuse said, take their rights for granted. In Poland nobody takes anything for granted.

Canadians are non-political, orderly people that take it as it comes, while Poles take issues more seriously and get involved in the issues, Tadeuse said.

Poles must be involved in politics or else be over run, he said. Poland has been defeated by the Germans, Soviets and Swedes and every country on every side of Poland has taken Polish land.

The Solidarity oath says a child asks its mother what is Poland — and the mother replies what are your dreams?, he said. Even with all the punishment and torture they won't give in, they'll fight for their rights.

Both Barbara and Tadeuse met Solidarity leader Lech Walesa in 1980 and spoke to him and obtained his advice.

Leaving Poland and travelling to Canada was absolutely not a mistake, Tadeuse said. His first impression of Canada was very good, he said. He felt he didn't have to yell for help.

Canadian citizenship is the family's goal.

Christmas will be very hard for the family, Tadeuse said. They will miss their families and home.

Midnight mass will especially be emotional, Barbara said.

Two Polish families from Edmonton will visit the family during Christmas.

The couple chose to emigrate to Canada because they understood Canada to be a peaceful country and they are afraid of countries at war, the [illegible] interpreted.

The Durlaks do not have any relatives in Canada, but have some distant relatives in the United States, who they recently communicated with.

Darek and Marcin attend Round Hill School and travel to Hay Lakes daily to attend classes in English instruction from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Their parents also attend English classes, arranged by the County of Camrose Board of Education, with their sons.

The parishes of St. Francis Xavier Church in Camrose, St Peter and Paul Church in Hay Lakes, St. Thomas Church in Duhamel and St Stanislaus Church in Round Hill, are working as one parish sponsoring the family.

Tadeuse and Barbara have yet to find jobs in the area and expressed they are willing to be employed in any capacity.

The Durlaks are looking forward to learning English, getting jobs and paying back favors to the sponsoring parishes Tadeuse said.

Like many Canadians, the Durlaks look forward to the possibility of owning their own home.

The Durlaks find shopping here overwhelming. It's more than the eyes can take, Tadeuse expressed. In Poland all food is bought with coupons and a maximum of 2½ kilograms of meat a month per person is allowed.

The family thanks their sponsoring parishes and especially the community of Round Hill for treating them like family, Tadeuse expressed.

Limousin convention to be held in Camrose

The Camrose Agricultural Society and the Norsemen Motor Inn will jointly sponsor the Alberta Limousin Association annual show, sale and convention, to be held in Camrose on the 20 and 21 January, 1984.

It is hoped that the Alberta Limousin Association will consider Camrose as a permanent venue for their annual show and convention.

The society says it is determined to encourage events and activities which bring visitors to stay in the city, and by doing so help to stimulate additional business for the community. The show and sale will take place at the Camrose Agricentre on the 20th January, followed by the convention at the Norsemen Motor Inn on the 21st January. Visiting exhibitors and breeders are expected to stay in Camrose from the 19th until the 22nd January.

Mazankowski to speak at Ag. Society meet

Don Mazankowski, P.C.M.P., is to visit Camrose on 4 January.

The meeting will be held in the evening at 7:00 p.m. in the Memorial Room of the Royal Canadian Legion. Supper will be at 7:30 p.m. after which Mr. Mazankowski will speak. The meeting has been organized by the Camrose Agricultural Society. A society spokesman said that they hoped that this would be the first of a series of supper meetings with interesting and prominent speakers of interest to a broad section of the community, not just those with a direct involvement in farming.

Tickets at $25 per couple or $15 individually are obtainable from the Society's offices, or can be booked by telephoning 672-3640. Early booking is advised.

Sunday was cold!

A fifty year record was broken on Sunday.

It was cold!

The mercury dipped to thirty-seven degrees below zero, to mark the coldest Dec. 18 on record since records were first established for the area.

On Dec. 18, 1933, the mercury dropped to thirty-three degrees below zero which means that Sunday's mark was four degrees colder than the former record.

While it was cold prior to Sunday, the overnight lows did not approach the record-breaking level.

With the cold wave expected to last about one more week before there's a chance of it breaking, there's a possibility that four other records could go before the end of the month; as those lows are all below the minus forty mark.

The coldest day on record for the month took place on Dec. 17, 1924 when the mercury plunged to forty-nine degrees below zero.

The coolest winter days ever on record were on Jan. 15 and 16 in 1936 when an even fifty degrees below zero was endured.

Day care folds

By Ken Kroetsch

The Tofield Child Development Society has folded because of lack of interest on the part of community members to complete vital surveys for Home Day Care, said society president May Korobko.

"For all intents and purposes we're folded," said Korobko.

Korobko said the surveys, vital in getting government assistance, were not returned, showing people were indifferent to the survey and the program.

The society will remain in an inactive condition, said Korobko. She said she didn't know if the society would be dropped altogether, or not.

She said if they leave it in an inactive position then ten years down the road, or so, then interest is shown then it can be reactivated.

Korobko said they were pleased with the support they did get, but it wasn't enough to proceed with the Home Day Care.

The money that has been collected for the Day Care Program will be donated to the Eastern Star. The exact amount was not known because expenses incurred by the society will have to be taken from this amount.

The Child Development Society was formed two years ago with the goal to provide some kind of day care service in the community.

A formal day care was looked at, but said Korobko, there wasn't a suitable building available in the community.

With advice from their consultant, the society pursued another avenue open to them, the Home Day Care, where private homes would be used. There would have been government assistance for this program if enough interest had been shown.

The decision to fold the society came last week after the matter was discussed by the executive of the society.

Here's hoping you have all the tools of a bright shiny season at hand — health happiness and much love!

Holden won't join landfill

By Ken Kroetsch

The Village of Holden have decided not to pass a by-law to enter into the Regional Landfill at this time until things are more definite.

The decision came after councillor Joe Fornal and Dennis Danilak gave a report on the Regional Landfill meeting held last week.

They reported that only Ryley had passed by-laws and the decision of the committee was to meet and further investigate the different types of systems before proceeding with a Regional Landfill in the County of Beaver.

"I don't see any point of passing a by-law until we have further information and things are more definite," said Fornal.

In related business council ratified the appointment of Joe Fornal to the Regional Landfill committee and Dennis Danilak as his alternate.

In other business Mayor Kevin Stambaugh reported that the Holden Lodge was slowly gaining residents. He said the lodge now has 24 permanent residents and including the Health Unit there are 28 spaces being rented out at the present time.

Stambaugh said they are continuing to work on increased residency.

He reported that the lodge board plans to meet with Kent Hendricks to discuss grants that might be available for the lodge for recreation.

The Elks plan to donate a pool table to the lodge and there is a possibility that a piano might be obtained, he reported.

Stambaugh also reported that the deficit of the lodge was only discussed briefly.

Councillor Dorothy Emerson reported that the Beaver Regional Arts Centre Board is unsure of who the members of the board are.

"Nobody really knows they're on it," said Emerson.

Emerson said the county had requested the board be formed and it should be their responsibility to see that it is properly organized.

She reported that the board had met Monday evening, but that councillors from the county were not in attendance. She said the village knew what is going on at the Arts Centre, but the county didn't.

She said that Marg Hallet was named as president of the board, only Hallet was unaware that she was not having been informed.

Emerson question why the county had requested the board be established if they were not interested in it.

She said the board would be meeting on Jan. 9 to do a projection of the future of the Regional Arts Centre.

In her recreation report Emerson reported that two additional board members were needed to fill recently vacated positions on the board. She said an advertisement was to have been placed in the paper asking for applications to fill these two positions, but that it obviously hadn't been done yet by the recreation board.

Administrator Christine McKay made a request to council that additional hours of help be given to her to get ready for the auditors. She also requested that council look at their present staff restraints and give her more days in a month to use outside help.

She said that the hours of extra help had been cut by council from eight days a month to two days.

She said she had given it a one year trial, but found the work load too much. She said she feels that she is always working towards a deadline and that presently its not working out.

"We're not as prepared in a lot of things as we should be," s h said.

Council approved 10 extra working days to hire extra help to prepare for the auditors, but tabled McKay's other request for additional help each month to a January meeting.

A holiday policy has been set by council for village employees.

Under the new policy employees will have to take their holidays in the same year they are allocated and will have to give a one month notice of when their holidays will commence.

Councillor Ken Sharpe raised concerns over the office being closed when the administrator took her holidays. He said that it was not very good business to have the office closed.

Mayor Stambaugh said this was a decision of council and would be looked at preceding holidays next year.

Three delinquent accounts, totalling just over $300, were cancelled by council. The accounts were cancelled after repeated efforts to collect them. Some of the unpaid accounts the Village had been unable to contact. All of the unpaid accounts were for water and sewer charges.

Mark Lawrence of the Department of Municipal Affairs Planning Branch was out from Edmonton to inform council that he would be their new representative in any matters they needed concerning planning

Reps to meet on landfill

By Ken Kroetsch

Representatives from the four communities and the representative from the county will meet January 4 to further investigate other alternatives before proceeding with the Regional Sanitary Landfill in the County of Beaver.

The representatives from Tofield, Ryley, Holden, Viking and the County of Beaver will tour other regional systems and review other alternatives to take back to their respective councils for input.

The report is to be done by January 19 and after that a decision will be made as to where the committee will go from there.

This decision came after these representatives met last week to discuss the future direction of the committee.

The meeting was opened by County of Beaver Reeve, John Warner who asked for nominations for chairman of committee.

Joe Fornal of Holden and Bob Cross of Ryley were nominated for the position. In a secret ballot Bob Cross was named as chairman for the group.

The first order of business called for by the chairman was how many of the municipalities has passed by-laws to establish the regional landfill.

Chairman Cross said the Village of Ryley had passed this by-law at the last meeting of the village council.

The representative for Tofield was the only other member at the meeting to indicate that their council had passed a by-law.

The Village of Holden indicated that they had agreed in principal, but hadn't passed a by-law. The county representative, Donald Ronaghan, said the County of Beaver council had defeated such a by-law, but had agreed in principal.

The Town of Viking representative, Jennie Bird, said the town council were to render a decision one way or the other in the near future.

Cross said because the by-laws hadn't been passed there wasn't the authority to go ahead with establishment of the Regional Sanitary Landfill.

"I'm sort of at a loss where to go from here," he said.

Tofield representative Ed Regehr said that with the survey the government had done and on the advice of the health representatives that the project should be pursued.

"We've gone this far, we should pursue it from there," said Regehr.

After the minutes were read from the last meeting of this group, Cross said since the councils involved had appointed delegates and since some of these councils had reservations, their concerns should be brought forward and dealth with.

Viking representative Jennie Bird said their biggest concern was the cost. She said based on the 18 per capita cost that it would raise taxes by 5 or 6 mills.

She said that also the Town of Viking council felt that they could upgrade their facilities for less money. Bird said they were presently investigating into the cost of upgrading their facilities.

She said with the site that the town had now that they had enough room for 10 to 15 years before another site would be needed.

She also said the Town of Viking was concerned that the cost of the equipment for the regional landfill wouldn't be covered by the government. She said at the last Alberta Urban Municipalities Association (AUMA) conference it was said these costs wouldn't be covered in any new agreements.

Gene Liskiw, representative from the Department of Environment, said this referred to new projects and would in all likelihood be phased in as new projects were started. He said it wouldn't affect equipment costs for projects that have already began.

County of Beaver alternative representative Don Ronaghan, said the county was concerned with the total cost of the system that is being proposed. Ronaghan said the county would like to look into other possibilities, including upgrading of present facilities, before proceeding.

Regehr pointed out that come spring that the Tofield site would be full and although arrangements had been made to use the Ryley site, this was a temporary arrangement.

"I hope we don't have to make a hasty decision for the sake of expediency," said Ronaghan.

Regehr said the Town of Tofield isn't in that big of a rush, but that the County of Beaver should be worrying about where the county people in the west and were going to take their garbage after the Tofield dump is full. At the present time the county users in the west and are using the Tofield dump.

Concerns were brought up that the option to buy the land in the Ryley area would expire on December 31 of this year. The Department of Environment representative Gene Liskiw said the department hoped to either renew the agreement for this land, or hoped to get an extension of the present agreement. He said that there was some concern that when the agreement was renewed that the cost of the land could change.

Garth Bancroft, secretary-treasurer, for the county, said the county has found out there are numerous alternatives to pursue, such as contracting the work out, different types of sites and different ways to dispose of garbage.

Kevin McLeod, of the Department of Health was asked if he had the cost of upgrading the present facilities. He said it wasn't his job to do costs, but if the various municipalities were interested then he would give each one a copy of the regulations. He said these regulations would indicate when equipment and upgrading would be necessary to meet health regulations.

Tofield administrator Neil Brodie, said that in a copy of a newspaper article he had that the county Reeve had indicated other concerns that hadn't been expressed by the committee.

Reeve Warner said he was not prepared to get into an argument by way of the newspaper.

Chairman Cross said he agreed that there couldn't be a debate over what is in the newspaper.

Later in the meeting, however, Reeve Warner stood and said the concerns in the article weren't just his personal concerns, but were the concerns of other council members as well. He said he felt it wasn't his place to bring them forward to the meeting, but said that the County representative, Reuben Hoveland would have brought them forth if he had been at the meeting.

The meeting as adjourned after committee said they would be meeting January 4 to gather information for a report to be completed by January 19 of next year.

Present at the meeting were Gene Leskiw, from the Department of Environment, Dave King representing Reid and Crowther and Partners Ltd., Ed Regehr and Hans Christensen and Neil Brodie representing the Town of Tofield, Bob Cross representing the Village of Ryley, Joe Fornal and Dennis Danilak representing the Village of Holden, Jennie Bird and Brian Nordstrom representing the Town of Viking and Don Ronaghan, John Warner, Victor Romaniuk and Gordon Maxwell for the County of Beaver.

Molly Cunningham and Kevn McLeod and two other representatives attended the meeting from the Health Department.

Garth Bancroft was in attendance as well as Victor Intace who served as secretary for the proceedings.

District news from Ryley

By Lena Rell

Doris Ogrodnick, Audrey Knudslien and son Rodney just arrived back home on Dec 16th, after spending a holiday in Hawaii.

They viewed the Memorial on Pearl Harbor.

The also saw the Marathon.

Bertha (Lerle) Comer's relative, Wally was a visitor with Joe and Doris Ogrodnick on Sunday and they enjoyed looking up the Lerle history in "Beaver Tales Book" of Ryley and area.

Lena Sandstrom and Laura Podruzny of Camrose visited with Elmer Anderson in Tofield Hospital last week.

Margaret Helgeland is a patient in the University Hospital.

Hilda Jensen spent a few days in Daysland Hospital and is home and feeling much better.

Earl Hjelter of Calgary, formerly of Ryley will be scouting the features of the Cayman Islands (Carribbean) during the festive season.

The "Customer Appreciation Day" was truly enjoyed by all. Cookies, squares, cake and coffee was served to the customers and each one received a calendar and pen from the Treasury Branch.

Tessie Kolodychuk is home from the Tofield Hospital, also Terry Sutton.

Peter R. Kodychuks relative passed away on Dec. 12th at 79 years. Funeral was in Ryley Catholic Church and interment in Ryley cemetery.

Saturday was the Ryley High School Homecoming games in the Ryley School. Alumni from the past five years were invited to attend. Volleyball and basketball games were of interest to all.

Guests with Kathleen Anderson on Saturday were Bob and Edna Hammer.

Lawrence and Ann Anderson of Thorsby and their children were visitors at home on Sunday and also visited Lawrence's dad, Elmer in hospital.

Marie Briz and Anna Kongsrud delivered a Christmas box of cookies to Kathleen Anderson from the United Church.

To all our customers and friends
a MERRY CHRISTMAS and a HAPPY NEW YEAR

Do you hear the cheerful greetings,
"Merry Christmas" "Same to you"?
Makes you happy to just hear them,
Makes you gay, and younger too.

There's joyful undercurrent
Soft and warm as summer breeze,
Sweeping out to friend and stranger,
Like the glow on Christmas trees

What then brings this starry radiance,
Felt throughout all Christendom?
How is it, our world turns mellow
With a busy, kindly hum?

Is it Christmas trees and candles,
Is it Santa and the treats,
Shopping, gifts and special baking,
Spicy smells, good things to eat?

Is it not this kindly feeling
Comes from "Goodwill to all men",
Like an Echo from the Angels,
Happy people, greetings send?

Let us now join, Host of Angels,
Praise our God and glory give,
For the wondrous gift from heaven,
Now and evermore shall live.

Toros hold 2nd place

Tofield Toros are still in sole possession of second place in the County Senior Hockey [illegible]

Toros won their only contest of the past week to remain five points behind the league leaders from Camrose.

The top two teams in the league will tangle in Tofield on Friday night and Toros next game won't be until Jan. 3rd when they go to Rosalind.

Tofield blasted Kingman 13-2 in Tofield on Monday [illegible]

Jenkinson packed up four goals for the Toros while Garner added a hat-trick and singles were netted by Doepel, Gilbert, Friesen, T. Donnan, Horricks and Budinski.

In last week's paper it was reported that Olson was the star with outstanding netminding when a short-handed Tofield squad edged Rosalind.

That wasn't the case as this report was inaccurate. It was Doug Christopher who guarded the twines for the Toros in [illegible]

Olson is the top goaltender in the league with a low 2.83 goals against average.

Loshack and Garner of the Toros are tied for seventh place in the individual scoring [illegible]

Calls may set record

Albertans are expected to place over 415,000 long [illegible] Day this year, equalling last year's record-breaking total.

Traditionally, December 26, is one of the busiest long distance calling days — second only to Mother's Day.

To handle the large volume of calls, 437 AGT operators throughout the province, are [illegible] Day.

Nationally, Telecom Canada estimates Canadians will make more than six million long distance calls on Christmas Day.

On Christmas Day and New Year's Day, direct-dialled [illegible] between 8 a.m. and midnight, will receive the usual 50% reduced Sunday rate. Direct-dialled calls placed throughout Canada and the United States, during the same time, will be eligible for discounts up to 35%.

On Boxing Day and January 2, AGT, in conjunction with Telecom Canada, is offering rate reductions up to 35% for direct-dialled calls made between 8 a.m. and midnight, throughout Canada and the United States.

Normal rates will apply to direct-dial overseas calls.

Some pre-planning can make Christmas and New Year's calling much easier.

Call early — Christmas Eve, Christmas Day, and New Year's Day are the heaviest calling periods and some calls may not go through. A surprise call on another day may be processed faster.

A friend of mine named Paul received a new automobile from his brother as a Christmas present. On Christmas Eve, when Paul came out of his office a street urchin was walking around the shiny new car, admiring it. "Is this your car, Mister?" he asked.

Paul nodded, "My brother gave it to me for Christmas." The boy was astounded. "You mean your brother gave it to you and it didn't cost you nothing? Boy I wish ..." he hesitated.

Ryley joins landfill

By Ken Kroetsch

The Village of Ryley passed a by-law to enter into the Regional Landfill at their regular meeting last week.

By-law 9 - 1983 passed by the Ryley council makes this the second by-law passed in the County of Beaver to enter into such an agreement. The only other municipality to have passed a by-law of this nature has been the Town of Tofield. The County of Beaver and Holden have agreed in principal to the proposal, but have not passed by-laws. The Town of Viking have yet to render a decision either way

Mayor Bob Cross was appointed as the village representative for the Regional Sanitary Landfill Committee with Larry Andrukow as his alternate.

In other business it was moved that the following names be accepted for a one year term on the Ryley Fire Department: Ken Reid as Fire Chief, Jack Kosack as assistant Fire Chief, Doris Lehman as secretary, Terry Magneson as training officer and Bernie Kope, Mark Phillips and Delbert Lehman as captains.

Ryley Lions President, Andy Nimchuk, reported to council that the club had traded the old piano from the Community Hall in on a new one. The cost of the new piano was $2,500.

Mark Lawrence, from Alberta Municipal Affairs Planning Branch was out to see council and to inform them of the different services available to the village by the planning department. Lawrence said that he would like to attend the village meetings to learn more about the municipality

In other council business, councillor Larry Andrukow informed council that it would cost $15,000 for the installation of a computer system input between the Village of Ryley office and the County of Beaver office.

This was for information only and is not to be pursued at the present time.

It was moved that a special meeting of council will take place on December 29.

The information in the above report was obtained from the unapproved minutes of the Village of Ryley council meeting, and from the village secretary.

Ministik and district news

By Catherine Reddick

Your Ministik correspondent wishes to extend Christmas greetings to all The Mercury Staff, fellow correspondents, neighbors and friends near and far. Special greetings go to friends in Victoria and Vancouver in B.C. and in Edmonton, Calgary, Fort Macleod, Whitecourt and all who receive The Mercury in these and other towns. May you all have a Joyous Christmas with family and friends and may the New Year be a good one for all, far and near.

The December meeting of the Community League was held in the hall on Monday evening. It was decided to not hold any social events in the hall until spring, when towards the end of April there will be a community auction. This is being taken care of by John Vandermier.

The New Year's Eve dance will be the last function of the 1983 season and Joyce Bowerman would be glad to have a call before December 27 for reservations for tickets. Supper will be served and noise makers supplied.

Children at Ministik school in grades from one to six were practicing daily for their annual Christmas concert which was held in the community hall this afternoon.

On the evening of Dec. 22nd, the Christmas Cantata by a choir from Tofield will take place in the hall at 7:30 p.m. Santa will be there to pass out treats to all the children. Lunch will be served by the ladies. This is being sponsored by the Ministik Ladies Club.

Homecoming held

By Ken Kroetsch

Approximately 50 former students and 30 present students met last Saturday for the 17th annual Homecoming at the Ryley School

There were approximately 140 invitation that were sent out to former students who had attended at Ryley School over the past five years, said High School Students' Union President Lonnie Lauber.

Lauber said invitations were only sent to those students who had attended within the last five years because of the difficulty in finding the present addresses of the former students.

"Actually there was a pretty good turnout," said Lauber. He said there might have been a few that didn't come because of the cold weather, or because it was too close to Christmas, but that in contrast to the turnout of previous years it had been successful

There were displays set up for the alumni to look at and reminisce about their school days at Ryley High. On display were pictures of past classes, year books of Ryley High and uniforms from the past several years to show how things had changed over the years.

The biggest part of the Homecoming was the volleyball and basketball challenge between the present students and the former students.

In Volleyball the present teams showed that practice is an asset, beating the alumni soundly.

In basketball the tables were turned on the present girls' team with their defeat, 42-41 by the Alumni team. The game was close, with the Alumni scoring the winning basket in the last few seconds of the game

In the boys' basketball game the present students showed their superior skills, defeating the Alumni 39-34

With the end of the basketball games the successful day came to an end

Holden and district news

Mrs. G.H. Taylor

On December 11th, St. Mary's hall south of Holden was filled to capacity with neighbors and friends to congratulate Oscar and Doris Afseth on their 25th wedding anniversary. Nick Laskoski was the M.C., keeping the event lively and smooth throughout the afternoon. Bonnie Helleckson and her sister, Marilyn Bratrud accompanied by Brian Helleckson, sang a very appropriate song for the occasion and later it was followed by Mrs Margaret Gibson with three songs. Lunch was served to all present. David Afseth, son of Oscar and Doris, and his wife, Ivy arranged the affair.

Mr. and Mrs. Afseth who farmed for many years south of Holden, retired from farming, moving into Holden where Oscar operated the Feed Mill for several years until selling it. The mill was on the lot where Annie and Pete Milimaka built their new home.

Mrs Melvin Carlson and son Eric who left for Penticton on December 8th to visit with Edith's father Mr Lamb who had been a hospital patient for some days in Penticton, B C. Mr Lamb was home from hospital and beginning to feel better. Edith and Eric returned home last Wednesday afternoon.

Mr and Mrs. Earl Hardy left last Thursday for Calgary where they were visiting with their daughter and family, Sharon and Ralph Mason Jr. and grandchildren, for a few days before the Christmas holiday.

Mrs Lena Ewasiuk and Mrs Tillie Pooke have been patients for several days in Tofield hospital.

Mrs Rosie Raeder, a former long-time resident of Holden who has been residing at the Salem Nursing home in Leduc for the past few years, passed away on December 9th at the age of 85 years. She was predeceased by her husband, Rudolf in 1972 and leaves to mourn five cousins, one niece and one nephew and many friends. The funeral service was held on Saturday from the Central Baptist Church in Ed[illegible] officiating and interment was in the Beachmount cemetery.

Mrs. Raeder and her late husband farmed for many years in the Holden district and then retired from farming to make their home in Holden. A few years after the death of Mr. Raeder, Mrs. Raeder moved to Edmonton and resided in a senior citizens lodge until suffering a stroke and moved to the nursing home in Leduc. While in Holden, Mrs. Raeder was a member of the Friendship and Pioneer [illegible].

Holden Lodge Order of the Royal Purple held their regular meeting on December 13th with H.R.1 Mary [illegible].

A memorial service was held after Lodge opened in memory of departed members of the Lodge.

Regular business was attended to and correspondence read and bills passed for payment.

Lady Annie Milimaka gave a report on the Christmas raffle, proceeds after expenses will be given to the Elks Purple Cross Fund.

Lady Kathleen Hurum reported on the Christmas Chamber of Commerce supper. H.R.1. Semotiuk reported on the sale of O.O.R.P. [illegible] that the Lodge would visit the Senior Citizens Lodge on December 29th and a donation to the upcoming Telerama would be made. At the conclusion of the meeting, lunch was [illegible] Anne Milimaka and Anne Rurka serving a selection of [illegible].

The Holden Friendship group held their monthly meeting on December 14th a week earlier from the usual date, owing to it being too near the Christmas holiday, at the home of Mrs. Kate Nichols.

The minutes of the previous meeting held at the home of Mrs. Carlson were read.

The financial report was give by Mrs Taylor.

The collection from the meeting is to be sent to the Bible Society.

Ladies were reminded to save their used postage stamps which are also sent to the Bible Society.

The next meeting will be held on January 18th at the [illegible].

At the conclusion of the meeting, lunch brought by members and an hour of fellowship was enjoyed.

Cards were signed by the ladies to send to former members, Mrs. Beth Campbell and Miss June Clark.

At this holy time of the year I wish to all readers, friends near and far and neighbors this wish,

May the meaning of Christmas be deeper-
Its hopes brighter
And its faith stronger-
As it comes to you this year.
And to the staff at The Mercury and The Canadian, a happy safe holiday

Medically Speaking

by Dr Bob Young

British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher's recent vision problem was due to a detached retina, a relatively common condition. The retina is comparable to the film in a camera, and for this discussion may be considered to consist of two layers. The inner layer (closest to the centre of the eye) is composed of a web of nerve fibers and light-sensitive nerve endings. Behind it is a pigmented layer.

Sometimes the layer of nerve tissue separates, much like peeling the membrane from the inside of an eggshell. A tear may occur in the film of nerve tissue. Fluid from the posterior chamber of the eye enters the rent and strips the two layers of the retina apart.

A second form of detachment occurs when the layer of nerve tissue is pulled toward the centre of the eye. The layer remains intact, but is pulled inwards.

The symptoms are generally progressive and there is no pain. Initial "floaters", flashes of light, and blurring are followed by a curtain ef- [illegible] The extent of vision loss is related to the location of the detachment and may be severe if the central part of the retina is affected.

A retinal detachment is an emergency as progression of the defect is the rule. Every effort must be made to treat [illegible] part of the retina is stripped [illegible]

If there is a tear in the retina it may be sealed using diathermy (deep heat) or extreme cold. The shape of the eye may be changed, pushing the eyeball back to the retina. Welding the retina back to its proper location can be done using light energy in the form [illegible]

When there is no tear, treatment depends upon which of a number of diseases is causing the problem. Open eye surgery may be required in some cases, while others may respond to cortisone, X-ray therapy, or the laser.

If the diagnosis is made promptly and skilled personnel with the proper equipment are available, vision loss can be kept to a minimum. Sometimes the underlying disease, if present, makes the longer term outlook (no pun intended!) less rosy.

Pitch-in and Keep Canada Beautiful

Round Hill

by Evelyn Law

The Round Hill Women's Institute had their Christmas meeting at the home of Mrs Edith Blades with 17 members present and two guests, Mrs Linda Chrystian and Margaret Bowthorpe. Mrs Linda Chrystian joined the W.I. that evening. It was a very special evening for Mrs. Emma Bowthorpe as she received her life membership pin as Emma has been a W.I. member for 35 years. The last 6 years she has had perfect attendance. Emma also received a certificate for life membership. Emma has been very active in the W. I. and has held many posts, as president, vice president, secretary, treasurer, handicraft, Canadian Industries, agriculture, International Affairs and Emma has been very active in these in many terms during 35 years. Eileen Staal is our new secretary starting in January where she took over from Doreen Haugen whose term was up. Roll call was answered by bringing canned goods for the Merry Christmas Fund and gifts for secret sisters. There were four ladies with perfect attendance for the year '83. Mrs. Lauralee Blades, Mrs Emma Bowthorpe, Jeanne Campbell and Lucy Owen. The hostess gift was won by Jeanne Campbell. And the quilt was raffled that evening and was won by Evelyn Law with Linda Chrystian, our new member making the draw. A very special Christmas lunch was ready and all helped themselves to hot rolls, salads, and other dainties and [illegible] very delicious. There was also a mamma Santa Claus who passed out the gifts. The next meeting will be at the home of Doris Powell's January 3rd.

Evelyn Law will be leaving by bus for Burns Lake B.C., on Monday, Dec. 19, to spend Christmas with her daughter and son-in-law, Joe and Loretta Petryshen and family and her two sons Bob and Marion Law and family and Garry Law.

BARBARA BENNETT

Last week we printed Part I of an article from the November 28 issue of Agri-News. The following is Part II which also deals with income tax strategies and year-end planning.

Year-End Planning to reduce the farm tax bite (Part II)

Farmers who would like to increase their taxable income so that they can make full use of their personal exemptions (if they cannot be claimed each year they are lost until a five-year block average is filed) and their Canada [illegible] Plan contributions or who would [illegible] claim [illegible] business losses should consider:

-Selling inventory items, postponing paying expenses and deducting less than the maximum allowable capital cost allowance.

-Using the livestock inventory provision to artificially increase their income. A farmer who has livestock can add to his current year's income any amount up to the fair market value of the livestock. However, he must deduct the amount that he adds in one year from his income in the following year. (See "Tax and the Livestock Inventory Provision" - FS 837-0, available from our office)

-Withdrawing all or part of their registered retirement savings plan before the end of the year. A withholding tax will have to be paid when the withdrawal takes place, but it will be credited to the income tax that is payable in that year.

-Cashing grain tickets, taking cash advances or selling assets that trigger capital gains. These strategies will bring more income into the present tax year and will facilitate a reduction of debts and interest costs without incurring a corresponding tax liability.

-Using the block averaging provision. It may result in a refund of taxes that were paid in one or more of the past five or six years. However, the quirk in the rules that allowed an investment tax credit to be claimed twice when using the block average provision appears to be in jeopardy if the April 1983 budget is passed.

-Claiming the maximum capital cost allowance deduction in conjunction with the livestock inventory provision. By claiming the maximum capital cost allowance deduction, and by artificially adding income through the livestock inventory provision, a livestock producer can generate a larger deductible expense in a subsequent high income year.

-Becoming informed on the proposed amendments that are contained in the April 1983 budget. One of these would allow losses incurred in 1983 to be carried back three years and forward 10 years as opposed to back one year and forward five years. In addition to extending the time limits on losses, the amendment drastically changes the procedure involved in claiming losses. In the past, a taxpayer could not use his personal exemptions or the interest dividend deduction to reduce his taxable income until he had used up all his losses. Under the proposed amendment he would be allowed to use these exemptions and the tax-free portion of his income to reduce his taxable income before he had to apply any losses against it. This would mean that in some cases a taxpayer [illegible] carry [illegible] of his losses.

The use of a good set of records and a competent accountant are extremely beneficial when it comes to determining which tax strategies are best suited to an individual farm business.

From all of us here at the District Extension Office of Alberta Agriculture, we would like to wish you and your family a very Merry Christmas and a happy and prosperous New Year!

Five Ways to Aid Development at Christmas

by Paul Fieldhouse

1. Make a cheque out to your favorite Development agency.

If you give money regularly, you will know how much every dollar counts in aiding the valuable work of Development agencies around the world. If not, you might be surprised how much can be accomplished through the simple gift of money. $20 can pay for a child in a school nutrition programme in Brazil for one year. $60 can buy a sewing machine for a tailors co-op in Gujarat.

How much do you give? The more the better! — But these [illegible]

How much do you spend on one weeks groceries? Match that figure with a donation to charity.

The United Nations set a goal of 0.7% of your personal income. (If you earn $20,000/year this means only $140 in donations — and it is tax-deductible.)

2. Buy Christmas cards from Unicef, Oxfam, or Cuso.

You're probably going to buy cards anyway — so why not let your money go to help Overseas projects instead of lining the pockets of the big card manufacturers. Unicef cards are available from the One World Institute and in Safeway. Addresses for ordering from Cuso and Oxfam are given below — but hurry!

3. Give a monthly pledge for Development work, as a gift.

Stuck for a gift? Want to show someone how much you care? Make a pledge out in their name and send it to a Development agency. You can pledge as little or as much as you wish; often, this method of giving helps your own budgetting. Also, donors will receive regular newsletters and updates from the recipients of their funds — a great way to keep in touch with what's happening in Development.

4. Buy a subscription to a Development magazine.

There are a number of excellent publications on the market, dealing with issues of World Development. Often, these magazines report on issues which are not covered in the national press. In-depth analysis and alternative perspectives on the news are valuable features to look for. For your own information and education, or as a gift, a subscription makes a great Christmas gift. There are several Development magazines at the One World Institute library if you want to browse to see what is available. Some suggestions are:

"South"

"New Internationalist".

5. Take out a membership in Camrose One World Institute.

Anyone can join, and support the work of this Development centre, located right here in Camrose. COWI has programs in Eco-Development as well as sponsoring projects Overseas. It offers to members, a regular newsletter, as well as discounts on such things as Coffee and Tea, and incredibly cheap photocopying facilities. Call in at the Institute (4802 - 49 Avenue) and talk to the friendly staff; or pick up a leaflet which tells you more about the Institute. Memberships cost: $5 for Seniors, $10 for individuals, $15 for families. You could also become a life member for $500 — payable as one sum or in monthly installments.

This Christmas think what you could do for Development and what Development could do for you.

Here are some useful addresses:

The Cavell Rebekah Lodge at Ryley entertained Sr. Citizens of Ryley and district for a turkey supper and get-together Dec. 7th at the community hall. When about 130 were present, the ladies rendered a short play followed by a sing-along of carols. The winner of the ladies Christmas stocking was won by Julia Anderson and the men's stocking by Peter Ness.

Marlis White daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob White has completed her second year in parts at NAIT Edmonton.

Terry and Adell Gunderson are weekended at Taber, to attended the wedding of Gerry Pilger and Cheryl Blais. The Y. Fadum's will also be guests at above wedding.

WILD OATS STILL A PROBLEM

Wild oats remain one of the most serious weed threats to prairie crops despite the best efforts of western farmers to end the problem with herbicides and agricultural practices.

Farmers are reminded by Agriculture Canada to plant seed completely free of wild oats and to encourage rapid germination by planting their crops at shallow depths.

Hay Lakes district news

by Mrs. A. Arneson

The Hay Lakes School Gymnasium was well filled for the annual school Christmas program, which was held on Dec 13.

Following the singing of O Canada, approximately one hundred students from grades one, two, three and four, under the direction of resource teacher Rita Wagner, performed a colorful musical, "The Little Bell That Wouldn't Stop Ringing."

Members of the Kindergarten class participated in the program with the singing of "Away in the Manger". A number of selections with singing and recorders were performed by the various grades from one to five. Two selections were sung by the Grade five and six choir. A piano solo was played by Michelle Roper.

Several dances were performed and included, "Mickey" by Tina Ratzmer and Angela Galenza; a Ukrainian dance by Barbara Sych; a jazz routine by Sharlene Rolston; a tap routine by Annette and Sheila Eckert.

Also performing were the Hay Lakes Cheerleaders in "Manhunt", and the Grade six and seven class in a skipping demonstration.

Emcee's for the program were students Arlene Early and Glen Webster with Grade six teacher, Ron Baier, assisting with the conclusion.

During the program greetings were given by Dale Reinke on behalf of the Hay Lakes Home and School Association. County Councillor, Al Bishop, brought greetings on behalf of the County of Camrose. At the conclusion of the program, Village School Trustee, Maureen Yakimchuk, gave season's greetings on behalf of the County of Camrose Board of Education and vice-principal Alex Salahub gave greetings on behalf of the school staff.

The Kindergarten Christmas party was held on Monday evening in the Hay Lakes School Gymnasium commencing with a pot-luck supper. Families of the students participated in the social evening which included a visit from Santa Claus. Christmas carols were sung and presents exchanged.

The Hay Lakes Area Recreation Board are continuing their work on a recreation master plan and welcome suggestions. They request that residents please watch for a questionaire regarding the recreation master plan which will be mailed out in the first week of January. An immediate response to the questionaire is necessary if the needs and wants of the entire community are to be met.

The Hay Lakes Senior Citizen's held their monthly card party in their center on Friday evening, Dec. 9th. Prize winners were Ladies' first — Olga Hickey, consolation — Christine Webster; Men's first — Leslie Webster, consolation — David Holdsworth.

We would like to thank all our friends who brought flowers to celebrate our opening.

Satellites still 1st

Tofield Satellites are still on top in the Beaverhill Hockey League but, they got a shock last week.

Satellites had an opportunity to extend their first place margin and saw it go by the board when they were upset by Vegreville.

Tofield played in Lamont last night (Tuesday) while Holden hosted Vegreville with both results to be reported in the next edition of The Mercury.

Tonight (Wednesday) Tofield and Holden will tangle in Holden with Holden being at home to Mundare on Friday.

On Jan 3rd Holden will be hosting Lamont while the Satellites go to Mundare.

Satellites blasted Holden 17-2 last week before they were stunned 6-3 at home when Vegreville came up with its best game since joining the league.

Holden bowed 13-8 to Lamont in a free-wheeling contest and in another wide-open game, Vegreville and Mundare battled to a 10-10 stalemate.

Hand writing is on the land

By W. Roger Worth

The latest series of reports on the state of the nation's renewable resources may appear to be just another batch of "negative" media stories but matters are becoming serious indeed

In fact, we've been hearing about problems on the country's farms and in the forests for years, but we've been paying little heed. The experts reports get filed and little happens until another consultant takes a whack at analysing the situation

But those who work the land and cut the timber understand only too well that we are, day by day and year by year, slowly cutting into a rich heritage left to us by our forebearers

Living in what is one of the largest countries in the world, it is perhaps difficult to comprehend that only 15 percent of our land mass is suitable for farming, and about half of that is only good for grazing

What's more, of the 174 million arable acres, only 10 million are in the top Class I category, the nation's most productive and richest [illegible]

The problem more than half of this top land is located within 50 miles of urban centres and, as anyone with an eye for asphalt can see, much of this rich farmland is being replaced with housing developments, industrial plants and roads

To make matters more difficult, other farmland is being downgraded because, with low food prices on many commodities, farmers aren't [illegible] enough to pay their bank debt let alone make a reasonable return on their investment

The overall result? We're gradually hacking away at the special farmland resource that has allowed us to live so well with a new crop each and every year. Perhaps it is time Canadians considered reading those heavy reports, and maybe even seeking some action to reverse the trend. Future generations may ask why we squandered such a wonderful resource

The nation's forests are another supposedly renewable resource that are not being well managed. Year after year we cut tremendous numbers of trees, making the country one of the world's largest exporters of lumber and pulp and paper

Yet until recently, even though the experts have been warning us, we haven't even been planting enough seedlings to replace the trees that were cut, let alone plant some extra ones

The timber companies and foresters are now forced to go farther and farther into the woods, and the available product is getting smaller

Sadly, we've used up the stands of huge, 100-year-old trees and left the scarred timberland vacant

While efforts are now being made to reverse the trend, perhaps we should give reforestation an added push

The experts contend that we are not giving our farm and forest lands the protection they deserve. We should at least consider their advice

From The Hack

In last weeks article the new rule regarding substitution was written correctly however, one important aspect was ommitted. The substitution rule applies only to bonspiels and club playdowns. It does not apply to league games. For those who missed the rule it reads as follows: "When a team requires a substitution that sub must only be a sweeper, if he has been eliminated from competition. However, if the sub was not involved in that competition he may throw rocks at any position."

In the weekly leagues there are some tight races with only one draw remaining to be played before Christmas. In the Monday mixed league, N Lowe and R Adamson are tied in first place with 14 points followed closely by A Rostad with 13 and R Sand with 12

In the Tuesday night 7 p m league, Mel Lassesen continues to lead with 14 points. Bernie Merrick and Dave Domes are tied in second place with 11 points

In the Tuesday 9 p m league, A. Grauman leads with 13 points while Kalawsky and Landstrom have 12 and 11 points respectively

The Wednesday evening ladies have a tie for first place with P Odegard and Mary Shields each having 12 points. M Fankhanel follows closely with 10 points

In the Wednesday night Men's league, J Jones and R Trautman have 14 points while Dyer is next with 11 points

The Thursday mixed league has D Christianson and C Grauman both with 14 points while D Cherneski has 12 points

The Friday mixed league see B Williams still leading with 10 points while R King and M Whitecotton have 9 points

For the third time in as many years, the Reg Enright team has won the Andy Heiberg Memorial Super League. With only one game remaining Enright can not be caught as the second place teams have three losses against Enrights lone defeat. All the other positions could change depending on the results of the last draw on Sunday afternoon

Last Thursday it was Zarski over Merrick 7-5, Sears over P Miller 8-7, L Enright destroyed Elmer Miller 10-1, Dyer edged Erickson 4-3, R Enright 9, Stroh 4 and Haugen defeated Stang by a 6-5 score

Team	W
R Enright	9-1
W Dyer	7-3
L Enright	7-3
D Sear	6-4
P Miller	6-4
L Zarski	6-4
B Merrick	6-4
R Erickson	4-6
E Miller	4-6
S Haugen	2-8
B Stroh	2-8
B Stang	1-9

Old memories

Two of Ryley School's alumni took time out from the basketball and volleyball games to reminisce about their school days at good ol' Ryley School during a school reunion held shortly before Christmas

Ryley checks landfill

by Ken Kroetsch

Ryley Village councillors agreed unanimously that it would cost the village substantially more to upgrade their present facilities than if they were to join the Regional Sanitary Landfill, proposed for the County of Beaver.

Discussing the report from the last Regional Landfill meeting, given by Mayor Bob Cross, councillors felt that to just have a machine cover the garbage each week would be expensive.

"With a minimum of two hours a week it would cost over $6,000 to cover the garbage," said Cross.

"That doesn't cover fencing, digging the pit, or anything else."

Cross said this was one of the alternatives that was being looked at by the Regional Landfill committee in their further investigation of the matter.

Counciller Jack McKeen questioned whether the Health Department would even allow individual garbage sites in the future

Mayor Cross said they would, but the villages and towns would have to meet the department's regulations before they would be allowed to operate a landfill.

Mayor Cross reported that the meeting on Dec. 15 had been a confused arrangement since no one, besides Ryley and Tofield, had passed a by-law to enter into an agreement.

It's a political decision that they're afraid to make," said Cross.

Cross said he couldn't understand the reluctance of the other municipalities to pass by-laws.

"Our by-law allows us to enter into an agreement, but leaves room that if we don't want to accept it, we don't have to," said Cross.

Cross reported that the committee will be meeting on Jan. 5 to tour the regional landfill facilities of the County of Flagstaff and Leduc to see what is involved and what is necessary in running a Regional Landfill.

A report from the committee is to be prepared by Jan. 19.

Cross said in closing there is some speculation that by summer, if the Regional Landfill doesn't progress forward, the Health Department could start enforcing regulations on existing landfill sites.

In other council business it was reported that the skating rink has been closed for part of the season so far because of cold weather.

Ther has been some skating, but not on clean ice because of the heavier snowfall during last month.

Council felt that if the weather was to stay warmer the rink would be used more than it is.

[illegible] the temperature falls [illegible] degrees C the village [illegible] the skating rink prohibiting the use of it.

A schedule with the times of skating and hockey is posted in the skating rink.

School representative Edgar Good was to attend the meeting, but because of the shortness of the meeting he didn't arrive until after the meeting had adjourned.

Good had approached council feeling there should be a closer relationship between council and the school representative, said secretary-treasurer Sheila Fitt.

"I'm glad he wants to come and report to us," said McKeen. Other councillors were in agreement to this.

Counciller Albrecht reported that the Holden Lodge is now over half full with 27 residents at the present time.

Correction

In the last issue of The Mercury the Headline saying Holden won't join landfill, was inaccurate.

Holden has agreed in principal to join the Regional Sanitary Landfill, but, have decided to wait to pass a by-law until the village is sure the landfill will go forward.

Also in the story, it should have said that only Ryley and Tofield had passed by-laws.

The Mercury apologizes for any [illegible] caused by these mistakes.

Games deadline nears

by Ken Kroetsch

The registration date for the [illegible] Games, to be held in Vermilion on Feb. 3-5, has been moved back to Jan. 30 from Jan. 13 to give participants more time to prepare.

People in the County of Beaver, classified as Area 10 can register for the winter games by contacting the area co-ordinator.

Local playoffs prior to the winter games will be held, if required.

The registration fee for the winter games is $10 per person, with all residents of North Eastern Alberta eligible to participate.

Events that will be held this year are badminton, boxing, ladies broomball, senior men's curling, ringette, gymnastics, hockey (midget A), cross country skiing, speed skating, table tennis, team handball, ladies volleyball, wrestling and theatre sport '84.

[illegible] sports will be given the opportunity to represent North [illegible] Games, Feb. 29-March 4 in the Crowsnest Pass, in men's broomball, men's volleyball, men's and ladies' basketball, cross country skiing citizen racers, bowling, senior floor curling, senior dancing and men's floor hockey.

Anyone interested in participating in the North Eastern Alberta Winter Games can contact the Area Co-ordinator, Jackie Dumouchel, by phoning 662-4010 or 662-3300, or can write Jackie Dumouchel, Box 30, Tofield.

League play resumes

Action in the County Senior Hockey League has resumed following a brief Christmas holiday break.

In a game that was played on Monday night, Camrose walloped Kingman by a 14-2 count, in a match that was played in Tofield.

Last night (Tuesday), Tofield Toros went to Rosalind for a contest which will be reported next week.

Tofield will be at home to Kingman on Saturday night while Rosalind hosts Camrose and on Sunday night, Rosalind will host Nursette in the college team's first game since Dec. 10th.

That is all of the action that is scheduled for the coming week.

Plans are being finalized for the league's annual all star game which is scheduled to be played in Camrose on Jan. 14th.

That game will see the defending champions from Camrose (formerly Bawlf) go against an all star line-up composed of players from the other teams in the league.

The all stars will be directed by the coaching staff of the Toros and that line-up should be announced next week.

Just prior to Christmas, in the final game of 1983, Camrose stopped the toros 7-3 and a game between Kingman and Rosalind was postponed.

A total of five games from the 1983 portion of the season have to be rescheduled

New disease?

Despite the marvels of modern medicine, it seems experts keep coming up with new diseases, or recognizing differences in older ones. It's only a few years ago, for instance, that Asian flu burst on the world scene. And it's not very long since Legionnaire's disease was discovered. Nor, for that matter, was anything heard about Herpes until relatively recent months.

Now, it seems there's another virulent disease around, though so far we don't know whether there's a danger of it spreading, of it becoming contagious, or epidemic. We're talking about Post Office flu. So far it seems to be very regionalized, but it can also strike with deadly lack of warning, such that overnight it can lay low half of an entire staff, even when that staff runs close to the 200 mark. It leaves permanent scars, too, such as the delay of an entire seventy thousand pieces of mail.

There's one bounty about Post Office flu, however . . . it seems to burn itself out in a good deal less time than other types of flu . . . as little as half a working day, for instance.

Something should be done about Post Office flu . . . before it becomes epidemic. Indeed, it struck just as the Post Office, as a corporation, was trying to persuade us just how healthy the whole operation had [redacted].

A different type of reflection on the health of the Post Office service may have come this week from the Corporation itself.

Rather than relying on regular 32 cent mail like the rest of us, the Corporation elected last week to send a special missive to The Camrose Canadian. The type of labelling suggests to us that many hundreds of other publications were selected by the same process, but we were elated to find they felt us worthy of special delivery service. Thus, it was entrusted to the postal workers in Ottawa at 1 p.m. on Thursday, December 29, and moved with despatch through the entire system so that it was recorded by the Camrose Post Office at 7 a.m. on Saturday.

Naturally, we were impressed by the fact it came in a king-size envelope, worth at least half a dollar wholesale, that it was despatched Special Delivery, a service which would cost you or us a dollar and a half, and that the envelope bore the impressive message, in block letter capitals. "NEWS COPY FOR IMMEDIATE PUBLICATION".

As we tore the letter open, we wondered what very important message it might contain. Thoughts raced through our mind, even as we slit it open. Maybe the Post Office was announcing a rate reduction for 1984. Maybe Jean Claude Parrot had been 'born again'. Maybe, just possibly they were going to announce that newspapers would reach their subscribers on time! What would be that important message?

And the vital story? The News? For immediate Publication? It turned out to be a column for stamp collectors. One which would be as newsworthy ten years from now as it would be today. One that could have been mailed (mailed is hardly the word, since the Postal Corporation sends it free, like Members of Parliament) in a twenty-cent envelope at the regular 32 cent type of delivery. All, that is, except for part of it which turned out to be a grab for free advertising, advertising that hundreds of other clients would pay more than thirty-five dollars for.

It wouldn't be an understatement that we were impressed by their Special Delivery. Indeed, we found it remarkable. Is it possible the senior echelons are also facing the debilitating effects of Post Office flu.

No More Self Pity

Dear Sir,

I am very tired of reading and listening to the self-pity I hear from farmers.

With one breath they complain like the farmer did in last week's edition and with the second breath, they brag that they have to buy a $200,000 tractor or combine to save paying income tax.

Farmers are not the only ones who have to buy fuel and they pay less for fuel than anybody else. Truckers use more fuel than the farmers, work an average of 18 hours a day and at the end of the year, they don't have to buy equipment to save paying income tax because there isn't enough profit in trucking to pay tax.

Truckers don't just work for themselves, they are hauling parts and equipment for farmers, produce and groceries for everybody, etc., through all kinds of weather and through all kinds of traffic conditions.

According to last week's writer, I gather he thinks that the people in this country couldn't survive without the farmer. This may be so but could the farmer survive without the rest of the population.

Examples: truckers to haul their fuel; construction workers to set up their buildings and set up refineries to produce their fuels; electricians to wire their farms to make farming easier; factory workers to build their machineries to make farming easier and the list could go on for pages.

Mr. Farmer, don't be so self-centered, and don't have so much self-pity because if it weren't for the rest of the population to buy your products, you could quit farming.

Mr. Farmer, the world is in a recession which means we are all suffering, so if everybody takes the same attitude as you do, the world will come to a sudden stop, which means the nuclear bombs won't be needed to ruin the world.

Mr. Farmer, if we all have the same attitude as you, we will stop the world.

Mr. Farmer, who gets as many subsidies as you? If there was a drought, you would get a government grant which no other industry would get. You pay less taxes than anybody else in this country and even more than anyone else.

NO LONGER IMPARTIAL

214 Legislature Building
Edmonton, Alberta, T5K 2B6
15 December 1983

Dear Sir:

I am writing in regards to Bill 81, the Electoral Boundaries Amendment Act. I fought against this Bill, as it changed the neutrality the commission that sets electoral boundaries. Under the former Social Credit government, the commission was established to include two opposition members along with two government members, the chief electoral officer, a judge or a retired judge and a member at large, appointed by the government. The government has now changed the situation so that they now have 3 government M.L.A.'s on a 7 member commission, with the deciding vote resting with a government appointee.

My main concern with this legislation is that it moves away from the concept of fairness, and allows the possibility of gerrymandering. The government offers the feeble excuse that the reason for this change is that there are only 4 members in the opposition, compared to 75 Tories. This combined line of reasoning does not withstand [redacted].

The previous legislation was passed by the Manning government, which had an equally massive majority. However, that government felt the principle of fairness was more important than political expediency and legislated equal representation with two government and two opposition members. This government obviously does not adhere to that principle.

Further, this electoral process is at the root of our electoral process, that being the establishment of electoral boundaries. To allow the government to control this process invites [redacted] with pockets of Conservative supporters included in all sorts of irregular fashions. The present government has taken a workable and fair system and corrupted it for their own purposes. That is why both Dr. Buck and I fought against Bill 81. The present provincial government deserves all the scorn and ridicule that is and will be heaped upon it.

Yours sincerely,
Raymond A. Speaker, M.L.A.

ARE WE STRANGERS HERE?

Edmonton, Dec. 16

Dear Sir:

I do not like what is happening in Canada; sometimes I cannot believe how strong the government has become and how little opposition there is left to state socialism.

People who maintain [redacted] are about to become, rather than being the average, are now the fringe element. A few months ago, I heard a CBC reporter berate Newfoundland for forcing the federal government to take over the fishing industry. There are some who actually believe that Newfoundland is a rich province, though the eastern fishing industry is simply following the demise of the western oil and farming industries. (The free press is known to be next).

Things are so changed in Canada that I feel like a foreigner here. The flag I knew is gone. The language I was taught in school no longer qualifies me for first-class citizenship. The currency has a different face. My system of measurement is illegal. My national anthem is different. [redacted] even the constitution is the same.

Imagine asking loyalty to a country that allowed no public input to its constitution. Of all the changes that took place, none were done for my benefit, none had my blessing. I have been sprouted by an erosion of the very earth in which I stand.

If I am [redacted] that if two hundred people believe in a stupid idea, it is still a stupid idea. The problem in Canada is that if those two hundred people are in Ottawa, the stupid idea becomes a law. Show me earth did we let ourselves come to be governed thus?

—David Pryke

What? Turkey Again?

There are very few things [redacted] that we can complain about. There are the bills, of course -- everything costs too much these days -- and if it weren't for the cold weather, perhaps (but not necessarily) more people would make it home for the [redacted].

The one thing we can complain about is the turkey. No, not the flavor -- we all know how delicious it is -- but does it really have to go on and on and on?

Such is the opinion of my family. I don't know about you, but it doesn't matter what size turkey I roast, there are always leftovers that my family doesn't want to eat. It doesn't matter what I do with it, they "don't feel like eating, thank you anyway." "What? Turkey again?" choruses through our undecked halls.

When I was younger I always thought the best part about having our turkey dinner served early Christmas day was the thought of having thick turkey sandwiches around 9 p.m. They were even better than the meal [redacted]. My kids disagree, however. They don't like turkey sandwiches, hot or cold, the next day, either, or turkey soup, turkey casserole, turkey tetrazini or turkey hash. "Feed it to the dog," they cavil. While I think that the dog [redacted] after all, animals played a role in that stable too), I don't think the turkey carcase still covered in white and dark [redacted] is it.

To help eliminate the turkey doldrums, I have enlisted the aid of the festive feasts put forth in the women's magazines this year. Their telling me what to do with the leftover turkey is far more polite than my family's suggestions. Never again will I be told to take that turkey and stuff it.

From now on I'll be cooking such creations as "Turkey Cornet in Pineapple Shells" (if I can figure out what a cornet is), "Turkey Cranberry Fritters", "Turkey Vegetable Pie Almondine" . . . my kids pick apart any dish suspected of containing peas, so scratch that last one. Get the idea? In all the sauces, fruit and nuts, what average child would ever suspect that the meat is good old leftover turkey?

And if, by some small fluke, my subtle subterfuge fails, I will seriously consider serving bologna sandwiches next Christmas. With cranberries on the side, of course. I refuse to abelve traditional [redacted].

NEW YEARS MESSAGE

In the spirit of letting out the old and bringing in the new, on behalf of our Office Staff, I'd like to take the opportunity of wishing everyone a happy and prosperous 1984.

With a new year comes a new start and a renewed optimism of prosperity, happiness and health. The importance of this optimism can only be expressed by the words "this is next year country", as I have so often heard people say.

But with a renewed optimism must go a desire to succeed and an ability to adapt to the changing conditions of the agricultural industry. If the seventies could be referred to as the production years, then the eighties would have to be termed as the management years. This change has been very evident to District Agriculturists across the Province. The inquiries received by the District Offices have shifted greatly from being production-oriented to management-oriented and the answers to these questions are more complex and more time consuming. Regardless of time or complexity, farmers will all have to make a number of important management decisions — whether they be productive of financial in nature.

This is where Alberta Agriculture can be of some help to its farmer clients. Whether it be in the areas of home economics, field crops, animal science, soils information, crop and livestock pests, engineering or economics and financial [illegible], our District Agriculturists, [illegible] Home Economists and specialists are in place to help farm families make the right decisions. Very often, too, it must be realized that the right decision varies with every different farming operation. We are not here just to promote agriculture, but to help make it a stable and profitable business and way of life. Therefore, if you have a need for information, by all means, contact our office and if we cannot help you, we will try to find someone who can. Once again, Happy 1984 and we hope to hear from you in the upcoming year.

REMINDER MARKETING WORKSHOP

On January 10, 1984, a Grains and Oilseeds Marketing Workshop will be held in Ryley. Topics are to include: price determination, hedging, basis, forward pricing, the costs of holding grain in the bin, business speculation and permit book strategies. Attendance is open to everyone. If you are interested in participating in this workshop please give our office a call and pre-register. Details of time and location will be confirmed by phone. Don't forget to bring your calculator as there will be examples to work on.

A lady from Ottawa wrote to thank the USC for making people aware of what they can do to help those less fortunate in the developing world. "May many Canadians come forward with help during your fundraising drive", she concludes. The USC's annual campaign target is $4 million. USC headquarters is located at 56 Sparks Street, Ottawa K1P 5B1.

Satellites hold lead

Tofield Satellites have extended their lead in the Beaverhill Hockey League.

Satellites won their final two games in 1983 and now have a four-point bulge over Lamont.

Tofield was in Mundare last night (Tuesday) while Holden hosted Lamont in the first games of the new year with results to be reported next week.

Satellites will be at home to Holden on Friday and on Tuesday, they will host Vegreville.

In their most recent action, Tofield edged Lamont 8-6 before blasting Holden by an 8-1 count.

Holden made its home debut with their best showing of the season in a narrow 7-6 loss to Vegreville.

In the other two games that were played since the last report in The Mercury, Mundare edged Holden 8-6 and Lamont whipped Vegreville 9-4.

Only two games from the 1983 portion of the schedule have to be rescheduled.

CONSERVE HOME HEAT

After our cold, cold December, you have probably identified places where the cold air leaks into your home. Windows, doors and electrical outlets are common culprits. It's not too late to remedy the situation this winter.

By caulking, adding weatherstripping to doors and windows and generally sealing up, you will notice a difference in comfort and the heating bills.

Set aside some Monday evenings in January and learn more about how you can make your home more energy efficient.

On Monday, January 16 (not the 23rd as in the Further Education brochure) we will look at the pros and cons of Heating with Wood. If you are considering burning wood as a supplemental heat source, or are already doing so you will find the evening very informative. We will discuss choice of stoves or fireplace, installation, care and operation. Seminar starts at 7:00 p.m. at the Tofield Legion Hall, $5.00.

Monday, January 23 there will be an Energy Conservation Workshop sponsored by Energy and Natural Resources. The evening will cover basic sealing techniques for the home and free ways to save energy. Seminar starts at 7:30 p.m. in the Tofield School Library.

Monday, January 30 is another energy related workshop, this time concentrating on Window Insulation. We will cover various methods of reducing leakage through windows, including window quilts and storm window kits. This evening starts at 7:30 p.m. at the Tofield Legion Hall, $5.00.

The seminars are intended to display some easy, low cost ways you can improve the energy efficiency of your home, thus cut heating costs. Hope to see you there!

For more details on how to caulk and weatherstrip doors and windows contact this office for your free copy of the publication "How to Weatherstrip and Caulk your Home"

Safety isn't just for the highway

You don't have to be stranded on the highway or lost on a ski trail to encounter the perils of cold weather. The Alberta Safety Council's home safety committee reminds you that potential danger lies within your own yard.

Each winter several deaths are attributed to heavy snowfall. The sudden exertion required to shovel snow, particularly wet snow, by an otherwise sedentary homeowner may trigger a heart attack. The home safety committee advises that anyone at risk for heart disease, including those who experience occasional chest pain, should not attempt snow removal.

Painted steps and porches become treacherous when covered with frost or snow. Carpet or rubber treads as well as sturdy handrails can be used to lessen the possibility of falls.

Sidewalks spell disaster if covered with ice or snow. The use of sand may prevent an unnecessary fall as would regular clearing of sidewalks.

Electrical cords between block heaters of vehicles and houses create hazards for the unsuspecting who may trip and fall over them. This is a practice that should be avoided.

Finally, when making that quick trip out with the car, before or to plug in the car, the home safety committee advises you to dress warm. A sudden fall could result in injuries causing frostbite and hypothermia if help is not readily available.

Last rites are held for Kenneth Baptist

Kenneth Alan Baptist of Edmonton passed away suddenly on Dec. 8th.

He was born in Tofield in 1952, the son of Crawford and Nettie Baptist and attended school here. He taught school for many years, then worked for Eldorado Transportation and later for YMCA, until his passing.

He is survived by Joan Baptist of Edmonton; Beatrice and Henry Mosby, Dick Blakely of Tofield; seven nieces and nephews; 10 great-nieces and nephews.

Funeral service was held in the Tofield Anglican Church with Canon W. Teague and Rev. Robert Osborne of Sherwood Park officiating.

Pallbearers were Donald Thomson, Barry Mosby, Dwight Wyllie, Walter Klediger, Robert Fosbenig and Leonard Staeffer.

Interment followed in the Tofield Cemetery. Tofield Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

The Family of the late Kenneth Baptist would like to express our thanks to our relatives and friends for their expressions of sympathy following the loss of our brother Ken. The memorials, cards, flowers and food brought to the house, were greatly appreciated.

Special "Thank You" to the ladies of the Anglican Church for coffee and music. Thank you all for your thoughtfulness and friendship.

Beatrice and Joan Baptist

Tourney held

In the first tournament of this type ever staged by Tofield Minor Hockey, five bantam and four midget teams played a total of twenty games in the space of four days.

The midget level was won by the K of C Saints from Edmonton [illegible].

At the bantam level, Bruderheim came out on top, winning all five of their games.

On Tuesday (Dec. 27) evening, a highly successful banquet, hosting approximately 200 players, coaches, managers and parents, was held in the Legion

Tofield Minor Hockey feel this was a very successful event for their first try and already have plans to make next years tournament even better

Rural battered women have sources of help

by Anne [illegible]

What is available for rural battered women?

Rural battered women may suffer feelings of helplessness in escaping an abusive situation because they are so cut off. Knowing what help is available is a very important step in taking care of the battered women's safety needs and the needs of the children.

Abused women in the Counties of Strathcona and Beaver who are being physically abused can call the RCMP who will (if no other help i.e. relative or friends, is available) arrange transportation to other accommodation or to WIN house in Edmonton. A new women's shelter in Strathcona will be opened in the Spring of '83. Currently they are in need of funds, services and household furnishings. Accommodation at WIN house is free, but they accept donations. Abused women can stay for up to three weeks. WIN house is solely for women with children. Women without children will be referred to other emergent accommodation.

Many women fear being destitute and endure repeated beatings because of this. Social Assistance (formerly welfare) can be arranged while a woman is in a shelter. Social Services will arrange an orderly payment of money so that a woman can begin a new life. Social Assistance covers food, shelter, clothing needs (in some cases), retraining, school fees and transportation for those actively seeking work. All Social Assistance coverage is subject to Government guidelines.

WIN house crisis line (for abused women needing help) is: 474-3400 or 477-0181.

Rural women may be concerned about losing their financial interest in the farm. An abused woman leaving the family farm is still entitled to her dower rights.

In the area covered by the Tofield RCMP, Sergeant Ed Lammerts estimates there is approximately one woman (that is reported) who is so severely beaten as to require hospitalization or out-patient care.

The most dangerous aspects of the crime or abuse are lack of knowledge, shame and fear. Public awareness and education can counter this.

Ryley news

The Senior Citizen Centre celebrated Dec 21st with a pot-luck supper for their Christmas party. They had prizes for bingo winners, played cards, had whist prizes, drew numbers for the stocking which Mary Konoway won, had a sing-song, then they drew numbers for presents and handed them around. The evening ended by having lunch going home

Marilyn Wade's mother, Mrs. Potter of Askern Doncaster, South Yorkshire, England, was the lucky winner of the $100 draw at the Ryley Treasury Branch during Customer Appreciation Days on Dec. 15 and 16.

Signar Helgeland and Marilyn Campbell and girls had Christmas dinner with Ida and Stan Hunka and on Boxing Day, Ida and Stan were guests in Tofield with Pete and Rudy Hunka.

Hultholm heads Chamber

by Pat Knoetsch

The officers and directors for the Holden Chamber of Commerce were appointed at their first meeting of the year, last week, said spokesperson Bobbie Schweitzer

The new president of the chamber is Don Hultholm, with Merle Thorsmill as first vice president, Don MacKenzie as second vice president and Christine McKay as secretary-treasurer

The Village Mayor swore in each of the officers

The directors for the Chamber of Commerce for this year are Margaret Hallet, Elaine Hall, Gordon Fotheringham and Bert Schweitzer

In other business preliminary plans were made for the Community Welcome Supper. The date for the supper will be confirmed between Feb 15 and March 15 at a later date, said Schweitzer

Rose Sharpe, Pauline MacKenzie and Sharon Gill will be coordinating the supper

The supper is to welcome all new residents to the community. It was held for the first time last year

The Chamber of Commerce will be handling registration for the Homecoming to be held this August 4, 5 and 6. The Chamber will also be working with the Village of Holden to plan the official opening program of Homecoming.

In conjunction with the Homecoming the Chamber will be contacting the Village of Holden for preliminary research on plans for a permanent anniversary project. At the present time a day use park is being proposed.

The Chamber of Commerce will also be undertaking a shop at home promotion publicity campaign prior to and during Homecoming

Schweitzer said that during the promotion the various businesses in the community will be decorated, there will be costumes and special prizes.

The preliminary plans for this promotion will be brought back to the February meeting of the Chamber.

The Chamber of Commerce is proposing that a greater kaisse, between the Village of Holden and the Chamber, be established between the two groups on development and promotion of the Village of Holden

In conjunction with this chamber members will be taking part in the Rural Development No. 4 meeting to be hosted by the Village of Holden on Feb. 23.

The Chamber of Commerce will be joining the Battle River Tourist Association again this year. Don Hultholm will be the representative to attend those meetings. Matt Heidrich will be the alternate.

In other business the chamber will be making contact with the County of Beaver concerning the upgrading of 853 secondary south. The chamber would like to see this portion of the road improved and are encouraging the county to upgrade this area.

Square dancing set

by Ken Knoetsch

It's grab your partners for square dancing in Tofield as Tofield Recreation sponsors, for the first time, square dancing for beginners, said Recreation Director, Jackie Blumenthal

The program will run for five consecutive Thursdays in the Legion Hall for approximately two and a half hours per session.

Ross Richardson, of the Bruderheim Dance Club, will be the caller for the dancing.

Couples or singles are welcome There is still room for anyone interested in taking square dancing

Other programs being offered by Tofield Recreation are ladies' afternoon aerobics; senior aerobics; dancercize; co-ed fitness classes; beginner roller skating; and possibly cross country skiing, if enough interest is shown

Anyone interested in taking any of these programs can contact Jackie Blumenthal at 662-3285.

Mennonites meet

The Board of the Mennonite Central Committee of Canada (MCCC) will be holding its annual meeting in Tofield next week

The four-day session will open one week from today (Wednesday) and is to be held in the Tofield Gospel Church.

MCCC is part of the Mennonite Central Committee, the international relief and development arm of Mennonite churches in Canada and the United States.

Vernard Eller will open the meeting with an address entitled "If He is our peace" which will be given during the moderators and secretaries consultation.

A variety of workshops are scheduled for the second day.

The first Board session has been scheduled for the evening of Jan. 19th and the final session has been scheduled for the evening of Jan 21st.

Over 900 volunteers work with MCCC as teachers, agriculturists, health and community workers in fifty countries, including Canada and the U.S.A.

Eight of the volunteers are currently serving in Alberta, including the Hillcrest Mennonite Centre in Grassie Prairie and serving as located at the Youth Orientation Unit in Warburg.

Francis rink wins

by Ken Knoetsch

Several women's rinks from Zone 11 met in Tofield last weekend for Zone playdowns

In the Senior competition, a Tofield rink, consisting of Irma Francis (skip), Ruby Hunka, Barbara Goeglein and Corrine Rowland won the competition to go on to the Northern District championships in Sherwood Park

Runner-up in the senior ladies division was a Fulton-vale rink consisting of Ethel Reid (skip), Audrey Atkins, Dorothy Linden and Nell Linn.

In the Ladies' competition, a Fultonvale rink, consisting of Lois Gibbs (skip), Bev Lang, Sharon Janzen and Doreen Colleton, won the competition, making them eligible for competition in the Northern District championship in Sherwood Park

Runner-up in the competition was a Tofield team, consisting of Sheila Hisey (Skip), Cindy Neufeld, Jackie Dunouchel and Marie Anne Bossu.

There were five teams in competition in the ladies' division and two teams in competition in the Seniors.

In the Girls' competition, there was only one entry, the Pat Snethun rink from Sedgewick. This rink didn't have to play.

This rink will attend the Northern District championship in Rocky Mountain House, in the near future.

RSTV Cable needs rate

by Ken Knoetsch

RSTV Cable is waiting for final approval for a rate structure for the Town of Tofield before proceeding, said Dana Quigley, marketing manager for RSTV Cable.

"We're kind of sitting on the edge of the diving board waiting for the CRTC to say jump".

Quigley said with the problems created by another cable company that came into Tofield, that RSTV wants to make sure everything is completed before going ahead

"We don't want to come in to the community with any uncertainties," said Quigley

A decision on the rate for Tofield is expected to be made by the CRTC by the end of January

If the CRTC has made the decision by the end of January, then RSTV Cable will be out working by the first part of February, said Quigley

If everything goes smoothly, said Quigley, then the cable could be hooked up by the end of February.

Quigley said all the equipment has been purchased for Tofield and is presently being stored in a warehouse

"As soon as we get approval, we'll be down."

RSTV, a division of Saskatoon Telecable Ltd., has been licensed by the CRTC to put cable into several communities throughout the province

Programs being offered by RSTV are NBC, CBS, PBS and ABC out of Seattle.

Rising up

The new Tofield Hospital is starting to take shape as crews are making good progress through the mild weather in the area. A scaled model of the hospital will be on display in the community in the near future to give Tofield and area residents an idea of what the finished product will look like photo by Knoetsch

Traps

Possibly provincial Highways Minister Marvin Moore acted hastily in ordering the removal of car traps where they are located in Edmonton and Calgary. They were installed as a means of preventing heavy automobile traffic entering restricted residential areas, while permitting access to wider based city buses. Possibly the areas concerned were not as thoughtful as they might have been in installing such traps. Possibly alternative methods of control could have been resorted to in the efforts of residents of these areas to reduce unwanted traffic short-cutting through quiet residential areas.

The question of car traps has been in the news and under discussion for some time, but it was really only an 'accident' on Christmas Eve when an Edmonton car salesman, on his way to Midnight Mass, inflicted an estimated eight thousand dollars in damage to his new car, and sent several of his passengers to hospital with injury, as he ran afoul of the car trap, while 'shortcutting'. This despite flashing amber lights, Private Road and Entry Barred signs.

Only a short time later another 'responsible' citizen faced injury and damage, giving rise to a great deal more discussion, then Mr. Moore's order to remove the 'dangerous' traps.

We can hardly agree the traps are dangerous anymore than concrete abutments and railings built by the Province. It seems to us it's the way they're approached that is dangerous, or causes damage. Any driver should know when he approaches a blinking amber light that he is being warned to slow down, and anyone who then proceeds onto what is marked private road is already in the wrong. Nor is it conceivable that anyone proceeding cautiously at twenty or thirty kilometres per hour could inflict such massive damages to their car or their passengers. Clearly much higher speed is indicated.

One suggestion offered has been that there were so many small snowflakes as to reduce vision, but surely that in itself indicates the need to slow down. Besides, we clearly recall driving to midnight service the same night, and anybody out that night commented on the sudden warming and mild spell, devoid of any snow.

From our point of view, not enough attention has been paid to the reasons behind the severe damage, or the reasons why the neighborhood felt car traps should be installed.

We don't think traps have yet been ruled illegal . . . after all, entrapment is still a commonly used device of police forces. However, if Mr. Moore won't allow them, perhaps residents of the area could solve their problem another way. Possibly heavy iron gates could be erected, equipped with automatic openers, such as garage door openers. Using today's digital devices, an authorized bus could gain access by a simple and relatively inexpensive control, while other drivers would have to crash through the gates.

There's nothing, of course, to prevent someone else acquiring the same sort of control, and working until they found the matching code. But that could easily be frustrated by changing the code. Digitals today are so simple they could be changed, just like the old army password, as often as needed, even every shift if necessary. There are modern electro-magnetic locks, too, which could work like a charm.

Car traps aren't the only method. They're simply the cheapest and simplest.

SILLY SUPERSTITIOUS STUFF

Do you have your lucky rabbit's foot handy? In case you haven't noticed (or were trying to forget), there is a Friday the 13th coming up.

Superstitions began long ago, when early man found everything a mystery. Since then, we have learned a lot and are supposed to know better. Not everyone does, however. It begins early in our life with tales of black cats and walking under ladders, reciting verses like 'step on a crack, break your mother's back' and hooking fingers with a friend 'for luck' when you say something in unison. I have a friend who loves having her fortune told and goes on an animal hunt for teacup readers. Another won't even listen to the weather forecast in case it comes true. Both will tell you that they are not superstitious.

I'm not superstitious — not really. Unless you consider the number 13. I don't like being seated at a table with twelve other people, for instance. (It gives me heartburn.) But Friday the 13th is just another day. I joke with everyone about staying home in bed with the covers pulled over my head, but it really doesn't make any difference. It's labelled an unlucky day because that was the day Eve chose to tempt Adam with that apple. So all the harm has been done, wouldn't you say? I do get a little panicky when I can't find my lucky dice earrings but I wouldn't go so far as wearing garlic around my neck. (Well, if it works for Vampires. . .)

Recently I woke up after a sleepless night (is that possible?) with a toothache, found the kitchen sink was plugged, listened to grumpy kids and a yappy dog for an hour, then [illegible] of the street, I slipped on the ice, was late for work and I broke a nail. When I got home, my family was upset because I'd forgotten to take out meat for supper. Who needs a special day for things to go wrong?

Although I'm not superstitious, there's no harm in spending this Friday on guard. I do have the lucky coins I carry in my purse and finding that safety pin in the laundry room won't hurt, either. Oh yes, and you guys with the rabbit's feet, remember to keep it in your left pocket, or it will be useless. And have a nice Friday. I know I will. (Knock on wood.)

Misinformed

[illegible]
Vegreville, Alberta
[illegible]
January 6, 1984.

Mr. Editor:

I am compelled to write and answer "Concerned Citizen". This person did not want the public to know how misinformed he is or he would have signed his name. To begin with Concerned Citizen does not even know the Lord's Prayer, otherwise he would be familiar with the line, "Give us our daily bread".

The roast beef, bacon and eggs, bread and butter, have all made their beginnings on a farm. Concerned citizen would not drive his truck for eight hours, let alone 18 hours if he did not have food. Or would he say to us, "we can import the food and the truckers would have a longer haul." Would he then complain of the increased cost? Concerned citizen mentions subsidies the farmer receives, is that not to keep the farmer solvent? This also demonstrates that what the farmer produces is needed. Then is this subsidy not handed back to the food consumer by enabling them to buy food at a lower cost?

Concerned citizen so ably [illegible] Every viable farmer has several trucks in various sizes, to meet the need of their farming requirement. The farmer through necessity owns (or controls) quite a few fuel consuming machines, tractors, combines, etc. So who consumes more fuel can [illegible]

[illegible] to understand that his truck would not be required to haul fertilizer if the farmer were not in operation. Nor would there be any need for him to haul tractors, combines, augers, discs, grain, livestock if the farm was not in operation.

One thing we must understand, that when the farmer gave up the flail for threshing machines and now for the combine, he finds he has to use [illegible] The accountant in turn advises the farmer to purchase certain machines required in his operation as a legal income tax manouver. Yes, in [illegible] purchase of $100,000 combine, but this may be a time pur-[illegible]

This works in the same manner as an efficient trucker who seeks a back haul for his truck. To make farming a [illegible] they become larger. Larger does not mean that these [illegible]

I for one am glad that today's farmer is not using the walking plow nor the flail. Great production enables me to enjoy what the farmer produces at a lower cost. Food is vital to my being alive.

Coverage needed

January 3, 1984

Dear Sir,

During recent weeks we residents of Ryley and district have enjoyed several evenings of Christmas entertainment including concerts, programs [illegible]

For example, the grade one class spent one frosty morning carolling around the village [illegible]

Also, the Community Hall was filled to capacity as numerous choirs from the area entertained at the carol festival. On Dec. 21, our school gym held its largest crowd ever as the elementary Christmas concert was held. [illegible] preparation the students and teachers presented an hour of top quality entertainment.

The only thing missing from all of these events was The 'Mercury' reporter. How nice it would be to open the paper one day and see a picture of one event such as those mentioned above.

We feel our school and district functions deserve the same recognition as those held in Tofield schools and don't think a reporter needs a special invitation to these functions which have been advertised in your paper.

We are looking forward to seeing better coverage in the [illegible].

Yours truly,
Mrs. L. Lyons

Book is excellent

Vancouver, B.C. V5Z 2S7
December 11th, 1983.

Dear Sir,

I have just finished reading the book, "Round Hill and [illegible]" and I want to congratulate [illegible] Bowthorpe and all those responsible for producing this magnificent history of "my home town". It is not hard to see that it was a herculean task, seeking out former residents to obtain biographies and autobiographies, and then made them all into a chronicle that will become a record for future generations to read with pride.

I enjoyed the book immensely. Over the years I have been fortunate in seeing a number of people from Round Hill, including Charlie Quall and Casper Foss, both of whom passed away in recent months. Thankfully, I was able to spend some time with both of these "school chums" of mine while in Round Hill last summer.

Our [illegible] from Round Hill in 1936, and what a thrill it [illegible] to meet friends that we [illegible] Neighbours such as [illegible] Simovitch, Catherine Shortreed, the Butcharts, and many, many others who were as close and good friends as the above. It is impossible to describe what a joyful visit it was or how much it meant to both me and my brother. I want to thank you for inviting us to this memorable reunion.

Also, I am hoping that in some way, you can convey the sincere thanks of my brother and myself to those who paid tribute to my late father, in the book and to us personally, for his compassion and generosity during the "hungry thirties". This alone, made the [illegible].

Finally, I would like to take this opportunity of wishing all those people who touched our lives over the years and have given us so many beautiful [illegible]

"Happy New Year".

Yours truly,
Harry Simkin

Patricia Young Says . . . . . .

Can you blame the blind man for not appreciating a [illegible] agony of dieting to a naturally thin man? Indeed, none of us would understand daylight if we lived in perpetual darkness. The man who has never known the pangs of gut-ripping hunger can only read about it or view it on TV.

Similarly, one cannot really blame todays youngster for taking his standard of living for granted. Parents might talk up a storm about the Great Depression, and while some youngsters may be compassionate enough, they can hardly be expected to relate to the many ramifications of real poverty. We can blame those parents who, having suffered a deprived childhood themselves, try to relive the childhood they would have liked through their children, resulting in selfish, uncaring, overly-indulged human beings. We can perhaps blame a permissive school system and those individual teachers who would create a phoney equality, abolishing testing, competition or the challenge of excellence. Add to these "the political corruptors" who in their drive for One World leftist control, would rob our children of such things as patriotism, accountability and [illegible]

So how do we solve some of these problems? Certainly not by putting down a whole generation while boasting of our own. Come to think of it, my grandmother thought it [illegible] and wore skirts that just about touched the ground. By Mama's day, skirts were mid calf with arms and throats exposed. In my day the furor that greeted the bikini and mini skirt, not to mention the "streaker" and nudity on many of our beaches.

While acknowledging that there are forces in our midst intent upon corrupting our children, the key to handling most problems lies in making a child (or adult) needed. Most parents love their [illegible] all too many parents "need" those children only as an object of their love. Indeed, it is pathetic to hear an overly-indulged child challenge parents with: "I know you love me, but you don't need me." As a result, it has been all too easy for unscrupulous "fronts" to corral young people and use them as "fodder" in a multitude of "liberation" and "peace" fronts. Because of their basic idealism, too many of our young people have responded to this phoney "need" — to the challenge of being involved in doing [illegible]

All of which perhaps adds up to the adult responsibility of making our young people feel; worthwhile; to help them find worthwhile goals and challenges that will contribute to the genuine progress of civilization instead of its . . . [illegible]

Former resident passes in Texas

A former Round Hill resident passed away recently in Texas.

Wilfred Mack, 86, passed away in his home in San Benito where he had been residing for the past thirty-eight years.

Wilfred Mack was among the original settlers in the Round Hill area and he and his father helped build the area's first Catholic Church, which is now a shrine.

He is survived by five sons, four daughters, a brother, twenty-four grandchildren, twenty-eight great-grandchildren, and numerous other relatives.

Following services held in Universe Catholic Church in San Benito, interment took place in Rantlawn Memorial Park in La Feria.

Wood bison returns home

Both the Provincial and Federal Governments have signed an agreement to reintroduce the endangered wood bison to its historical range in the extreme northwest corner of Alberta.

The five-year agreement between Federal Environment Minister Charles Caccia and Alberta Associate Minister of Public Land and Wildlife Don Sparrow will "take us another step closer to the day when we can remove the wood bison from the endangered species list," Mr. Caccia said.

By March 1984, up to 30 wood bison will be transported from the herd at Elk Island National Park by the Canadian Wildlife Service. From then until March, 1986 the relocated wood bison will be held in a corral in the Fort Vermilion District area and cared for by the Alberta Fish and Wildlife Division.

Release of the wood bison to their new range is to begin in 1986. Some wood bison will be fitted with radio collars to aid in subsequent aerial surveys. By March 1987, all bison will have been released and regular monitoring will continue.

Only three free-roaming herds of wood bison now exist, including a semi-captive herd of about 175 animals at Elk Island National Park east of Edmonton. There is a wild herd of over 100 animals in the Mackenzie Bison sanctuary at Great Slave Lake, North-west Territories, which was transplanted in 1963, and a small herd of about 15 animals established in the Nahanni River area in 1980.

In addition, eight small captive herds exist elsewhere in Canada, in the United States and Germany.

The wood bison is the largest land animal in North America. It differs only slightly from its cousin the plains bison, being somewhat larger, darker and woollier. A mature wood bison bull may weigh over one ton.

The Dene Tha Band of the Fort Vermilion District is cooperating in the project. The Band, which participated in selecting the location of a corral three square kilometres in area to hold the transplanted bison during the acclimation phase, will also play a major role in the construction of the corral.

Funds from the Dene Tha Band and the Canada Employment and Immigration New Employment Expansion and Development (NEED) program will pay for construction of the corral. Indian and Northern Affairs Canada provided assistance in co-operative negotiations for the agreement.

Pasteurization by-law is passed

by Ian Knudsen

First and second reading was given to a by-law concerning the pasteurization of milk products sold in the community, at the regular meeting of Town of Tofield Council last Monday evening.

The by-law was requested by the Health Department as that if there were any problems in the community, a by-law would be in place and the Health Department would be able to enforce it.

"Apparently in some communities they are having problems," said Town Administrator Neil Brodie.

"Because of hard times people are trying to get cheaper milk."

The by-law will be submitted to the Health Department for signature by the Board of Health after which third and final reading will be given.

In other business Robert Shacher was given permission by Town Council to use the water from the Sewage Lagoon for irrigation.

A ten year agreement was reached, five years at first and an additional five years upon approval of the project by the Department of Environment. At the present time Shacher has been given permission for five years by the Department of Environment.

Yearly inspections will be made by the Department of Environment to monitor Shacher's irrigation program.

Shacher pointed out to council that by using the water from the lagoon that the town will benefit by not having to add on to the existing site as the town grew, and that the 'life' of the holding pond would be extended.

Shacher plans to irrigate 130 to 160 acres of hay crop by using a sprinkler system, pumping the waste water from the lagoon on to his fields.

A motion was made by council to pay for the loss of one of George Quiring's cattle. The animal was last shortly after the new fence was put up around the cemetery.

Brodie said that where the old fence and the new fence were joined hadn't been secured properly and the cattle got out. He said town employees had spent the better part of a day helping to herd the cattle back.

Brodie said Quiring had put an ad in the paper for approximately a month and had contacted neighbours in the area, but the one animal hadn't turned up.

Quiring informed the town that if the animal did show up in the future that he would reimburse the town for the lost animal. The animal was branded.

One councillor asked if the town had any insurance to cover this. Brodie said the town was insured, but the deductible on the policy was $1,000.

It was moved that the administrator arrange to pay $640 for the lost animal and it was also suggested that he also contact the contractor indicating he help pay for the loss.

Because July 1st falls on a Sunday this year, council has recommended that the parade be held on the Monday rather than Sunday.

There were concerns raised by council that the Recreation Director had overstepped her bounds of authority when she had lowered the rent on the hall for a benefit dance from $250 to $60.

Council felt that the charge should have been in the amount of $210 because only council have the authority to lower the rent.

"There is no problem giving a donation back," said councillor Ed Regehr.

Council approved that the amount that had been charged be given back as a donation and asked a letter be written to the recreation director saying the rates are set by council and can only be changed by council.

A quotation for the maintenance of the airconditioning and heating units of the Town Office complex was received from Johnson Controls of Edmonton.

Council felt that while their price was reasonable that other prices should be obtained before a decision is made.

At the present time there has been no servicing to this equipment except for emergency situations.

Salary and wage negotiations were dealt with in camera, with no decision being made at this time. The matter was tabled to the next meeting.

Over the nonna, season, the THA was busy trying to add a bit of the festive touch to the Tofield Hospital. Christmas cards, special tray favours and Christmas Eve token gifts were distributed compliments of the Tofield Hospital Auxiliary.

Baking goods brought to the December meeting and pot luck supper were arranged as a baking hamper and taken up on December 22nd to the hospital to be enjoyed by all staff members.

A special tray was also placed in the doctors lounge in appreciation of their dedication during 1983. Thanks to all members who participated and contributed to this hamper. Miss Kraus, Director of Nursing, was presented with a Christmas stocking stuffed with Auxiliary's thank you's for her help and cooperation with the THA within the Tofield Hospital.

Congratulations to the December volunteer of the month, Iris Frances.

1984 was brought in by a special event, especially for the THA. Tofield businesses in co-operation with the Tofield Hospital Auxiliary sponsored a New Year's Baby Hamper for the first time in many years. Baxter Kyle Spicer, born on New Year's Day, in the Tofield Hospital was the lucky recipient of this generous hamper. An overwhelming response by the Tofield businesses made it possible for the THA to present the Spicers with a cheque worth over $300, gift certificates valued over $170 and a baby bathtub full of lovely gifts for baby. Congratulations again to this recently settled Tofield couple. The New Year's Baby Hamper is hoped to again become an annual affair.

The January meeting of the THA is on Jan. 16th at 7:30 p.m. in the Tofield School Library.

Satellites are ahead

Tofield Satellites are continuing to enjoy the atmosphere of first place in the Beaverhill Hockey League.

Satellites had a split in two outings the past week as they increased their margin over second place Lamont to four points.

Tofield hosted Vegreville last night (Tuesday) while Lamont played in Mundare with results of those two contests to be reported next week.

Holden will be at home to Vegreville on Saturday while Tofield plays in Lamont and a game on Thursday will have Holden hosting Mundare.

Fans of the Satellites will have to wait until the end of the month to again see their team play as their next home game isn't scheduled until Jan. 31st when Lamont provides the [illegible]

In the only other game that was played during the past week, Vegreville and Mundare played to a 5-5 draw while a game between Holden and Lamont was postponed.

E. Nachtigal of the Satellites is running away with the individual scoring race as he has amassed 36 points, five ahead of teammate D. Nachtigal.

Kissel of Tofield is the league's top goalie as he sports a low 2.85 goals against [illegible]

Vestby of Lamont leads the individual penalty parade with a total of 94 minutes, nine ahead of Langkow of Vegreville and 21 ahead of Mann of Mundare.

Benefit dance is held

by Ken Kroetsch

Over 300 people rallied to the occasion to offer financial support to the recent victims of a trailer fire which completely destroyed the home of Darin and Sheila Olson, by attending a benefit dance in the Community Hall last Saturday [illegible]

Over $1,500 was raised through the dance, said Linda Umrysh, sister of Sheila [illegible]

Umrysh said people from Bruce, Ryley, Tofield, Bruderheim, Edmonton and even Fort Saskatchewan attended the function. Most attended with their families.

A lot of the ladies brought sandwiches and squares. A lot of food was left over, said Umrysh. There was also coffee and juice for everyone.

For entertainment, four local bands, Country Pride, Country Junction, Steelaway and the Morning After, donated their time and talent to play for the function.

"There was every kind of music with every kind of mixture," said Umrysh.

Umrysh said by 11 p.m. there was standing room only [illegible]

Besides the contributions from the benefit dance there were also contributions from the various church organizations from Ryley and Tofield. Besides money contributions the couple received furniture and clothing.

Darin and Sheila Olson are presently living just north of the creamery in Tofield.

On December 19, in the early hours of the morning, the Olson's trailer was completely destroyed by fire. The couple were without insurance on their home or its contents.

The benefit dance held for Darin and Sheila Olson on Saturday was well attended.

Fund needs help

[illegible]

That is the sum to be raised in this area if the local objective is to be met in the annual Christmas Seals fund-raising [illegible]

There are three weeks remaining in the fund-raising drive.

Residents of Camrose and surrounding area have contributed a total of $19,215 to this winter's drive.

That sum represents eighty eight percent of the total objective of $21,700 and that percentage is the best in the province, according to a report issued on the first day of the year by the Alberta Lung Association.

Only three other centers in the province have attained eighty percent of their objective and they include Calgary (83%), Drumheller (80%) and Red Deer (80%).

On the provincial level, seventy-eight percent of the overall objective had been reached by the end of 1983.

The provincial target is $850,000 with the sum of $667,779 having been collected.

The fund-raising drive in the Camrose region is conducted by the Kinettes and Kinsmen under the chairmanship of [illegible]

Contributions may be forwarded to the Alberta Lung Association, 10618-124th Street, Edmonton, T5N 3X4.

WHY BOTHER WITH A BUDGET?

There are dozens of excuses for not operating and following a budget. You've probably heard some of these before "How can I budget? Once bills are paid there's nothing left over!"; "Budgeting is dreary bookwork", or "I can always cut back on groceries if money gets tight".

People who do prepare budgets feel more in control of their money. Controlling your money instead of money controlling you can mean peace of mind. It also means making short and long term goals for your family and actually meeting those goals.

Your budget can be as simple as sitting down with a spouse and maybe the family and discussing the kinds of things they would like to see as goals. You'll get lots of suggestions! By process of discussion, you will come up with some short and long term goals. Some of your goals might be finishing a basement for the kids, taking a holiday, remodelling the kitchen or rebuilding the barn.

Once you've set reasonable goals and designated them as short or long term, you can plan your money spending around them. Waiting until the end of the month and saving whatever is leftover is an exercise in futility. Savings should be taken off the top and put into a separate account.

Of course, emergencies may come up that don't allow you to put the savings away one month. If this happens two months in a row, take a look at your spending and planning. Did you forget that insurance [illegible]

Taking control of your money is a first step towards making your money work for you. If you are interested in record keeping books and some budgeting hints, contact this office for a copy of the COPE series. It's a first step.

Scientists clone ice-forming gene

Scientists at a California biotechnology firm and at the University of California in Berkeley have announced the isolation of a gene that could help unlock the mystery of frost damage to plants and ultimately lead to more effective frost protection methods.

According to information received by Conrad Gietz, Alberta Agriculture's agrometeorologist, the scientists have isolated the bacterial gene that is responsible for ice nucleation. Found in several species of bacteria, the gene apparently stimulates the production of a substance that causes water to form ice crystals when the temperature is slightly below freezing. It is these crystals that actually cause the frost injury to plants.

In addition to isolating the ice nucleating gene, the scientists at the biotechnology firm and at the University of California have managed to clone the nucleating gene into E. coli bacteria that is commonly used in genetic engineering. The fact that E. coli containing the new gene can be cultured in a laboratory to produce biogenic ice nuclei in relatively large quantities means that scientists can now explore the structural components of the nucleating substances to protect crops from frost damage.

Scientists have been studying ice nucleating in microorganisms, plants and insects for a number of years, but this is the first time that genes for ice nucleation have been isolated and cloned from a living organism.

Ice nucleating research has applications in other areas including weather modification where the nucleation material could potentially be used to seed clouds so that they would produce rain or snow. Mr. Gietz agrees with the scientists who say that the scientific and commercial benefits that could be derived from ice nucleating research are just beginning to be explored. And he says the above research represents important progress towards answering the most basic questions about how ice formation is triggered.

ALBERTA FARM COMPUTER COURSE

The Alberta Farm Computer Course is now available. Many of you may have heard that this particular Homestudy Course was being developed. We have recently received the brochures which describe the course and provide the registration form.

The course is aimed at acquainting you with computers and providing a good introduction to their application on the farm. Eight chapters provide information on the uses of farm computers, various computer systems, parts of the computer (hardware, software) financial and physical record keeping, farm budgeting and planning, communications with large computer information storage banks and the buying decision.

This course will provide very valuable information for those who have already purchased a computer as well as people who strictly want to learn more about computers. Brochures are available at our office.

SURFACE RIGHTS UPDATE

Ownership of land does not mean that the landowner has exclusive control of his property. Special government acts permit land to be used for the benefit of the general public. Common law allows the mineral owner to enter upon the land held by the surface owner to work and remove the minerals. The surface owner and company wishing to remove the minerals may not be able or willing to reach an agreement regarding the use of the land. Therefore, the Surfaces Rights Act comes into play.

Many farmers in our district are familiar with this Act and have been involved in various pipeline, oil drilling or gas well establishments. Those without direct involvement may wish to become familiar with their surface rights. The local Agricultural Development Committee has recommended that a Surface Rights Update meeting be held. The meeting, sponsored by the County of Beaver No. 9 Agricultural Service Board and Alberta Agriculture will be held on January 17, 1984 at 1:00 p.m. in the Holden Community Hall.

There have been significant changes made to the Surface Rights Act. This meeting will be a valuable opportunity to learn what those changes are, and their potential impact on farmers.

Announce farm waste management system

Olds College in Olds, Alberta, is going to construct a $939,000 prototype waste management system on its 70-year-old farmstead which will revolutionize manure handling practices.

The chairman of the college's board of governors, Don Robertson, says the system will recyle high moisture manure from the hog and dairy cattle facilities, the runoff from the beef feedlots and the dry waste from horses and sheep as well as from the college's cafeteria to produce a variety of materials for reuse on the farm.

Mr. Robertson also says the recycling process will begin with the transportation of the waste material to a covered mixing pit where its water content will be adjusted to provide a 10 per cent solid material mixture. It will be stored in a 2-million gallon tank called a Slurrystore.

When required, the material will be pumped into a methane digester where an anaerobic process will produce more than 7 million cubic feet of methane gas a year for use in the Olds College heating plant and in a prototype demonstration electrical generator.

The by-products from the process will be transported by pipe to a tub grinder where they will be mixed with fibre and other low food value bulk materials to produce a balanced ration for beef or swine. The feed will be stored in two airtight Harvestore structures.

A.O. Harvestore Products Inc. of Illinois and its Western Canadian affiliate, Western Harvestore Ltd., have donated materials and grants valued at $282,000 to the project which will be matched by grants from the Alberta Advanced Education Endowment Fund. The Olds College Foundation plans to raise an additional $150,000 and the college itself will allocate $305,000 from the province's recent $2 million college farmstead upgrading grant.

Mr. Robertson reports that the methane by-products can also be used as a fertilizer or they can be redigested and dried to form a product that can be used for animal bedding or to replace peat moss in the horticultural industry.

Rites held for Leonard Willans

God saw the road was getting rough
And the hills were hard to climb
So he closed your weary [illegible]
And whispered 'Peace be [illegible]'

On December 27, 1983, Leonard Willans of Sherwood Park Nursing Home, formerly of Ryley, passed away one week and two days after his 87th birthday in the Royal Alexandra Hospital in Edmonton.

He leaves to mourn two sons, Elwood and his wife Hattie of Sherwood Park, Arthur and his wife Selma of Viking, one daughter, Muriel and her husband Edward Lyons of Ryley, eight grandchildren, seven great-grandchildren and two sisters-in-law. Mr Willans was predeceased by his wife Olive, December 25, 1980, also two sons Leonard and Kenneth and one great-grandson.

Funeral services were held Friday, December 30, 1983 at 2 p.m. in Calvin United Church, Ryley, with Rev. Dan Newell officiating. Interment in the Ryley Cemetery.

CARD OF THANKS

Our sincere thanks to relatives, friends, neighbours and Calvin United Church for their beautiful floral tributes, also for memorials, cards, sympathy and support expressed in the loss of our Dad, Grandfather and Great Grandfather, Leonard [illegible].

Thank you for donations so generously given to Calvin United Church Building Fund, Cancer Society, Calvin United Church Memorial Fund, Ryley Sunshine Club, Calvin United Church for Local Expenses, Ryley Cemetery Fund and Bethel Lutheran Church.

Special thanks to Rev. Dan Newell for a very appropriate message, to our organist, Mrs. Harriett Ruddy for her lovely musical tributes, the United Church Women for lunch served after the funeral and food sent to our home, also thanks to Anton Knudslien for clearing ice from the church front doors and Mr and Mrs. Earl Kjelland of Viking Funeral [illegible].

In lieu of individual notes to all our friends we have made a donation, in memory of our dear Dad, to Calvin United Church Memorial Fund.

Public meeting is planned
... re Belvedere Park

by Ken Kroetsch

The Tofield Recreation Board are ready to take three proposed plans for the development of the Belvedere Park to the public for their feedback and ideas on the proposals.

The three proposed plans, discussed at the last regular meeting of the board, include the original plan, drawn up by Community Development Consultants in July of last year; another plan by Peter Alexander, consultant from Alberta Recreation and Parks; and a plan drawn up by the recreation board of their concept of the park.

The date for the public meeting has been set for January 30 at 8 p.m. in the Town Hall.

Recreation Director, Jackie Dumouchel, said that after the plans have been taken to the public then the plans will be submitted to Town Council for their approval.

Dumouchel said that they hope to start work on the project this summer with completion to be done over two or three years.

Some of the proposed ideas for the park include a ball diamond, soccer field, and picnic areas to name a few.

In other board business it was pointed out that the Community Hall's deficit for this year was considerably less than had been expected.

The amount of deficit budgeted for was $5,000. The deficit for the Hall will be in the neighbourhood of $2,000 this year the board was told.

The lower deficit was attributed to the success of the Theatre shows and to lower expenses over the year.

It's hard to say what the deficit for the hall will be next year, was the consensus of the [illegible].

The goal of the board in their budget statement is to keep the deficit of the Community Hall under $5,000 in the 1984 year.

The proposed budget of the Fairground Advisory Board was approved by the board and will be submitted to council as part of the Recreation Board's budget.

The budget for the Fairground Advisory Board has been set at $11,200. This is broken down to $2,000 for graveling in the fairgrounds, $1,700 for an announcing booth, $4,500 for fencing round the men's baseball diamond, $2,000 for landscaping; and $500 for any other fencing that has to be done.

Recreation Director, Jackie Dumouchel, informed council that for 1984 user fees would be introduced on an experimental basis. The fees would be imposed against tournaments held at the fairgrounds.

The fees would be collected by the Recreation Board and administered by the recreation board to offset maintenance costs presently born by the Town of Tofield.

The fees will not affect local teams using the ball diamonds.

Dumouchel also told the board there could be some repercussions over a dance school student breaking her ankle in the Community Hall because the floor was too slippery.

Dumouchel said that since the incident the type of floor wax used has been changed to insure this doesn't happen [illegible].

In other business the board made a recommendation that the $80 collected for rental of the hall for a benefit dance for Darin and Sheila Olson be donated back to the couple.

Board member Jack Lampitt had suggested there be no charge at all, but Dumouchel said because the board doesn't have a policy concerning this sort of thing that the board couldn't give it free. A compromise was reached by making a recommendation to donate the rent back to the couple. This decision will be made by Town Council at their next regular meeting.

Toro All Stars named

Tofield Toros will be well represented in Camrose on Saturday night when the annual County All Star game will be played.

Coaching the All Star line-up will be Allan Robertson and D.J. Gilbert of the Toros who will be sending five players to the match.

Expected to start in goal for the All Stars is Olson of the Toros and his teammates will include Dave Fleeon, Ray Doepel, Larry Jenkinson and Gary Olson.

The All Stars will meet defending champions Camrose Blackhawks (formerly Bawlf) in the seven o'clock game which is to be played in Cadreco.

Following the game, a cabaret is to be held in the Viking Cultural Centre and a joint admission to both events is available at the arena door.

Toros had a split in two outings during the past week to remain in second place in league standings but now, trail the undefeated Camrose entry by eight points.

In their only contest of the coming week, Toros will host Nursette on Friday night.

A Monday night league encounter in Tofield will pit Camrose against Kingman.

Toros went to Rosalind a week ago yesterday (Tuesday) where they were shocked 4-1 by the home team, with Doepel scoring the lone Tofield goal in this contest.

In a free-wheeling wide-open contest in Tofield on Saturday night, Toros outgunned Kingman by a 9-6 margin.

Tofield got its goals from nine different marksmen and they included Gilbert, Garner, Fleeon, T. Donnan, Olson, Gillery, Doepel, Schoeman and King. Kingman's goals resulted in D. Penner and Herte each notching a pair while the singles came from P. Penner and D. Fraser.

Olson of the Toros continues to be the top goalie while Garner is tied for seventh place in the individual scoring race.

Consider tax situation when relocating a farm

In view of the taxation implications of relocating a farm business, farmers who are contemplating such a move should ask themselves the following questions:

Is the purpose for which I intent to use the replacement property the same or as similar to, that for which I am using their present property?

Am I using my present property to earn income from a [illegible]?

If I dispose of my present property, what is the time limit I have in which to buy a replacement property?

What is the value or cost of the replacement property compared with the one I am thinking of selling?

Will I be able to defer all or only part of my gain from the sale of my present property and the purchase of replacement property?

Under the replacement property provision of the federal Income Tax Act, which came into effect in 1977, a tax-deferred rollover of business assets is allowed if the property is replaced by similar business assets by the end of the following taxation year.

To qualify for this rollover, the asset must have been a business property immediately before its disposition; the replacement asset must hve been purchased before the end of the first taxation year following the disposition of the original asset; a letter of election (notification of intent) [illegible] tax return for the year in which the replacement property was acquired, the replacement asset must be used in the same business as the orignal asset or in a similar business; and the property must be taxable Canadian property if the owner is not a Canadian resident.

The same rules apply to property that is expropriated. The owner may defer all or part of his gain on the disposition of such property, and he may defer all or part of the recapture of the capital cost allowance. The same rules also apply regarding the purchase of replacement property except that a person whose property was expropriated has until the end of the second taxation year following expropriation in which to purchase replacement property.

[illegible] on the replacement property provision of the federal Income Tax Act and examples of how it works are contained in a publication entitled "Tax Consideration When Relocating a Farm Business" (Agdex 837-4). It can be obtained from district agriculturists and from the Publications Office, Alberta Agriculture, J. G. O'Donoghue Building, 7000 - 113 Street, Edmonton, Alberta [illegible]

Heralds Of His Light

Tom and Val Rausch, the HERALDS OF HIS LIGHT, are currently travelling across Canada, presenting Gospel Concerts at approximately 300 evangelical churches. As a vocal duet, they delight in praising their wonderful Lord and Saviour, Jesus Christ. Tom is also an accomplished trombonist and guitarist. God is in the business of changing lives, and Tom and Val would like to share with you through testimony and song how God has been changing their lives.

This concert is free and open to all ages. Bring a friend and come and join us as we listen and participate in praising the Lord together with Tom and Val — the HERALDS OF HIS LIGHT. This concert will be held at the Tofield Alliance Church at 7:30 p.m. on January 12, 1984. See you there!

Break it up!

Referees had their hands full a few times during the game between Holden and Tofield as tempers flared between players. There was a lot of rivalry between the two teams as Tofield trounced Holden 9-2

Although low keyed, the Alberta Check Stop was conducted almost daily over the holiday season. This plus the regular patrolling of our highways resulted in three people having their licence suspended for a 24 hour period, two charges of impaired driving, one charge of driving without a subsisting operators licence, five people being charged with Liquor Control Act infractions and four traffic notices and 22 Voluntary tickets being handed out. Also five suspicious vehicle complaints were looked into

Although hunting season ended in early December, five people were charged with illegal possession of game and hunting out of season.

One complaint of abduction, two complaints of sexual assault and three sudden deaths were also investigated in December

Among other calls responded to were two assaults, two disturbances, two frauds, four mischief, two break and enters, three cruelty to animals and two livestock complaints. 14 assistance to the General Public, or other Police Department calls, 18 execution of Warrants and four Summonses being issued, all resulted in new files being opened. With approximately 1080 square miles to cover and a total of 2114 files being investigated in 1983, the five members and one secretary which make up the Tofield Detachment have had their busy days.

Student work plans stated

John Roberts, Minister of Employment and Immigration, has announced details of the federal government's 1984 Summer Canada employment measures for students.

The primary focus of this $170 million package is human resources development through career-enhancing work experience for about 60,000 participants.

"Our youth will need high-level skills to meet the [redacted] in the rest of the 1980's and 1990's," Mr. Roberts said. Summer Canada 1984 will provide students with an opportunity to acquire the work experience their future employers will be looking for."

The bulk of jobs, about 41,000, will be created through Summer Canada Works. This program funds productive, experience-giving jobs sponsored by organizations, business and individuals.

The second major Summer Canada component, Summer Career-Access, is a wage subsidy program that provides internships for students in the public, private and non-profit sectors. The internships allow students to develop skills and to acquire work experience to make their eventual transition from school to work easier. Approximately 12,000 jobs will be created in 1984 through Summer Career-Access.

Canada Employment Centres for Students (Hire-A-Student Offices in Alberta) will again be [redacted] across Canada at more [redacted] 400 locations, providing a summer job placement service for students. About 1,000 student placement officers are expected to make more than 23,000 placements in the summer of 1984.

In addition, 400 jobs will be created to provide internships for Native students within the Canada Employment and Immigration Commission

Also, part of Summer Canada 1984 are programs administered by the RCMP and Department of National Defence. These programs will provide career-enhancing experience and basic work skills in a variety of trades for about 14,000 participants in a military or police environment.

He leaves to mourn his wife, Helen; a son, Douglas of Whistler, B.C., a daughter, Mrs. Anne Stokes of Vernon, B.C., two grandchildren, Casey and Carly Greenwood; also cousins in England and Canada.

A memorial service was held last Wednesday in McCall Brothers Chapel with John Wood officiating. Cremation followed.

Mr. Greenwood and family resided in Holden for a number of years operating the drug store and he built and carried on business in the Holden Variety Store. While residing in Holden, he was active in community affairs serving on the Village of Holden Council and was mayor for a term, also being a member of Holden Masonic Lodge.

Don and Pearl Allan spent the Christmas holiday in Edmonton with relations and friends and then spent a day visiting with Ruth and Albert Pederson of Sherwood Park, former Holdenites, who had spent an extended holiday in Eastern Canada during the late fall.

Mrs. Joe Shanley, a longtime resident of Holden who had been in poor health the last few years and a patient in hospital and lately in a nursing home, passed [redacted] over the weekend.

Members [redacted] the Holden United Church Women are pleased with their first venture of Christmas Food Hampers for the needy.

Members of the UCW visit every month at the Nursing Home in Viking, taking articles and gifts to those requesting them.

The Friendship Group will meet for their regular meeting on Jan 18th at the home of Mrs Kate Nichols

Charlie Sears is an active man

by Ken Krentech

C.W. Sears, known around the community as Charlie has been actively engaged in one form of public office or another during his adult life.

Now the Mayor of Tofield and Chairman of the Tofield Hospital Board, Sears got his start in public office by serving as a school trustee for the Ketchemoot School District.

He went from there to the Holden School Division where he served for nine years.

Sears said when he served on the Holden School Board there were over 30 schools in the division.

"There were only seven left by the time the county of Beaver came in," said Sears.

When he started in 1940 as a school trustee for the Holden School Division there was only one school bus in the whole area, because of the number of rural schools.

After the County of Beaver was formed in 1950 Sears served as county councillor and as school trustee for 12 years in office.

Sears said that although he served as a councillor on the county his first priority was education.

"I've been involved for over 30 years in education," said Sears.

In the last 30 years Sears said he saw the Tofield School go from an eight room, two story brick building to the present school as it stands today.

For his part in education Sears was honored after the construction of the new elementary school with the new school being named after him.

"It was a real honor to have it named after me," said Sears.

Another area that Sears has been actively involved in is the Hospital Board, where he has served approximately 20 years.

At the present time he is involved in building a new hospital in Tofield, consequently he will serve on the Hospital Board until the next election following the completion of the hospital, by a ministerial order.

Sears was born just out of town, as he puts it, "a few years ago," in 1915 in the Ketchemoot area.

He attended the Ketchemoot School from grades 1-8. He said this was as far as he was able to go because he couldn't afford to stay in town to attend school.

After leaving school Sears took up farming, taking over his father's farm and purchasing additional land to farm.

On July 15, 1939 he married Ruby McLennan from Ryley. He brought his new bride back to the Ketchemoot area to settle down to have eight children.

"The war started the first of September," said Sears. Then just to make sure the point was clear enough he said, "The Second World War."

Over the course of years Charlie and his wife Ruby had two girls and six boys to raise to adulthood.

Gary lives in Sherwood Park, is married and has four children; Gail Linton, presently visiting from Trinidad, has two children. Dwight lives in Fort Saskatchewan and has four children; Dwayne lives in Calgary and has two children; Gwen Hoover lives at Hastings Lake and has one child; Robin lives in Sherwood Park and is a bachelor; and David was married in Tofield last summer.

During his youth and earlier adult life approximately 30 years of his leisure time was spent playing either hockey or baseball for Tofield.

Sears said the last year he ever played hockey he was given a trophy for being the oldest player.

"I thought that said something so that was the last year I played."

In the winter Sears is an active curler in Tofield.

His first love, however, is flying. He said he was about seven years old the first time he sat in the cockpit of an airplane.

The same plane, a Curtis Jennings, has been rebuilt and is hanging in the convention centre in Edmonton.

Though he got to sit in the cockpit of this airplane his first ride didn't come until 1930.

In 1959 Sears obtained his pilots license and has been actively engaged in flying, as a member of the Edmonton and Camrose Flying Clubs and as a member of the Alberta Aviation Council.

He is also a member of the Canadian Operating Pilots Association and is a member of the Cessna 140 Club of America because he owns a Cessna 140.

Sears said he tries to fly at least once a week, but because of the colder weather lately he hasn't been able to fly for about six weeks.

As the newly elected Mayor of Tofield Sears would like to see some small industry come into Tofield.

"How were going to do it I don't know."

Sears said it is something council is going to work on in 1984.

Another thing Sears would like to see in 1984 is lower taxes.

"I won't be like Purvis (former Mayor of Edmonton) and say there won't be any increases. That's up to council."

Another project Sears would like to have investigated would be for Tofield to have its own airport.

"We're in a good spot for a landing strip."

Sears said the government buys the land and sets up the airfield, leaving the maintenance to the community.

Many think the wound is healed,
But they little know the sorrow
That lies in the heart concealed

In camera topics debated

... by school board

The County of Beaver School Board accepted an official policy regarding meetings held by the school board, at the regular meeting of the board last week.

All members of the board were in favor of the policy except trustee Bobbie Schweitzer who objected that the portion of the policy concerning in camera sessions was too general and should be more specific.

"I feel strongly that our meetings should be done in public as much as possible and when a motion is made to go in camera it specify what we are going into committee of the whole for," said Schweitzer.

Schweitzer also felt that the policy should state exactly what the board could go in camera for, with these items being itemized in the policy.

Superintendent Bill Schoeman said he hadn't put this in the draft policy, but had left it general because it was difficult to itemize all of the possibilities that the board might have to go in camera for. Trustee George Kandalion concurred with this.

"Who can forecast what we're going in camera for?" said Kandalion.

Schweitzer conceded on this point, but continued to feel that when the motion to go in camera was made it should be stated what they were going in camera for.

"The more we deal in matters the more our image suffers," said Schweitzer.

Board Chairman Jean Warner asked if the board wanted to meet and handle all in camera sessions at once, or did the board want to handle them as each item arose on the agenda.

Council felt that each item should be handled as it came up on the agenda.

Another question was voiced by Schweitzer regarding what was discussed while in camera. She said that only the topic they had gone in camera for, should be discussed.

Several trustees disagreed with this saying that there were often areas that related that should be discussed together.

The final consensus reached was that it was the role of the chairman to decide what would be discussed in camera.

The policy statement states that all board business will be transacted at official meetings of the board. All meetings, except when the board goes in camera, will be open to the public.

The policy deals with the organizational meeting, the Brodie resigns

by Ken Kroetsch

The administrator of Tofield, Neil Brodie, has tendered his resignation effective February 15, to take the job of town manager for the Town of Brooks.

Chosen out of 60 applicants, Brodie said, "I felt it was something I couldn't turn down."

Town of Tofield Council were to meet on Monday evening to deal with the resignation and decide the selection process for his replacement.

Brodie came to Tofield in September of 1976.

In his time here, he has seen a lot of development, both in the residential and commercial sections of town.

He said he has seen the growth of the town climb from 1,322 to the present population of 1,580.

Playoffs held

by Ken Kroetsch

The Doug Dobry rink of Vilna came out the winner of the Zone 11 men's curling playdowns held in Ryley last week.

With skip Paul Devlin, third John Hunter, Dobry as second and Don Hazlo as lead, the Dobry rink beat out the Pat Miller rink of Strome to go on to the Northerns in Fort McMurray. From this competition, there will be three teams that go on to the provincials.

There were 16 teams from Tofield, Ryley, Holden, Vilna, Sedgewick, Strome, Dayland and Camrose, that took part in the five-day bonspiel.

There were three events in the playdowns with the three event winners playing off to decide the winner.

In the A event was the Dobry rink.

In the B event the winner was Pat Miller of Strome, with third Jim Miller, second Morris Miller and lead Tim Miller.

In the third event, Reg Enright of Bawlf took first place. Curling with Enright was third Bob Seney, second Dave Sears and lead Dave Shultz.

The zone competitions are held each year in a different community each time.

County tables landfill

by Ken Kroetsch

The County of Beaver council tabled the by-law that would give them authority to join the Regional Sanitary Landfill, after council failed to reach a consensus on the matter, at the regular meeting last week.

Councillors not in favor of entering into an agreement at this time said they would like to see the report done by the consultant firm substantiated as some of the costs quoted in the report were questionable.

Another concern raised by opposed councillors was the percentage the county will have to contribute to the landfill costs.

"It would be more equitable to charge on a tonnage basis," said councillor Don Ronaghan.

Ronaghan also said that urban people generate more garbage than a rural person, therefore the major costs should be picked up by the municipalities.

"Most farmers have their own facilities. It isn't fair that someone not using the facilities should have to contribute," said Ronaghan.

Reeve John Warner concurred with this statement.

"Town residents produce half again as much garbage as rural residents," said Warner.

Councillor George Kandalion said, "If you're paying for it there is more incentive to not have garbage dumped in the back forty."

Another concern was the initial costs of a regional landfill.

Reeve Warner said that the present sites would have to be reclaimed at a cost of approximately $5,000 a piece.

One councillor said this wouldn't be the cost to the county, but that the cost would have to be picked up by the municipalities.

"Regardless of who pays it still costs," said Warner.

"I'm not concerned about the costs I haven't heard this concern from Tofield and Ryley", said Kandalion.

Ronaghan said that if he were a municipality and the county was picking up 60 per cent of the cost that he [illegible] As a councillor I don't see that I'm responsible for Tofield's problem," said [illegible]

Reeve Warner said he thought this was one service that the county could do without. This in times [illegible] economic restraint, the county should be doing with less services rather than adding more.

Councillor Reuben Haveland disagreed saying that the County should be taking a lead in getting this service off the ground.

Ronaghan said he would like to see the present landfill sites brought up to standard rather than go to a regional landfill [illegible]

"The regulations for a modified landfill are not that stringent. It's to get approval initially," said Ronaghan.

He said if the new landfill was going to be better he would be in agreement, but if they are only going to cover the garbage with dirt then upgrading is the route to go.

Councillor Gordon Maxwell

Some key reasons for youth unemployment

By W. Roger Worth

Unemployment among youth is abnormally high, and it is likely to remain that way. While it's difficult to generalize why this is so, there is more than a suspicion that the open school system of the late 1960s and 1970s has had a negative impact on the skills and work attitudes of a generation of Canadians.

John Bulloch, President of the Canadian Federation of Independent Business, for example, believes our educational infrastructure has turned out a generation of youth that is ill-equipped technically and attitudinally for the labor market of the 1980s.

Bulloch, it should be said, is voicing the view of the 40 per cent of his organization's 64,000 members who say they would hire more of the younger generation if work attitudes were better. It's also important to note that these are the people who already hire more than their fair share of younger Canadians, and are the likely source of new jobs if they become available.

As Bulloch points out: "Foreign languages, which are essential for business to penetrate markets, are no longer obligatory, and many of our small business members report high school and university graduates cannot add without a calculator or write without a dictionary."

"Too many expect to be president of the company next week, and be paid accordingly, rather than suffer the drudgery of a long apprenticeship and the slow acquisition of important skills," he adds.

Nevertheless, Bulloch is the first to admit that not all youth fit into the "ill-equipped" category.

For example, there has been an explosion in the number of younger Canadians setting up their own businesses, particularly in craft manufacturing, as well as retailing and a variety of other business areas.

But even some of these newer firms were among the 20 per cent of Federation members reporting that lack of skills among youth was a very real problem.

For governments, there is no simple solution. About 18 per cent of businesses polled in a national survey were skeptical about special incentives to hire younger people, including the wage subsidies and tax breaks that have already been offered.

Still, changes in the nation's education system are taking place, and there is room for hope. Some provinces have already toughened the curriculum, placing more emphasis on the basics — reading, writing and arithmetic.

Others are introducing computers and new technology into the system so graduates will at least be conversant with the machines of the 1980s. And some provinces are returning to formal, province-wide examinations to better rate student skills.

The system, of course, won't change overnight. But at least we seem to be waking up to the fact that change is necessary and long overdue.

Dark ages still?

Almost routinely Canadians are learning about tragic accidents happening to airplanes flying with Canadians aboard, with loss of life becoming more and more commonplace, where it used to be almost unheard of.

Only last week a Canadian DC-3 flying cargo out of Missouri crashed because the ground crew pumping attendant confused jet fuel with high octane gasoline. Months ago an Air Canada jet belly-landed at Gimli because ground crew confused metric with Imperial in loading fuel.

Similar reports are heard again and again.

But surely people who can put these planes into the air, who can put rockets into space, can apply a little common sense to avoid such catastrophes.

Far less investment and far less risk is involved in the difference between regular and lead-free gasoline for automobiles, yet cars are differently equipped, and every service station has to provide the appropriate spout to fill a gas tank. Is it so unthinkable that such remarkably progressive thinking be applied to airplane fuel tanks? Isn't it possible to have different nozzles for high octane and for jet fuel? So that it couldn't happen again? Isn't it possible for planes registering in litres to have some different sort of hose fitting from those still filling up in gallons, whether they be American or Imperial gallons?

Certainly it should be possible to rely on the element of human intelligence, but once in awhile it fails, once in awhile it faces long, strenuous overtime hours, once in awhile it proves to be merely fallibly human. At such times, shouldn't it be possible to have some simple, inexpensive, fail-safe device protecting the operation? In this day and age?

And speaking of human intelligence, why was it so completely lacking on the part of Air Canada administration which suspended the pilot, a man who had already queried the fuel load, and who employed skill of an exceptional level in safely landing his passengers, rather than giving the man a medal on the spot? Maybe the fail-safe devices are needed more in the Air Canada offices than they are in the planes.

USC RURAL DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM

A USC contributor wrote, "I think your rural development program is an excellent approach to Third World problems". In Bangladesh a $50 loan creates new opportunities for rural families to increase their incomes and permanently improve the quality of their lives. During 1983-84 the USC Rural Development Program will expand to eight new areas and involve some 1500 families. The USC is at 56 Sparks Street, Ottawa, K1P [illegible].

Hike output

There's still fat in the Post Office, warns President Michael Warren, and workers will have to work harder for their money or lose their jobs.

Mr. Warren cites a number of areas where the Post Office would like to expand, lottery tickets, banking services, advertising mail, but he says just when they get close to negotiating something, along will come a union employee with some such suggestion as ten cent mail, which scares off the other parties.

Mr. Warren should be commended on the job he's doing, because apparently the record is excellent. The deficit was almost a billion dollars when he took over in 1981, now it's slashed to a mere (mere?) three hundred million. In October 1981, only three out of six Canadians felt they were getting good to very good service, whereas only two years later, in October 1983, four out of six felt that way. That's a gain of one third, which is no small feat. But it still leaves a full third of Canadians less than satisfied.

One way to improve that satisfaction would be to forget the lotteries, the banking, the advertising, the other services, and concentrate on the mail. After all, if they muscle in on the lotteries and the banks, can they not expect the lotteries and banks to demand rights to deliver mail? One-way monopolies seem pretty hard to defend.

Loose Ends

by Carol Livingstone

[illegible]

Odd thoughts flitted through my mind when I contemplated joining the ranks of the employed for the first time in 13 years — employment outside the home, that is. Oh, there were those six months or so, about two years ago, when I did filing and helped to complicate the life of the bookkeeper in my husband's business. But you don't want to hear the sordid details of a flunked math student struggling with the essentials of bookkeeping, do you? You do. How cruel! Anyhow, having your husband for a boss doesn't count as working, does it?

Here are some of the random thoughts that were passing through my head recently, [illegible] even slowing down: 1) I don't have a thing to wear! 2) What do I do when my kids are sick? 3) Will my paycheck cover a a) housekeeper? b) cook? c) weekly trips to the hairdresser? d) a live-in foot masseur? 4) Who will yell at the dog when he barks? 5) [illegible] will I ever know [illegible] happens to Luke and Laura? 6) Since I start work at 9:30, how will I fool my employer into thinking I am awake and alert, even though my other eye doesn't open until much, much later?

Now, after being one of the working class for about six weeks, I know that I can overcome any problem that might pop up and I have answers to those random thoughts.

1) I still don't have a thing to wear. 2) The kids have promised to save their tummyaches for weekends. 3) a) The housework can wait or get done with the help of various family members, just like B.E. (Before Employment). b) So far the meals have been better than when I wasn't working. Daddy cooks on Thursdays — need I say more? c) I got my hair cut short enough not to curl. d) I really could use that foot massage! 4) I'm searching for a vet who specializes in bark removals. 5) I can catch up on the Soaps on my days off, if I still want to. So far all withdrawl symptoms are minut[e]. 6) I'll use toothpicks.

Of course, I still don't have the answer to the most frequently asked question. It flits through every Saturday morning around 7:30, and goes something like, "How come I'm out here padding around in the [illegible] rest of the family is still snoring?"

Some aspects of being one of the working class will never catch on — at least, not on my side of the alarm clock.

Better communication is sought by trustee

by Ken Kroetsch

School trustee for the Village of Ryley, Edgar Good, met with Village councillors at their regular meeting to inform council he would like to see better communication between council and the school board.

He said he would like to have better communication about the school and its problems.

In other business, village councillors voted to give village employees a six per cent increase for the 1984 year.

It was moved that council [illegible] capital requirements to be financed by debenture to the Alberta Municipal Financing Corporation in 1984 at $150,000 in the third-quarter of the year.

Council moved that the Village of Ryley not renew their membership with [illegible] Unlimited.

The secretary was asked to inquire into the date of Unlittered Week so the Village can buy garbage bags and hire local groups to pick up garbage.

The secretary was also asked to inquire about tax concessions, or exemptions for businesses, talk to the Variety Store about burning garbage behind the store, and about a burning by-law.

Because The Mercury reporter cannot attend the Village of Ryley council meetings, this information is obtained from the unapproved minutes of their meeting.

OH HO!

What's the best way to clean glass fireplace doors?

A standard window cleaner used regularly will prevent a major build up of dirt. Methyl hydrate (alcohol) available at hardware stores may help get off the soot, as might ammonia and water.

To clean soot and stains from fireplace bricks use warm soapy water or a TSP (tri-sodium phosphate) solution. Rinse thoroughly but try not to get the bricks too wet. A solution of equal parts of water, ammonia, borax and vinegar also works well.

What is the Best Way to Revive Tarnished Brass and Copper?

These metals tarnish easy when exposed to air and heat. A mild acid, vinegar and salt paste, does an excellent job. Toothpaste may also remove varnish. If heavily stained, use a soap filled steel wool pad before applying a copper cleaner.

Copper cookware is lined with tin — avoid using abrasives on this soft metal.

League play continues

Teams in the Beaverhill Hockey League are gearing up for a stretch drive in the regular schedule.

Tofield Satellite and Lamont are running a close race for first place while Mundare is still in contention for the pennant.

Vegreville currently has a safe lead in the run for the final playoff berth and still could overhaul Mundare for third place.

Holden is winless to date but, aren't out of the running for a playoff spot if the team can turn things around over the last month of the schedule.

Holden was at home to Mundare last night (Tuesday) with results to be reported next week.

Friday's action will see Holden at home to Lamont while Tofield travels to Mundare and on Tuesday, Holden will host Tofield.

Satellites maintained their grip on first place during the past week when they edged Vegreville 4-3 and battled Lamont to a 7-7 stalemate.

In the only other game that was reported, Lamont doubled Mundare by a 4-2 score. A game between Vegreville and Holden in Holden on Saturday night, was either not played or, not reported to CFCW.

Holden has to reschedule three games from the 1983 portion of the schedule, one with Vegreville and two with Lamont. No dates for these contests were available at presstime.

Holden district news

by Mrs. G.H. Taylor

Holden Lodge Order of the Royal Purple held their regular monthly meeting on Jan. 10th with HRL Mary Semotiuk in the chair. Regular business was attended to and correspondence dealt with.

Lady Anne Scherger reported on the January Chamber of Commerce supper; Lady Anne Milimaka gave a final report of the Christmas Food Hamper; HRL Semotiuk advised there were still OORP cookbooks for sale. A report of the visit to the Senior Citizens Lodge by the Lodge and some Elks on Dec. 29th was given by HRL Semotiuk and Lady Helen Stacyl reported on the Sunshine Committee.

Tentative plans were discussed and made for the 37th birthday anniversary of the Lodge. Plans were also discussed and made to hold a series of bingos jointly with the Holden BPO Elks towards the 83/84 project of the Elks Purple Cross Fund. At the conclusion of the meeting, lunch was served with Ladies Kate Nichols and Olga Milimaka being hostesses.

Mr. and Mrs. David Schmidt of Holden have been receiving congratulations on the birth of their daughter, Savannah Rae, born Dec. 18, in Tofield Hospital.

Mrs. Ethel Brekstad has been a patient for several days in Tofield Hospital.

Thursday afternoon visitors with Ethel were Mrs. Kate Nichols and Melvin Fjellstrom.

Former Holdenites, Randy and Lora Tomko of Edmonton, were receiving congratulations on the birth of their son, Ryan Neil, born Dec. 28th. Proud grandparents are Steve and Angeline Tomko of Tofield and Mrs. Barbara Wright of Calgary.

Mrs. Wright and children and her late husband resided in Holden for a few years some time ago, before his death.

Graduate

Gloria Tripp of Tofield recently graduated from Alberta Vocational Centre in Edmonton with her registered nurse assistant certificate.

Pee Wees see action

Just prior to Christmas the level II Blazers won first place in the Tofield Pee Wee II tournament defeating Beaumont 6-3 in the final, after earlier recording a 3-1 win over Lamont, a 9-1 win over Mundare and a 5-1 tie with Beaumont.

The Firebirds played hard in the level II tournament but, came away with no success against teams from Edmonton and Sherwood Park.

No league statistics were available for teams or players in Hway 14 level III competition.

In Pee Wee level hockey both the Tofield level II and level III teams are doing well in Hway 14 league competition.

In weekend action, the level III Firebirds stretched their unbeaten streak to five games with a 8-1 win over Mundare. The Firebirds are at or near first place in their division.

Also on the weekend, the level II Blazers defeated Calmar by a 7-1 score. The Blazers trail league leading Beaumont by two points in the overall standings as of Dec 31.

Craig Donevan of the Blazers has taken over the league scoring lead with 41 points on 27 goals and 14 assists to lead Corey Dryman of Calmar by one point.

Toros hold 2nd

Tofield Toros are still safely entrenched in second place in the County (Camrose) Senior Hockey League.

Toros were shocked by Camrose Nursette in their only outing of the past week.

Toros were bombed 9-3 by Nursette with their only goals being scored by Knox, Gilbert and Borton.

Five members of the Toros went to Camrose on Saturday night where they joined the League All Stars in a game with the Camrose Blackhawks (defending champions) with the game ending in a 6-6 draw.

Ray Doepel picked up an assist to add the All Star points.

Dale Olsen started in goal for the All Stars and allowed only two goals while playing thirty minutes. Other members of the Toros to see action were Rob Gillrie, Larry Jonkhoson and Gerry Olsen.

Next action for the Toros will be on Friday night when they will be at home to Rossland.

Olsen holds a slim lead in the individual goal-tending race while no member of the Tofield squad is now listed in the top seven in the scoring race.

MacCormac heads riders

Katchemut Creek Family Horse Club held its annual meeting on Sunday.

Elections were held and a new slate of officers took office.

Positions are as follows: president Blair MacCormac; vice-president Norma Smith, Jr. vice-president Diane Harper; secretary Sharon MacCormac, treasurer Ruth Hardy, social convenors Anne Neufeld, Deanna Norton and Catherine Brewster, arena directors Walter Krystal and Kasey Krystal, timekeeper Jake Neufeld and club reporter Mina Krystal.

It was decided to ask Shorty Markie and Blair MacCormac to once again share the position of announcer.

While the club has decided not to run a contestant for Ice Carnival queen, they will run a candidate in both Camrose and Tofield rodeos. A vote was held to determine the candidate for Camrose rodeo and Renee King was elected. The Tofield rodeo contestant will be decided later.

A big hand was given to last year's officers for the excellent job they did.

Walter Krystal was presented with a surprise gift by the people whom he hauled horses for over the past year.

The club is having a skating party and hayride on Jan. 29 at 1:30 at Sorrell's slough.

As in previous years a free membership was drawn for. This year's winner is the Harper Fami'. The next meeting is Feb. 26. New members are welcome.

A.A.'s plan evening

by Ken Kreutsch

Alcoholics Anonymous is so anonymous that sometimes people think they are a secret group.

That is why AA in Tofield will be holding a public information evening with the hope of giving the professional community, as well as those people who are suffering either from or because of the disease of alcoholism, a better understanding of the illness.

The meeting is scheduled for Jan. 20 at 8 p.m. in the Drama Room of the Tofield High School.

Available at the meeting will be information on causes, effects and treatment of alcoholism.

There will be a doctor speaking who has experience in the alcoholism field, a member of the Al-Anon Family group, whose lives are effected by alcoholism, and a member of Alcoholics Anonymous, who will discuss what it was like to drink and what it is like now.

Some of the aims the group would like to accomplish by having this information evening is to have people understand that alcoholism is a non curable progressive disease that can be completely controlled, that Alcoholics Anonymous is willing to work with clergy, doctors and professionals in the community, to help those suffering either because or from alcoholism, and that no alcoholic is without hope, provided he or she has an honest desire to recover.

Alcoholics Anonymous is a non-profit, non-sectarian, and non-political organization [illegible] and the United States to help anyone suffering from alcoholism.

Anyone wishing further information on this function are asked to contact either Larry Gillrie at 662-3759, or Don Kilpatrick at 662-3767.

BETWEEN THE COVERS

On the new book table this week, you will find V.C. Andrew's novel "My Sweet Audrina", as well as "Brotherly Love" by William D. Blankenship. For those interested in biography, "Sophia, Living and Loving", by A.E. Hotchner, is Sophia Loren's story, complete with forty pages of photographs.

Another interesting book on figure skating has been added to the library, "Skating: Elegance on Ice", by Howard Bass. This book not only includes many photographs of world class skaters in action, a brief history of skating, and skating competitions, but a discussion of the finer points of the requirements for competition. It would be very helpful for those interested in watching skating, to understand how the judges arrive at the marks they assign.

A two volume set of Jack Higgins' novels will interest those readers who enjoy a good thriller. These books include such favorites as "The Eagle Has Landed, as well as several other titles which were not previously available in this library. There are eight novels altogether in the set.

There have been many inquiries about the Preschool Story Hour. This most popular program will begin again on Feb. 14, to run for two series of eight weeks each. Depending on the number of volunteer readers willing to help with this program, there may also be an additional session for older children, probably in the 5-8 year-old range. The registration for the three and four year olds will be limited this time to 15, and we hope to be able to offer two sessions, to accommodate everyone. Watch in this column for further news.

The regular winter library hours are: Tuesday 1-5, Thursday 3-5 and 6-9; Friday and Saturday 10-12 and 1-5.

Responsibility delegated

by Ken Kreutsch

The County of Beaver Board [illegible] their agenda by delegating some of their responsibility to the superintendent, Bill [illegible].

At a meeting of the school board last week, trustees felt there were areas that could be handled by administration [illegible].

"I think we should be concerned with policy setting and we should let the administration administer policy," said trustee Rod Krips.

[illegible] red with Krips that a lot of items on the agenda each month could be delegated.

There were eight items that were delegated to the [illegible]. These were extra curricular activities, field trips, use of the school during the summer, sick leave, compassionate leave, personal leave, professional development leave and school bus changes that are needed.

Commenting on this change, trustee George Knudslien said, "The last word on this is the superintendent is accountable to the board anyway."

Any decision made by the superintendent will be attached to the agenda as information only items.

In other business the school board and the superintendent, Bill Schoeman, tossed around ideas for future goals in the County of Beaver.

Also, ideas from the last SAC meeting regarding future goals of education were added to the list. There were a total number of 32 suggestions from the SAC meeting and nine suggestions from the SAC meeting and nine suggestions from the school board.

These areas were broken down into seven areas; programs and curriculum; facilities and equipment; studies, staffing; financial, policies and communication.

Superintendent Schoeman said the first goal the board should work on is communication. He said he would put it on the agenda for discussion at the next meeting and would be bringing these future goals back to council from time to time for input and direction.

The information will be discussed at future meetings with short term, medium term and long term plans coming from this.

This material was accepted as information.

Prior to this item on the agenda the board met in camera to discuss future goals that the superintendent thought needed immediate attention.

Holden and district news

by Anne Shewchuck

Mr. and Mrs. Ken Chamberlain, in Holden since 1974, will be leaving here at the end of January. They were owners and operated the Country Kitchen Cafe here for several years.

After selling the Country Kitchen Cafe, the Chamberlains enjoyed semi-retirement. They enjoyed fishing, especially in the Dodd's area, some travelling and Mrs. Chamberlain enjoyed quilting.

They have purchased a grocery store in Vauxhall and will start operating it on February 1.

Mrs. Melania Sharawara celebrated her birthday on January 13 at the Holden Lodge.

Shirley and Clifford Horricks are the proud parents of a son born on January 5th, a brother for Stephen and Laura, and grandson for Alice and Ewald Klatt of Edmonton and Barbara Horricks.

The January meeting of the Community League was held at the hall on Jan 9th. Margaret Paterson took over her new duties as secretary from Carol Dekinder who retired from the position.

A Snowarama being planned by the Snowmobile Clubs of Northern Alberta will be catered to by the League ladies on Jan. 29th. The funds from this goes to the disabled children of Alberta.

The auction sale to be held in April will have a concession booth and arrangements are going ahead, with John Vandermeer as convenor. More information will be available for this as time goes on.

Meetings that were held on Monday evenings on a trial basis will continue to be the second Monday of each month in future.

The Ladies Club meeting that was to be on Jan. 11th is postponed to February 8th due to several ladies being away. Betty Williams will be hostess.

There will be a whist drive in the Crafts Centre on Jan. 14th.

Pupils in our area were back to school on Jan. 9th after a 17-day Christmas vacation.

Even though the member of the Paul Miller rink were right on target with this shot, it wasn't enough to beat the Doug Dobry rink of Viking. Dobry's rink will now go on to the Zone 16 Northerns in Fort McMurray. (See related story) photo by Kroetsch

Holden studies rates

by Ken Kroetsch

Councillors for the Village of Holden met last week to review and change, where necessary, the rental and operational rates dealt with by the Village.

Effective immediately the rental rate of the Community Hall has been increased approximately 10 per cent. The figures were rounded out to make an even number where the rate increase worked out to be an uneven number.

Also increased by 10 per cent was the rental of the Village's garage space. This is effective March 1.

There has been no increase for rent of the office space rented to the lawyer who uses the office once a week.

Water and sewer rates and meter deposits were discussed, with the administrator, Christine McKay being authorized to prepare the necessary by-law for the January 16 meeting.

Photocopying rates at the Village will remain as they were.

In other business, council made a change in policy regarding the number of days that office assistance could be used during any month. This time has been increased to six days from two days previously.

Assistance was also granted for times the administrator will be away due to holidays, or any other time the administrator is authorized to be away.

This means the office will be open more in the coming year than it was in the previous year, though ultimately whether the office will be open or not will depend on council's decision.

In other business council amended the agreement with Alberta Utilities and Telecommunications regarding the Alberta Municipal Water Supply and Sewage Treatment Grant Program.

The amendment was necessary to facilitate payout of the next portion of the grant before the end of the department's fiscal year.

Fifty per cent of the grant was received after the project began and another 30 per cent will be received after the project has reached 80 per cent of completion.

A letter will be sent saying that on or before March 31 that the Sewage Lagoon will have reached 80 per cent completion.

JEROME BACK IN OFFICE

Hi! As of Feb. 1, I'll be back at work full time. It'll be quite a welcome change to switch from the books back to work at the office in Ryley. I'm looking forward to meeting the farmers of Beaver County again.

This business of pursuing a masters' degree is O.K. but perhaps the main thing I've learned is that the more one learns the less they really know! Further learning seems to make one more aware of all the possibilities and challenges which abound in this world.

Feel free to stop in and say hi.

PRUNING DEMONSTRATIONS

Viking (April 2) and Tofield (April 9)

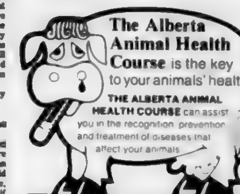
I'm looking for a farmstead at Viking and Tofield where pruning demonstrations can be held. The farmstead should have some poplars, spruce, hedges (eg. lilacs) and if possible one or two fruit trees. If you are interested in sponsoring a pruning demonstration at your farm, please contact the Ryley office at 663-3566.

SILAGE COURSE

The D.A.'s from Leduc have asked us to inform you of a "More Silage Per Acre Seminar" to be held on Jan. 26 at the Leduc Elks Hall from 9:30 a.m. - 3:45 p.m. The seminar will cover:

1) Perennial and special crops for ensiling
2) Annual forage crops
3) Silage quality and minimizing losses
4) New concepts in storage and relative costs

If you are interested, please phone the Leduc Agriculture office at phone number 986-8251.



The Alberta Animal Health Course is the key to your animals' health
THE ALBERTA ANIMAL HEALTH COURSE can assist you in the recognition, prevention and treatment of diseases that affect your animals
For $30.00 you will receive this HOME-STUDY COURSE plus two options which focus on specific farm animal species. The course will be mailed directly to your home. Accompanying the course will be local and regional seminars sponsored by Alberta Agriculture.

Near capacity

The Tofield dump site will be full by this spring and although the Town of Tofield have made temporary arrangements to use the Ryley dump site, Tofield and area will be without dump facilities. At the present time Tofield, Ryley and Holden have entered into an agreement to form a Regional Landfill, but the final decision for the Regional Landfill is left up to the County of Beaver (See related story.)

Landfill is up to the county

by Ken Kroetsch

Whether the Regional Sanitary Landfill is built, or not, depends solely on the County of Beaver council's decision to either pass a by-law and enter into an agreement to establish the landfill, or to scrap the matter altogether.

"If the county agrees to go into the project we'll meet on the 16th (of February) . . . if they don't agree then that's it. It will cease to exist," said chairman of the committee, Bob Cross.

All the other municipalities, with the exception of Viking have agreed to enter into an agreement. Tofield and Ryley have passed by-laws, with Holden to have to pass a by-law last Monday evening.

For the project to go ahead the government requires that the county and two municipalities pass by-laws before the project's funds can be released. If the county decides not to go ahead with the project, then it will be dropped.

The county's position on the matter at this time is that they agree in principal, but have not passed a by-law as of yet.

The only one not to agree with the proposal is Viking.

"At the present time Viking is not interested," said Viking representative Jennie Bird. "That position could change if the site (presently being looked at by Viking) proved not suitable."

At the meeting, held last week, two options to the present proposal were looked at.

The first option was a landfill only, where each of the municipalities had their garbage to the landfill rather than have transfer stations.

Dave King, representing Reid and Crowther and Partners Ltd., consultants on the proposal, said that if they went to this type of system that the saving would be around 30 per cent, as 76 per cent was a fixed cost on the operation of the landfill.

Gene Leskiw, of the Department of Environment, said his department would have to take a hard look at this proposal before accepting it.

Leskiw said the problem he could foresee with this type of system is that rural residents in the far ends of the county could start dumping their garbage in the ditches rather than haul it the distance. He said instead of bolstering the present garbage problem, it could make it worse.

The other option looked at was to have transfer stations, but all garbage hauled into the landfill site would be weighed and each municipality would be charged on a per tonnage basis.

County alternate representative Don Ronaghan asked Leskiw if there was any consideration given to charging on a per tonnage basis from his department.

"We essentially leave it to be worked out by the authority," said Leskiw.

Holden representative Jes Fornal questioned whether paying on a per tonnage basis would work or not.

"How is it going to keep our costs down to the same level?" asked Fornal.

Cross said in his estimation, based on a per tonnage basis for Ryley, that the difference in cost between cost per capita and the cost per tonnage wouldn't be that much different.

Another problem that was foreseen using the per tonnage basis for cost sharing, was that rural residents would not be able to use the towns' and villages' transfer stations, but that there would have to be transfer stations for rural residents as well.

CPR course set

An additional course in CPR has been scheduled by the Further Education Council, for January 31, in Tofield.

CPR (cardio-pulmonary resuscitation) is an easily learned skill that will enable you to assist victims of heart attack, drowning, electrocution and poisoning.

John Bauman, of the Tofield Fire Department, has taught this skill to police, fire, ambulance personnel as well as the general public for four years. He believes it is particularly important that rural residents be trained. "We may be miles away from a medical facility in such an emergency. Because treatment of a victim whos heart and breathing has stopped must begin within the first four minutes, it is essential that the general public be trained at the Heart Saver level. Sixty to seventy percent of those who die from heart attacks do so before they get to a hospital. Many of these could be saved if someone, perhaps a family member or neighbour, was able to initiate CPR until emergency help arrived."

The four-hour Heart Saver course if offered in conjunction with the Canadian Heart Foundation and includes how to prevent, and recognize, as well as how to assist a victim who may be stricken with a heart attack.

For registration information, contact your local representatives of the Further Education Council, Gail Jordan (662-3988) or Anne Uhrick (662-3739).

Dueck heads support group

by Ken Kroetsch

The Ryley School supporters met last week for their annual meeting, to adopt the constitution and by-laws and to elect new officers for the coming year.

Elected as officers for the 1984 year are president Bob Dueck; secretary-treasurer Betty Tennen; directors for the north of Ryley are Linda Lions and Bev Knudsten, from the south of Ryley, past president Leo Lauber and Sanford Bostiger, and director for the villages is Hilda Tucker.

The new constitution for the Ryley School Supporters is broken into four parts.

The constitution reads: The Ryley School Supporters stand for the preservation and maintenance of grades 1-12 in the community offering a satisfactory matriculation and general programs; that Ryley School supporters may act as liaison between parents, teachers, principal and school board; to promote a feeling of good will between parents and school staff; and to have fair and equitable treatment throughout the whole county in terms of instruction.

The by-laws for the group are that the executive shall comprise of a president, secretary-treasurer and five directors; the term of office for the executive is one year, with the exception of the past president who will serve on the new executive as one of the directors; the annual meeting will be in January, membership fees are $1 per family, payable at the annual meeting; and voting privileges are obtained by paying membership fees.

In other business, it was suggested by one member that the group should approach the board of education requesting hours of instruction for Ryley School be extended to bring them in line with Tofield and Viking schools.

Ryley School principal Jim Clarke said this only reflects to the elementary because in the high school program it means loss of spares and out of instructional time.

Clarke said to bring the hours of instruction up to the same as Tofield and Viking the school would have to hire a half-time teacher.

Clarke said however, the need for additional staff, lay in the library and counselling areas, rather than in increasing instructional time for the elementary.

He said at the present time there are no professional services for students, leaving the principals to take care of this, whether they are trained or not.

Clarke said in a lot of instances he finds himself not properly prepared to deal with such problems as battered children, or sexually assaulted children.

Clarke said the professional training should be there.

In the other area, Clarke said the library system for schools in the county have suffered because of a lack of professional coordination. He said there should be someone who is professional who knows the material coming in and who knows where to obtain the needed material.

A motion was passed to pursue these areas further.

One parent brought up the problem of illicit books available to students through the school libraries. She said her daughter had brought a book home that was filled with sexual activities of the persons involved in the book. She asked what the school was doing about this.

Fighting drunks

Public concern over increased death and disability in the wake of impaired driving seems to be resulting in really major changes in the legal field.

Recommendations by the Law Reform Commission of Canada are only that, they're not law, but many of their recommendations do come through and wind up with the full force of the nation behind them.

So it's highly interesting to note their recommendations in mid-November urging that police officers be allowed to demand blood samples in most cases where impaired driving or impaired sailing or flying are suspected.

They recommend the most stringest safeguards, such as a telephone warrant from a judge, and approval of the doctor in charge of treating an injured person, but their recommendation even extends to sampling the blood of an unconscious person.

Two other highly interesting innovations in the recommendations of the Law Reform Commission centre on the right of a person who has been asked to take a breathalyzer test to demand that he be given a full blood test. Still more innovative is the recommended right that the person be entitled to half the same blood sample for independent analysis.

The point is fairly obvious, in that a breathalyzer test is merely a pretty good indication of a person's blood alcohol picture . . . a blood analysis is proof positive. And conceivably it might work in favor of the person, as opposed to the somewhat less reliable breathalyzer, even if it is still a pretty good indicator overall.

And from a far different region, away down in Indiannapolis, a circuit court judge is making history in the proportion of drivers who accept his penalty after they have been found to be guilty of a felony drunken driving, a fairly severe charge.

Recognizing that science and medicine haven't stood still any more than the automobile industry has, Judge William Miller has turned to a drug called Antabuse.

Since January, not one convicted driver has opted for jail, even though they know the alternative is tough, too. Antabuse can make you violently ill if you drink, so ill, in fact, that if you drink while taking it, you can even die.

Conditions are tough, easing slightly over the first third of a year, but continuing under supervision for the whole period.

It's interesting, because here in Canada the federal attorney general is flying a kite over proposals for a mandatory jail term, the provincial attorney general is saying he will make things tougher if Ottawa doesn't, and scores, hundreds, nay, thousands, of citizens are becoming impatient to see indications that one day the penalty may indeed fit the crime.

Loose Ends

by Carol Livingstone

Snow, Snow, Go Away

Snow.

Does it really have any redeeming qualities?

It's cold — like ice, in fact — and very wet, especially when tracked in by small children and then stepped in by a mother wearing socks. It hasn't any color to speak of, lying around like a bland baked custard until it's visited by a passing automobile tire or dog.

When it melts it forms ice that is difficult to grip, whether the treads are on tires, soles or the seat of one's pants.

It's also nasty stuff in a high wind because it lowers visibility, causes icicles to form on mustaches and eyebrows and likes to sprinkle itself liberally down unsuspecting necks.

Would children love snow so much if they knew that in a few years they will be shovelling it off the walks, scraping off their windshields before they can leave for work or spending the day at home with over-excited youngsters because a blizzard has closed the schools?

Like them, I used to jump up and down, thrilled by the first snowfall (yes, Virginia, there was snow in the olden days), raring to get out there and get chilled to the bone. But I'm older and wiser now, so they tell me, and coming in soaked and having to dry out my boots, mittens and self over the heat registers has lost its appeal.

My sons listen in awe when I tell them of the year there was so much snow that tunnels were dug so the cars could drive down the streets. "Wow, that would be great!" they say, and at their age I thought it was, too. Of course, the fact that I wasn't one of those digging or driving could have had something to do with my enthusiasm.

Since we're stuck with (on and in) each other, I try to enjoy snow. I think of how it nourishes the earth and looks good on Christmas cards, and I try to remember that each snowflake is an individual, just like people. I admit that there is no sound in the world to match that of snow crunching and squeaking under boots unless it is sled runners whispering by — but who hears those anymore, except in old movies?

The fact that birds fly south every winter is proof positive that all birdbrains aren't dummies. I can't say the same for those of us who sit here and take it. My urge to hibernate is so overwhelming that I'm sure I must have been a bear in a previous life.

I guess there really are some things best left to those who are under 18. And in this case, they are welcome to it.

Nazi-hunter helped

19 Jan. 84

Dear Sir:

The Canadian government is assisting Nazi-hunter Simon Wiesenthal in his search of two suspected war criminals believed to be living in Quebec. It is appropriate that the Canadian government aid in the apprehension of any person or persons who aided Hitler in his campaign to exterminate the Jews. We are all familiar with the atrocities committed by Hitler during the war.

[illegible] thcoming to those persons who [illegible] how minor their role may have been; or the fact that many years have passed since [illegible] ty were committed Canadians should applaud our government for its co-operation in helping to bring to justice any person who committed a crime against [illegible] of this magnitude.

By the same token Canadians should note how hypocritical our government is, in dealing with the same problem today that occurred during Hitlers reign ... the degradation and slaughter of innocent people. Today this act is carried out with the drug alcohol. Alcohol has been responsible for the deaths of people by drunk drivers, for wife beating, child abuse and molestation, for broken homes and marriages, and a myriad of other social problems too numerous to list. What does our government do to stop this abuse against the innocent? It passes token laws against drunk drivers, whose punishment is determined by a judge. A judge who can use his/her discretion as to how severely to punish the criminal. Why should a murderer, for a drunk driver who kills an innocent person is indeed a murderer, get such soft penalties as probation or lenient jail terms because he was under the influence of [illegible]?

[illegible] allowed to be perpetrated on society? The answer is simple. Our government allows and condones the use of alcohol. In fact it sells and distributes it through its own government-owned and operated liquor stores! By selling alcohol, it is guilty by way of association, just as it is now contemplating making those who serve alcohol to a person who is involved in an accident share the guilt and responsibility.

We elect our politicians to serve the citizens of Canada. Should we not hold every one of these same politicians guilty of the crimes against humanity that they have allowed to be carried on in Canada? If we can be appalled by the crimes Hitler and his Nazis carried out against humanity and hunt them down and punish them for their crimes, should we not hunt down and punish every one of the elected politicians, past, present and future, who have, or will allow this crime against humanity to go unchecked? Our politicians are no better than Hitlers' Nazis, for they commit crimes against Canadians, under the guise of serving the people. Hitler probably felt he was serving the best interests of his people by trying to rid the world of the Jews. Let us, the innocent victims of alcohol abuse, force our government to take positive and severe steps in curtailing the alcohol problem within Canada.

Impression corrected

Dear Sir,

I would like to correct the impression which may have been given in last week's Mercury in the piece about the [illegible].

I was quoted as saying that, quote, "This was one service we can do without". This was taken out of context during the discussion on the Landfill as proposed in the study done by Reid, Crowther and Co. and I referred only to the plan as it was proposed in the study. I think we have several options and should explore the most economical disposal system before we get involved in this proposed Regional Sanitary Landfill.

There would be no improvement in garbage disposal service to the rural residents or, for that matter, the town residents either. This system proposes to close the present garbage dumps, replacing them with five transfer stations from which the garbage would be trucked to a Sanitary Landfill Site near Ryley. As proposed, the garbage system would cost approximately $227,000 per year to operate. The County of Flagstaff, who already have a similar system in use, with almost identical population had a study done before hand which was estimated at $150,000, but now is budgeted $282,000 for 1983, after spending nearly that much in 1982.

For many years the County [illegible] cavating and backfilling for the garbage sites in the County in return for free access for the garbage of rural residents. [illegible] to the Towns, but in 1983 this work cost the County $19,496 in [illegible].

The study, which consistently estimates about 30% less than the actual costs of the present system as operated by the County of Flagstaff, estimates Tofield's annual [illegible] the collection costs of $12,00, [illegible] jump from the present $12,000 to $40,000. The County's cost would jump from $19,496 to over $100,000 and possibly to $150,000 if the study [illegible] as was done in the County of Flagstaff. The cost to the other towns is in the same proportion.

We all realize that the garbage dumps must be upgraded to meet Department of Health regulations, but I do not think we can afford this proposed system without a major cost to our taxpayers. We should take time to explore and evaluate all other options and try to find [illegible] the problem.

NEW HAY AND PASTURE INSURANCE PROGRAM

The Alberta Hail and Crop Insurance Corporation has recently announced a hay and pasture insurance program for this area. The program, designed to provide protection against drought only, uses weather as the main factor for insurance.

Research has shown that legume and grass growth can be predicted by using weather data. Long term normal production yields are established by a computer that uses the hours of sunshine available, temperature and available soil moisture (including daily rainfall). A production figure is then calculated for the insured year, using the actual sunshine, temperature and moisture conditions specific to that year and to an area three miles by three miles, or a quarter of a township. If the production figure for the insured year and area is 80 per cent or more of the long term average, then there is no claim. If the production figure is less than 80 per cent of the long term average, then claims are based on a percentage of coverage. (The lower the years' production as compared to the long term average, the higher the percentage of coverage claim.)

As an example, if an insured farmer purchased $1000 worth of coverage and his calculated years' production is 60 per cent of normal, he would have a claim of 40 per cent of $1000 or $400. If the production is calculated to be only 30 per cent of normal, it is considered to be a complete loss and the claim is 100 per cent of coverage. Options are also available for a one-growth or a two-growth period, depending on whether one or two cuts of hay are taken in a season.

Some important points to remember about this new program are:

1) Policy holders will not know if they have a claim until the computer calculates the season's production for the area based on either the one-growth or two-growth period.

2) The seasons' production figure, calculated by the computer, is not on a field basis but on the basis of a quarter of a township or three square miles, which is also backed up by random ground work.

3) Insured farmers will have to keep rainfall records or be assessed a penalty of 5 per cent of any indemnity payable.

4) Premium rates in the County of Beaver vary from 6 per cent to 8 per cent of coverage varying from $500 to $70 per acre.

5) Final date for applications for this new program is March 31, 1984.

For more information on this program, please contact your local Alberta Hail and Crop Insurance representative in Ryley, 663-3566.

Holden and district news

by Mrs. G.H. Taylor

Ezra Eberhart was a Saturday visitor with Mrs. Frances Hanson and Clare Anderson.

On Friday morning, Lyle Grasland, Earl Hardy and George Taylor, members of Holden Masonic Lodge, called on Dan Allan to congratulate him on his 83rd birthday.

Mrs Bertha Chetney's daughter, Helen from Vancouver, is spending some time with her.

Mrs. Kate Nichols with Mr. and Mrs. Kaschewski visited with Mrs. Ethel Brekstad on Tuesday afternoon of last week, in Tofield Hospital.

Mrs. Angeline Dunlop of Northview Manor has been a patient in Tofield Hospital for several days after falling on ice and breaking an arm.

Mrs. Sopiwnyk has also been a patient in Tofield Hospital for several days, having a check-up.

Lyle and Vernice Grasland visited recently with Mrs. Ethel Brekstad while in Tofield Hospital and with Mrs. Sopiwnyk. Mervin Fjellstrom also visited with her on the Tuesday afternoon.

Conrad Melby was taken to hospital by ambulance on Tuesday morning and later, was transferred to an Edmonton hospital for further treatment.

Lyle and Vivian Andrusky and children who have been residing in Holden for the past several years, have sold their home and moved to Tofield.

Mrs. Irene Olsen and Jessie Cwinkala were Wednesday afternoon visitors last week with Mrs. Ethel Brekstad, a patient in Tofield Hospital.

YOU MUST ACT NOW!

Small Business Owners and Farmers: It's Your Last Chance to Benefit!

If you're a qualified small business owner or farmer, there's not much time left to join the thousands of Albertans who have benefited from the Alberta Heritage Fund Small Business and Farm Interest Shielding Program. To receive an interest shielding payment, your application must be processed by your financial institution to meet the March 1, 1984 deadline. That means you must act now!

Here's How It Works

This program was designed to provide interest shielding benefits to small businesses and farmers during periods of high loan interest rates. If your total revenue over the past fiscal year was under $5 million, you likely qualify for a shielding payment paid directly to you, from the Alberta Government.

Catch Up On The Past

It's true... interest rates are much better today than several months ago. But your Interest Shielding Program is retroactive to March 1, 1982, when interest rates were at their highest ever.

You can recover interest paid over the minimum program rate of 14.5%. If you were or still are paying more than 14.5%, the program will shield you for the difference on loan rates up to 20.5%.

Act Now! Your Banker Is Waiting

March 1st, 1984, seems like a long way off. But don't forget — your banker needs sufficient time to calculate your eligible interest. Because the program is retroactive to March 1, 1982, your banker may require several weeks to process your application, depending upon the complexity of your records and the number of applications on file.

You Can't Afford To Wait

Be sure you allow enough time to process your shielding benefit. Visit your financial institution today. Complete application form and a detailed financial plan for the future. Forms are also available at any office of Alberta Tourism and Small Business, or your local office of Alberta Agriculture.

Landfill . . .

Concerning the site that had been approved by the Department of Environment, Monaghan added, since March of last year, if the department had looked at any other sites.

Lenkiw said that five or six sites had been looked at prior to March of '83, but for some reason or another none of these sites had proved suitable.

He said according to the study the present site at Ryley was the most suitable site, both for ecology reasons as well as centrally located according to population.

Chairman Cross asked for a vote on the Ryley site, Tofield, Ryley and Holden were in agreement.

Both the county and Viking abstained from voting on the site. Viking claimed from voting because the town will not be going along with the landfill, and the county abstained because, as representative Reuben Hoveland explained, the county hadn't passed a by-law, that he had no authority to vote on the site.

Another concern raised by the county was the number of representatives the county would have on their authority board.

Tofield, Ryley and Holden agreed that if the county wanted to have two representatives on the authority board that they would be in favor of this.

Cross said that if the county didn't pass a by-law, and the Village of Ryley had to upgrade their facilities and put a fence around them, then he said the village would be taking a look at not allowing rural residents to use the facilities.

He said that the village had paid $80,000 for the 20 acre site and if only village residents were able to use the site then it would probably last for twenty-five years, with rural residents, half of that.

County Reeve John Werner asked who would dig the pit for the village's landfill.

"We probably would prefer to dig it by contract and use it ourselves," said Cross. "That's a choice we may have to make."

The next meeting date has been set for Feb. 16, but only if the County of Beaver passes their by-law to enter into the authority. If the county defeats the by-law then the Regional Landfill Authority will cease to exist, said Cross.

Ryley . . .

Clarke said that when these types of books were discovered they were taken off of the shelves. He said some of the problem has been that some of these books were acceptable elsewhere, but not necessarily in Ryley. Clarke suggested she return the book to the school so that it could be taken off of the shelf.

Clarke also suggested to the group that if they would like to look at the area of general program and matriculation for high school students he would conduct such a meeting in the near future.

He suggested that all parent of present grade nine students should attend this meeting, as well as any other interested parents.

Another suggestion for future meetings was for the group to take a look at the quality of books in the library at the present time.

Other topics suggested for future meetings included sex education and class participation in non-school items, such as Hallowe'en parties.

These items will be discussed at future meetings.

Holden and district news

Dean and Monica Jeffrey were receiving congratulations on the birth of a baby daughter on Jan. 12th in Vegreville Hospital, Vanessa Lee, a sister for Phillip. Happy grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Jeffrey of Holden, John and Rose Safranka of Vegreville and great-grandmother is Mrs. Starzko of Holden.

Holden Lodge Order of the Royal Purple held a supper and social on Jan. 19th to celebrate their 30th anniversary, in the Holden United Church basement with ladies of the Holden UCW catering to the supper. After the meal, the evening was spent playing card games with prizes given to the high and low scorers. A decorated birthday cake made by Lady Eleanor Ogonoski and decorated by Lady Anne Milimaka centered the table. On behalf of the guests present, Exalted Ruler Bro. Matt Helfrich thanked the ladies for the enjoyable evening and wished them a successful year in their works for the coming year, and congratulations from the BPO Elks Lodge.

The Holden Friendship Group held their regular monthly meeting last Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Kate Nichols with Mrs. Edith Carlson in charge of devotions. Regular business was attended to, the minutes of the December meeting read and financial statement was given. A get-well card had been sent to Mrs. Ethel Brekstad in hospital and a letter of thanks had been received from the Bible Society for the Christmas donation the group had sent.

A couple of chapters in the study book were read and discussed. The meeting closed and Mrs. Nichols served lunch and a social hour was enjoyed. The February meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Edith Carlson.

John George Kawalilak of Holden passed away on January 19th in the Viking General Hospital at the age of 67 years. He is survived by his wife, Steffy; two sons, Donald and Leonard; seven daughters, Leona, Virginia, Veronica, Theresa, Barbara, Cecilia and Maryann; 15 grandchildren, his mother, Pearl, two brothers; and two sisters. He was predeceased by one son, Richard in 1966, his father, Peter in 1973, and one sister.

Prayer service was held on Sunday and the funeral service was held Monday in Polska Roman Catholic Church with Father John Sienko officiating and interment was in the church cemetery.

Saturday afternoon callers with Mr. and Mrs. George Taylor were their granddaughter, Saylor of Edmonton stopping in on her way to her parents in Viking.

Mrs. Ethel Brekstad, who has been a patient in Tofield Hospital for a week and a-half, returned home Saturday afternoon. Melvin Fjellstrom brought her home.

Mr. and Mrs. George Taylor were Sunday guests at the home of their son and family, Robert and Merle Taylor, in Viking.

Trees threaten power lines

by [illegible]

Several large trees growing near power lines within the Village of Holden pose serious safety hazards, a representative from TransAlta Utilities informed council at their regular meeting last week.

Grant Skippen and Jack Landon, representatives from TransAlta, said several trees could touch high voltage lines, with it [illegible] the voltage going down through the tree and into an unsuspecting person standing nearby.

Skippen said trees at the school grounds posed a serious threat with small children around.

"The possibility of a child playing in the tree is there."

This he said, could be near fatal, or even fatal if a child were to come in contact with these lines by climbing the tree.

Skippen and Landon presented council with pictures of problem trees in the village.

Skippen said there are some trees in the village that are problem trees that should be removed rather than trimmed. He said some of the trees after being trimmed can grow as much as 12 feet in a year.

"We're not suggesting removal of every tree in the town. You can't do that," said Skippen.

He did say, however, there were several trees that would have to be removed as a safety precaution.

He said one of the problems encountered by TransAlta Utilities is getting permission to either trim trees, or remove them. Both men had attended the meeting to discuss this problem with council and to ask council to assist the company in getting permission to do this.

Skippen pointed out to council that if people didn't give permission to trim, or remove their trees, and a power surge, caused by the tree problem were to destroy appliances in the home, then the power company would not be liable for the damage.

This problem has been a big expense to TransAlta each year, one that has reached huge proportions. This cost is reflected back to the rate payer through higher power costs.

TransAlta will be identifying the problem in the area in the near future and will be undertaking a publicity campaign to outline the hazards of trees interfering with power lines and the costs of trimming.

Following this TransAlta will be contacting people in the area to trim the trees, or remove the problem ones.

The Village of Holden council passed a motion stating they will co-operate with TransAlta to gain permission from village residents to take care of these problems.

A by-law received third reading to revise water and sewer rate [illegible] for the Village of Holden.

The new rate structure is effective February 1, but won't be noticed by ratepayers until the April billing.

In other business, council allocated reserves from last year for use this year.

The $10,000 put into reserve last year to be used towards a new firehall will remain in reserve, as well as $1,000 and any balance left over in reserve for landscaping.

The $1,210 reserved last year for fire capital projects has not been designated to be put back into reserve, but will go back into the surplus and will be re-budgeted if necessary next year.

The whole of council have been appointed to sit on the Court of Revision which has been set tentatively for February 20. Christine Mackay has been appointed as the clerk of the court.

The Court of Revision is established every year for anyone with complaints about the assessment of a property. People with complaints have 30 days from the date of mailing to complain of their assessment.

Also attending the Court of Revision will be the assessor.

Mayor Kevin Stambaugh and councillor Ken Sharpe have been asked to meet with the Chamber of Commerce to come up with something to commemorate the 75th anniversary of the Village, to be held August 4, 5 and 6.

The Chamber of Commerce have suggested a park be developed, but council have had some reservations about this.

Council felt there was already one park in the community and to put in another would be expensive.

In regards to the homecoming, council moved that photocopying for the homecoming committee be done at no charge, since it is a community project. Also in conjunction with this request from the homecoming committee, it was requested that the Village of Holden work with the Chamber of Commerce to help plan the official opening of Homecoming '84.

Paar Industries have asked for permission to put cable television in the Village of Holden.

Council granted permission, but because some communities have been stung by cable companies, the village will be checking the credentials of the company before granting final approval.

If the credentials are good then the village will allow the cable company to do a survey of homes in the village to see if they would subscribe to the service.

Dorothy Emerson, councillor over recreation, reported that as of the end of January there will be three members short on the recreation board.

She said that attempts to get anyone to sit on the board, through advertisements in the local paper, have failed to produce any results.

Councillor Joe Fernal's motion to discontinue providing The Mercury to ratepayers was defeated by the rest of council.

. . . in Holden

Fernal said in discussion that this was one practice that other municipalities and local governments were getting out of, so should the Village of Holden.

He said the cost of the newspaper could be saved and used more usefully elsewhere. He felt this was one place the village could cut down on expenses.

It was pointed out that The Mercury at the present time gave free space to the village for notices that have to be put in the paper.

The general consensus was that if the subscriptions were cancelled that the village would have to make up the costs for advertisements anyway.

A motion to further investigate to see how much money could be saved if the service was discontinued was carried.

A fire by-law is to be prepared for the next meeting. The by-law is being prepared at this time because the village has never had a by-law governing the fire department before.

In other business Bobbie Schweitzer, school representative for the village, reported on her activities as a trustee during her time in office.

4-H reports

The Ryley 4-H Beef Club held a regular meeting recently.

On Dec. 20, we had our Christmas party which was a gym night. We played volleyball and floor hockey. Then we went to one members house to have hot dogs and coffee and juice.

On Dec. 13, at our meeting we discussed our fund raising projects.

We decided to hold a bottle drive. Also, we decided to hold a pancake supper at the Ryley Community Hall on Jan. 28, from 5 - 7 p.m.

Our next meeting will be on Feb. 14.

Spilstead news

By Louise Berube

The Community League held its general meeting and two new directors are needed for the board. The open house is to be held on Sunday at 2 p.m. Suggestions are welcome and plans to join the Baseball League will be discussed. Coffee will be available and ladies are asked to bring squares or sandwiches. The children can bring along their skates for an afternoon of skating on the rink.

The Group Committee for the Cubs, Scouts and Pathfinders held a meeting with the parents of the groups to discuss fund-raising. The rural bottle drive will be held on Saturday. The children are to meet at the hall at 10 o'clock.

Moe Fisher, Larry Winder, Reg Fairbrother and Louise Berube attended the Scouting Association's monthly meeting in Camrose at the Scout Hut. Final plans for the annual meeting were set and it will be held at the Crystal Springs in Camrose.

Since I will be moving at the end of the month, we will need a new correspondent. For news of the community, contact anyone on the hall board.

The Group Committee is now in need of a new secretary too. Moe Fisher has agreed to take over the position as treasurer from me so therefore a secretary is needed.

This will be my last article, so I'd like to say I have really enjoyed being a part of such an active community and I wish the best to the community in the future. It's been great working with such a nice group of people and I'll think of you often, so its "goodbye" from my family and myself.

Ryley district news

by Lena Bell

Marilyn Campbell was a recent guest with relatives in Ryley.

Laura and Henry Pedrunny and boys of Camrose and Robin Solberg of Lac St. Anne visited with Elmer and Kathleen Anderson in the Lion's Golden Manor, on Sunday.

Jergen Devick is back home in Ryley after spending some time in the Tofield Hospital.

Ken Hilsabek and Roger Kathan are the gentlemen who are removing snow from sidewalks in town.

On Sunday, Henry Niesen's had their son, Gary and family of Edmonton visiting with them.

Gerald and Lucie Owen of Camrose were visiting with Ida and Stan Hunka and the Carl Martins, during the week.

The Ryley Junior High School girls and boys lost their basketball games to Viking on Friday evening in Viking.

Curling is going strong in Ryley with many teams taking part.

Visitors with Fannie Lyale in Tofield were Leonard and Violet Helgeland and brother, Ezra and Lena of Ryley.

Ada Hostetler enjoyed having her family home during the weekend. Clara Bodnar and Ruth Yoder were also callers to help Ada celebrate her birthday.

BETWEEN THE COVERS

Look for these new novels in the library this week: "Fallback" by Peter Niesewand; "A Sense of Honor" by James Webb; and "Cathedral" by Nelson De Mille, author of "Rivers of Babylon". For fans of Louis L'Amour, the first two volumes in the Sackett series, containing the seven books of that saga, are now available. These include some titles previously unavailable to this library.

For those interested in local history, you may wish to read the family history written by John Moore, called "John's Book". Written initially for his daughters, John has donated a copy to the library to reach a wider reading audience.

Another recent donation is "No Man's Land" by Victor W. Wheeler. This is the story of the 50th Battalion, Canadian Expeditionary Force during 1914 to 1919. We are glad to add this to our collection of material on Canada's wartime contributions.

Royalty watchers may wish to borrow "The Canadian Royal Tour", a book of photographs and descriptions of Prince Charles' and Princess Diana's trip to Canada in 1983.

The Preschool Story Hour is a very popular program at the library, always well-attended and enjoyed by the children participating. It is anticipated that there will be enough registrations to fill two groups beginning in February, but there just isn't enough help yet to run two groups. So far, the story programs have been completely organized and carried out by volunteers, with the librarian's assistance. This is an appeal for more volunteers to help with this particular program, or with a story hour for older children, ages 5-8. If you are interested, please call Liz Hubbard at 662-2767, or at the Library 662-3838. Thank you.

Regular library hours are: Tues. 1-5; Thurs. 3-5 and 6-8; Friday and Saturday 10-12 and 1-5. Story hour is presently scheduled for Feb. 14 (Tuesday) at 10 a.m.

League has a race

The race for first place in the Beaverhill Hockey League could go right down to the wire.

Tofield Satellites and Lamont are deadlocked for the lead with Mundare only five points off the pace, following last week's action.

Lamont has a slight edge in that that team has played one less game than the Satellites and also has a game in hand on Mundare.

One more loss or a win by either Tofield or Lamont would eliminate Vegreville from contending for first place while one more loss would eliminate Holden from contending for third place.

It would appear that Tofield, Lamont and Mundare are assured of playoff berths.

The final spot will be a fight between Vegreville and Holden with the former leaving the winless latter by only eight points.

Tofield played in Holden last night (Tuesday) with this game to be reported next week.

Satellites will play in Vegreville on Saturday night and will host Lamont on Tuesday while Holden goes to Vegreville one week from tonight (Wednesday).

Lamont surged into a tie for first place when they edged Vegreville 10-8, blasted Holden 15-2 and tied 4-4 with Mundare.

Tofield and Mundare fought to a 2-2 stalemate and in the only other game that was played, Mundare whipped Holden 11-2.

It would appear that Holden has to reschedule four home games, two with Lamont and two with Vegreville (unless game on Jan. 14 was played and result not forwarded to CFCW).

Otherwise, the league is completely up to date in its schedule.

STANDINGS	W	L	T	GF	GA	Pts
Lamont	11	2	3	128	74	25
Tofield	11	3	3	116	63	25
Mundare	8	5	4	112	78	20
Vegreville	3	10	2	78	124	8

4-H club has plans

by Teresa Slemko

The Tofield 4-H Beef Club held their first meeting of the new year on Jan. 11.

The pledge was led by Joe Brown. Minutes and treasurer's reports were given.

Our fun activity was discussed. It was decided to have a hay ride on Feb. 5, starting at 2 p.m. We will have a wiener roast afterwards.

At our next meeting on Feb. 8, our club will be having a guest speaker, on public speaking.

The Tofield 4-H Beef Club received a $100 donation from [redacted] the purchase of a set of clippers for our club.

Plans for our public speaking competition will be finalized at our next meeting.

People for Peace forms

by Ken Kroetsch

People for Peace is an organization of people in Tofield, interested in working together to deal with militarization and the arms race in the world, said coordinator Gwen Newell.

The aims of the group are to have further education on the issue, to foster an understanding on how to respond to the issue through faith, and to see what type of action the group as a whole and as individuals can do.

The group, started in the fall of 1982, first met weekly to discuss a study on the issue of the arms race and how to respond to it through their faith.

The sessions were interdenominational, consisting primarily of Salem Mennonites, General Conference Mennonites and United Church members.

The first three sessions dealt with the historical situation and related facts. The second was how people could respond out of faith and the third was faith at work.

At the last meeting the participants met to evaluate and assess the meetings and decided from there to hold meetings on a monthly basis, said Newell.

These meetings were first motivated out of faith, said Newell, but are now open to anyone for whatever motivates them on the issue.

She said that as individuals they have participated in nonviolent demonstrations, have sent letters and telegrams, and as a group have sent three representatives to speak with the MP of this area, Don Mazankowski.

The next meeting of the group will be held January 30 at 7:30 p.m. in the United Church Basement.

The topic of this meeting will be a video on a group called Conscience Canada. This group was started three years ago in Victoria and has spread all over Canada.

One of the goals presently being worked on by the group is to develop a peace tax fund.

The group would like individuals have their option of saying where they would want their tax dollars that are presently being used for the military.

If this option were granted then people would be able to designate their portion of military taxes to a peace fund.

The video will tell their story and how anyone interested can get involved.

Newell said she had become aware of the increasing militarization of the world and felt she should be doing more than support peace groups with money and prayers.

"I feel very strongly there should be a witness for peace," she said.

Carl Hansen, of the Mennonite faith, said that Mennonites have felt similar to this for a long time, that for 450 years of the church's existance, they have conscientiously objected to military involvement and military solutions, but through peace and reconciliation solutions can be found.

He said the philosophy of the world at this time is to scare the enemy into not attacking. At the present time other alternatives through peaceful methods are not looked at.

If as much money was put into feeding the poor of the world as was put into military budgets then no one would go hungry, said Hansen.

"What the world spends on arms for two weeks could feed the hungry people of the world for a year," said Hansen.

He said that instead of fighting and gathering arms the nations of the world should be building bridges of understanding as an alternative.

Newell said for a lot of people things can look bleak, with no hope as an individual to have any effect on world matters.

She said the group meets to encourage each other over the issue and to explore other visions and alternatives.

There is no formal leadership in the group, but the members take turns in leading the worship part of the meeting.

There is no membership for joining the group, with all participants sharing any costs involved, such as rental of a video machine.

Accidents occur

by Ken Kroetsch

Two separate vehicle accidents left one man dead and another in stable condition in the University Hospital, said Tofield RCMP Constable Robin Bell.

The first accident happened last Friday evening at approximately 8:30 p.m. Wesley Polny 22, of Mundare, was travelling west on Highway 14 when his vehicle struck a guard rail approximately one kilometre east of Poe general store.

Polny was thrown from the vehicle, dying in the crash.

This was the first time the Tofield Fire Department rescue van was called to the scene of an accident.

"Members of the Tofield Fire Department should be thanked as they provided a service which helped our investigation," said Bell.

The second accident happened Sunday afternoon at approximately 4:25 p.m.

Kenneth Heisler, 41, of Viking, was travelling north of Secondary Road 855 when his half-ton collided with a westbound freight train.

Bell said the vehicle came to rest approximately 60 meters west of S.R. 855.

Heisler was transferred to the Tofield Hospital and then on to the University Hospital where he is said to be in stable condition.

Charges are pending further investigation of this accident.

Trustees plan changes in schools

By Ken Kindrat

School trustees for the County of Beaver met last week to set immediate goals for the county to possibly take place in the next three years, depending on approval from the Department of Education.

One of the major changes that could take place is that the board approved in principal the following instructional organizations for Ryley and Holden, kindergarten to grade nine in one school, and kindergarten to grade six and grades 10 to 12 in the other school.

School board chairman John Warner said how this will happen hasn't been specifically set yet, but that it could be done either way.

Warner said the change was made to enhance programs in these schools, especially in the senior high school, by doing away with double programming and cycling the programs.

These programs would be offered on a full-time basis.

The change also would provide larger classrooms, with an increase in options offered to the student.

"This way we will be able to offer a better variety of options to the student," said Warner.

In a study on the needs of schools in the County of Beaver this was one option that was suggested. The school board was unanimous on this decision. The change is planned for the 1985-86 school year, said Warner.

Other short range plans are to renovate the roofs of Tofield, Ryley, Holden and the Holden Colony school roof, the replacement of 100 lockers in various schools and the hiring of a consulta. to prepare a report on dust extrication and ventilation systems in the industrial sections of Ryley and Viking schools.

These projects are 50 per cent funded by the government, through the Building Quality Restoration Plan.

The board approved an allocation of funds for the purchase of business education equipment under the BQRP for 1984, the amount to be determined at the annual budget meeting. This proposal will not be submitted with the other submission until after the exact amount has been set at the budget meeting. This is 50 per cent funded by the provincial government.

In other business the board approved the construction of an industrial education and home economics facility in Tofield for 1985 and that this plan be submitted to the Department of Education for inclusion into the 1985 capital plan.

Warner said that after this facility is built then it would free the facilities in Ryley, giving Ryley two extra days to expand the industrial arts program into the High School levels. At the present time industrial arts is only offered to the junior high school.

Warner said that between now and the construction of this facility that the Board of Education will be building up its capital reserve so they won't have to use debenture to pay for it. Warner said the Board of Education's cost is approximately $360,000.

In other business it was moved that the board have a design study for 1984 to replace the 1946, 1951 and 1964 portions of the Holden School.

It was also moved the board approved in principal the replacing of these sections of the Holden School.

Warner said that in the near future the Board of Education will be going to a public meeting in the areas of concern for public input on the matters.

Warner said that before any of these proposals can go forward, approval from the Department of Education will be necessary.

Kroetsch resigns

This issue of The Mercury marks the last edition reporter/photographer Ken Kroetsch will be with the newspaper in Tofield.

Kroetsch tendered his resignation two weeks ago, effective February 1, to take the position of editor of The Review in Raymond.

The Review is owned by the former Mercury advertising representative, Dan Barr and his wife, Marie.

Kroetsch, a 1983 graduate of the Lethbridge Community College's journalism program, started his career in the newspaper business with The Mercury in April of last year.

In his time with The Mercury, he has covered all aspects of news in the Tofield, Ryley and Holden areas.

At the present time, publisher C.A. MacLean is reviewing applications for the position vacated, but it may be several weeks before a successful applicant can resume coverage in the area.

The Mercury would ask anyone with news items to drop them off at The Mercury office, or to give them to our advertising representative, Maxine Linnell.

Society renews agreement

By Ken Kindrat

Tofield Agricultural Society members present for the annual meeting last week agreed it was in the best interests of the society to renew their recreation agreement with the Town of Tofield.

Discussing the matter, society members felt it was an advantage to be part of this agreement. Ag Society director and recreation board representative, Ken Stauffer, said it made the financial management of the arena easier to keep on top of things with a monthly financial statement prepared by the recreation director.

He said that this way there were no surprises that couldn't be handled because the recreation director was involved with the arena on a day to day basis.

Another advantage, said one of the society members, is the booking of facilities in the town. There is only one person to book all of the facilities. He said in the past, prior to the agreement, that it was often difficult to reach down a person to book the facilities.

The only reservations about the agreement were over money. Ken Stauffer said that what started out as a 50-50 basis for cost sharing has now developed to a two to one ratio in favor of the Ag Society, with the Town of Tofield picking up almost two thirds of the costs.

In a letter to the Ag Society from the Town of Tofield, Town council said they were prepared to renew the agreement, but would like to meet with the executive of the Ag Society to discuss more financial input from the society.

The two society representatives on the recreation board were given approval to renegotiate the agreement, but that the board of directors set a limit of how high they could negotiate.

In a report on the recreation board Stauffer said that overall everything is working out good. He reported there had been two changes on the recreation board recently, with Jack Lampsit replacing Laurie Weatherill and Andy Nimchuk replacing Dave Smith.

In the election of officers and directors, Darrel Rell was returned as president. Glenn Dawes was elected vice-president, Leonard Thrasher was elected as 2nd vice-president, Yvonne Brown as secretary and Paul Kallal, Keith Finseth, John Moore, Robert Schacher and Ken Dodds as new directors.

Other directors presently serving are Bruce Telford, Dave Hare, Kai Kristenson, Bob Moos, Glen Simpson, Ken Stauffer, Herb Sware, Glen Jones, Bill Mlinkey and Marge Berreckoh.

Carnival is planned

Members of the Tofield Skating Club have been busy selling "Pay-a-you-go!!" tickets on a video machine.

The video machine is on display at D.J.'s Video Express in Tofield; tickets are also being sold there or available from any skater. Draw for the video machine will be held on Feb. 10th.

Skaters have been skating since October 13th this year and are now practicing for the annual Ice Carnival which is the highlight of the skating year.

Theme of the carnival this year is "Movies" — you will recognize many of the famous films portrayed throughout the performances. Crowning of the carnival queen will also be a highlight of the carnival. Five local girls will be competing for the crown again this year.

The ice Carnival will be held on Feb. 25th and 26th, and crowning of the queen will take place at the Saturday evening performance.

Wassamatter?

Albertans are entitled to wonder what's the matter in the Lougheed administration, even though it gets nothing but denials.

Trouble has been present for years in Mr. Bogle's portfolios, but for some time the spotlight has been swinging back and forth, as often as not picking up Attorney General Crawford in its glare.

Recently Mr. Crawford seems unable to escape attention. Over months it has swung from seat belts to age for drinking to Sunday opening, to penalties for impaired driving, and so on. But then, all of a sudden it boiled up in the instant dismissal of a respected prosecuting attorney, John Faulkner, and even before that had a chance to die down, flared up again in yet another memo directing police forces to soft pedal investigations of anyone associated with the government whose investigation might prove embarassing if discovered by the press.

Returned from holidays, Mr. Crawford asserted that this was not the intent of the memo, that it was simply desirable for the government to know when any of its people drew scrutiny, and that it might, indeed, be able to assist in the surveillance.

This doesn't wash, any more than Mr. Crawford's other assertions. If the government should be informed when government staff is under surveillance, why should not Safeways be informed if their employees may incur charges? Why should the same not apply to Gulf Oil, or Petrocan? To Barnes Furniture or Barnes Chev Olds?

Mr. Crawford may be able to clam up and he may even be able to intimidate most of his staff so that the affair appears to go away, but there are too many damaging factors corroborating the need for public opposition, the need for an inquiry (if nothing is wrong, an inquiry would show as much). Only weeks before dismissal, Faulkner was given an unusually excellent rating in a performance review. Only days earlier, he had been highly commended by a judge for his conduct of the prosecution. Yet he was ordered to clear his desk in fifteen minutes! Fifteen minutes! Barely a coffee break:

Simply for acknowledgement to the press that deRappard was being checked to clear him of any part in the Dial Mortgage problem? Surely no-one could object–indeed they should applaud–an auditor's statement giving deRappard a clean bill of health before he moved from a fiasco which has cost many Albertans millions of dollars, some their life's savings, to a position of utmost importance within the government.

No government, democratic or autocratic, is right all of the time. The difference is that in a democracy we should be able to question the errors. We warmly believe Alberta has had relatively excellent government under Peter Lougheed, but we also believe the rot has begun to set in, and the stench is becoming apparent.

When you come right down to it, though, it's our own fault . . . the fault of the voters of Alberta. We let the party lose competent people, people like Getty, like Ghitter, like Peacock. And then we send in reinforcements who couldn't run a good MacDonald's hamburger stand . . . and expect them to run a government. We were about to name some, but we'd face a libel suit. You know who they are as well as we do.

"You'll need a root canal done on that tooth."

Who, me? Never before have words sent such shivers of absolute terror down my spineless back. With tales of excruciating pain echoing in my ears, I hurriedly left Dr. Yankitout's office, in such a daze that I neglected to pay for my appointment (Unfortunately they are used to cowards and billed me by mail.)

I tried putting the whole thing out of my mind, and would have succeeded if not for the dumb tooth. It refused to cooperate even when I promised to chew on the other side of my mouth. Forced to make another dental appointment, I was determined to sleep through the entire ordeal. Once again my plans were foiled — wouldn't you know I'd have a dentist who doesn't use gas? Unless I stayed awake a week in advance so that I would fall asleep from total exhaustion the moment I sat in the big reclining chair (modelled after those in the Inquisition, I imagine), sleeping was out.

If only I could believe him when he said, "We aren't into pain here."

It was with great trepidation and the help of pills to relax me that I set foot in that dentist's office, much less the rest of me in the chair. They were very nice about my white knuckles approach to it all; not once did I see a hand lifted to hide a smirk or disguise a snicker. Little did he know that should I feel so much as a twinge he was going to get those knuckles right in his hypodermic! As the actual work began, I braced myself for the agony I'd been told to expect. I was still braced when, the first session over, I went home — still painless. I thought the attack would come once the freezing was out and remained braced and expectant until my alarm woke me from a sound sleep the next morning. I must say that I was grossly disappointed; wasn't I entitled to the same agony as everyone else?

I needn't have worried. No one told me that it would hurt to a) apply make-up to that side of my face, b) sleep c) smile or d) breathe And that's just this week

So don't listen to those old wive's tales about root canals Sitting in the chair and having the work done is a lark, far less distressing and uncomfortable than getting a filling Just be prepared for the aftermath'

BARBARA BENNETT

Have you ever planted your shelterbelt or fruit trees, nurtured the trees through their growing pains and just started enjoying their value, only to have chomping, chewing rodents invade and destroy your efforts?' It's not fair! Well, here are some "getting even" tips.

MICE:

In the case of mice, there is a choice of three different control approaches.

Placement of a physical barrier around each tree trunk is an obvious solution if the number of trees is small. Any type of material will work provided care is taken to get it snug to the ground and high enough to be above the snow line. Make certain that it does not have holes or gaps large enough for mice to feed through. Commercial "tree wraps" are also available.

A second approach is to use the winter snow itself as a barrier to the mice. Tramping the snow down around the tree can prevent access by mice if done regularly throughout winter and early spring. This is particularly important after the first couple of thaws, as the crust allows mice travel "overland" to the trees very easily.

After a thaw a cavity develops in the snow around the trunk; this creates an ideal sheltered cafeteria for mice; they start at the bottom and eat right to snow level without fear of detection or coming out in the open.

The third approach is to eliminate the vermin that come dine. Placement of poisonous baits in late fall can be used when numbers of trees or time restraints precludes the individual wrapping of trees. Empty soup cans or other tins bent half-closed and laid on their side make excellent bait stations. They provide protection for the bait from the weather and are a natural drawing card for mice because of the "housing" aspect. Remaining bait and cans can be easily picked up and disposed of in the spring.

The use of thiram (rodent repellent) as a paint on tree barks has not proven effective in controlling mice

One general measure in controlling mice is sanitation Don't leave long grass close to trees or in the immediate area. Long grass is the natural housing of mice and they congregate in such areas

RABBITS

Rabbits invade the farm yard when their natural food supply is scarce This naturally happens during years of high population It can also happen any spring All winter the snow keeps rising and this keeps lifting the rabbit up to his feed supply Warm weather comes and down goes his ladder, leaving him with only chewed over twigs and branches He goes looking for a new grocery store On top of that the snow is firmly crusted and this makes a super highway for rabbit travel This condition can be expected in February-March of most years

Fencing with small mesh wire may be practical if the area isn't too large It must be high enough, for years of heavy snowfall, and close to the ground to avoid the "spring attack"

Physically wrapping a tree will also protect it from rabbits. However it is time consuming to wrap the trunk and each branch up to a height of four to five feet.

Another choice of protection is that of a chemical repellent. Many products are available but most contain a fungicide called thiram. This ingredient is extremely bitter tasting to rabbits so their first nibble is all they take. Some products also contain white latex paint to make it easy to see where you have sprayed and also to protect the bark from sunscald. Whether you use a commercial rodent repellent or mix up your own from pure thiram, it is important to cover all the bark within the rabbit's reach. Any spots missed will be chewed down to the wood.

If early winter protection is required then spray the trees in late fall about the time of the first snow. A second application is advised for early February when rabbit pressure seems the highest. Usually one application in early February is all that is required for rabbits.

Blazers lead

Tofield Blazers are leading in a provincial playoff series.

The Blazers travelled to Lac La Biche where they posted a 4-2 victory to take a two-goal lead in their total-goal series.

Second game in the pee wee playoff series will be played in Tofield Arena on Saturday, starting at 3:30 p.m.

In league play, Blazers are currently in second place although accurate league statistics aren't available.

In recent league play, Blazers scored two wins over Josephburg and had a tie with Beaumont.

The Firebirds (pee wee) are in first place in the Wheatland Division after racking up a 2-0 victory over Devon on Saturday. In a second outing, they were stopped 3-1 by New Sarepta.

The Holden and District Historical Society held a very successful bingo recently in Holden Community Hall and plan to hold their next bingo on [illegible]

The proceeds, after expenses, goes towards the expense of the [illegible] the Holden and District history book to be published this year. Members of the committee are on the final stages of it. It is hoped to have it ready for the Holden Homecoming to be held at the beginning of August.

Holden Historical Society cash bingo winners were Ivan Hrabec, Sonia Yarema, Ann Mielimaka, Sonia Yarema, Helen Fortin, Irene Yarema, Susan Ewasnik, Harry Tkaczyk, David Hulthoim, Tillie Danilak, Helen Fortin, Ann Scherger, Matt Helfrich, Katie Misyk, Bill Halverson, Mrs. Kleibach, Linda Sen, Helen Stecyk and Gina [illegible]

Door prize was won by Joe [illegible] and other winners were Emily Chrystian, Irene Korbal, Sophie Malowany, Ann Komarnisky, and Metro Christian.

[illegible] Anne Faryna were over to Camrose on Friday and attended the funeral of Irene's [illegible]

Lyle and Vernice Grosland drove over to Mannville on Friday bringing back to Holden the van being raffled by Lodges of the B.P.O. Elks, a project to raise funds for their Purple Cross Fund, a fund which pays expenses of any person young or old who is in need of some kind of medical aid they cannot afford. Exalted Bros. Earl Hardy and Lyle Grosland are in charge of the raffle.

Anne Scherger and girls were visitors in Camrose on Saturday.

A recent visitor with Mrs. Anne Scherger and family was Anne's mother from Wainwright, who visited for a few days.

James Campbell of Toronto, grandson of Mrs. Beth Campbell, a long-time resident of Holden, now a resident in Leduc Nursing Home, was one of the soloists playing at a "Grand Concert" held recently at Rideau Hall in Ottawa. The concert was shown on CBXT on Sunday afternoon.

A very successful and enjoyable event was held on Saturday in the Holden Complex when "Minor Hockey" day was held.

Holden Lodge Order of the Royal Purple made their annual pledge towards the ACT Telerama for 1984, held January 28 and 29th.

Mrs. Bertha Chetney's daughter Helen, who had been visiting with her for several days, returned home to Vancouver last week.

4-H Club Events

by Rami Hastings

4-H Crafts Club is now in full swing with current crafts being macrame and ceramics. We have just completed our first project which was a pinecone wreath or centerpiece.

On Jan. 20th, Lisa Brodie (president) and Bernadette Zintel (vice-president) attended a Legion ladies Auxiliary meeting where they accepted a donation toward our club.

Mrs. Worden was a guest speaker at our last business meeting, on Jan. 18th. She gave an informative talk on the topic of 4-H public speaking, which some members of our club will be participating in at the end of February.

Our current president, Lisa Brodie, will be moving to Brooks so our vice-president, Bernadette Zintel will take her position as president.

Spill report received

by Ken Krawetz

The Department of Environment has made its final report to Tofield Town Council, and has made recommendations about the gasoline spill at Pete's Garage, last May.

One of the recommendations proposed from the department is for the Town of Tofield to periodically monitor sanitary sewers in the area for both free gasoline and combustible vapors.

If gasoline sales are to reopen, the location will have to be excavated and the excavated tanks will have to be checked visually and will have to be pressure tested before these tanks can be re-used. Also all unused tanks would have to be removed.

If gasoline is not to be sold, the tanks must be removed as well as the contaminated soil in the north part of the lot. The next owner of the property is to be advised by council of the spill.

In other business, council passed a .25 cent an hour salary increase for all town employees. This works out to approximately 2 per cent on the lower scales, said administrator Neil Brodie.

Representatives from the Tofield Library presented their 1984 budget to council for their approval. This was tabled until budget discussions later in the year.

Council has agreed to renew an agreement with the Tofield Ag Society over the Recreation and Parks program.

Council has sent a letter to the Ag Society informing them that they are prepared to negotiate the agreement.

The present two year agreement expires February 8.

Ads have been placed for the position of administrator for the Town of Tofield.

The deadline for application is February 3.

As of January 26, there were five applications for the position, said Brodie.

After the closing date, applications will be reviewed and the successful applicants interviewed before one is chosen for the position.

Dance school opens

by Ken Kroetsch

The Holden Dance School, started for the first time last week, has three classes and twenty-three students, said co-ordinator Collette Zowtuk.

Classes are offered every Tuesday from 3:15 to 4:45 p.m. in Ballet for 4-6 year olds, Jazz 1 for 4-6 year olds and Jazz 2 for students seven years old and up.

Tap and baton dancing were also offered, but not enough interest was shown in these classes to run them, said Zowtuk.

The instructor for these classes is Georgina Klassmer of Vegreville, an instructor for the Vegreville Dance School.

Because of the lateness of the classes starting this year, only a recital for parents is being planned at this time.

Zowtuk said that after the classes are finished an evaluation will take place to see if there is interest for the classes to continue next year.

If there is interest, then next year a club will be formed with a formal executive to run the club.

"We haven't started anything yet because we don't know if we've got the support yet," said Zowtuk.

The classes are available for any child 2½ years and up.

Zowtuk said that if anyone is interested in registering their child in the next week or so, they can still do so by contacting her at [illegible].

Toros need a streak

Tofield Toros have to go on a winning streak if they want to overall Camrose for first place in the County Senior Hockey League.

The two teams will tangle in Tofield on Friday night and a victory for Camrose could clinch the pennant while a Toro win would keep them in contention for first place.

However, even a Tofield win on Friday could just be delaying a Camrose flag as the Blackhawks need only one win to clinch first place.

Friday's game with Camrose is the Toro's only league contest during the coming week.

Toros are almost assured of finishing regular play in second place as they hold a nine point edge over Nursette and any combination of three Tofield victories or three Nursette losses will give the Toros second spot and a home advantage in semi-final playoff action.

Nursette, Rosalind and Kingman will probably battle it out for the final two playoff spots with just three weeks remaining in the regular [illegible].

Toros played two games during the past week when they blasted Kingman 7-1 before being bombed 14-2 by [illegible].

When they were whipped 14-2 by Camrose, the Toro markers were scored by Olson [illegible].

A.A.'s hold meeting

by Ken Kroetsch

Once thought taboo to talk about, with nothing said at a public level, alcoholism and its treatment have progressed over the last 50 years or so, people were informed at the public meeting of Alcoholics Anonymous.

Although there is no cure for alcholism, an alcoholic can lead a relatively normal life if they can give up drinking.

One of the first speakers of the evening, Dr. John R. (not his real name, but a pseudonym for the purposes of this article) said he has had many years of experience with alcoholism, with added [illegible] he himself is an alcoholic.

"It will explain why I am here and why I have an extra interest in the disease, because there is nothing like a spur of suffering from this damned disease to make you interested in treating it."

Dr. John R. said that a lot of people don't really know what it is, or what they've got.

He said most people conjur up pictures of skid row, mission, jail cells and brown paper bags when they think of alcoholism.

He said that Aristotle had once said that drunken women begat drunken [illegible].

He said the medical community have battled with this fact that this might be a genetic disease.

"That the general form of present day knowledge indicates that this is a genetic disorder . . . we're not quite sure of its form of transference . . . it's probably very subtle", he said.

Dr. John said his own theory is that the alcoholic is born with a basic inability to pick up the skills to operate a normal way of living.

He said his level of mood was below what normal people was. Dr. John said in his own experience he found alcohol helped him to feel better and that it brought his mood levels up to normal when he drank.

He said that with the alcoholic there were certain differences that creep in.

He said one of the first differences between the alcoholic and a normal person, is that during the first stages of alcoholism an alcoholic can consume significantly more amounts of alcohol than anyone else.

Their systems, because they are different, can tolerate more alcohol in the system.

He went on to say that for the first 12 to 14 years an alcoholic can handle this, and even have some control over his drinking, but that after this time that his tolerance drops rapidly.

In the space of six months the alcoholic finds that two ounces of alcohol can make him unconscious. The alcoholic drinks to keep from feeling bad, but cannot drink enough to make him feel better.

He said there is a gradual slide off in mood, with the bottom line being suicide.

He said because the alcoholic's ability to withstand stress is much lower, "we're drinking in effect to live".

[illegible] mon effects of alcoholism is [illegible].

He said the bottom line is "if you don't get help you're going to die".

After this point in an alcoholics life he loses total control of his drinking. The alcoholic loses his reasoning ability.

If you take an alcoholic away from alcohol, say for 6-7 days the alcoholic regains control, but if he goes back to alcohol he will totally lose control again.

He said at this time one thing the alcoholic needs at this time is a pattern for living. He said one such pattern for living was Alcoholics Anonymous.

"It's here, it's cheap and it's simple. Anyone who by-passes the program is crazy," he said.

He said one of the most difficult and most awkward steps he took was to join AA.

Marilyn (also not her real name) stood and told of her experience with Al-Anon, a support group for friends and families of alcoholics to help them cope with the disease of a family member, or friend.

She said Al-Anon helped her to realize that alcoholism is a family disease that it creates negative thinking in the family.

She said at times she blamed herself for her husbands drinking, she felt guilty and she was ashamed to have company in the house. She also said she didn't want to go out much.

She said she held anger and resentment for her husband, and would often times take it out on her children.

She said Al-Anon taught her that her feelings were real and how to deal with them. She said it has given her a higher power.

She also said that she realized that she didn't hold her husbands elbow when he was drinking, but that it was his doing.

Following Marilyn, Bob (also not his real name), stood and shared his experience of his life as an alcoholic.

He said at first he had thought his drinking was quite normal, and that drinking got him over some periods of difficulty.

He said his wife and his partner had become very unreasonable about his drinking.

"He wanted me to be to work every day," said Bob.

He said he knew he had a drinking problem and had attended an AA meeting, but felt that didn't have to change his life, as was asked by AA.

He didn't go back to AA for another five years until he had lost his wife, his house and his job. He had gone from being a partner in a real estate firm to driving a truck.

He got through a divorce with a lot of drinking, he went back to AA, but because he wasn't fully committed to the program, he didn't stay sober for long.

He said that finally with suicide on his mind he found that he wanted to seriously quit drinking. He said he didn't like it, but he did it anyway.

"This program works if I want it to work", said Bob.

"Nobody can sit on the sidelines and hope someone will keep them sober."

Bob said he has returned to a normal life, and has remarried.

"The worst day I have now is 100 per cent better than the best I had before."

BETWEEN THE COVERS

There are more new novels this week, including Stephen King's most recent best-seller "Pet Sematary." For Science fiction fans, the latest in the Dragonquest series is here "Moreta, Dragon Lady of Pern," by Anne McCaffrey. Dee Brown's book, "Killdeer Mountain" is an historical novel, set in the United States [redacted].

Canadian author, Rudy Wiebe's novel "My Lovely Enemy" has received very [redacted]

There are also two new Large Print books this month, a western, "Sundance" by Peter McCurtin, and a novel "Rochester's Wife" by D.E. Stevenson.

An important addition to our collection of local histories is the Round Hill publication "Salute the Pioneers." This is a large book, profusely illustrated, and bound to be popular.

The Preschool Story Hour will start on Feb 14, with a group limit of 15. A second group will be started as well, if help is forthcoming for this volunteer program. Three and four year olds are delighted with this introduction to good childrens' books and a chance for group activities. Call or drop in to the library if you have any questions or ideas.

The Library hours are Tues 1-5; Thurs 3-5 and 6-9; Friday and Saturday 10-12 and 1-5

Ag. Society . . .

In other business the society agreed to sponsor the Farmer's Market for this year.

Yvonne Brown, market manager, said that a new ruling on Farmer's markets state that the markets be sponsored by the Ag Society effective in 1984.

She said that after expenses that all of the proceeds would be donated to the Ag Society.

A motion was passed to establish a new account with $2,000 to start preparations for the second annual rodeo. The motion was carried unanimously.

In a report on the rodeo, committee chairman Glenn Jones, reported that the rodeo had been successful, making $11,000 after expenses. He said the success of the rodeo this year would depend largely on the weatherman.

"If we can have fun and break even we'll be realizing something," said Jones.

Concerns were raised, however, that some of the bleachers around the rodeo grounds were unsafe and should be replaced.

One member said that with 200 to 250 people sitting on these unsafe bleachers, that if they collapsed it would be a disaster that could ruin the rodeo in Tofield for years to come.

The management committee will be investigating into this problem.

President Darrel Reil reported that over the last year there had been several changes in the arena, from renovations to the change in management of the pro shop and the concession booth.

Some of the things that Reil said would be done in the future included putting more tables in the lobby, a window on the arena door and a partition across the lobby door to try and conserve energy.

A concern was expressed concerning the policy of the arena during hockey games. One member said that there was a problem of swearing and smoking in the bleachers.

He said that last year the police had been requested to attend to a disturbance at the arena but hadn't responded.

Reil said these problems would be looked into by the management committee.

The treasurer raised the concern that her job had grown to such proportions that she was spending 20 to 40 hours a month doing the books of the society.

She said she felt there should be some remuneration for this position because of the work involved.

There were some reservations about setting precedences by paying someone for working, while others in the society were on a volunteer basis.

Others felt that if the individual were to quit the position, which is appointed not elected, that the society would have difficulty replacing her.

The matter was tabled to be taken up at a directors' meeting following the annual meeting.

In the final business a concern was raised over directors not attending meetings.

It was pointed out that the Ag Society's constitution there was no provision for this matter. It was further pointed out that in many organizations that if a person were to miss three meetings without excuse then they would be asked to resign their positions.

President Reil said that two weeks notice would have to be given and another general meeting called to ammend the constitution to ammend this.

Reil said that before he did this he would try and get the directors involved in the society.

Opinions sought

The Alberta Teachers' Association is seeking public input on what constitutes basic education now, and in the future

All across the province, teachers are asking for input on the direction that education should take in the next few decades as attempts are made to better prepare students for the high technological society of the 80's and 90's.

As the County Board of Education is asking for input on setting long range plans and goals, the teacher's project of getting public input will be doubly important.

A questionnaire is being prepared for each household in the County and public meetings are planned for Viking, Holden, Ryley and Tofield near the end of February.

Time is important

. . . in Beaverhill

Time is starting to become an important factor in the Beaverhill Hockey League.

Tofield Satellites are tied for the lead with Lamont with the latter having a game in hand.

Mundare is still in contention for first place but, any combination of two wins by either Tofield or Lamont or two losses by Mundare would eliminate Mundare from post-contention.

Vegreville is a distant fourth and two more losses by that team or two wins by Mundare would leave Vegreville in fourth place.

Holden is winless after four-team starts but, still have a chance to overtake Vegreville for the final playoff berth.

Satellites hosted Lamont last night in a battle for first place with results to be reported next week.

Holden plays in Vegreville tonight (Wednesday) and will be in Mundare on Friday before hosting Lamont on Tuesday while Tofield will be at home to Mundare.

In action during the past week, Tofield blanked Holden 6-0 while Lamont whitewashed Mundare 6-1 and a game between Tofield and Vegreville was either not played or, not reported to CPCW.

Association works

In September of 1983, the Hastings Lake Preschool Association was formed to promote both facilities and programs for young children in the community.

At present, two preschool classes are being held on Tuesdays in the Hastings Lake Community Hall.

Work and ground preparation for an outdoor adventure playground and family park began in the fall and is being financed solely through fund-raising and private donations.

Funding to provide upgrading and cleanup in the existing facility, food concession equipment (a source of future fund-raising) and the necessary pre-school equipment has been provided by the Clifford E. Lee Foundation.

Starthcona County, through their Family and Community Services department, has supplied three hundred dollars for indoor playground equipment and has provided the program with the loan of temporary equipment.

The executive responsible for the program this year consists of Marg Colvin and Norma Chalmers, mom's representatives from each of the classes, Elinor Prince, treasurer, Melain Henry, secretary vice-pres., Linda Darroch, president, and Ruth Kintscherah, program director.

The Hastings Lake Preschool Association welcomes new ideas and help of any kind.

Park meeting is held

by Ken Kosmack

Tofield Parks and Recreation representatives met with the public last Monday evening for input and ideas for the development of Belvedere Park in the near future.

A plan was shown, prepared by, first a professional consultant, and then later modified by Peter Alexander of Alberta Parks and Recreation, of the proposal for the park site.

The plan proposed by Alberta Parks and Recreation would include a berm along Secondary Highway 834, a soccer/football field, a ball field, picnic areas and a playground site.

There was some concern that with a berm alongside the highway that children would use it as a hill for tobogganing, running right out on to the highway.

Recreation board member Ken Stauffer said that when the park is developed that a fence would probably extend around the park eliminating this problem.

Some people attending the meeting felt that trees and a fence along the edge of the highway would be more attractive than a berm.

Recreation Director Jackie Dumouchel said the berm, or any of the proposals needn't be used, but had been implemented for a proposal to be taken to the public for input.

Reeve John Warner questioned why the environmental reserve area hadn't been included in the plans drawn up.

Recreation Board chairman Tom Lyle said he had presumed this had been included in the plans, and hadn't been aware that it hadn't been included in the plans.

"We've got more land than we know we had," said Lyle.

Another concern was raised about parking for users of the park. It was pointed out that there could be no parking along the highway, and it was also pointed out by Reeve Warner that the correction line to the south of the park had just been designated as a secondary highway last week.

Concerns were raised that parking would probably affect residents in the Belvedere areas. It was proposed that a parking area be part of the plan and that the area be in the north end of the park.

Lavatory facilities was another concern raised. "It's one thing that would be definitely needed" this would be low on the list of priorities, being completed last, said Dumouchel.

Dumouchel said that the project would have to be staged over a number of years due to costs.

The first thing to be done, hopefully to be started by this May said Dumouchel, in the northwest and then to be seeded to grass.

Trees were added at first as a priority, but those at the meeting felt this could be done in the future.

Before the project can go ahead, approval will have to be obtained from the Board of Education and then from the Department of Education, since 10 per cent of the land is school reserve.

Warner said he didn't think anyone would be against this proposal since it was an improvement on what was there now.

Dumouchel said the recreation board would be getting prices on the proposal before submitting the proposal for approval to council.

Other suggestions offered was a tobogganing hill and a skating pond, since 60 per cent of the year was spent in winter.

Rodeo plans are set

by Ken Kosmack

Last year's Sodbuster Rodeo was so successful that the Tofield Agricultural Society have set plans for the second annual Sodbuster Rodeo to be held May 26 and 27.

It was agreed by rodeo committee members that the success of the rodeo last year was due to the enthusiasm and support of all the Tofield community groups and to the Tofield businessmen who sponsored events and prize money for cowboys and rodeo queen contestants.

The rodeo committee, with chairman Glenn Jones, are hopeful the community will receive continued support of this year's rodeo.

Stock will be supplied once again by Lee Trench Rodeo Company for bareback, saddle bronc and bull riding.

Announcer for the rodeo will be George Hanson of Regina, Saskatchewan, with Ricky "Ticky" Wanchuk as rodeo clown.

Events scheduled this year include bareback riding, calf roping, steer wrestling, saddle bronc, Junior and Ladies' Barrel racing, team roping, steer riding, bull riding and mutton busting.

Along with the rodeo entertainment there will be a pancake breakfast, a beer gardens, a beef barbecue, with Clearwater and CHBN to entertain at the dance and beer gardens.

The rodeo queen contest will be organized by Sharon Tolford this year. There will be six girls, age 15-19 years old, competing for the crown of rodeo queen.

Rodeo queen contestants are judged 40 per cent on horsemanship, 40 per cent on ticket sales and 20 per cent on congeniality.

At the first annual Sodbuster Rodeo there were approximately 5,000 people who attended the two-day event.

The rodeo committee members for the rodeo this year are chairman Glenn Jones, Belinda Jones, Dan Weed, Barry Jones, Earl Rose, Jon Kallal, Sharon Tolford, Agnes Rose and Bruce Tolford.

SPRING TUNE-UP

Mark off February 9th on you calendar as a day for yourself. Spring Tune-up, a one day conference for women, is planned for Vegreville that day. The day will consist of several speakers, lunch and a fashion show.

We'll be discussing ways to organize your time and your life to achieve a sense of satisfaction. Planning for a sound financial future and how drug abuse can affect you and your family are topics that will be covered.

Cost for the day, including lunch is $9.00. Doors open at 9 a.m. at the National Hall in Vegreville.

To register, phone the Alberta Agriculture Office at 663-3555 by February 7. See you there!

FARM COMPUTER HOME STUDY COURSE

Alberta Agriculture's farm business management branch has developed a home-study course on farm computers that will be available to farmers anywhere in the province.

Paul Gervais of the farm business management branch says "The course is designed for farmers who are wondering whether they should computerize. If a farmer decides to buy a computer, the course will provide him with enough background to enable him to walk into a computer store and to make an informed purchasing decision."

The eight lessons that make up the course will cover the history of computers, the farm application of computers and the various parts of a computer system. The farm application section will provide detailed information on computerized accounting and physical record keeping systems and on the eductional and home uses of farm computers.

The course material will be mailed out by the Rural Education and Development Association (REDA) in February, 1984. Registration forms can be obtained from Alberta Agriculture's district offices.

The course will be supplemented by local seminars and training courses which involve the actual use of a computer in those areas where there is a high level of interest.

The cost of the Farm Computer Home Study Course is $35, but groups of 10 or more people will be eligible for a 20 percent discount.

PROVINCIAL LIBRARY EDMONTON FEB 10 1984

Teams enter provincials

Four minor hockey teams from Tofield are involved in provincial playoffs in different categories.

One team from Tofield was also entered but were eliminated after their opening playoff game.

In all classifications, there are quite a few teams entered in the zone level and as a result, the road to a zone crown and a berth in the provincial finals tournament is a long route.

Bears

The pee wee 'C' Blazers have advanced to the zone quarter-finals after ousting Lac La Biche.

Blazers doubled Lac La Biche 6-3 in the first game and scored a resounding 8-2 triumph at home in the second contest to win the total goal series by a 13-4 count.

Blazers will now advance against Strathcona in quarter-final play with the opening game slated for Tofield on Saturday at three o'clock. Second game in the series will be played in Josephburg on Sunday afternoon.

Blazer goals in the first game with Lac La Biche were Pollock, Jennings, Neufeld and Cunningham.

In the Blazers' 8-3 triumph, they were led by Sadownyk, Cunningham and Donovan who each netted a pair while the dauglas were scored by Pollock and Neufeld.

Broncos

Tofield will go up against St. Paul in a two-game total-goal series in a zone elimination round.

The opening games goes in St. Paul on Friday evening with the deciding game in Tofield Arena on Saturday at six o'clock.

The winner of this series will advance to the zone quarter-finals against the winner of a series between Elk Point and Bonnyville.

Lions

Tofield Lions are hoping to stage a comeback in their midget 'C' series with Mirwayne.

Mirwayne won the opening game of their total-goal series by an 8-4 score and the Lions are hoping to rebound when the second game is played in Tofield on Sunday at three o'clock.

The winner of this series will advance to zone quarter-finals against Redwater who drew a bye in the opening round.

Huskies

Holden came out on the wrong end of a 16-0 score against Mannville in the opening game of a bantam 'D' zone elimination round playoff contest.

Because of a 16-goal rule, Holden was eliminated and Mannville will advance to the quarter-finals against the winner of a series between Josephburg and Newbrooke.

Panthers

Fivebrook got hamshed 10-1 by Vegreville in Tofield on Monday night in the opening game of zone pee wee 'D' playoffs with Tofield's lone goal being scored by Robert Zintel.

The second game deciding game in the series will be played in Vegreville on Monday night.

Seniors meet

The Golden Club had a general meeting on Feb. 1, with a very good attendance.

Plans for the Valentine tea were finalized, which is to be held at the Drop-in Centre on Feb. 14 from 2-4 o'clock.

There will be a bake table and a white elephant table also.

Coffee is being served every morning from 9-11 a.m. Monday through Friday. Everyone is welcome.

The shuffleboard and the pool table are installed and are being well used.

Satellites to compete ...in provincials

Tofield Satellites have decided to enter the provincial playoff hockey.

Satellites are entered in the intermediate 'C' category and will face Edville in the opening round of the Northern Alberta playdowns.

The first game in the two-game total-goal series will be played in the Tofield Arena on Sunday with a starting time of 8:15 p.m.

The second and deciding game is to be played in Edville on Feb. 18th.

According to available information, a total of sixteen teams are entered in the intermediate 'C' competition in Northern Alberta.

Satellites are hoping to have more success in the provincial competition than they are having lately in league play which has resulted in the Tofield squad dropping out of a share of the league lead down into second place.

A lack of games in the past couple of weeks hurt the team's timing and the result was a 8-5 loss to Lamont with the victory moving Lamont ahead of the Satellites into sole possession of the lead in the Beaverhill Hockey League.

A combination of two wins by Lamont or two losses by Tofield would clinch first place for Lamont.

Tofield is practically assured of second place as one more win would clinch that place while Mundare should finish fourth and Vegreville needs only a win or a loss by Holden to clinch the final playoff berth.

Tofield hosted Mundare last night (Tuesday) while Holden was at home to Lamont with results to be reported next week.

Holden travels to Mundare on Friday while Tofield goes to Vegreville on Saturday.

Holden also has a number of games to reschedule and are being hampered by the mild weather which is prevailing as that hurts any natural ice operation.

Lamont picked up two more wins last week with an impressive 9-3 triumph over Tofield followed by a 13-4 win over Vegreville after earlier being stunned 8-5 by Holden who recorded its first victory of the season.

In other games played, Vegreville almost clinched a playoff berth with two wins over Holden by scores of 10-6 and 23-4 and in the other contest, Mundare whipped Holden 13-4

Five seek ice queen's crown

There are five candidates in the running for a queen's crown when the Tofield Skating Club holds its annual carnival.

This winter's carnival has been entitled "Movies" and will feature more than sixty skaters. The carnival will be held on Feb. 25 and 26.

The new queen will be crowned by last year's Carnival Queen, Cathy Brown.

Fourteen year old Buffy Silver is one candidate and is being sponsored by Beta Sigma Phi.

A second candidate is sixteen year old Cathy Litwin who is being sponsored by Tofield Minor Hockey.

Dianne Harper

Angela Zilkie is fourteen years old and her entry is under the sponsorship of the Tofield Branch of the Royal Canadian Legion

Another contestant is Kelly Gill who also is fourteen years of age. She is being sponsored by the Beaverhill Light Horse Association.

Last, but not least, is fifteen year old Dianne Harper who has been entered by the Katchemut Creek Family Horse Club.

Practice sessions are being held regularly in preparation for this winter's gala event.

Four members of the Tofield Club took part in an inter-club competition in Lamont on Saturday.

Michael Mullins of Tofield and Roxy Knudsllen of Ryley did extremely well as each picked up a silver medal for a second place showing in their respective competitions.

Lori Brown had a fourth place finish in her competition while Angela Zilkie was fifth in his class.

All four will be skating during the carnival.

Toros fight for 2nd

Tofield Toros will be trying to hold onto second place in the County Senior Hockey League

Toros lost a close decision to Camrose on Friday night with the victory assuring Camrose of the league pennant

Toros have three games scheduled for the coming week and two victories would clinch second place and home advantage in semi-final action.

Toros will be hosting Kingman on Friday night before going to Camrose for a game with Nursette on Saturday and one week from today (Wednesday) will again meet the Blackhawks, this time in Camrose

The battle for the other two playoff berths is between Nursette, Rosalind and Kingman with the latter team mired deep in the basement facing a serious situation in

Expropriation

Expropriation is a legal form of depriving one party of ownership in a property, and transferring it to another, usually the broader public. And the only justification has been that the expropriation was deemed to be essential to the public need. At least, that has been the philosophy over many years.

Indeed, so anathemous was it to the late Social Credit administration in Alberta that it would urge every other possible solution to a problem before approving expropriation. Hardly more than one decade ago.

Yet expropriation is being hinted in the debate (?) between Edmonton and Alberta Government Telephones over the latter acquiring the former. Telephones Minister Bob Bogle will not deny that expropriation has been, is being, considered as one of several solutions to the Province's interest in acquiring [illegible] Telephones.

Why? Under what premise? Under what justification? There [illegible] never been any demonstrated substantial, overweaning public need for the assumption of Edmonton Telephones by AGT. It is hard to imagine such a pressing need ever being [illegible].

Under any other circumstances, expropriation should be anathema.

Could it be considered more efficient? Who knows? Certainly the present developments of Edmonton Telephones and AGT are among the most progressive in the world. Little to gain there. Could it be considered desirable? In the same way, possibly, that merging the Rural Electrification Associations, REA's, with TransAlta Utilities might be considered desirable. And we all know where the REA vote would [illegible]. Can it be considered inevitable? We hope the answer to that question would be: Never. Never inevitable.

We have felt for years that AGT is profiting unduly by seizing the bulk of long distance tolls. We still feel that. We feel also it is not in the best interests of Edmontonians, who owned their own telephone system before Alberta became a province, to turn it over to the rest of us.

Is it saving us money, [illegible] Camrose, for AGT to withhold major parts of the tolls? Of course it is. Does that make it right to argue we . . . AGT . . . should continue in this manner? Of course not. Or expropriate? What demonstrated public need has there been? Can there be?

The argument comes back to one of efficiency, or principle. And when we compare the two, it's long past time when we should realize, as did our forefathers, that it is principle which in the long run must be seen as basic, as essential, as impossible of surrender, or renuncia[illegible]. It's an attitude that doesn't always win friends, nor does it always win peaceful, sleep-filled nights. On the other hand, it doesn't condemn us to lie awake at nights questioning our own integrity.

And integrity will challenge us long after we have forgotten the dollars.

Humor in the courts

Executive Secretary of the National Organization on Legal Problems of Education
Reprinted by The Alberta School Trustee

We hesitate to bring up a subject that may result in charges of male chauvinism, but since State v. Silva* is a part of the public record, the Special Judge who wrote the opinion for the Tennessee Supreme Court will just have to defend himself, for the language of the [illegible] is too delightful to suppress.

It seems that the defendant, Gene Silva, was the solicitor for a charitable organization known as Mission Workers' Organization. The opinion uses the objective expression "so-called" to modify charitable, because it appears that the solicitors [illegible] to a greater degree than the needy children that they were allegedly collecting for.

However that may be, Silva employed a 15-year-old girl named Diane Fowler, who "shook or rattled a tambourine" to collect money for the organization during the Christmas season. On a particular snowy day, Silva picked up Diane and drove to a motel, with the intent and purpose of renting a room therein, allegedly for the purpose of a lovers' liaison. After hugging and kissing for some 30 minutes in his car parked in front of the motel, Silva entered the motel office clutching $10 which he had borrowed from Diane, rented a room, and puchased two cokes to go.

All of the aforesaid foreplay was witnessed by the junior high school principal, who was [illegible] in the snow, and being of a suspicious nature, he called the police. The court recommended the diligence of the principal in the following [illegible] in this time when people close their eyes to open crimes, we need more citizens of prying proclivities and urgent speech, and we commend the school principal for [illegible]

As the police approached [illegible] but was apprehended promptly by the police and hauled off to jail on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor. Now the defendant was a young man of 29, but being a married man, he was placed in the position of calling his wife for the purpose of arranging bail. At first she took a dim view of the situa[illegible] relented and arranged for the bail. The defendant was convicted and sentenced to six months in the county jail or workhouse, to which was added a fine of $50.

The trial judge was unimpressed with the defense offered by the defendent that the motel arrangements had been made for a tryst with the defendent's wife. The Supreme Court was equally unimpressed commenting that this ridiculous excuse of renting a room for himself and his wife is unbelievable.

The Court pointed out that the defendant would have had to drive to his home inform his wife, make arrangements for a babysitter, wait for his wife to get ready and drive 30 miles in rough winter weather consuming at least three hours in time. "Human experience teaches us," said the court, "that by this time [illegible] would have subsided and his blood run cold."

Upon appeal the Court of Criminal Appeals reversed the judgement and dismissed the case, and the State's petition for certiorari was granted to the Tennessee Supreme Court.

It is unnecessary for the purpose of our commentary here to deal with the supreme court decision, which involved a technical point of law, but the court did decide that there was sufficient evidence to support the trial court's determination of guilt. However, the Court felt that this case was an appropriate occasion for the trial court to modify its judgement and put the defendant on probation "so that he can continue to make a living for his family."

Said the Court: . . . we believe the State had had its day in court. We know the defendant has had more time in court than he wants. To place him on probation would not be too merciful. He has suffered the humiliation of a trial for a would-be sin of the flesh, and had to seek refuge behind the petticoats of an angry wife who publicly forgave him, but whatever is done by the courts cannot restore the peace and harmony of that happy marriage, for if the pattern of wifely conduct runs true to form, he will throughout his natural life be [illegible] ed him from jail. When the [illegible] passed to their respective rewards, whether upwards or downwards, the defendant will in all probability still be reminded of this unfortunate incident for it is a woman's right never to forget. She may think that she has forgiven him, and when she reminds him of his waywardness, she will not be fussing, only "telling him."

And if perchance the defendant should ever rise to high office, such as Justice of the Peace, a deacon in the church, or a member of an appellate court, he will until death brings him blessed relief hear, "if it hadn't been for me, you'd have been a jail bird". Six months in jail would be a small price to pay for his sudden heat of passion, for he will all his married life remain suspect in her eyes, and as the shadows of life lengthen and his hair grows grey and he has more children and then grandchildren, he would hear the ever present theme of "remember when I saved you from jail." Jail in his declining years could be a sanctuary from an ever remembering and never forgiving wife. The prisoner of Chillon could become a kindred spirit.

A convict stays in jail for a stated time, is released and aside from the stigma of prison, he is free, but a convict husband must forever bear the shackles of guilt, and no matter how hard he works, how much he accomplishes, how much he does for his partner in marriage, or how high he rises in the esteem of his fellows, he will remain a convict to her, and he will only escape temporarily each day while at work making a living.

This defendant has in the eyes of the law done wrong, but not enough in this instance to be jailed, and the least the trial judge can do is relieve him of his temporary sentence, and remember that he is forever and eternally on probation to his wife, who will be his wife, his warden and parole officer all wrapped up in one. What a sad fate for any poor mortal to face. Whenever he is late from work and not home "on the dot", he can envision his wife wrinkling her brow in a gathering storm and nursing her wrath to keep it warm. This problem was recognized long ago, in Proverbs XX:19, where it said, "it is better to dwell in a corner of the housetop than with a brawling woman in a wide house."

In his twilight years, after a life of toil, failure or success, when he is entitled to dream dreams and see visions, remember parts of a pleasant past and contemplate a place among the Blessed when he passes from this green earth to a better land, and after he no longer remembers the name of Diane, much less her shape, form or figure, his musings will no doubt be interrupted by the shrill voice of his wife, warden and probation officer, "What are you thinking about — that woman the sheriff caught you with down in Franklin?"

The opinion concluded with the observation to the trial judge that "we hope that he understands life and can [illegible] future of the defendent."

Best to get on with the business of living

by Paul Hellyer

I wasn't one of the 75 million who watched The Day After. My wife preferred Kennedy; and I already knew that anyone who thinks that an atomic war between the superpowers can be waged and won is a fool.

There may be some point in sensitizing people to the dangers of nuclear war provided they react rationally. The game isn't worth the candle if it creates a sense of hopelessness, pressure for [illegible] disunity between NATO allies. These results would be subversive to the film's alleged purpose — a peaceful world.

Young people are particularly vulnerable because they lack the historical perspective to differentiate between concern and despair. They should be reminded that in the dying days of World War I [illegible] of poison gas so awful as to defy description. Yet 70 years have passed which have included dozens of small wars and one five-year world war, without gas being used again. It is just too risky when both sides have it.

Atomic weapons have undergone a similar evolution. When President Harry Trueman authorized their use to speed the end of the war the U.S. was the sole [illegible]. He might have achieved the same purpose without loss of life by simply blowing the top [illegible] for the benefit of the Japanese high command. But that is hindsight. One thing is cer[illegible] have used the bomb the way they did if they hadn't had a [illegible].

It's been almost 40 years [illegible] unleashed in anger and the odds are 100 to 1 that there won't be an atomic war in the next 40 years. There is no point in either the U.S. or the USSR reducing the other to rubble only to wind up in ashes. Neither Andropov nor Reagan is about to pronounce [illegible] we would be well advised to get on with the business of living — hopefully and creative[illegible].

Pessimists fear the consequences of a single missile being fired by accident. It could happen, but the possibility was foreseen by both sides when they agreed to install the "hotline". It's their fail-safe to distinguish between an act of war and the result of a submarine crew gone berserk.

A conventional war is far more likely than either a deliberate or accidental nuclear exchange. Chances [illegible] else's real estate and there [illegible] potential gain might appear to justify the risk.

Unfortunately the probability will increase in direct proportion to the success of peace-marchers in determining the solidarity of the [illegible] of NATO which has kept the peace for 40 years — a unity based on the lessons of the 1930s when the peace movements of that day undermined the spirit of resistance which led, ultimately, to war.

Peace lovers, capable of learning from history should campaign for a mutual reduction in nuclear weapons, a strengthening of the West's conventional force to deter conventional war, and the solidarity of the Western alliance which is, by far, the best guarantee of peace.

Friends around the world

[illegible]

Dear Sir

As a hobby enterprise I publish two little quarterly penpal booklets, both entitled Friends Around The World. One is for young people 12-18 and the other is for those over 18. In them I give free listings to anyone world-wide who is interested in making friends through correspondence or in exchanging hobby items (stamps, coins, viewcards, dolls, etc.). I strive at all times to keep Friends clean and respectable; no smut of any kind is accepted.

Anyone who wants a free listing should send their name, age, address and a brief description of themselves and their interests to Friends, POB 3582, Seattle, WA 98124, USA. If they want to include a photo, they may (also free).

Please be sure and say "listing" and not "list", because I could never afford to send everyone a free list (booklet). I already give enough of them away to handicapped and other unfortunates. The booklet itself is $2, which barely covers the cost of its production and postage.

Record high is tied

The weather man is continuing to toy with record high temperatures so far this winter.

For the third time since the start of a new year, a record high temperature has been tied.

The latest high took place on Sunday when the mercury climbed to nine degrees above zero.

That ties a thirty-year record that had been set on the same date back in 1954.

Daytime highs for the past week were all above zero and that makes thirteen days in a row that temperatures have not dipped below the zero mark and the warm trend is expected to continue at least until the latter part of this week.

Overnight lows aren't really all that cold, mostly from about two below to around ten below with only one exception in the past two weeks when the mercury did fall to a minus twenty-five on Jan. 26th and that was the coldest night in over three weeks.

For the most part, temperatures experienced during the past two weeks could continue and if they do, there will be a number of opportunities to set or tie existing high temperatures, some of which go all the way back to 1956.

The record high temperature for the month was established on Feb. 27th, 1962 when it got to fourteen degrees above zero.

On the other extreme end of the ladder, the coldest day of the month took place on Feb. 15 and 16, 1936, when the mercury plunged to fifty degrees below zero and they also happen to be the coldest days ever in the history of the area.

trying to make it into postseason play.

Tofield trailed Camrose 7-2 at one stage in the third period at home on Friday and rallied strongly before time ran out and they were edged 7-5.

Olson led the Toro attack by putting two markers with the singles being netted by Friesen, Budinski and Gilbert.

The ball-control shutdown was demonstrated by Camrose and for the first time since the schedule started, Olson of the Toros has dropped out of the lead in the goal-tending race, behind Broen of the Blackhawks.

From The Hack

The Les Zaruki team won the Senior Men's Zone playdowns in Bruce January 27-28.

The Zaruki team won the six-team playoff without a loss, although they were pushed a couple of times by a feisty Hardisty team from Fabyan. Zaruki then defeated Hardisty in the A final without too much difficulty, however when the two teams met again in the B final, Zaruki was forced to steal a single on the tenth end to win. Two other teams from Camrose, Archie Grossman and Bernie Williams had very limited success in the event.

On Feb. 3-4, the Zaruki rink, defending Alberta champions, travelled to Wetaskiwin for the Northern Alberta playdowns. There they ran into trouble and suffered three losses and were eliminated from further play. At press time the details were unavailable, however next week we will have a more complete story. The other three members of the Zaruki rink are George Heck, Ray Brown and Ray Semmelroth.

The Farmer's Bonspiel drew to a successful close Feb. 3 with 94 teams enjoying a week of socializing and excellent food donated by local merchants. The bonspiel committee would like to extend a hearty thank-you to all the businesses that donated food, prizes and money. Hopefully, farmers will remember your generosity when they make retail purchases.

The bonspiel had only one undefeated team, that being the Dennis Anderson rink from Kelsey. They defeated Emil Bauman from Hay Lakes by a 10-8 score. Anderson defeated Gary Schmiler to advance to the final, while Emil Bauman defeated Ray Adamson to reach the final. Members of the winning rink are Dennis Anderson, Virg Gerber, Neil Cunningham and Ernie Bertschi.

The second event was won by Brill from Mannville as they defeated Bob Seney from Sawtl. Another Mannville team, Wattins, won the third event with a victory over Lorne Enright of Rosalind. The Fourth Event was won by Wildcat of Hobbema as he defeated Wilfred Volk of Heisler.

In the Zone 11 Mixed playdowns held Feb. 3-4, ten teams participated on some tricky ice in Sedgewick. The A final saw two Rosalind skips battle it out. Lorne Enright finally put Einar Fossen away on the tenth end with a three-takeout Enright then sat on the sidelines as Fossen was forced back into the fray in the B [illegible] of Sedgewick defeated [illegible] to enter the B final. At the same time Fossen defeated Al Platten of Ballmoral to gain a position in the B final with Robichaud. Fossen was again equal to this challenge and won the 8 count. Again it was the Rosalind neighbours in the A B final, however Fossen had to beat Enright twice while Enright only had to give Fossen a single loss. The game was tight until Enright managed a three in the ninth and to break the game open.

This is the second straight year that the Lorne Enright team has represented Zone 11 in the Northern Alberta Mixed Playdowns. The team consists of Lorne Enright, Marie Funkhauser, Rick Fossen and Karen Crawford.

The Enright rink goes to Edmonton today in the Northern Alberta Mixed Playoffs from Feb. 10-12.

Hay Lakes district news

Mrs A Arnston

Marvin and Darlene Schultz have returned from a three-week stay at Phoenix, Ariz. They travelled by automobile and were accompanied by Darlene's mother, Ella Stumenthal, who stayed on at her residence in Arizona. Madeline Schultz joined them for the last week of their visit.

Glenn and Marian Winder spent an enjoyable three-week vacation at Palm Springs, Calif. They were joined by Dan and Terry Scober for the last two weeks.

The bingo held by the Hay Lakes Senior Citizen's last Friday evening was well-attended. Prize winners were Anne Appell twice, Emily Appell, Harriette Pomeroy, Susan Nerlander, Les Webster and Harriet Pomeroy tied, Mac Douglas and Norman Smith tied, Doris Holdsworth and Anne Appell tied, (ties were shared). Christine Webster, Carl Galeano, Emily Appell was winner of the blackout bingo.

The Senior's are holding a tea, bake sale and bazaar in their center on Feb. 11. Activities will commence with coffee at 10 a.m. and the sale will begin at 10:30 a.m.

Ladies of the Senior Citizens Club were busy on Wednesday afternoon sewing on a quilt for the sale. Various [illegible] items have been donated for the sale. The group will especially welcome donations of home baking.

Program gets funding

Larry Shaben, Minister of Housing has announced approval of an additional 32.4 million dollars needed to meet commitments to the end of the fiscal year, March 31, 1984, for Seniors' Home Improvement Programs.

These funds are required in addition to the 69.4 million dollars which were approved in the 1983-84 budget.

"Seniors have up to four years to spend their funds, but over the last several months [illegible] spending at a higher rate than under previous programs. The largest percentage of the seniors' expenditures are for carpentry (including siding), windows and doors, appliances, flooring, roofing, sidewalks, garages and fences, plumbing and electrical work, furnaces and insulation," Mr. Shaben said. I see this as a significant injection of funds during a period of reduced activity in the construction and building supply industry, providing an economic boost to small business and employment throughout the Province. It is estimated that the equivalent of 4000 jobs have been created during the fiscal year 1983-84 as a result of the expenditure of 92.1 million dollars under this program."

Mr. Shaben went on to say, "This program has been very successful in upgrading Alberta's housing stock by providing financial assistance to low and moderate income senior citizens for repair and improvement of their homes.

Approximately 46,000 senior citizens' grant applications have been approved since December 1982, representing a commitment by the Alberta Government of 127 million dollars deposited on behalf of seniors to their bank or Treasury Branch accounts.

Senior citizen homeowners are eligible to apply if they earn less than $30,000 a year, live in their home for at least nine months of each year, have been a resident of Alberta for more than a year, and are a Canadian citizen or a landed immigrant with a minimum of 10 years residency in Canada."

Series continues

The second segment of the Camrose Lutheran College Images of Man series has been scheduled for February 13, 14 and 15.

Three contemporary images of man will be presented by members of the CLC community. These presentations will take place in Room C167 in the Science Building, and will begin at 7:30 p.m. The public is invited to attend and there will be no admission charge.

On Monday, Dittmar Muendel will deal with the modern advertiser's view of man. A short film on this subject, entitled "Ways of Seeing", will be followed by Dittmar's comments.

On Tuesday, Dr. Michael Mac and Dr. David Larson will provide a joint presentation entitled "Biosocioprolepsis". The techniques, methods, and ethics of genetic engineering will be examined in this discussion.

Finally on Wednesday night, Dr. Robert Ostrem will lecture on "The Modern Psychologist's View of Man".

All presentations will be followed by an opened discussion in which the relationships between the three different perspectives will be clarified.

HANDS

Do you take your hands for granted?

An unusual question perhaps. Yet, Mrs. Nancy Graham, a housewife in Aberdeen, gave it some thought.

She'd had a busy week, almost too busy for one pair of hands, but when she had a few minutes to spare she sat down and dashed off these lines —

Oh, blessings for the gift of hands, hands that can work in many ways; fashion wood, drive cars, lead bands, knit and sew, write books and plays. Hands that can work, hands that can play, hands that can golf and fish and bowl, hands that can cook meals everyday, hands that can help a poorer soul.

Hands that can heal, hands soft to touch, hands that can play sweet airs of old; hands stretched to welcome — all are such — hands that are worth their weight in gold.

Give me helpful hands for doing good in tasks God meant our hands to do; skilled or unskilled to use as I should, to help those dear — and others, too.

Winter carnival set

. . . at C.L.C.

Camrose Lutheran College has its annual Winter Carnival and "open house" scheduled for this coming weekend.

The winter carnival goes on Friday and Saturday while the open house will be held on Saturday.

One of the highlights of the Winter Carnival will be the crowning of the Snow King and Queen.

The coronation ceremonies will be conducted in the Convocation Centre on Friday evening at seven o'clock.

Following the coronations, the Faculty Follies (vaudevillian-type entertainment) will be presented.

Six events are slated for Saturday, four of which will be held on campus and two are planned for Jubilee Park.

A tandem ski-stomp and a [illegible] competition go on campus at 10 30 a.m. and will be followed by judging of snow sculptures at one o'clock and a cross-country ski competition is to be held at three o'clock.

Events scheduled for Jubilee Park include four-legged races and an anti-gravity [illegible] race and the starting time for these unique competitions is 1:45 p.m.

The open house is designed for prospective students and their parents and will get underway at 9 a.m. on Saturday when registrations will be accepted.

All aspects of campus life and academic courses will be explored throughout the day and there will be special presentations by the college's band, choir and drama students.

Spilstead district news items

The Spilstead Community League held an open house on Jan. 29. There was a really nice turnout of about 75 people, with tea, coffee juice and loads of goodies to sample. The skating rink was cleaned off.

The Cubs, Scouts, Pathfinders and their leaders came in uniform and brought their various projects to show the people in attendance just exactly what each of them did.

After an initial donation from the Spilstead Community League to get started, we now have some very active Cubs, Scouts and Pathfinders in our area. The Group Committee, consisting of the executive, parents and leaders, along with the children have been working very hard at various fund-raising endeavours in order to keep going. We plan to send our group to winter camps and hopefully as many as possible to summer camp. In order to do this, we need the support of the community at large.

We would request that anyone, from the Spilstead area, with papers, bottles, old vehicle batteries or anything else of value that they wish to donate to the Scouting group, please drop items off at Ed's Store or call either Reg Fairbrother at 662-2067 or Moe [illegible] rangements to have them picked up.

We intend to hold paper and bottle drives every two or three months due to the overwhelming response and encouragement we have gotten from the community so far

The Spilstead Community Leagues monthly bingo will be held Thursday.

WCTU celebrates centennial

One hundred years ago, the Women's Christian Temperance Union began its work in Canada.

Since that time it has been continuously challenging each generation to higher standards of morality From coast to coast, members have been committed to promoting the principle of voluntary total abstinence from alcohol, smoking and non-medical use of drugs.

The work was organized in Montreal by the first president, Mrs. Letitia Youmans. Under her leadership, the W.C.T.U. undertook a campaign to have the Drunken Act adopted in Prince Edward County. This kindled a fire for temperance in the east, and on polling day, the act carried by a six hundred majority W.C.T.U. became an important organization with many branches starting up. Letita Youmans along with Nellie McClung and Louise McKinney are names that stood out in Canadian history

Nellie McClung was distressed by the social conditions around her — poverty, drunkeness and social injustices. She was convinced that if women gained political power they would bring about social reform. She began to campaign to win suffrage for women

Women gained the right to vote and in 1921 Nellie was elected to the Alberta Legislature, she continued to battle for social reform, prohibition, better working conditions for girls, minimum wage for all workers, public health nursing and many other benefits we enjoy today. In 1973, Canada Post Office issued a Canadian stamp, to honour her birth date.

Closer to home, Louise McKinney organized work in Alberta in 1913 at Claresholm. She, like Nellie, was elected to the Alberta Legislature in 1917. She was largely responsible for the Dower Act, which assured a widow some portion of her husband's estate. Both these ladies were among the famous five women of Alberta, who signed the petition, that was known as the "Persons Case". Up to then qualified persons for any position did not include women.

The bi-monthly publication, "White Ribbon Tidings" has changed its format somewhat since the early 1900's. It was the first publication for women in Canada and it contained everything from washing machines ads to help for young mothers and of course recipies. Now, the magazine is more inspirational and educational.

The W.C.T.U. maintains a positive approach to the alcohol problem. The organization is influencial in making the public aware of safe and sober living through providing scientific facts concerning the nature and effects of beverage alcohol. It promotes good citizenship and just laws. Letters are sent regularly to the governments requesting changes in laws re liquor advertising out-lets, safe driving, etc. The organization also commends and supports other groups who promote good alcohol and drug education programs. To forward their objectives the W.C.T.U. augments:

—a film department

—Scientific Temperance Instruction in Schools (through posters, essays and puppet teaching);

—Public speaking training

—Literature

—Youth camps and childrens groups

—Legislation and publicity.

One of the more recent projects in Alberta is the printing of "The Alberta Punch Bowl" recipe book. It contains punch recipes for all occasions and attractive ideas to help the hostess.

This book received recognition and a forward written by Roy Farran, solicitor general at that time. Some 20,000 copies have been sold and sent to bars and restaurant operators encouraging them to have non-alcoholic drinks on their wine and cocktail lists.

The Camrose W.C.T.U. organized in 1944 and is involved with all the aspects of work already mentioned. In 1975, Camrose received recognition as having the largest membership in Canada.

As a Centennial project, Camrose is hosting a Valentine's Tea at 3 p.m. on Feb. 13 in Messiah Lutheran Church and only interested ladies are invited to come

Mrs. Maggie Hendrickson, a long-time W.C.T.U. member will be honoured, for her writing. She has recently written the book, "Orphan of the Plains". Her book will be placed in the school libraries of Camrose

Lice can kill cattle

An early diagnosis of cattle lice and early treatment to correct the situation can prevent serious losses from both anaemia and death.

Dr. Ali Khan, past control specialist with Alberta Agriculture, reports that 48 cattle deaths that occurred in central Alberta last winter could have been prevented by an early diagnosis of the problem and the implementation of the appropriate treatment.

He says the veterinarian in the area confirmed that in each case the animals had suffered from anaemia, which had been brought on by improper feeding and/or stress caused by louse infestations.

Dr. Khan also reports that a number of cattle deaths that occurred in a feedlot last year were found to have resulted from an insufficient amount of pesticide having been used to control a louse infestation. In another case, 3 per cent of feedlot cattle, which had all been well fed, died. In this instance no louse control measures had been used, and the cattle were closely confined on slatted floors. The louse population had built up rapidly and spread throughout the cattle before the problem was diagnosed.

A number of cases of cows having become stuck in draughts last spring were investigated by a veterinarian in central Alberta. He found that the animals were often heavily infested with lice, were suffering from anaemia and were too weak to extract themselves from the mud.

Dr. Khan says first calf heifers in dairy herds and replacement heifers require a special ration and special care. If they are undernourished and/or suffer from louse-induced anaemia, they may either die or abort their calves.

To avoid the types of situations cited above, cattlemen should check their cattle now for lice.

Information on the prescribed treatment for louse control is available from district agriculturists, agricultural fieldmen, veterinarians. Dr. Khan (427-0611) or from a publication entitled "Control of Cattle Lice". It can be obtained by writing to the Publications Office, J.G. O'Donoghue Building, 7000-113 Street, Edmonton, T6H 5T6.

Campaign is extended

The Christmas final fund-raising campaign has been extended for a month, to the end of February.

Only eighty-four percent of the provincial objective had been reached when the campaign was supposed to be over at the end of January.

But one of the twenty-two centers involved in this winter's campaign was able to reach its target.

The provincial objective is $650,000 and when returns had been completed at the end of January, only $715,670 had been collected.

According to Gerry Elliott of the Alberta Lung Association, the campaign had to be extended because the funds have to be raised or, a serious cutback in programming would have to be initiated.

Only three communities have reached the ninety percent mark with Drumheller at 91%. Camrose is second one percent behind while Red Deer reached the 91% mark.

The goal for Camrose and surrounding area is $21,700 and collections amounted to $16,000 at the end of January.

The area campaign is conducted by the Camrose Kinsmen and Kinettes with this year's chairmen being Sharon Yandt.

Contributions may be sent to the Alberta Lung Association at 10613-124 St., Edmonton or to Mrs. Yandt at 6308-74 Street, Camrose.

TRIVIA

For those who aren't still muttering "Cabbage Patch Kids" under their breath, the big word these days seems to be 'trivia'. The word itself is defined in my dictionary as 'of little importance' We all know better though, since the arrival on the game scene of Trivial Pursuit. Not only has it made millionaires of two Canadian men, but it's been dominating many of the conversations I've participated in recently, except those with my children; their conversation is dominated by appetite or yearning for cash. The game makes us think. For instance, I think it's amazing the amount of inconsequential, unimportant junk we have cluttering up the lower vaults of our memory banks.

I can't remember hearing so much about a board game since Monopoly hit the scene. Now there's a bit of trivia for you — just when did Monopoly hit the scene? Hasn't it been around longer than taxes?

My first encounter of the trivial kind was during a weekend visit of my sister's and went something like, "Gasp! What do you mean, you've never heard of Trivial Pursuit?!" (Sorry, but I don't get out much.) We learned the game that weekend and since that time, trivia has, on numerous occasions, interrupted our choir practices, been the topic of long distance phone calls, shows up a great deal in newspapers, on the radio and as sponsors for television game shows. It's even been written up in The Reader's Digest. My son tells me that knowing some of the answers in the game has helped him with test questions in school.

I'm beginning to feel like an outsider because we are still a Trivial Pursuit-less family. It's a lot like being the only kid in town without a bicycle. But I'm not going to let anything as trivial as that bother me, especially since our Monopoly game is well-worn.

I might even make up my own trivia game, using strictly Canadian content. I could ask questions like, 1) Which Trudeau son was not born on Christmas Day? 2) Whose idea was it to change to metric and how long ago did he leave the country? 3) What was wrong with the original version of our national anthem? 4) Who used to lead the 'Who'? 5) At what age did Karen Kain begin dancing? 6) Which of these men is not Canadian-born: Raymond Burr, William Shatner or Alan Thicke?

I could call it "Trifles".

Hay Lakes district news

Paul and Joan Roelichen-Pfohl are the parents of a baby son born on Jan. 28, weight 7 lbs. 4 oz. They have chosen the name of Noah Gordon for their firstborn child. Proud maternal grandfather is Robert Roelichen of St. Louis, Missouri who arrived on Jan. 30 for a one-month visit. Noah is the first grandchild. This is also the first grandchild for paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Pfohl of Buffalo, New York, who plan to come for a visit at Easter time.

Mrs. Anne Edwards is recuperating at home following surgery and a 10-day stay in the Royal Alexandra Hospital, Edmonton. She expects to be home for a month before returning to teaching duties at the New Sarepta School.

FISH AND GAME NEWS

The annual meeting of the Hay Lakes and District Fish and Game Association will be held on Feb. 8 at 8 p.m. in the Senior Citizen's Center. The group will also schedule activities for 1984.

The antler trophy measuring night will be held on Feb. 16 at 8 p.m. at the home of Marvin and Darlene Schultz.

Members of the Fish and Game Association have placed some of the flax bales in nearby sloughs for goose nesting. There are more bales available and anyone wishing to set these out or to offer their assistance, should call Walter Busenius at 878-3861

The countdown is now on for the Wildrose District annual meeting and banquet being held at the Crystal Springs Hotel on Feb. 18. Tickets are still available, contact Walter Busenius or Vern Grundberg if interested.

BUDGET BACK UP

The changing economy has forced many Alberta families to take a critical look at their spending. The 1980's are forcing us to face hard facts: few people get everything they want, you must make changes and priorities must be set.

Believe it or not, you do have choices. Below are some ways you can make changes to your spending patterns.

1) Manage money — develop a plan and set family and farm goals. For more information ask for our publication "Cope With a Spending Plan".

2) Sharpen your shopping skills — buy quality items that require fewer repairs and last longer. Consult "Consumer Report" ratings before buying. Plan for seasonal sales.

3) Increase money income — use your time and skills to earn additional income. Rent out a room or a garden spot.

4) Utilize money substitutes — think "Thrift" Recycle clothes, toys and furnishings. Use community services like the library, sports facilities or recreational equipment.

5) Swap Talents and Skills — trade skills with your neighbours. Swap a home perm for 10 hours of babysitting.

6) Simplify your Lifestyle — the reward for simplifying is more room to breathe, fewer things to clean, fewer busy schedules to co-ordinate and reduced waste

UPCOMING COURSES

A few more courses have been added to my schedule

The course on sewing Eskimo Parkas has been rescheduled to February 20, 9:30 — 11:30 a.m. at the new location of Especially for You in Tofield. We will discuss patterns, materials and set up further course dates. The cost of a basic parka is about $100, the addition of fur will add to the cost.

A Microwave Management course is set for Feb. 20 at 7:30 p.m. in Ryley. We will discuss basic cooking techniques and some special uses for your microwave.

Please phone and register for these courses in advance.

Skating party held

On Sunday, Ketchemut Creek Family Horse Club held a successful afternoon skating party and hayride.

Weather conditions were ideal for outdoor skating, as was proven by over 30 people turning out. While the energetic people played hockey, the tots and others enjoyed themselves, just skating or being pulled on sleds and toboggans.

After an hour or so of skating, the teams were ready to pull the wagons for the hayride. Both wagons were full and one team was driven by Norma Smith, the other by Walter Krystal.

After the ride there was hot chocolate and coffee and an open fire to roast wieners. When everyone had satisfied their hunger, skates were again put on and more time was spent on the ice. Just before dusk, a halt was called and things packed up to go home.

Quite a few rode with the teams and wagons back over to Walter Krystal's where one team was loaded to go home.

There is a toboggan party on Feb. 12 on the hills in Krystal's south pasture and guests are welcome.

Hay Lakes district news

RECREATION ANNUAL MEETING

The Hay Lakes and District Recreation Association held their annual meeting in the Rec Center on Jan. 30. Reports for the past year were given by the following committees: honors and awards, skating rink, curling rink, ball clubs, adult further education, history book, Municipal Library, Senior Citizen's, Lion's, area regional recreation, membership.

Elections were held with the following results: Bill Harke, president; Kevin Klemteig, vice-president; Donna Haebner, treasurer; Shirley Radtke, secretary. Carol Hastings will remain in charge of membership.

Residents are reminded that recreation meetings are held at the last Monday of each month at 8 p.m. in the Rec. Center.

The aerobic, ceramic, salt dough and square dancing classes are all in operation. There was not enough response for the beadwork class, however this can still be held if enough interest is shown. The floral arrangement course is scheduled for each Wednesday evening in March, 7 to 9 p.m. Further registrations are also required for this class. Anyone interested in the above classes may contact Faye Leicht, 878-3601.

The Hay Lakes Recreation Center was well filled for the banquet and dance sponsored by the Lion's Club on Jan. 27. The feature attraction was dancing to the music of the Emeralds.

Lee Lindeath, serving on the Camrose and Area Further Education Council, tendered her resignation and this position is now open. Lee has coordinated programs in the Hay Lakes area for the past three years.

Summer Canada '84
Let's put tomorrow's work force on the job today.

Everyone knows that summer jobs give students a chance to earn money to continue their education. But that's just part of the story. Summer employment is also the best way to get the kind of experience that makes it easier to eventually find a full-time job. Employers who hire students help to develop skills that will benefit them in the future.

The Government of Canada will assist sponsors of Summer Canada Works projects with a contribution towards student wages and job-related overhead costs.

YOU CAN HELP TO CREATE JOBS FOR STUDENTS THROUGH SUMMER CANADA WORKS PROJECTS

Summer Canada Works projects provide productive employment for local students. Projects should employ at least three local students and should produce goods or services to benefit the community. All jobs must be full time and must last between six and 18 consecutive weeks during the summer.

ARE YOU ELIGIBLE FOR FUNDING

Community and volunteer groups, professional and technical associations, most local governments and private sector employers are eligible for Summer Canada Works funding.

HOW TO APPLY

If your organization has an idea for a Summer Canada Works project, contact the nearest Canada Employment Centre or Employment Development Branch office of Employment and Immigration Canada for information and application forms.
APPLICATION DEADLINE IS FEBRUARY 24, 1984

Staff at the Canada Employment Centre can also give you more information about other Summer Canada programs and services. These include:
• SUMMER CAREER ACCESS a student wage subsidy program
• CANADA EMPLOYMENT CENTRES FOR STUDENTS a summer job placement service
• RCMP and DEPARTMENT OF NATIONAL DEFENCE student employment programs

Holden adopts code

Holden is one of the municipalities that has adopted a code of ethics for elected officials.

The code has been prepared by the Alberta Urban Municipalities Association who are urging all members to adopt the code.

The code is designed to ensure that the actions of elected officials are always conducted in the public interest.

The official name of the code is Ethical Guidelines of Conduct for Elected Local Government Officials.

The code requires that all elected officials declare their interests in enterprises which do business with the municipality, or interests in land subject to rezoning or development and to refrain from voting when they have a conflict of interest.

Holden is joined by the Town of Viking as the only two municipalities in this area that have adopted the code of ethics, to date.

According to the AUMA, a total of three cities, twenty-three towns and nineteen villages have so far adopted the code

... A TREASURY BRANCH RRSP

An investment in Alberta

An RRSP is basically a tax-deductible savings account. When you invest in a Treasury Branch RRSP, your money stays in Alberta. So while your money is working for you, it's also working to help other Albertans. And that keeps Alberta strong.

Two ways to save

At the Treasury Branch we offer one plan — two options. So you can choose the one that best suits your needs.

Variable Rate Deposit Option

- minimum deposit or contribution of $100
- maximum deposit or contribution of $25
- interest calculated on minimum monthly balance and credited semi-annually
- competitive rates of interest
- [illegible]

Fixed Rate Term Option

- minimum deposit of $500
- interest paid semi-annually
- automatic renewal option at prevailing rates
- no administration fees
- one to five year terms
- early redemption at reduced rates

Visit your local Treasury Branch or Agency soon. And keep your money close to home.

* No termination fees charged unless closed within the first 90 days

FEEDER ASSOCIATIONS

Lately there has been some interest in Feeder Cattle Associations. These associations are comprised of a group of farmers. The association lends money to farmers who want to purchase feeder cattle. The farmer borrowing the funds must contribute 5 per cent of the total funds. The association lends the money at prime plus 1¼ per cent to 1½ per cent. When bought, the cattle are branded with the feeder association's brand. When the cattle are sold, the feeder association loan is paid off and any remaining funds are given to the producer who raised the animals.

The associations offer another outlet for operating capital for raising feeder cattle. Two advantages of feeder association loans is that they require less equity than bank loans and interest is paid only when the cattle are sold. The main disadvantage of the association is that the association is responsible for any bad loans and must either try to collect bad debts or pay the bad debts themselves.

In the County of Beaver, the two Planned Feeder associations are located at Kitscoty and Hardisty.

HARD TIMES AND YOU

On Feb. 27 at 1:30 p.m., at the Ryley Legion Hall, Colin Simmons, an agricultural lawyer with Alberta Agriculture will present a seminar which will be addressing the topic of what to do when business contacts of yours go into receivership, foreclosure or bankruptcy. (For example, what can you do if a machinery company you financed a tractor with goes into bankruptcy?).

The difference between receivership, foreclosure and bankruptcy will be discussed. Colin Simmons will also be discussing personal bankruptcy including what personal and business items are exempt from bankruptcy proceedings.

Medically Speaking

by Dr. Bob Young

The name is a quaint old medical term, dating from 1699, but it remains somehow appropriate as the prevalence of the disease increases. The illness is anorexia nervosa, a poorly understood affliction which is notoriously difficult to treat.

Almost exclusively affecting adolescent girls, the condition, characterized by a distortion of body image, leads to extreme reduction of food intake (or vomiting of food that is eaten) in an attempt to correct a non-existent obesity. The obsession may prove fatal.

The girls, seldom overweight to begin with, are convinced that they are too fat — even when they are emaciated and weigh 87 pounds. The reason for their belief is not clear. Some psychiatrists think that it is linked to our society's approval of slimness although the true reason must be more complex.

Anorexics are also driven into almost ceaseless physical activity and exercise, perhaps in an attempt to "burn up" any calories they may have ingested.

The psychiatric problems of the anorexic are poorly understood, although some patterns are emerging. The patient may feel inadequate, socially insecure, and pressured by family expectations. Sometimes the patient's scholastic or other achievements are ignored by her family, leaving the impression that no matter how well she does it will never be good enough.

Manipulative behaviour is a hallmark of the anorexic. They use a variety of tricks to placate and control worried and frustrated family members, generally effectively by destroying family harmony in the process.

Medical management of these patients usually a long-term proposition requiring cooperation between the family physician and the psychiatrist. Family counselling is helpful. Many doctors advocate the complete separation of the patient from her family and friends as a part of the treatment. Not infrequently hospitalization is required to provide the disciplined feeding that may be needed to save the patient's life.

The questions posed by anorexia nervosa are vexing. When we have a few more answers our treatment may be more successful.

Director of Nursing

Due to the retirement of the incumbent, an excellent opportunity is available for an individual who possesses superior communicative and motivational skills. The successful candidate will report to the Administrator and be responsible for the direction and co-ordination of this 71 bed active and auxiliary bed facility in order to provide optimum quality patient care. Proven ability to interact with other disciplines required.

The Town of Rimbey provides excellent schooling, shopping and year round recreational facilities to the population of 6,000 in the district. This central Alberta active and progressive community of 2,000 is only a 45 minute drive north-west of Red Deer and 90 miles south-west of Edmonton.

Applicants must be registered or be eligible for nursing registration in Alberta. Post graduate training and 3-5 years experience in Nursing Administration is required.

An attractive remuneration package is being offered.

Satellites take lead

. . . in provincials

Tofield Satellites have taken a commanding four-goal lead in their opening round of provincial intermediate 'C' playoffs.

In front of their home fans on Sunday night, Satellites whipped Eckville Eagles 6-2 in the first game of a total-goal series.

The second and deciding game in this series will be played in Eckville on Saturday night.

Doug Nachtigal led the way to Sunday's win when he notched a pair of goals with the singles being netted by Ernie Nachtigal, Howard Budinski, Ivan Nachtigal and Gary Frayn.

Satellites still have a chance at first place in the Beaverhill Hockey League although their chances are becoming quite slim and they may have to settle for second spot.

Lamont is on top in the standings with a four-point edge over Tofield and a win by Lamont or, a loss by Tofield would clinch the pennant for Lamont.

Mundare still has an outside chance of catching the Satellites for second place while Vegreville has clinched the final playoff berth and Holden will end the season in the basement.

Tofield will play in Holden on Friday night and on Tuesday, Holden will be at home to Mundare.

The regular schedule is supposed to end on Feb. 29th.

However, there are still a number of postponed games to be rescheduled and teams have been advised to try and have these games played before the end of this month.

There are three games to be rescheduled.

In last week's action, Mundare shocked Tofield 6-4 while Lamont blasted Thorsby 10-3 and then, Satellites whipped Vegreville by a 7-1 count.

A game between Holden and Mundare was postponed.

The latest statistics from the league show that Ewaniuk of Lamont is leading the individual scoring race with 46 points, four ahead of E. Nachtigal of Tofield.

Kissel of Tofield has the best goal-tending record with a low 2.91 goals against average, more than a goal less than his nearest rival.

Vesthy of Lamont is the most penalized player in the league.

Speakers address H & S

A general meeting of the Holden and District Home and School Association was held on Feb. 2 in the school library with 35 people attending.

Minutes of the last meeting were read by secretary Fay Kraus. Treasurers report was given by Dan McKenzie who also reported that 167 memberships with a total of 31 members have been sold for the association.

Guest speakers were Marg Hollett and Joe Fercal who spoke on special education and pre-vocational classes respectively.

Carol Kloots gave a slide presentation related to special education classes.

The program committee has set up "soup days" for February. Each Tuesday, hot soup will be available to all students from K-12 for a minimal fee.

Suggested upcoming programs include a program for education week in May, a Cancer Day in June and a Staff Appreciation night in June.

The Holden Homecoming Committee has asked for support by way of taking charge of the Homecoming Parade.

Susan Tyrachuk and Rose Sharpe will attend the next meeting of the Homecoming Committee on February 16 for further details.

Two members who had attended the last school board meeting presented their report.

Following this, Ron Mulick of the School Future Committee reported on four major proposals from the County of Beaver Budget meeting. It is expected the association will send out questionnaires immediately regarding these proposals.

School trustees Bobbi Schweitzer and Reuben Hoveland spoke on their recent activities. A short discussion followed on the four major proposals.

The next general meeting will be on March 19 with superintendent, Mr. Schoeman, attending.

Two teams still alive

Two Tofield minor hockey teams are still alive in provincial playdowns following action during the past week.

Two other teams were eliminated.

The bantam 'C' squad has advanced to zone quarter-final play while the pee wee 'C' team is leading in a zone quarter-final series.

The midget 'C' and pee wee 'D' teams were eliminated as a result of games played during the past week.

Blazers edged Strathcona 3-2 in the opening game of zone pee wee 'C' quarter finals.

The second and deciding game in this series will be played in Josephburg on Saturday and the winner will advance to the zone semi-finals.

Donovan paced Tofield to victory in this contest when he notched two goals while the single was netted by Yurkowski.

Sunday Afternoon

Bantam 'C'

Tofield had little trouble in disposing of St. Paul when they took the opener 5-3 and then at home whipped St. Paul 7-1 to win the total-goal series by a 10-3 margin.

Chapman, Umphrey and Christenson scored Tofield's goals in the opening contest.

Yoder led the way in the second contest when he potted four goals with the singles coming from Christenson, Chapman and McNeil.

Tofield now advances to zone quarter-finals against Elk Point who ousted Bonnyville in an elimination game.

The first game will be played in Tofield Arena on Saturday at 5:30 p.m. with the second game in Elk Point on Sunday afternoon.

Midget 'C'

Tofield Lions were beat eliminated following two straight losses to Marwayne.

Lions had an ear bowed 5-4 and in a second game, in Tofield on Sunday, were whipped 9-6 and lost the total-goal series 17-9.

Marwayne will now advance to the zone quarter-finals against Redwater.

Pee Wee 'D'

After being bombed 10-1 by Vegreville, Firebirds came up with a much better effort in Vegreville on Monday night as they were beaten 4-1 with Henderickson scoring the lone Tofield marker.

Vegreville will now advance to quarter-final play against the winner of a series between Josephburg and Paradise Valley.

Bruce REA has meet

The Bruce Rural Electrification Association (REA) held its 38th annual meeting in the Legion Hall in Holden on Feb. 7.

The Association was started in 1985 as a cooperative of farmers from the Bruce and Holden areas to bring electricity to their farms.

It now serves 215 farmers in the general area from near Viscount of Bruce to South West of Holden.

The first annual meeting was held in January, 1944 in the West Bruce School.

Thirty years later, the 1984 annual meeting was held in the same building, now the Legion Hall located in Holden.

Two members of the original board of directors, Nick Laskoski and Leo Mercauntile, still serve the association. Mr. Laskoski has also served as president since the passing of the original president, John Skolnay in 1976.

Following regular business matters, speakers from the Alberta Union of REA's, the Rural Electric Branch, Farm Electric Services Ltd. and the local manager of TransAlta Utilities briefly addressed members in attendance.

Re-elected to the board of directors were Nick Laskoski and Milton MacGregor, while David Gibson was elected to his first term as director.

Ice show planned

Fifty-seven skaters from the Holden-Bruce area, all members of the Holden Figure and Power Skating Club will present the Club's ice show "Sports Illustrated on Ice" in the Holden Complex, on Feb. 26th at 7 p.m.

The Show theme is based on various sports: boxing, figure skating, racing, ballet, square dancing, surfing, baseball, hockey, football, cheerleading, ballroom dancing and Smurfing.

The program will consist of 20 numbers with guest appearances by the Camrose "Precisionaires" team, a female soloist, Dennu Gibson, and a dance pair exhibition.

Skating routines have been planned by the skaters and their instructors, Roxanne Yakimchuk, Brenda Bilyk, Judy Grinde and Linda Hlynski.

Oh gross! Our racism

A teacher subtly convincing students there was no holocaust. A Vietnamese refugee living in Alberta killed because he broke part of a fence. Certain graffiti on a Lethbridge building. Alberta. Southern Alberta Chinook Area. Our Chief Commissioner's visit. May 19, 1983. L.C.I. Two Girl Guides are proudly wearing their native dress painstakeningly handmade and passed on to them by their families. Two other Girl Guides in full uniform approach and stage whisper say to each other, "Oh gross!", then laugh smugly and walk away.

Racism is an ugly fact of Canadian life. Racism is an ugly fact of Guiding even in our own area. It is not "their" problem. It is "our" problem and as leaders in Baden Powell's movement, each of us has the awesome responsibility of recognizing our own racism and working to eradicate it. None of us are responsible for the acts and omissions of the public and private sectors of Canadian life. Yet, as Guiders, we have taken a Promise and seek to be "pure in thought, word and deed." This means taking and living an open and constant stand against racism in all its forms.

Three "I's" are among the biggest reasons or causes of racism. Ignorance. Insecurity. Indifference. And these three "I's" can be put in a slightly different way. I don't know. I am really afraid. I don't care.

Ignorance. The Guides who reacted so poorly at our Chief Commissioner's visit merely reflected their ignorance. This ignorance comes to them even through their school text books. The Alberta Department of Education recently studied the way our native people are presented in a variety of our social studies text books. The conclusion of this study was that 63% of the material looked at was "seriously problematic or completely unacceptable" (Readers Digest, September 1983, page 62). Lack of knowledge and exposure. Ignorance. We just don't know who and what culture that human being represents. We just don't know. Ignorance too often provides a solid foundation for horrifying structures.

Insecurity. Many of our society's violent racist actions begin with one individual feeling threatened or afraid of another human being. When we feel insecure within ourselves, when we feel not too cetain of where we are headed or how we fit into the overall picture — then we are quick to find a scapegoat. Racial differences provide a handy scapegoat — anywhere and anytime. Insecurity readily grabs on.

Indifference. This is perhaps the greatest and the most insidious cause of racism. Much of our society's racial violence could be avoided if the majority merely began to be aware and began to care. Being unaware of cultural differences. Pretending they do not exist. Rationalizing that what really matters is just what we have in common. Indifference is comfortable, easy and convenient. Christ calls it being dead. (Revelation 3).

A quick, honest survey of our innermost self as human beings and as Guiders would soon reveal all three "I's" are part of us. We all feel at times threatened by others. We know we don't have all the answers. We recognize we are just not as alert, alive, turned on as we should be.

Yet, we belong to a fantastic movement with the highest of aims, a movement we can be proud of and celebrate, a movement with a vision of humanity that has no limit. Ours stands for a worldwide sisterhood. There is no room for racism. When we let our own racism take us over, we cease to be followers of Baden Powell.

How do we keep in control? Stay on top of it all? Keep Baden Powell's flame burning cleanly? There are as many ways as there are members. We must begin with ourselves, however, for what the Guider "gives off", the girls imitate. (B.P.'s Outlook page 15.)

Begin with ourselves. Watch ourselves. Where is my racism? Where does it show? How does it influence me? My family? My unit? Then we must seek to educate ourselves. Read Blaine Thacker's report on Native People Summer 1983. Study Chatelaine, Macleans, Readers Digest, newspapers. Watch T.V. Inspect our own vocabulary, for it reflects our inner core. Do we say nigger or black? When am I correct to say 'negro' and when am I wrong to say it? In my mind, is she an Indian or a native person? What do I think of first: here comes a Paki, or here comes a fellow human being? Dare to be informed about ourselves and seek to understand.

Only then are we able to check others, other members of our movement, especially our girls and help them to truly grow. Our Native Lore badges should be a regular part of our unit achievements. Thinking Day should not feel like a yearly formality but be a vibrant experience addressing a real need in our girls. Songs like "We are the Red Skins tall and quaint" should be completely banished. And what about that "cute" Eskimo song? ? ? How would our Inuit Guide feel as she heard you sing it? ? ?

Ignorance. Insecurity. Indifference.

Watch ourselves. Check others. Let us in Guiding change these three "I's" into three "We's" We know. We are not afraid. We care. That's Baden Powell's vision — alive and well!

Buy Canadian

An article in the Calgary Herald reports the Canadian dollar will soon be 100 per cent American cotton. All new bank notes will be American cotton replacing the bank notes that are 25 per cent Canadian flax content and 75 per cent imported cotton fibre.

Prairie flax growers stand to lose $65,000 in annual sales. The loss of Candian fibre is blamed on tough pollution controls at the Beauharnois, Quebec paper mill of Domtar Ltd.

A spokesman for Domtar's fine paper division is reported to have stated the use of imported cotton fibre is less complicated and it eliminates the environmental problems.

The Americanization of Canadian bank notes is expected to pass almost unnoticed. Is Canada's slogan "Buy Canadian" or is it "Bye Canada"?

HORSE RACING — A SAFE BET

Last year, 14 million people watched Canada's biggest spectator sport.

The athletes? Racehorses.

And like other sports, there is continuing concern about the illegal administration of drugs to the horses.

Agriculture Canada's race track division is responsible for regulating and supervising pari-mutuel betting on horse races. A large part of that job involves drug control service and research.

Research on drugs and their effect on racehorses is being carried out at the federal department's research farm in Jerseyville, Ontario. There a modified standardbred training facility is maintained where 12 horses are kept under commercial racing stable conditions

PROPANE CONVERSION CAN BE ECONOMICAL

Converting farm vehicles from gasoline to propane can be a big money saver for farmers

Not only is propane cheaper, but conversion will also reduce maintenance costs and extend engine life since propane is a cleaner burning fuel

However, before converting, farmers should examine their fuel needs and the amount of new equipment required to convert. Agriculture Canada has recently completed a study that can help farmers make this decision

It won't go away

Short of an inquiry, there's no way the provincial government is going to get rid of the feeling that all isn't as right as it should be within the attorney general's department.

By steadfast and prolonged stonewalling they may finally be able to sweep it under the rug, but that doesn't mean that people won't be looking for months and months to see what eventually comes back out from under the rug.

We suspect that many members of the public are as uninformed as we are when it comes to being certain who is being referred to in all the references to the bar association, the benchers, the prosecutors, the criminal trial lawyers and so on. We think we know, but then all of a sudden up pops another group.

They're by no means all agreed, but one thing strikes us as singularly dismaying for the public, and that is, that each of them seems to feel that what is isn't close to what should be.

Some see great concern over the summary firing of an exceptionally capable prosecuting attorney. Some feel there wasn't sufficient research or study into the Dial Mortgage problem, especially when an experienced policeman urged further search, documenting his reasons at some length. Some feel that questions raised by a nationally known firm of chartered accountants simply can't be left hanging. Some feel the appointment of a senior government adviser like deRappard deserves . . . requires . . . no, demands . . . the allaying of any doubt in the public mind. Still others are highly uneasy about the attorney general's order that police consult with the attorney general's office whenever they are following a public servant with a charge which might become sensitive.

It won't go away.

There's too much concern, too many people concerned over what is happening to democracy, too many people who lost money in Dial, too many people concerned that we may be losing the high principle of the same justice for all, for this combination of events and affairs to be sidetracked.

Nor will it be forgotten if the attempt to whitewash it continues.

It's a nagging doubt that won't go away.

Public places

Ottawa has been flailing around for some time trying to come to grips with complaints about prostitution, searching for laws that make sense, and which lend themselves to some reasonable level of enforcement, while at the same time trying to provide some level of moderation or reason.

Depending on the point of view of the individual, or of location, or of their place in society, such efforts tend to provoke warm applause, or cynicism, or downright opposition. We have the moral viewpoint, that prostitution is wrong, and should not be allowed; we have the 'practical' viewpoint that it has always been with us, and always will be, and we may as well face it; and then we have the viewpoint that says it tends to spawn worse crime, that it doesn't belong in 'our' neighborhood, and so on.

Under such circumstances, the efforts of Justice Minister Mark McGuigan will tend to draw either approval or opposition.

A suggestion to make the customer guilty of a crime, for instance, in the same way as the prostitute, is drawing a great deal of comment, mostly critical.

But we don't think there could be anyone who wouldn't oppose his suggestion that automobiles be declared "public places." Soliciting in public places can be seen as a crime, if it is urgent or persistent.

But in an automobile?

A privately owned automobile?

The Liberals have been charged with wanting to write off all rights of ownership, of excluding the right to own property from the Constitution or the Bill of Rights.

But to declare an auto a 'public place'? Surely that means it would be seen in the same light as a city bus or street car, an aeroplane, or a boat. Something that anybody could walk up to and demand a ride in. Can you imagine waiting for a traffic light to change, and have someone step out and say "this is a public place . . . take me to such and such a street."

Mr. McGuigan must be really thrashing around if he thinks he can sell that . . . even to the Liberal party. Tomorrow a man's home won't even be his castle.

Loose Ends

WON'T YOU BE MY VALENTINE?

A few years ago some English friends of mine were surprised when I gave the lady of the house a Valentine card a gesture of friendship on my part. I love this time of year, just as all us sentimental fools do. My gesture embarrassed her however, since they don't do that in Britain, apparently, unless it's to someone very special and it's always done anonymously. I offered to erase my name, but the damage had already been done.

These same friends were scandalized at the freedom with which our children exchange Valentines in the classroom. I imagine even Cupid would be scandalized over what has evolved from 18th century love letters and tokens of love, all homemade, if he could visualize a child having 27 very special someones to give Snoopy Valentines to. It's fun though, isn't it?

All the symbols of Valentine's Day have to do with love and courtship. Did you know that red is the symbol of warmth and feeling, white stands for purity and birds flying free symbolize happiness? Most of these symbols, although sweet, leave the other members of my family unimpressed, probably because the male of the species doesn't admit to any feelings of sentimentality.

When I told them that it was considered good luck to be awakened that day with a kiss, that a man who wears Bachelor Buttons in his lapel on February 14th will marry his sweetheart within a year and that some people believe that the first person you see that morning will be your Valentine, my sons expressed the true meaning of Valentine's Day far more vividly than I ever could. They said, "Oh, mush!"

BETWEEN THE COVERS

In spite of the loss in transit of a shipment of anxiously-awaited new books, there are some new arrivals in the library. Victoria Holt's novel "The Time of the Hunter's Moon" is an historical romantic mystery. "Godplayer" by Robin Cook, in contrast, is a modern horror novel with a medical theme.

In these times of economic difficulty, the new book "Creating Wealth" by Robert G. Allen may be of interest to many people. Written in an easy-to-read style, the book covers such topics as investments, partnerships, taxes and mortgages. It is written from the point of view of profitting from the correct handling of various financial situations.

A biography sure to touch many readers is "Learning to Live Again" by Joel Seltoff. It is the story of his triumph over cancer, and his painful efforts to rebuilding his life and relationships, in the wake of the years spent fighting the disease.

A book of fascinating photographs is "One Hundred Years: The Royal Canadian Regiment 1883-1983" by C.P. Stacey. Published as a celebration of the regiment's centenary, it includes a foreward by HRH Prince Philip.

There are also numerous paperbacks on the new book table, including fiction, mystery and science fiction.

Two children's programs have started this week, but registrations will still be accepted in both. The popular Preschool Story Hour is held Tuesday mornings at 10 a.m. and again on Fridays at 10 a.m. A similar session for children in Kindergarten to Grade 3, called Booktime is held Tuesdays after school starting at 4 p.m. Each program will run for eight weeks at a cost of $2 per child. The main purpose of these programs is to introduce quality books by reading aloud to the children, and to provide a chance for them to enjoy the services a library can provide.

We welcome three new volunteers to these programs, Mrs. Laurie Dremler, Mrs. May Karobko and Mrs. Dawn Twerdoff. They join Mrs. Elizabeth McLachlan, and without their contributions of time and effort, such programs would be impossible. Thank you.

The regular library hours are Tuesday 1-5, Thursday 3-5 and 6-9, Friday and Saturday 10-12 and 1-5. Come in and check out your library.

Play is presented

A group of twenty-five enthusiastic actors and helpers from the Leduc Drama Society entertained theatre goers on Saturday evening at the Arts Centre in Holden.

Their play "Our Town" by Thornton Wilder, was a difficult drama to stage, but was very well done and was well received by the audience.

The play centered around a small New England town in the early 1900's and the themes of birth, love and marriage, death and the real meaning of life.

The next program at the Arts Centre is scheduled for this Sunday afternoon.

"Foothills Brass" a talented and widely acclaimed group of five musicians from the Calgary area will present a variety of enjoyable music.

Featuring such instruments as the trombone, trumpet, French horn and bass, the concert is presented in an informal and entertaining manner that will be sure to please everyone.

Program time for this performance is 2 p.m. Sunday.

Kingman district notes

by Sharon Sandy

Carol, Donald and Megan Schmidt and Mr. and Mrs. Don Murray left on Jan. 22 to drive to Apache Junction, Ariz., where the Murrays will spent the remaining winter months. Enroute they visited the Grand Canyon. The Schmidts flew home on Feb. 2.

On Feb. 6 guests with John and Nellie Kozack were Joe and Rosie Kozack, Marie Dorison, Coleen and Brian Lee and Bobby Kozack of Millet.

Vernon Petersen was a patient in the Tofield Hospital recently.

The Round Hill-Kingman kindergarten class, their teacher, Doris Pasychnyk, and a few parents went on a tour to Camrose on Tuesday.

There they visited Safeway store and the firehall. On Thursday, a member of the RCMP came to Kingman School to show the kindergarten class a film. Mr. Herman Swanson demonstrated how to make a rope.

On Tuesday evening Stanley and Josephine Wenger and Gerry and Colleen Wenger attended the Alberta Wheat Pool banquet in Tofield.

Sharon, Steve, Cory and Dale Krezanoski were in Edmonton on Friday to attend funeral services for Mr. Schatzline. Steve and Dale were pallbearers.

James Leroy Fleming, a long-time resident of Kingman, passed away Feb. 3 in Camrose at the age of 94 years. Funeral services were held Feb. 6 in the Camrose United Church with Rev. J. Roberts officiating. Interment took place in Tofield Cemetery. A lunch followed at the Kingman Hall. Mr. Fleming is survived by two sons, Ross and Elwood, two daughters, Mildrid Schielke and Bessie Klevgaard, 17 grandchildren, 14 great-grandchildren and one sister, Mattie Chester.

Ministik and district news

by Catherine Roddick

Your news correspondent has returned from a three-week vacation in Hawaii, thus the reason for no news the last few weeks.

Mrs. Sarah Kleinschroth was able to leave the Tofield Hospital on Tuesday after a three-month stay there.

Jean Ferguson and Jean Kleinschroth remain patients for a while, they both are hoping to be home soon.

Olivine and Verden Sears along with several friends from Edmonton enjoyed a three-day stay in Las Vegas.

A most successful and enjoyable paper tole class is going on at the Crafts Centre each Monday evening for eight weeks. 10 people are taking the classes, with one young fellow from Edmonton being among them.

A whist drive took place at the centre last Friday evening. Prize winners for gents — first John Vandermeer, second George Lee. Ladies' first — Margaret Paterson, second Gladys Gill on a draw with Lillian Berrecloth, and consolation Ida Niemitz.

Lunch was served by the ladies and another drive announced for Friday.

The Ladies Club met at the home of Betty Williams on Wednesday afternoon. Donations were to be sent to five charities the club usually sends to as well as one to the Tofield Hospital and one to the Community Hall.

Clare MacLean, as a guest, joined the club as a new member and Vi Roddick, also a guest, rejoined after many years of absence. Gladys Roddick, one of the club's original members, and who is still staying at the Bill and Vi Roddick home was also in attendance.

Barbara Herricks and Diane Fenske enjoyed February birthdays and each received a card.

Hostesses Betty Williams and Margaret Paterson served lunch and all members enjoyed it while having a visit and catching-up on the events of the community. The next meeting will be at the home of Margaret Patterson.

The Strathcona County bus for seniors is still going strong with each person riding it, enjoying the trips, as well as their driver Roberta Erickson. Last Tuesday, they went to Edmonton.

Toros need two wins

"Two" has become the magic number for the Tofield Toros.

Any combination of two Toro victories or two losses by Nursette will give the Toros second place in the County Senior Hockey League.

Camrose Blackhawks have clinched first place with the Toros in the runner-up position, six points ahead of Nursette.

Toros were supposed to play in Camrose tonight (Wednesday) but, at presstime, it was uncertain if this game would go as scheduled.

Toros will be hosting Rosalind on Friday night and still have to reschedule a home game with Nursette with time running as the regular schedule is supposed to be completed by the end of this month.

Toros were scheduled to play Nursette on Saturday night in Camrose but, the game had to be postponed and will be rescheduled.

Toros played only one game during the past week and that was a 6-6 draw with Kingman.

Olson led the Tofield attack with two goals with the singles coming from Horricks, Schmidt, Borton and Gillrie. Dunham led Kingman with two goals from Horricks, Schmidt, Borton and Gillrie. Dunham led Kingman with two goals and the others were netted by B. Fraser, Sikstrom, P. Posner and Soiban.

Christopher of Tofield has moved into second place in the goal-tending race as Olsen hasn't got enough minutes played and Broen of Camrose has possession of the lead.

ADC issues report

A third quarter report has been issued by Alberta Agricultural Development Corporation.

Direct Farm Loans

Direct farm loans approved during the first nine months of this fiscal year amounted to 835 loans for $105 million. Of these, 92 percent or 769 loans were made to Beginning Farmers who used this program to establish family farms on an owned land base. Loans to beginning farmers totalled $100.5 million.

Under the Beginning Farmer Program, development support is provided during the first five years of the loan. In the first nine months of this fiscal year, $34 million in incentives were provided to borrowers under this program. Without this assistance many of these people would not be able to undertake careers in agriculture.

Beginning farmers are encouraged not to assume more debt than necessary. ADC assists these borrowers by allowing them to borrow in two stages over a four year period. Sixty-six percent of applicants took advantage of this option in the past nine months.

There were 66 other direct loans made to developing farmers for a total of $5.8 million.

Guaranteed Farm Loans

Guaranteed loans authorized for farmers under ADC's Alberta Farm Development Loan program (A.F.D.L.), increased from 4213 during the same period last year to 4900 this year. During the same time period, the value of the loans rose from $61 million to $70.7 million. During the first nine months of the year 58 specific guaranteed loans were approved for Alberta farmers, totalling $2.8 million.

Agribusiness Loans

Agribusiness lending during the first nine months of the year consisted of eight direct loans for $13 million, and 12 specific guaranteed loans for $6 million. In addition, a total of 16 guaranteed operating loans were extended for an aggregate of $17 million.

J. Harold Hanna, Chairman and Managing Director of the Agricultural Development Corporation said, ADC is doing everything possible to assist farmers in solving their problems and remain in business. Even though lending staff are spending more time counselling and helping clients who are experiencing financial difficulty, loan processing time has been speeded up.

Summer Canada '84
Let's put tomorrow's work force on the job today.

Everyone knows that summer jobs give students a chance to earn money to continue their education. But that's just part of the story. Summer employment is also the best way to get the kind of experience that makes it easier to eventually find a full-time job. Employers who hire students help to develop skills that will benefit them in the future.

The Government of Canada will assist sponsors of Summer Canada Works projects with a contribution towards student wages and job-related overhead costs.

YOU CAN HELP TO CREATE JOBS FOR STUDENTS THROUGH SUMMER CANADA WORKS PROJECTS
Summer Canada Works projects provide productive employment for local students. Projects should employ at least three local students and should produce goods or services to benefit the community. All jobs must be full-time and must last between six and 18 consecutive weeks during the summer.

ARE YOU ELIGIBLE FOR FUNDING?
Community and volunteer groups, professional and technical associations, most local governments and private sector employers are eligible for Summer Canada Works funding.

HOW TO APPLY
If your organization has an idea for a Summer Canada Works project, contact the nearest Canada Employment Centre or Employment Development Branch office of Employment and Immigration Canada for information and application forms.
APPLICATION DEADLINE IS FEBRUARY 24, 1984

Staff at the Canada Employment Centre can also give you more information about other Summer Canada programs and services. These include:
• SUMMER CAREER ACCESS
a student wage subsidy program
• CANADA EMPLOYMENT CENTRES FOR STUDENTS
a summer job placement service
• RCMP and DEPARTMENT OF NATIONAL DEFENCE

700 entries received

. . . for Festival

Over 700 entries have been received for this year's [illegible] Festival, to be held April 2 to 6.

[illegible] all events, Audrey Lett, publicity chairman for the Camrose and District Music Festival Association, told The Canadian last week

Last year, 534 entries were received for the Festival.

Events will be held at Chester Ronning and Charlie Killam Schools and at the Performing Arts Centre, with the final concert being conducted at the CLC Convocation Centre.

A large number of entries have been received from the Sherwood Park area, Mrs. Lett said. County, city and separate systems in Camrose will be well represented.

Closing date for entries was Feb. 5 and Festival organizers are presently breaking the entries into individual events.

Organizers are also in the process of finding extra space, time and more adjudicators because of the increase in Festival entries over last year, Mrs Lett said.

The Camrose and District [illegible] also looking at the possibility of extending the Festival by adding more days

The group is also looking for extra volunteers who are willing to help during the Festival and the Camrose Kinette Club will also be looking for extra Festival personnel

The next regular meeting of the Camrose and District [illegible] will be Feb. 23 at the Performing Arts Centre

More information about the Festival can be obtained by writing the Camrose and District Music Festival Association, Box 1537, Camrose, T4V 1X4

First, there exists a potential for other family members to provide a home for their handicapped relative In order for this option to be considered, an individual must have [illegible] are prepared to make a commitment Secondly, nursing homes or institutional settings [illegible] be considered Concerns arise, however, when these options are pursued. Why should an individual, who does not require 24 hour nursing care, [illegible] some independent living skills, and is of a young age, be placed in a nursing [illegible]ty? Also, an individual who has spent all of his/her life in a small community in a family setting would have extreme difficulty making a transition from a home to a large institutional setting.

The third option would involve exposure to the community based programs established for the handicapped. Group homes for residential training, and approved homes which provide supervision and training, are possible residential options. Vocational training centres, educational programs, and involvement in community activities are possibilities for training, or in the case of older individuals, leisure pursuits

As indicated, many options exist for handicapped adults It is extremely important that families, in conjunction with a handicapped family member, actively plan for a handicapped individuals' future. If planning occurs, then the transition from their home to a new setting is not as traumatic for individuals There are people in the community that are willing to provide assistance to families that are interested in planning.

If you would like assistance, then please contact Phyl Beebe, [illegible] for the Mentally Handicapped at 672-0257 or Patricia Turnbull, Rehabilitation Services at 679-1269.

From The Hack

Les Zarski had a disappointing time in the Northern Alberta Seniors playdowns held in Wetaskiwin February 3 - 5. After representing Alberta last year, Zarski could not gain a beth out of Northern Alberta this year Zarski lost his first game, then won three in a row, only to lose 2 straight after that. Apparently the team curled well with the losses being very close.

The executive of the Rose [illegible] club has set up the playoff format for the various leagues A previous report that [illegible] the top [illegible] in each league would qualify for the playoffs was erroneous. There will be 32 teams in the men's league playoffs and 32 in the mixed league playoffs. The playoffs will be a single knockout affair to be played off March 19-24.

In the Men's league the rinks making the playoffs are as follows: Tuesday 7 p.m. — top 14 teams; Tuesday 9 p.m. — top 10 teams; Wednesday 9 p.m — top 8 teams.

In the mixed league the rinks are: Monday 7 p.m. — top 11 teams; Thursday, 7 p.m. — top 12 teams; Friday 7 p.m. — top 6 teams.

The winners of each individual league [illegible] trophies. At this time no team is running away [illegible] respective leagues.

In Monday [illegible] Adamson has [illegible] points followed closely by Rob [illegible] Tuesday 7 p.m. men's league has Bernie Merrick as the new leader with 25 points with the three way tie for second being [illegible], [illegible] and Zarski. The Tuesday 9 p.m. men's league sees A. Grauman with 26 points and J. Kalewsky at 22.

The Wednesday 7 p.m. ladies are led by Mary Shields 26 points and Pat Odegard with 22 points. Wednesday 9 p.m. men's league has J. Jones with 28 points and Einar [illegible] with 24. Clarence Grauman at 25 points and D. Christenson at 22 lead the Thursday mixed league. The Friday mixed sees Richard Bark at 20 and Murray Whitecotton at 17.

The second round of the afternoon [illegible] a repeat winner in the rink of Arlene Christenson. Runner up was M. Redekopp. Bea Whitehouse won the afternoon ladies mini-spiel. This spiel was unique because the third was the skip while the usual skip moved down.

Around the town

Gary and Linda Hegan and daughter Erin will soon be returning to Ontario after living in Alberta for the past seven years.

The M.C.C. meeting in Mill Woods Mennonite Brethren Church on Saturday was well attended with many from this area taking part.

Many from the area went to Edmonton on Sunday evening to the Jubilee Auditorium where they saw the film "And When They Shall Ask", a history of the Mennonites in Russia.

All ladies attending Friday's regular Farmer's Market in Tofield received a carnation as a salute to Valentine's Day.

Tobogganers play

On Sunday, Katchemut Creek Family Horse Club held a toboggan party in Walter Krystal's south pasture

Thanks to the fresh snowfall on Thursday night, there was enough snow on the hill for good sliding. A good number of people turned out.

A bonfire was built and everyone enjoyed chili and hot chocolate.

The next event is the regular monthly meeting on Feb. 26.

Members are urged to turnout as there will be a guest speaker and the candidate for Tofield's Sodbuster Rodeo Queen contest will be chosen.

Everyone is reminded that membership renewal time is here and new members are welcome at anytime.

Groundhog erred

A long-time superstition is proving to be a fallacy

It has long been said that when the groundhog emerged from his den early in February to look around, what he does can decide what kind of winter will be experienced for the next six weeks.

If nothing happens to frighten the little critter, he emerges from his hole and, for all intents and purposes, the worst part of winter is supposed to be over.

But, the groundhog is so nervous that his own shadow can frighten him and if it happens to be sunny and he does, in fact, see his shadow, he disappears back into his lair and another six weeks of bad weather is supposed to follow.

When the groundhog emerged from his hole earlier this month the sun was shining, he saw his shadow and went back into hibernation and bad weather was supposed to prevail until the middle of March.

It just hasn't happened.

Since the first of the year, above normal temperatures have prevailed and three record high temperatures have been tied

While no records were set or tied during the past week, it got above zero every day except Saturday and on that occasion, it only a minus one

Nighttime lows weren't all that cool, ranging from six to thirteen degrees below zero, which at this time of year, would normally be the daytime highs.

It was during this week back in 1936 that the coldest temperatures ever recorded in the area were registered when, on successive nights, the mercury plunged to minus [illegible] degrees.

Record highs for this week range from seven to twelve degrees above zero and these marks were set in a twenty-year span between 1931 and 1951

The warmest-ever day in this month took place on Feb. 27, 1932 when it was a balmy fourteen degrees above zero.

Health Unit Review

Measles, Mumps and Rubella (M.M.R.)

Measles

Measles is the most serious of the common childhood diseases. Usually, it causes a rash, high fever, cough, runny nose, and watery eyes lasting 1 to 2 weeks. The possible complications of measles are ear infections, pneumonia, and inflammation of the brain.

Mumps

Mumps is a common disease in children. Usually it causes fever, headache, and inflammation of the salivary glands, causing the cheeks to swell. Possible complications of mumps are [illegible] to the tissue around the spinal cord and brain (meningitis), inflammation of the brain (encephalitis), and deafness. About 1 out of 4 adolescent or adult men who get mumps experience inflammation and swelling of the testicles; the ovaries are inflammed in 1 out of 10 women who get mumps. This rarely causes sterility.

Rubella

Also called German Measles, is a common disease of children and may also affect adults. It causes a slight fever, rash, and swelling of glands in the neck. The illness lasts about 3 days. Rubella occasionally causes swelling and aching of the joints for a week or two. This is more common in women.

If a woman gets rubella in the first three months of pregnancy, there is about an 80% chance that she will have a miscarriage or that the child will be born deformed, blind or with other defects.

A simple blood test can check if a person is immune to rubella. This blood test is recommended for any women of child bearing age. If a woman is not immune to rubella, immunization is available to her with the understanding that pregnancy should not occur for three months following immunization.

Children at one year of age are given M.M.R. immunization, thereby protecting them against measles, mumps and rubella.

Children 4 years of age up to the end of Grade 1 are also eligible for the measles, mumps and rubella vaccine.

The M.M.R. vaccine was made available through the Health Unit in October, 1982. If your child has not received M.M.R. and fits into the categories mentioned above, bring them to the Health Unit on a Wednesday for this immunization.

Holden and district news

by Mrs. G.H. Taylor

Mrs. Edith Carlson received word on Feb. 6th that her father, Mr. Lamb of Penticton, B.C., had passed away after being a hospital patient for eight days. Mr. Lamb had been in poor health for the past several months. Edith and Eric left to attend the funeral which was held on Friday.

Monday afternoon, Feb. 6th, Mrs. Ethel Brekstad, Mrs. Annie Laube, Jessie Cwihula, Mrs. Vernice Grosland, Mrs. Cheryl Chetney, Mrs Grace Appleby, Mrs. Kathleen Hurum, Mrs. Mae Budd and Mrs. Ewart called on Mrs. Bertha Chetney to help her celebrate her 80th birthday. Taking birthday cakes were Mrs. Cheryl Chetney and Jessie Chihula.

Mrs. Olive Good was a hospital patient for a few days last week with an ulcerated eye.

Mr. and Mrs. Ron Chetney, who have been residing in Holden for the past several months, have purchased a house in Edmonton and be moving there at the end of March. Last week, Mrs. Cheryl Chetney and the Groslands were visitors in Edmonton.

Mr and Mrs. George Taylor were Sunday visitors with their son and family, Robert and Merle Taylor, grandson Aaron and granddaughter, Saylor Robert coming to pick them up and bringing them home in the evening. Also guests were Merle's sister and family, Linda and Willie Chrystian, daughter, Tabitha and son, Joey of Camrose, formerly of South Holden.

Holden Masonic Lodge held their annual Ladies Night on Feb 11th with a supper cooked by Ron Chetney, Lyle Grosland and Earl Hardy. After supper, the group attended the drama play held in Beaver Arts Centre by players from Leduc.

Seventy-five years ago The Village of Holden was arranging for a banquet for J.B Holden, M.L.A., on Feb. 6th. The Holden boys who were responsible for the arrangement were the late W.M Brisbin, Norman Smith, William Campbell, A T. Stewart, S. Mumford, George Marusszczka, W.E. Hayes, Robert Allan, C.P. Dunstan, Frank E. Breach, T. Appleby, A.K. Olson, A Grosland, J Mohs and A.F Page.

The Holden LCW held their regular monthly meeting last Thursday with Mrs. Margaret Olsen leading the Bible study. The business meeting chaired by president Mrs. Ethel Brekstad with regular business attended to and minutes of the previous meeting and the annual meeting read. A donation to L.I.M.E. was made. Mrs. Annie Laube read the worship devotion. At the close of the meeting, lunch was served by Mrs. Kathleen Hurum.

Clare Anderson and Mrs. Frances Hanson were Saturday visitors in Tofield.

Owing to unforeseen circumstances, the Friendship Group meeting had to be postponed from Feb 15th to the following week, on Feb 23rd at the home of Mrs Edith Carlson.

Hay Lakes district news

Mrs A Arnston

Thirty-two rinks were entered in the Men's Open Bonspiel which concluded on Sunday evening at the Hay Lakes Curling Rink. The first event was taken by an Edmonton rink skipped by [illegible] Mittelstadt. His rink members included [illegible] Rase as third, Dean Willows as second and Brian Paul lead. Second place was the Ted Whyte rink of Tofield. 3. Custom Welding rink of Ohaton. 4. Dennis Green rink.

Second event was taken by the Doug Galenza rink of Camrose; 2. Blayne Odegard rink; 3. Lyle Lyseng rink; 4. Randy Schmidt rink.

Third event was won by the Calvin Soch rink; 2. Robert Kupka rink; 3. Colin Rosse rink of Camrose; 4. Dave Henderson rink of Edmonton.

The next bonspiel to be held at the Hay Lakes rink will be the Mixed Open, Feb. 24-26.

A ladies rink from Hay Lakes competed in the 28-rink curling bonspiel held at Leduc last weekend. The rink was skipped by Christine Selin with Frieda Harke as third, Christine Berkholtz second and Barb Wilson as lead. They won their first two games, however they lost the third game and were thus eliminated from further play.

The same team, with the exception of Betty Hansen replacing Barb as lead, participated in the ladies bonspiel at Gwynne Feb. 6-8. They were successful in winning first prize in the second event.

[illegible] Grahn arrived [illegible] Harbour, N.W.T. on Friday morning and will spend the weekend visiting with relatives and friends. Next week she will be attending a conference in Edmonton.

Lorna Lee Grahn of Kingman spent last weekend visiting with her grandmother, Mrs. Wanda Grahn.

Alan Weide and Ilene Miller were the surprised guests of honour at a community dinner given for them by friends and former students at Czar School, where Alan taught last year. Ilene and Alan spent the weekend visiting with well-wishers and Alan's maternal grandparents, Mary and Oliver Peddicord of [illegible].

This is the first time Alan and Ilene have been to Hughenden since they announced their engagement to be married at Saint Joseph Lutheran Church on Christmas Morning.

Several new officers were installed during the service at Our Saviour Lutheran Church on Feb. 5. They included Randy Paul as treasurer; Sandra Pohl — Sunday School Superintendent; council members — Bernice Leicht, Morley Harke and Paul Herst.

Tofield Hospital Auxiliary members wish to correct the impression that this Auxiliary consists primarily of elderly women. The membership currently stands at 25 active members ranging from 30 years of age up to include several senior citizens. As well, there is a group of ladies who are "silent members", ie. do not participate in fund raising. Rather, they bake for bake sales, sew such things as [illegible], diapers, towels for the hospital plus contribute helpful suggestions and ideas. The Tofield Hospital Auxiliary is open to all who are interested in supporting both hospital patients and staff with their thoughtfulness.

Auxiliary meetings are hoped to be run with an "open-floor" discussion to allow everyone to express their ideas rather than having a single spokesman, as was previously done as a time-saving measure.

The regional district meeting for the Alberta Hospital Association is Thursday, Feb. 16 in Bonnyville. Anyone interested in more information may contact Dolores Roth at 662-3283.

The next Tofield Hospital Auxiliary meeting is Monday, Feb. 20 at 7:30 p.m. in the Tofield School Library. This could be an excellent opportunity for constructive discussions and a chance to plan some spring activities. The Tofield Hospital Auxiliary still has their drop box located in the Owl Value Drugmart; available for suggestions, ideas and "goodies" that may be recycled into something useful.

Ryley district news

by Lena Bell

The Ryley boys and girls won their basketball game Thursday night against Viking.

All the relatives helped prepare a lunch for Olga Rasmusen's birthday party in the Sherwood Park Nursing Home.

A lovely afternoon was held at Philip and Kerry Bednarski's home on Thursday to help Kerry celebrate her birthday.

Ladies Auxiliary served for the Zone Legion curlers on Saturday night. Later, a Valentine's dance was held. Sigvart Snortheim was lucky to have had his name drawn for the Panasonic cassette recorder.

Lawrence and Ann Anderson of Thorsby attended the E. Bell golden wedding on Sunday.

It was nice to see our first grocery clerk, Hilda Simpson, who worked for Bruce's store in 1934, when she started shopping there.

A shower was held in the Lutheran kitchen on Friday night for Robin Selberg whose wedding is coming up on Feb. 18.

Head table guests were Lois Murray, Tammy Helgeland, Robin, Joan Strilchuk, mother Sylvia Selberg and grandmother, Kathleen Anderson.

Readings by Janet Wiemsen, Valerie Lindberg, [illegible] by had a reading of Robin and presented a community gift.

Joan Strilchuk presented a scrapbook of Jack and Robin from childhood on.

A delicious lunch was served to the guests.

Spilstead news

by M. Fisher

The Spilstead Community League held its monthly meeting on Tuesday evening with a number of residents in attendance.

A new vice-president, Ed Larose and a new secretary, Denise McBurney were welcomed to the Community League's executive. Plans were made for the February 25 Leap Year Dance.

At our monthly bingo, we had another small crowd. Unfortunately, if there is not more support from the community, we will have to discontinue the bingos, as the Community League can't afford to keep going into debt each month.

On Friday evening, Sharon and Larry Wiesder, Reg Fairbrother, Doreen Ledoucer, Denise and Chuck McBurney and Moe Fisher attended the Wildrose District annual meeting and banquet at the Crystal Springs Hotel in Camrose.

If anyone in the community has any news items they wish to have included in this column, please contact me at 663-2782.

TOWN OF TOFIELD FINANCIAL STATEMENT

For the Fiscal Year Ended December 31, 1983

AUDITOR'S REPORT

The Mayor and Council of: THE TOWN OF TOFIELD.

We have examined the Consolidated Balance Sheet of The Town of Tofield as at December 31, 1983 and the related statements of Combined Operating Revenues and Expenditures, Combined Capital Financing Acquired and Applied, Taxes Levied and Grants in Lieu, Consolidated Statement of Surplus (Deficit) and Consolidated Statement of Equity in Fixed Assets for the year then ended. Our examination was made in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards, and accordingly included such tests and other procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances.

In our opinion, these financial statements present fairly the financial position of the municipality as at December 31, 1983 and the results of its operations and changes in capital financing for the year then ended in accordance with the disclosed basis of accounting described in Note 1 applied on a basis consistent with that of the preceding year.

Dated at Sherwood Park, Alberta this 26th day of January, 1984.

(Signed) Masuda, Braun, Jackson Firm: Masuda, Braun, Jackson Chartered Accountants

Address: 203 Athabasca Place, 80 Chippewa Road, Sherwood Park, Alberta T8A 3Y1

THE CHRISTIAN AND WORLD JUSTICE II

The problems of Justice, Peace and Development are enormous and enormously complicated.

From week to week the factors involved seem to change rapidly and bewilderingly. Faced with such a complex and changing situation, general pronouncements on their own are of little use in enabling Christians to come to grips with the reality of the world around them.

Hence, we must concentrate on specific problems and particular issues.

Today we must more than ever realize that the basic moral imperative of love of our neighbours is absolutely valid on a world-wide scale as well as between individuals.

We must accept that to be a Christian today is to be committed to a very radical approach to changes in world society if we are to bring about social justice recognizing human rights and the dignity of every human being.

The inevitable consequence of our love of God is a commitment to eliminate Justice for our neighbour. Who is my Neighbour? Well our neighbour now, in reality, as well as in theory, is all of mankind.

Consequently, there can and there must be an effort to help as well as a national morality, a justice between nations as well as within nations. The enormous gap between rich and poor is intolerable and unjust.

Christians cannot live and the gospel in their own lives unless they are committed to promoting a more just world for all mankind.

The fact that we are Christians obligates us more then ever to build a new and more just world. War, oppression and poverty throughout the world deny the dignity and worth of mankind.

The Christian must struggle to rid the world of such evils in a global context Christian Charity is more necessary than ever, but it is increasingly to be expressed by working for Justice

"In so far as you did this to one of the least of these brother of mine, you did it to me." (Matthew 25:40)

Klondike Nights set

Everything is in readiness for the holding of Dunsdale's annual Klondike Nights celebration.

This winter's event will go on the evenings of Feb. 24 and 25 in the village's Community Hall.

A wide ranging program will be offered on both nights with many Klondike type acts and performances and on both evenings, the activities will climax with a dance.

Klondike Kate and Klondike Betty will be in attendance.

Prizes will be awarded in a beard growing competition and prizes will also be presented for the best Klondike costumes.

Seven young ladies are in the running to be crowned Klondike Queen.

The competitors include Christine Butler, Cindy Conway, Shelly Dahl, Cindy Fyten, Carman Kneeland, Tracey Kneeland and Jodi Rushton.

The candidates are selling lottery tickets for which a grand prize of $1,000 may be won.

In addition, there will be eight draws of $200 each as well as a number of early bird draws of fifty dollars each.

Two events are scheduled for daytime action on Saturday when a poker rally will be held and a snow golf tournament will be staged.

The weekend's activities will end on Sunday morning when a pancake breakfast will be served by the Students Union.

Politician visits

MP Joe Clark, former P.C Leader, will be speaking at a fund-raising dinner for the Northwest District of the Crowfoot PC Constituency.

Saturday's dinner is to be held in the Stettler Inn with cocktails to be served at 6:30 p.m., dinner is one hour later and will be followed by Clark's address.

Persons attending Saturday's dinner will be asked to pledge financial support for the Constituency PC's to meet money needs during the coming year.

Co-ordinating Clark's appearance in Camrose are Judy Olsen of Ferintosh, Wayne Allen of Stettler, Angus MacTavish of Acadia Valley and Dwight Woody of Coronation.

The public has been invited to attend earlier/or both sessions.

Singers to perform

A Vancouver based singing duo will be presenting a concert in Camrose early next month (March).

The visit of Roy Salmond and Mike Melder is being sponsored by Canadian Lutheran Bible Institute.

The duo will be performing at CLBI on March 12 and because of their popularity, tickets have already gone on sale.

Advance tickets are available at CLBI, CLC and Wisemen's Way Bookstore.

The presentation by the Vancouver pair is wide-ranging, going from country to rock to easy-listening and while they do not describe themselves as missionaries, their message is that a better life is available through Christianity.

Much of the music they perform is of their own composing.

Their visit is part of a four-province tour that will be taking them as far east as Manitoba.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

The following are just samples of some of the questions and answers obtained from a new publication called "Common Soil and Fertilizer Questions and Answers". This publication will be available through our office. If you are interested in obtaining a copy, please give us a call.

Q. I have a limited amount of money. Where is the best place to cut back on fertilizer?

A. There is no best place to cut back. Fertilizer is not a luxury expense item but an input capable of producing high returns.

However, if your banker is still not convinced, then cut back on land where production is limited by factors other than fertility e.g., saline, depressional, or poor physical condition in the field. Such land does not return as much per dollar invested in fertilizer. Be sure to apply the fully recommended amount of nutrient on the most productive land. It is important to have a soil test to assure accurate recommendations, because land that has been fertilized or manured for several years will show a nutrient build up. Thus the fertilizer requirement may be less than has been routinely used.

Q. Do fertilizers acidify soil? If so, to what extent and how can the problem be corrected?

A. Very little fertilizer applications may acidify the soil. One of the most acidifying fertilizers is ammonium sulphate which would require 50 kg of ground limestone to neutralize the acidity caused by a 45 kg application of this fertilizer. By comparison, a 45 kg application of urea, ammonium nitrate, or anhydrous ammonia would require 38, 27 and 67 kg of ground limestone respectively to neutralize the acidity they would cause.

Nitrogen is an essential and important plant nutrient which usually must be applied to maintain crop yields. Soils are able to buffer the acidity caused by the application of nitrogen fertilizer. Many Alberta soils contain free lime which neutralizes the acid produced. Soils which are neutral or already acidic will eventually require limestone to neutralize the acidity in the soil. The need for limestone can be easily monitored by soil testing and checking the soil reaction (pH).

Q. Do I need to add extra nitrogen if I incorporate crop residue such as straw?

A. If residue is incorporated near seeding time, it may be necessary to apply some extra nitrogen. This compensates for short term tie-up of nitrogen by microbes when decomposing residue. Straw and stubble have high carbon to nitrogen ratios and microbes will use soil nitrogen at the expense of the crop to decompose residue. The nitrogen is released again after decomposition has progressed but this may be too late for optimum yields of the current crop.

Alberta Agriculture suggests adding 15-30 kg of extra nitrogen per tonne of residue incorporated, if such quantities of residue are not normally added in the cropping program.

Dave Smith, Principal of C.W. Sears Elementary School, met recently with the Kindergarten Advisory Committee to explore the idea of setting up a Home and School Association.

The proposed association is tentatively called the C.W. Sears Advisory Committee.

The main objective set out at the meeting were to promote the welfare of children and youth, to foster co-operation between parents and teachers, to give parents an understanding of the school and how it works.

Guest speakers will be featured at committee meetings. Smith says the Committee hopes to invite speakers who's topics promote self development of parents and teachers.

A second meeting will be held on March 14th in C.W. Sears School library to accept nominations for positions on the executive. All interested parents are welcome to attend.

Weed Fairs planned

Weed Fair — 84, a trade and information show that is jointly sponsored by Alberta Agriculture and the Canadian Agricultural Chemicals Association, will be held in Grande Prairie on Feb. 21; in the Canarvon Agri-Centre on Feb. 23 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. and in Red Deer on Feb. 24.

In addition to exhibits by agricultural chemical manufacturers and application equipment suppliers, and the latest in computer technology as it relates to weed control, the fair will feature three timely seminars.

Knowledgeable speakers will discuss such topics as drift-less sprayers, weed control in continuous cropping programs and agricultural chemical toxicity.

In short, the fair will offer those who attend it an opportunity to meet, to update themselves on the latest agricultural technology and, most importantly, to compare the various products on the market.

Further information on Weed Fair — 84 can be obtained from Alberta Agriculture's supervisor of weed control and herbicides, Walter Yarish, at 427-5229 or from any agricultural chemicals representative.

Keep your money close to home with

... A TREASURY BRANCH RRSP

An investment in Alberta

An RRSP is basically a tax deductible savings account. When you invest in a Treasury Branch RRSP, your money stays in Alberta. So while your money is working for you, it is also working to help other Albertans. And that keeps Alberta strong.

Two ways to save

At the Treasury Branch we offer one plan — two options. So you can choose the one that best suits your needs.

Variable Rate Deposit Option

* minimum initial contribution of $100
* minimum subsequent deposits of $25
* interest calculated on minimum monthly balance and credited semiannually
* competitive rates of interest
* no administration fees

Fixed Rate Term Option

* minimum deposit of $500
* interest paid semiannually
* automatic renewal option at prevailing rates
* no administration fees
* one to five year terms
* prior redemption at reduced rates

Visit your local Treasury Branch or Agency soon. And keep your money close to home.

* No termination fees charged unless closed within the first 90 days.

Highway 36 project is set for this year

Alberta Transportation will be undertaking a major improvement project on Highway 36 south of Viking, Transportation Minister Marvin Moore, Vermilion/Viking MLA Tom Lysons and Camrose MLA Gordon Stromberg have announced.

The project involves base course construction along a 19 kilometre section of Highway 36 from south of the junction of Highway 26 to the junction of Highway 14 at Viking.

This stage of construction is the first step towards providing an ultimate paved surface. Final paving will follow in a future year's program.

Mr. Lysons stated that he "is pleased to see this section of highway being improved because it will improve the safety for all of the local, agricultural and through traffic using this highway."

Mr. Stromberg noted his support for this project "as surfacing of this gap will provide a modern paved surface from the Battle River south of Forestburg to the junction of Highway 28 west of St. Paul."

In announcing these improvements, Mr. Moore said that "this work is scheduled for completion in the 1984 construction season at an estimated cost of $3.3 million."

Broughton injured

Omar Broughton is reported to be recovering in Calgary hospital from a severe electrical shock suffered recently.

A report Monday night indicated he had been working on a piece of land he had purchased in the High River region, and cutting back high brush adjacent to a TransAlta high tension power line.

He was working in wet ground, said the report, and cutting brush with a chain saw. It is not known whether current jumped from the line, whether one of the trees he was clearing touched the line, or whether in some way he managed to short the line.

The end result was that he suffered fairly severe burns. He was immediately removed to Foothills Hospital in Calgary, where he is expected to spend approximately a month undergoing treatment.

Mr. Broughton is well known as an old-timer throughout this area.

SALT AWAY

If you're watching the amount of sodium in your diet, take a tip from Duke University nutritionist Rita Vermeulen. According to a study she worked on, you can rinse away as much as four-fifths of the sodium included in most canned foods.

Vermeulen reports that a one-minute rinse in ordinary tap water can wash away 79 per cent of the sodium in commercially canned tuna and 41 per cent of the sodium content in canned green beans. One or two minutes more rinsing may cut the sodium content by a few more per cent.

Of course, if you need to reduce your consumption of sodium, you shouldn't use softened water for drinking and cooking, or for rinsing canned foods. Softeners replace the calcium and magnesium in hard water with sodium.

ACCURATE METRIC MEASURES

To be sure the metric measures you use are accurate, keep the following things in mind when buying:

— Purchase dry measures that show metric only and without decimals (e.g., 1 mL not 1.2 mL).

— Purchase liquid measures that show a volume difference between metric and imperial (e.g., 1 cup and 250 mL should not be on the same line).

IN MEMORIAM

LEMKO– John In loving memory of my dear husband father and grandfather who passed away February 17 1981
A cluster of precious memories
Sprayed with a million tears
Wishing that God had spared you
If only a few more years
It is such a helpless feeling
When there's nothing one can do
To bring back all those yesterdays
That were so filled with you
It is sad to walk the road alone
Instead of side by side
But to all there comes a moment
When the ways of life divide
But you've brought a happiness
With which we'll never part
God's garden must be beautiful

Blazers win playoffs

Tofield Blazers have advanced to zone semi-finals in provincial pee wee 'C' playdowns.

Blazers will meet Andrew in a two-game total goal series which will see the winner advance to the Zone 2 finals

The first game will be played in Andrew on Saturday afternoon with the deciding game in Tofield on Sunday at 11 a.m

Officials of the Blazers are seeking community support for the team and are hoping for a good turnout at Sunday morning's contest.

Blazers had edged Strathcona 3-2 in the opening game of the zone quarter-finals.

In the deciding game, the teams battled to a 2-2 stalemate which gave Tofield the series by a 5-4 margin.

Blazer goals were scored by Smith and Donovan.

Prior to ousting Strathcona, the Blazers had defeated Lac La Biche in a total-goal elimination round.

Blazers are now the only Tofield team still in contention for provincial minor hockey honours.

The Bantam 'C' team fell by the wayside last week when they lost twice to Elk Point by scores of 7-3 and 5-3 with Elk Point winning the total-goal series 13-6

Earlier, the team had eliminated St. Paul in an elimination round.

Pictures blemished

Sometimes things just don't go right.

It can happen to anyone but, everyone notices when it happens to a newspaper

A number of pictures were taken for this edition of The Mercury but, only a few are actually going to get in the paper and they might not look all that good.

A bad chemical reaction took place when the films were developed which left the negatives looking like they had a bad case of measles.

This is the kind of occurrence that can't be foreseen.

The Mercury apologizes to those who anticipated seeing their pictures in this edition.

The chemical has been destroyed.

Satellites win in playoffs

Tofield Satellites have advanced to the Northern Alberta intermediate 'C' quarter-finals.

Satellites travelled to Eckville on the past weekend and returned home with a 7-5 victory.

The win gave the Tofield team the series over Eckville by a 13-7 margin and advanced them to the next round.

Satellites will now meet Bentley in a total-goal series.

The first game goes in Tofield Arena on Friday night with a starting time of 8:15 p.m. and the second game will be in Bentley and tentatively, that game will be played on March 3rd.

In their 7-5 decision over Eckville, Tofield got goals from Frayn, Berrecloth, Ranchinski, Neufeld, D. Nachtigal, Budinski and Kleinsworth.

Originally, Satellites were to have hosted Lamont on Friday in a league game but, because of the provincial playoff contest, this game has been postponed until Tuesday.

The Beaverhill Hockey League schedule is slated to end on Tuesday and playoffs are supposed to get underway next week. Playoff dates are expected to be announced early next week.

The fight for first place could go right to the wire as Lamont lost last week while Tofield won and the margin between the two teams is now only two points.

Holden hosted Mundare last night (Tuesday) while Vegreville played in Lamont.

Holden will play in Vegreville on Saturday.

There are some postponed games yet to be scheduled and they may still be played if they will have a bearing on the final standings.

In action during the past week, Tofield whipped Holden 13-2 while Mundare whipped Vegreville 8-3 and then edged Lamont 4-3.

Oldtimers play

With about a month and a half to go before the annual tournament on March 30, 31 and Aril 1, Tofield Oldtimer Coasters has a record of 20 wins and 19 losses.

March appears to be tournament month as the team has at least four tournaments, including the home tournament, slated

Toros still in second

Tofield Toros are still clinging to second place in the County Senior Hockey League.

Toros have a seven-point edge over Nursette and Rosalind with Nursette being the only team still with a chance of over-taking the Tofield squad.

One win by the Toros or one loss by Nursette would clinch second place for Tofield and home advantage in league semi-finals.

Toros are on the road this coming weekend as they travel to Rosalind on Friday night and go to Camrose on Saturday night for a game with the Nursette team.

The regular schedule is supposed to end this weekend. However, there are still a number of postponed games to play.

League officials have indicated that these games may not be played unless they have a bearing on the final standings.

Camrose will finish the regular schedule in first place while Kingman has officially been eliminated from a berth in the playoffs.

Toros played only one game during the past week and that was on Friday night when they battled Rosalind to a 3-3 draw.

Toro goals were scored by Doepel, Jenkinson and Friesen.

Precisionaires appear

This Sunday, the Holden Figure and Power Skating Club will present it's 2nd annual Ice Show, "Sports Illustrated on Ice".

The show will start at 2 p.m. in the Holden Arena with 57 club members taking part.

Headlining the show will be the Camrose "Precisionaires", a precision skating team that has been together four years. Ranging in age from 11 years to 18 years, 20 skaters from the 22 member club will be appearing in Holden demonstrating their group skating skills.

Coach, Lavonna Leibel, of Camrose, has been with the group since it's formation and has shared various competition awards with her skaters. In 1982, the team travelled to San Diego where they placed second in very stiff competition. On Feb. 4th of this year the team went to Calgary where they won a silver medal in the Rose Bowl competition and a bronze medal in the provincial championships. The bronze medal qualifies the group to attend the Canadian championships scheduled for Ontario in April.

Holden Instructors, Roseanne Yakimchuk, Brenda Bilyk, Linda Grinde, Judy Grinde and Ice Show co-ordinator Dorthea Mathews have been working very hard with the club skaters to put on a top-notch show.

Around the town

Laurie Pilon has been chosen to replace Neil Brodie as Tofield Town Administrator. She interned for this position at Barrhead, and will arrive in Tofield sometime near the end of February. She and her husband will reside in Tofield.

Lucy Anderson is the new secretary for C.W. Sears School. She and her family have lived in Tofield for 13 years. Her husband works for Northwestern Utilities and they have two sons, aged 8 and 10 years.

Mrs. Anderson, replaces Mrs. Brodie whose husband was transferred out of Town last month

Let's tell all

Albertans are getting heartily sick of the game of cat and mouse being played between Alberta Government Telephones and Edmonton Telephones over apportioning shares of the long distance calls emanating from and going to the city of Edmonton.

It's past time to put more of the information on the table, so that citizens generally, both inside and outside of Edmonton, can relate to what is going on. The game has escalated to the point where it's no longer good enough just to leave it to a small group of people, despite the fact they're all elected, and trust that they'll do a good job in representing the people who voted for them.

To [illegible] that statement, the people of Edmonton voted for a number of aldermen who seem all to believe the City is being badly treated in the matter of tolls, while Members of the Legislative Assembly, elected by the self-same voters, seem to have an entirely different view of things — (a government view?)

Ever since the advent of telephone signals being transmitted via airwaves and relatively inexpensive towers, rather than incredibly expensive collections of hundreds of miles of copper wire, and ever since the advent of extremely expensive integrated circuitry for the transmission of calls, we have felt Edmonton has had a stronger and stronger case. And not just this year, but over several years we have supported their case for a larger share. We don't think the Province (even though we may personally benefit) should plunder any of its citizens for the benefit of others.

Only just very recently, however, there has been a suggestion that Edmonton didn't pay for all the complex switching equipment needed to access Long Distance, that some of this, even in the city of Edmonton, is owned by AGT.

And we would think that would materially modify Edmonton's position. That might make nonsense of [illegible].

We have no patience with Bogle's (he inherited it) idea of expropriating. There is no public need for it, no demonstrated benefit. If expropriation can be approved when there is no imperative public need, then why not expropriate your cottage at the lake? Your boat or your trailer? The principle is identical, the only difference is one of degree.

So far, AGT has been made to look clumsy, heavy-handed, interfering with the public making calls. By contrast, EdTel looks smart, sophisticated.

But EdTel's act may only be smoke and mirrors, designed to build voter support for Decore and Leger, while Bogle loses even more.

It's past time to turn those hidden cards face up.

Preposterous

It will be preposterous if the Quebec government takes no action against three policemen involved in a motel shooting and killing of an innocent man. Particularly since a Quebec judge has found, following a coroner's hearing, the three were, indeed, responsible for the death.

Not only should charges be laid, but it would seem also the entire philosophy and training of at least two police forces should be checked.

In the best tradition of the "shoot first-ask questions later" tradition, a policeman from one force tried to open the motel door by force, but when it was stopped short on the night chain, then forced shut, a member of another force fired twenty bullets through the door . . . with no other provocation, no other rationale. And he was the INSTRUCTOR in shooting for his force.

Indeed, the number of counts they fouled up on could almost make a TV comedy . . . had it not wound up in tragedy.

Perhaps they should be sentenced to take instruction from police forces in either Calgary or Edmonton, both of whom have had the opportunity, more than once in recent months, to demonstrate how painstaking attention to detail, military precision in action, coupled with exhaustive patience and surveillance can reduce gunplay to a minimum, while still protecting the neighbourhood, advancing police work with greater safety to the force, and enhancing the image of the force.

Dist. Agriculturist

BARBARA BENNETT

On January 30 a Soils Seminar was held at Ryley. Over 130 people attended. Some of the highlights for our area which were covered included:

1. Liming.

Doug Penney from Alberta Agriculture discussed the problem of acid soils. Acid soils are increasing, largely due to an increased use in nitrogen fertilizers. Acid soils are indicated by a lower pH value. Soils with a pH lower than 6.0 restrict alfalfa growth. Once a pH of 5.5 is reached, most cereal and oilseed crops are [illegible] degree. To counteract low pH values, one can add lime.

The amount of lime to be added is determined by a soil test. When purchasing lime, one must consider the purity and the fineness of the particle size. Alberta Agriculture provides a Lime Freight Assistance which helps to pay most of the hauling costs of trucking in lime to one's farm. Further information on this assistance and about liming in general can be obtained from our office at Ryley.

2. "Gumbo" Soils

Jerome Lickacz from Alberta Agriculture spent some time discussing solonetzic soils or hardpans. Some possible remedies for helping to alleviate the problem included continuous cropping the area, seeding it down to grasses, ripping or deep plowing. Before any deep plowing is attempted, the area should be soil sampled to see if deep plowing will be beneficial. Ripping has produced variable results and more research is being done on it.

3. Soil Salinity

John Timmermans from Alberta Agriculture explained how salinity is caused. The number of acres of saline soils is growing every year. Management practices include continuous cropping, trying to get grasses to grow in the saline area, and seeding grass strips above the saline area in order to "intercept" the ground water which causes the seep.

4. [illegible]

Charles Pearson, Alberta Agriculture's Regional [illegible], indicated that when dollars are short that money put into fertilizer is still a good buy. Fertilizers should be allocated to crops which show the best [illegible].

5. Placement and Timing of Fertilizer

John Harapiak from Western Co-operative Fertilizers Ltd. described some of the highlights of his many research plots. For the Ryley area, if possible, one should band all of their nitrogen fertilizer and some phosphorus in the fall. In the spring they should put a little starter Phosphorus with the seed. There is a 5 per cent loss in fertilizer from fall to spring but this can be more than recovered by doing less spring work and by getting the crop planted in optimal conditions.

If possible, fall banding should be done at 12 inch spacings and spring banding at 8 inch spacings. Fertilizer [illegible] depth of seeding. For practical purposes, this would mean about 4-5 inches in the fall and in the spring banding should be only as deep as one plans to cultivate.

6. Potash and [illegible]

Dr. Jim [illegible], from the [illegible] and Phosphate Institute of Canada showed research which demonstrated that if Potash and Sulphur is lacking, the crop will not properly uptake the nitrogen and phosphorus fertilizers. He emphasized proper soil sampling to identify if these elements are lacking. To get the most from one's fertilizer all essential elements must be in it. If not, one element can severely limit the benefit of the others.

These comments only summarize some of the highlights of the seminar. If interested in more details contact us at our office. We would like to thank Andrukow Farm Sales and the Alberta Wheat Pool at Ryley for co-sponsoring the program.

The Time of Your Life

Our spring Tune-Up conference this year was opened by Carol [illegible] D.H.E. in Leduc speaking on time management. She attacked the superwoman myth that many of us try to live up to. Is it really necessary to have a spotless house and home baking on hand everytime someone drops in for coffee. You may want to sit down and set some priorities for yourself. Those few items at the top of the list can be planned into your schedule and those farther down the list can be either dropped or delegated.

[illegible] completed.

[illegible] help you assess whether or not you make the best use of your time.

[illegible] well set routine for rising, eating [illegible]

2. Do you have a place for keeping records, papers and documents

3. Do you find you have enough time left in the day for just personal time?

4. Do you tackle your work in order of importance?

5. Do you make lists of things to do, purchases to make?

6. Are you often overcome by the feeling of panic because you think you have more to do than time to do it?

7. Do you set aside time each day to plan your next days activities?

8. Are you flexible [illegible] allow for any delays or interruptions that alter your day's schedule?

9) Are you usually punctual for appointments, work, etc.?

10) Do you often delegate tasks to family members?

Answering yes to all but question No. 6 shows you're well organized. Congratulations!

The publications "If Only I Had the Time" and "Work Smarter Not Harder" are available from this office upon request.

Loose Ends

[illegible]

When the American astronauts made their first space walk all those years ago, securely connected to one end of a giant umbilical cord, I held my breath and thought, "What kind of man would do a thing like that?"

Now the astronauts are walking again, minus the strong tie to the Mother Ship otherwise known as the Challenger. To someone like me, who doesn't mind flying if it's in your average everyday 747 (as long as they don't try to refuel in Ontario), the very thought of man's quest taking him out beyond the usual air routes, to places where slipping into a parachute would be pointless, should there be trouble onboard, leaves me awe-struck. The idea of orbiting the earth, touching down on the moon's surface or doing [illegible] with only the jet [illegible] back between me and any passing meteorites, is enough to make me a lifetime member in the Chicken-of-the-skies Club. And it seems to me [illegible] attempting an untethered space walk during a mission plagued with [illegible] exploding satellites needs to have the space between his ears closely examined as soon as he returns to terra firma.

Who would have believed in the early days of the space [illegible] that shuttle flights would become as mundane as milkruns to Regina and that we would accept without comment, the idea of a man floating around 320 feet from the space craft without a lifeline? It all sounds suspiciously like something out of Buck Rogers, doesn't it?

If it takes a special breed of man or woman to design and develop the equipment necessary for these jaunts out of our atmosphere [illegible] special breed [illegible] and finally [illegible] I don't know about you but the only part of being an astronaut that I envy is those men floating outside the Challenger orbiting Earth at 17,000 mph [illegible] weightlessness. That and their nerves of steel.

I guess it's all a matter of faith.

Holden and district news

by Mrs. G.H. Taylor

Holden Lodge Order of the Royal Purple held their monthly meeting on Feb. 14th with H.R.L. Mary Semotiuk in the chair.

Regular business was attended to and correspondence read and dealt with.

A thank you and official receipt from the ACT Telarama for a donation was received. H.R.L. Semotiuk reported on the birthday party held Jan. 19th. All attending had enjoyed the supper catered by the ladies of Holden UCW and the social evening. PHRL Helen Bilyk reported on the visit to Viking Lodge. Lady Helen Stecyk reported on the Sunshine Committee. Books for the BPOE and OORP bingo ticket books were given out. This is to be held on March 2nd.

A prize is given on advance tickets. They will be holding a series of three bingos. Committees were appointed to convene a Rural Development dinner on Feb. 23rd, the Chamber of Commerce supper on March 8th and a Teachers and Principals supper on March 21st.

The ladies are inviting all Lodges in the district to the March meeting. The meeting closed with lunch, served with hostesses being Ladies Mary Hardy and Kathleen Hurum.

Steve Tkaczyk has been a patient in Tofield Hospital for several days.

A former Holden district resident, Charles Simms Lamb of Penticton, B.C., passed away in Penticton on Feb. 6th at the age of 82 years. The funeral was held on Feb. 10th in the Seventh-Day Adventist Church with Rev. Lee Osborne officiating and interment was in the Lakeview Cemetery.

Mr. Lamb is survived by four sons, Charles Ernest Lamb and Eris George Lamb of Penticton, Robert Marvin Lamb of Calgary and Joseph Edward Lamb of Farmington, B.C., four daughters, Mrs. Kathleen Palmer of Fredericton, N.B., Mrs. Meta Armstrong of Penticton, B.C., Mrs. Edith Carlson of Holden and Mrs. Freda Scott of Sherwood Park; 18 grandchildren; many great-grandchildren and four great-great-grandchildren.

He was predeceased by his wife, Louise and one son, Richard.

On Friday afternoon, a number of ladies representing the churches in Holden met in the United Church basement to plan and discuss the World Day of Prayer service for 1984 which will be held on March 2nd in St. Gregory's R.C. Church at 2 p.m. The meeting was chaired by Mrs. Olive Good. The program this year has been compiled by Women of Sweden and the theme is "Living Water from Christ".

Ladies from each church will take part in the program with special singing. The World Day of Prayer Services are printed and distributed in Canada by Women's Intra-Church Council.

Mrs. Jean Lemko is home after spending several days in Tofield Hospital with a very severe attack of the 'flu.

On her return home, her son Jamie was taken to hospital with a dislocated knee cap which fortunately went back into place without surgery but, Jamie has a large cast on his leg which he will have for at least six weeks.

Mrs. Helen Zwierschke was in Edmonton on Saturday attending a ELCW workshop with others of Bruce Emmanuel Lutheran Church L.W.

Olga and Lud Mielimaka are back home after spending a few days holidaying in Reno.

Conrad Melby is back at the Senior Citizens Lodge after being a patient for several weeks in the Tofield and University Hospitals.

A Frank Word About Warranty

Farm equipment manufacturers (and their dealers) like to sell their brand of filter. This is understandable. But, in most cases, the law does not permit them to require you to use their brand in order to keep the warranty in effect on farm machinery they sold to you.

Filters are the only thing Baldwin makes so our filters often perform way beyond equipment manufacturer's requirements as we continue to seek to make improvements. If engine damage is caused by our filter, our warranty applies regardless of whether your machine was still under their warranty.

Here's Our Warranty to Farmers Using Baldwin Filters on Farm Equipment

J.A. Baldwin Mfg. Co. warrants each new Baldwin filter used on farm equipment to be free of defects in workmanship and material. Baldwin will replace any filter found to be defective when you return it to your Baldwin distributor where you purchased the filter.

In addition, if any machinery damage is directly caused by a new, properly installed Baldwin filter during a normal service interval, Baldwin will reimburse the owner for that portion of the repair costs which were necessary to restore the machine to its condition immediately prior to the time of damage. If damage from a filter is suspected, contact the Baldwin distributor where you purchased the filter. He will help you complete the necessary form and pack the filter and other materials in accordance with his Baldwin Manual.

J.A. BALDWIN MFG. CO. SHALL NOT BE LIABLE FOR ANY CONSEQUENTIAL OR INCIDENTAL DAMAGES BESIDES MACHINERY DAMAGE, FOR BREACH OF ANY EXPRESS OR IMPLIED WARRANTY OF BALDWIN FILTERS.

Spilstead district news items

by M. Fisher

The First Spilstead Pathfinders—Girl Guides of Canada, spent this past weekend at Hastings Lake, hosting the first Arrowhead Area Pathfinders winter camp out. There were 32 girls and 10 leaders who attended from their respective groups at Beaumont, Strome, New Sarepta, Tofield, Vegreville, Camrose, Wetaskiwin and Spilstead. Many crafts and skills were learned as well as challenge badges worked on.

This being Girl Guide and Boy Scout Week, in remembrance of Lord and Lady Baden Powell's birthdays, some other special events have been undertaken by our groups.

On Sunday morning, a special Church service was conducted at the Spilstead Hall by Rev. Art Dahlen from Rosebud. The Cubs and Scouts began the service with a candlelight parade and color party. After the service, a pot-luck lunch was enjoyed by the congregation in the afternoon, all the Beavers, Cubs, Scouts and their families from Tofield and Spilstead gathered in the Legion Hall for a family and son pot-luck supper. Rev. Dahlen and his guitar were a real asset for harmony when accompanying the groups during the singing portion of the Campfire. Many fun skits were also performed by the various groups for everyone's entertainment. On behalf of the Tofield Lions, President John Zintel made a very appreciated donation to the Spilstead Cubs, Scouts and Pathfinders.

Listen to weatherman

This winter we've seen the lamb but, not the lion.

The days are getting longer and we are beginning to experience a gradual trend to warmer temperatures. The coldest part of winter has passed, and this, together with the longer daylight hours, encourages travel and outdoor activities. Yet behind these scenes of winter fun still lurk the harsher aspects of winter — blizzards, heavy snow, freezing precipitation, extreme wind chills and frigid temperatures.

Severe winter weather impacts in varying degrees on many facets of everyday life. A detailed consideration reveals that winter storms and their aftereffects cause major problems to the public and may indeed be life-threatening.

Consider the blizzard – visibility of one kilometre or less in snow and blowing snow, winds 40 km/h or stronger, temperature below 0°C, with all conditions lasting for at least three hours. Such conditions make surface travel treacherous and cause significant delays in air travel. On New Year's Day in 1973, for instance, a blizzard that originated in Alberta and worked its way eastward across the prairies left its mark in communities from the Rockies to Lake Island, Manitoba. For those caught or stranded outdoors during a blizzard, conditions may rapidly become hazardous to their well-being. Normal operations of the community draw to a standstill under the paralyzing influence of the blizzard.

Wind chill is a term whose meaning is still somewhat of a mystery to many. Simply, wind chill is the combined effect of wind strength and low temperatures on the cooling rate of an object. The effect of wind chill increases as the wind speed increases or temperatures drop. As an example, if the temperature were -15°C and wind 10 km/h (light breeze), the wind chill would be moderate, causing conditions to become unpleasant for outdoor activities. If the wind were to strengthen to 25 km/h (brisk wind) then the wind chill would increase so that exposed skin begins to freeze. When you are considering outdoor events and appropriate clothing, it is very important to know not only the temperature, but to be aware of the chilling effect the wind may have.

Freezing precipitation occurs when liquid water droplets (rain or drizzle) fall and then freeze on impact with a structure or the earth's surface. When droplets impact, they spread out and then freeze, thus forming a layer of clear, hard ice. If the freezing precipitation lasts for more than one hour the ice that results begins to accumulate. All phases of transportation are quickly affected, with roads and runways becoming icy. A prolonged case of freezing precipitation may result in considerable ice accumulation, that causes power lines to collapse, damages trees and produces other structural damage. One example is a freezing rain which fell on January 4, 1969 leaving streets and buildings in Edmonton and surrounding areas covered with a 5 mm layer of ice. The following 26 days saw temperatures reaching no higher than -21°C.

Heavy snow, 10 cm or more in 24 hours, while delighting skiers and sledders, causes significant problems in other areas. Surface transportation slows and maintaining the normal operating mode of many activities becomes difficult. Stranded motorists may face long, cold delays, while homeowners must guard against over-exertion while clearing snow.

Frigid temperatures are not normally a threat to the public as the effects of very cold air are well understood. Inconvenience arises due to frozen or burst water pipes, dead car batteries and the like, but only prolonged exposure presents a danger.

You can, however, be aware of and prepared for all types of weather with Weatheradio Canada. Weatheradio Canada provides 24-hour-a-day, up-to-the-minute weather information broadcasts on a designated weatheradio frequency. A special weatheradio is required to receive this frequency.

Weatheradio Canada will automatically alert you to warnings of severe weather, provided that receivers are equipped with suitable warning devices. These receivers emit a loud continuous tone signal and/or flashing light to alert listeners to a weather warning.

In Alberta, Weatheradio is currently available in Edmonton, Calgary and surrounding areas.

When you are considering trips in winter or preparing for outdoor activities it may be helpful to listen to your weatheradio or call your local Atmospheric Environment Service officed to check on current and forecast weather conditions. Knowledge of approaching hazardous weather, or of existing conditions, will permit planning of an appropriate course of action.

Scouts hold annual meet

Wildrose District for Scouting held their 36th annual meeting and banquet recently.

Head table guests were introduced by Vern Grundberg.

Mayor Rudy Swanson extended a welcome on behalf of the City of Camrose.

Three slide presentations were given during the course of the evening. Don Kondrat showed slides of the 1982-83 Australian Jamboree which he attended along with several boys from Tofield and Ryley. [illegible] Ventures presented slides [illegible] held July 1983 in the Kananaskis. Maureen Bell showed slides of the 75th Anniversary celebrations held in Camrose in June of 1983.

A full slate of officers were elected for the upcoming 84/85 Scouting year as follows: president, Jake Flock; past-pres., Vern Grundberg; 1st vice-pres., Bruce Grahn; 2nd vice-pres., Bob Smith, District Commissioner, Don MacMillan, Assistant District Commissioner, Walter Busenius, treasurer, Marie Swanson; secretary, Eleanor Ziegler, honours and awards, Linda Stevenson; public relations, Maureen Bell, camping committee, Orlin Knutsvig and Duff Franklin, nominating committee, Jim Thomas, Walter Busenius, [illegible]

The following people received [illegible] service: 20-year service award to Frank Jackson, Ferintosh; 10-year service awards to Don Kondrat, Tofield, Orlin Knutsvig, 2nd Camrose; and Divana McKeen, Ryley, 5-year service awards to Doug Ziegler, 2nd Camrose; Dave Fitchie, 4th Camrose; Lorraine Evans, 4th Camrose.

Cub and Scout leaders receiving their woggles for Wood Badge Part I training were Sandy Behnet, Don George, Larry Keig and Rod Nelson, all from Bawlf, James Hunter from 2nd Camrose, Jeff Bakke and Jim Thomas from 4th Camrose.

Group Committee members receiving their pins and wallet cards for the first part of their Wood Badge were: Sharon Olson, Lesley Whitnack and Margaret Zak from Bawlf, Neil Hagen and Candace [illegible] and Ted Peters from Hay Lakes.

Wood Badge Parchment was presented to Robert Kupka, Hay Lakes.

Wood Badge woggles were also presented to Bob Albers, Jerome Stettar from 2nd Camrose and Kevin Paich [illegible]

Author to visit

A noted Alberta author will be coming to Camrose next month (March).

Arthur Townsend will be autographing his books during a visit to Wisemen's Way Bookstore on March 8th.

A retired minister, the seventy-one year old author is a resident of the Town of Wainwright.

Townsend's visit to Camrose is to promote his new book which is entitled Stepping Stones Upward. A previous book, "Tall Tales That Are True" enjoyed good success.

Ice carnival set

Over 80 skaters will be involved in the Tofield Figure Skating Ice Carnival this year.

The show theme is movies with members from Pirate Movie, James Bond, Rocky, Return of the Jedi, Staying Alive, Garfield and others.

Special guest skaters are a dance pair from Calgary.

Also skating are the club professionals, Jeanette McLean and Jackie LaFrenier from Edmonton.

During intermission will be the crowning of the Ice Carnival Queen.

The five candidates are Cathy Litwin, sponsored by Tofield Minor Hockey, Angela Ziekie, Tofield Canadian Legion, Kelly Gill, Beaverhill Light Horse Association, Buffy Siler, Beta Sigma Phi; and Diane Harper who has been sponsored by the Tofield Lions Club.

Our apologies to the Lions Club for the error in reporting Diane as being sponsored by the Katchemut Creek Family Horse Club.

This will be the club's 11th annual Ice Carnival.

Crib club moves

The Tofield Crib Club will be moving from the Legion Hall to the Senior Citizen's Drop-In Centre effective March 4th.

We will continue to meet at 1:30 p.m. every second Sunday and everyone is welcome.

Due to icy road conditions, the January tournaments were poorly attended.

For the past four tournament's, the highest score trophies went to Joe Murray, Eliza Stratton, Robert Scott and Stanley Klatchock respectively.

The second went to Janet Gagne, Gertie Pointer, Beverely Carlisle, and Mary Ann Fisher. The lowest score trophies went to Beverely Carlisle, Laura Gagne, Josie Paulson and Solfrid Williams.

Sivers wins bonspiel

Norma Sivers of Edmonton emerged with top honours when the annual ladies' open curling bonspiel was staged in Tofield

The four-day bonspiel wound up on Sunday when championship contests were staged in three events.

Members of the championship rink, in addition to Sivers, included Joy Hrynyk, Audrey Bennett and Joan Binder.

The runner-up team was the Connie Richter quartet from Fort St. John, B.C.

Tofield rinks skipped by Sivers and Gallinger took third and fourth places in this event.

Sherri Hansen of Edmonton skipped her rink in top spot in the Second Event when she defeated Kathy Hengen of the host club.

Pike of Tofield and Kinzel from Hay Lakes took third and fourth places in the Second Event.

Jean Johnstone of Tofield was the Third Event. Other members of this team were Cindy Neufeld, Maryann Holm and Susan Kachinski.

Pat Jones of Tofield was the runner-up with the other two spots going to Nyestvold of Edmonton and Tokarek of the host club.

News from Ministik

By Catherine Bassett

Something new for the Ministik area is a Snowmobile Poker Rally being held at the hall on Sunday.

Registration is from 10:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. For further information, phone 662-2307. There will be a concession booth for all who get hungry and thirsty.

A most successful and enjoyable dance was held in Ministik Hall by the Toros Hockey Club on Saturday evening. They hail from Tofield, with Clifford Horricks and Lorne Former from our area, being on the team.

Did Nadia Comaneche start out this way?

Last Thursday evening Kathy Bussey's beginner class of the Tofield Gymnastics Club practised their many moves with much enthusiasm and obvious pleasure.

There are 25 members in this class which are divided in to four separate groups, each led by a volunteer student from the advanced classes.

These children range in age from 6 to 10 years.

Mrs Bussey started this class three years ago with only one session every so often. It has since blossomed into a regular club complete with a formal committee which has just formed this year.

Some time in the near future they will be competing with other clubs from the surrounding area.

Reils celebrate 50th

On Feb. 12, approximately 160 relatives and friends gathered in the Ryley Community Hall to help Ezra and Lena Reil celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary.

Daughter-in-law Inez met them at the door and pinned corsages on each of them. They were escorted to their seats by grandson, Colin Reil, seated at the head table with Ezra and Lena were their brothers, sisters and sisters-in-law.

A short program emceed by grandson Scott Reil followed. Scott gave a brief history of Ezra and Lena's life, then read a poem she had written especially for them entitled "Grandparents".

The anniversary cake was then cut. The cake was made by Inez and decorated by Inez's mother, Mary Hardy. The flower arrangement on the cake top was made by Annette Short.

Scott presented them with certificates of congratulations from various government officials. Carol Stefura presented a gift from the community and two-year-old great-granddaughter, Jessica Berkowski presented a gift from the grandchildren. Scott presented them with a gift from the whole family, son and family, brothers, sisters, nieces and nephews.

Lena and Ezra then thanked everyone for coming.

A buffet lunch was served under the watchful eyes of Mary McKay and Marilyn Campbell.

Ezra and Lena spent the rest of the afternoon visiting with the many friends and relatives who arrived from Camrose, Viking, Thorsby, Holden, Tofield, St. Albert, Edmonton, Rimbey, Round Hill and Sherwood Park. A special surprise visitor was Emma Reil from Whonnock, B.C.

In charge of the guest book were great nieces, Leonne and Karen Holster.

IN MEMORIAM

SOPRANYK — In loving memory of Michael who passed away Feb. 23 1981.
—Sadly missed and ever remembered by his wife Mary, daughters Stella and Gen and 8 grandchildren 25c 6706

CARDS OF THANKS

THE SPILSTEAD Cubs, Scouts and Pathfinders wish to thank the Tofield Lions for their generous donation of $300 25p 6714

We would like to thank our son Howard and wife, their grandchildren & great-granddaughters for their part in the lovely day we spent on our 50th Golden Wedding Anniversary day. To Scott the M.C. and those who took part in the musical numbers, Robert Lysio and Annette Short for their song, Carole Stefura presenting us with the community gift, little Janine Bednarski who presented us with a gift from grandchildren and great-grandchildren, for all cards and gifts, RCA Remote control 20 in. TV from family and relatives. A special thanks to the ladies who prepared the delicious lunch and were so busy in kitchen, Ener for cake, Mardy Hardy and Annette Short for decorating it and for all flowers. Thank you.

Rodeo help is needed

The overwhelming success of Tofield's first annual "Sodbuster Rodeo" could not have been possible without the enthusiasm and support of the entire Tofield community.

"Everyone did their share, and more," said Kieran Jensen, Chairperson of the Rodeo Committee. "And best of all, everyone went home satisfied."

The news is now all over that the carnival rodeo is coming to town on May 26 and 27, and again this year the "support is desperately needed," stated Jones.

Local businessmen have already been informed by letter that a member of the Rodeo Committee will be contacting them for sponsorship of prize monies and trophy buckles. Many of the event sponsors have already been sewn up, but there is need for other support. The Queen Contest is in need for "Gift Donors" for contestants. Stores are urged to offer "Rodeo Week" specials and dress western to drum up enthusiasm.

Many sport teams and clubs have already volunteered their members to work at gates, beer gardens and the rodeo dance. This year, the Rodeo Committee has applied to allow more people into the dance, and due to the strict regulations of the Alberta Liquor Control Board, this means more workers are required. "We are short now for volunteers at the beer gardens and dance," mentions Jones, "but we are optimistic that hours will be filled and that will come forth and lend a hand."

The Tofield Lions Club has come back this year to hold another beef barbeque and if anyone is hungry after that, Minor Hockey will open their concession during the dance. On Sunday, Tofield Legion will open their pancake breakfast.

Further information on the Rodeo will be forthcoming in The Mercury.

Council discusses property

By Joan Murray

Len Schlenker approached Tofield Town Council at their meeting Monday night to have a piece of property, located in the Northwest corner of town, rezoned from UR (urban reserve) to R3 (multiple family dwelling) for the purpose of erecting a 12-suite apartment on this site.

A motion was passed by Council to write a letter to Mr. Podmore of the Water and Sewer Department and to the Town Planner to find out if the construction of such a building in that particular area would be feasible.

A letter from Lori Piles, Tofield's new town administrative assistant, was received confirming her arrival, on March 1st.

On going over the Board of Education minutes of the Feb. 8th meeting, councillor Jack Lamgett made a motion that the Town have the Recreation Board apply to the Board of Education to have them relinquish their ownership of Belvedere Park to the Town as the Recreation Board may go ahead freely with the development of this property.

Ryley debates school future

by Joan Murray

The future of Ryley School was discussed at length at a meeting called by Ryley School supporters last Tuesday night in the School Library.

A large number of townspeople and teachers were in attendance to hear more about the proposed changes to the Ryley and Holden Schools.

As it stands now, the County School Board has passed a motion to approve "in principle only" that there be two educational facilities, one with kindergarten to grade nine and one with kindergarten to grade six and grades 10, 11, and 12.

Where each school would be located has not yet been decided.

Public meetings have been set for March 5th in Holden and March 8th in Ryley. At this time Superintendent of Schools, William Schoeman will be present to explain why this proposal will give improved education opportunities for the County of Beaver students.

Bob Dueck, Ryley School Supporters President opened the meeting with the question "If you had a choice would you prefer to send you child to Tofield or Holden?"

The general reaction was that there was no choice because it was felt that the present structure of education at Ryley is adequate.

Dueck then proceeded to go over the recommendations this organization had put forth at the February 8th meeting of the County of Beaver School Board. In essence, their proposal was that Ryley School stay intact and high school students from Holden come to Ryley.

One of the main reasons given for combining the schools as proposed was to do away with double programming.

A question was raised by a member of the crowd as to how the students were doing with the present system of double programming. Jim Clarke, Ryley School Principal, said "generally the math double programming is a bit more successful than English but, that all double programming is less desirable than separate classes." At present, Ryley School does not double program in grade 12.

George Knudsen, County of Beaver Board of Education representative for Division 6 was present by invitation and asked if he might speak to the group and possibly clarify some of the confusion and alleviate some of the frustration that seemed to be apparent this evening.

He explained that the motion put forward at the Feb. 9th School Board meeting was done unanimously to get something going to improve education for all students in the County of Beaver.

Knudsen cautioned the crowd to remember that the proposal was made in principle only" and that "nothing is etched in stone when it is made in principle". He went on to say that the greatest advantages favor the Senior High Students by eliminating double programming and cycling of programs as well as offering a wider range of options to both schools. One must keep in mind that the good of "all" the students of the County of Beaver is the issue here.

As the meeting neared the end, Dueck asked "How many want Ryley to stay as a K-12 facility?"

A general show of hands indicated a majority favoured Ryley School staying intact.

Litwin is queen

by Joan Murray

During the intermission at the annual Ice Carnival, Randy Benson, Master of Ceremonies, kept the crowd in suspense just a little longer as he hesitated over opening the envelope.

But, finally he announced that Cathy Litwin was the 1984 Ice Carnival Queen.

Cathy, looking very elegant in her light blue gown, was overwhelmed as she received the crown from last year's Queen, Cathy Brown. The royal purple cloak was removed and placed on her shoulders, completing the transfer of royal responsibilities for 1984.

She received a bouquet of red roses and the other four contestants, Bobbie Siller, Angela Zilkie, Kelly Gill and Dianne Harper, were presented with a single red rose to close the ceremony.

Just before the queen was crowned the club professionals, Marj Mellor, Jeanette McLean, Jackie Lafreniere and Elaine Van Sickle as well as the guest skaters, Rhonda and Ronnie Machon of Calgary, were introduced.

The amateur coaches, Annette Adams, Cathy Brown, Lori Brown, Romy Knudsen, Buffy Siller, Michell Willans and Angela Zilkie were also acknowledged.

Where was he?

"Because we have 20 to 30 percent of youth unemployed in parts of Canada, a significant part of our society is adrift" Jim Coutts told Liberals meeting in Edmonton over the week-end. The solution is a massive job creation program, tied to a massive apprenticeship training program" he told his audience.

Indeed, Mr. Coutts would see establishment of a program which would guarantee up to 200,000 youths jobs at $1,000 a month . . . in private industry and community organizations.

Hurray for Mr. Coutts! At last somebody in the Liberal party is talking about doing something to reduce unemployment. For maybe ten percent of unemployed. Great.

But just a minute. Wasn't Mr. Coutts chief aide to Mr. Trudeau over most of the past decade or more? Where was Mr. Coutts, and his overriding interest in job creation, when his chief brought in the National Energy Program, the one thing which did more than any other action to destroy the jobs we had, the guarantees everybody could feel and touch and smell?

Where was Mr. Coutts when his chief introduced policies that brought interest rates to unheard of levels, confiscatory levels which crippled thousands of businesses and workers, destroying jobs and the guarantee of jobs?

Where was Mr. Coutts when the government introduced policies that cut the feet out under the western packing house industry? Policies that undermined the western hog breeders, the beef producers? Or the western petrochemical industry that Mr. Lougheed was so keen to advance?

Where was Mr. Coutts when the government, and the Prime Minister to whom he was chief adviser, introduced suggestions about amending the historic Crow rate, or rail line abandonments, or natural gas export quotas, or pipeline restrictions, every one of which chopped into the job sector, in moves so skillfully orchestrated as to be part of a masterfully planned overall program to make the Mid, once again brewers of wood and drawers of water, producers of natural resources for the industrial workers of Central Canada to process into Value-Added Products.

Where was Mr. Coutts when all these programs were developing?

Who would replace them?

The stories coming out of Ottawa these days are making me nervous and they should be doing the same to you. The message those stories are giving is that the Liberal government is losing control and is not capable of running the affairs of the country any more. These stories in particular have me concerned.

One concern is the changes made to the election act concerning advertising during election campaigns. Those changes mean that only candidates and registered political parties can advertise. From what I have read, the politicians wanted it that way because they are the only ones who are qualified and capable of handling advertising, whether it be in favour of or against their particular party. That means special interest groups, such as those opposed to nuclear war or budworm spraying or abortion, will not be able to place advertisements indicating which political parties share their views or not. That, of course, means no adverse publicity for our candidates.

Another concern is the recent furor over the manner in which Revenue Canada is collecting taxes. The revenue minister says it is all our fault we are being harrassed. It would seem that a new computer system makes it much easier for the department to double and cross check up on Canadians. If we goof up, whether it be intentional or not, we stand to lose a lot; however, if someone in the department goofs up, it is no big deal. If the person we appeal to to check over our tax form and doesn't like what is there, or decides we don't qualify for a specific deduction we are claiming, they disallow it and it could take a couple of years to get our legitimate deduction applied.

Revenue Canada employees are apparently putting the squeeze on those they consider too slow in paying They, of course, must be doing this at the urging of their bosses and they in turn must be pressured by the government. It's unfortunate the government has decided to pack on the "little guy" at the same time it gives all sorts of tax benefits to the rich and to big business.

Then there is another matter of each Liberal MP having access to $800,000 for make work projects. The PCs are crying foul, insisting they didn't have the necessary information on the government program so they couldn't apply for the funds. They have been asking the government to provide a list of approved projects and the ridings they went to, but so far the government has managed to avoid tabling the list.

None of these things inspire confidence in our government. And, to make matters worse, the government is so arrogant its members don't feel it necessary to come up with anything that even resembles reasonable explanations. They either shrug their shoulders or remain silent.

This is supposed to be an election year and all political parties should be trying to impress us. Unfortunately, none of them are very impressive. In fact, they are behaving more childish than ever. That is going to make it more difficult for us when the time comes and we have to choose a new government. At this time when all these stories are coming out of Ottawa as well as stories about a "hit list" the PC party has devised of people they want to get rid of immediately they win the next election, one can't help but wonder who could provide us with responsible government.

Value of Opposition

Often ridiculed in this country, the effectiveness of an Official Opposition in the Legislature was clearly shown this week when the Conservative Opposition in Manitoba forced NDP Premier Pawley to dissolve the Legislature because it had become totally ineffective.

Mr. Pawley's move to reintroduce French in the province was ill thought out, leading to fierce opposition right across the province, and not just in the House. Dissolving the session may allow time to bring in a more acceptable measure, if it is not sooner dealt with by the courts.

But party positions solidified as though carved in stone as federal politicians meddled where they have no business meddling. The pressure from outside is distasteful to most Manitobans, indeed most Canadians, none of whom want to appear to be being influenced. Not only is it unwanted, it is unwise, and highly unpolitical.

The test of this was proven in Ontario, where Premier Bill Frost told Prime Minister Trudeau, in pretty pointed language, to back off the language issue, and let the province work it out . . . they'd get there more effectively without Ottawa [illegible].

Even more to the point, it seems Mr. Mulroney has a lot to learn. Not only was he drawn into supporting a policy where he shouldn't be meddling, he's now making endorsement of his position a basic requirement for continuing admission to the Tory caucus. Joe Clarke was volubly criticized for wanting to move the Canadian embassy in Israel . . . a subject of far less importance than the issue of official languages. There'll be other chances for such posturing by Mr. Mulroney. He would have been better advised to let this pass by into oblivion.

Loose Ends

[illegible]

Weird weather aside, 1984 promises to be quite a year. Not only do we have the infamous George Orwell predictions, a Big Brother concept that I confess had me so engrossed that I nodded off on page four, but this is the Year of the Rat on the Chinese calendar, a situation which may or may not have certain political leaders cleaning their whiskers in anticipation. And then, having survived one Friday the 13th, we now have two more to look forward to before the year is over.

To top it off, 1984 is a Leap Year. It is now okay for a woman to ask a man's hand in marriage, amongst other things. I was a mere babe in arms then, but didn't Daisy Mae nab L'il Abner in a Leap Year?

I must be honest and say that I knew very little about Leap Years before asking more educated sources, the encyclopedia and our Librarian, except that I was married in one (I don't recall who did the asking), and that a woman born on February 29th doesn't age as quickly as those of us with birthdays on other days. I had no idea why February had an extra day every four years but had never questioned the wisdom of "thirty days hath September, etc." Of course, there is always an exception to every rule and here we are, right in the middle of that exception.

According to my other source, my resident wiz, the extra day was given to us so that Man could catch up with Nature and further investigation proved him right (again). It seems that it takes 365¼ days for the Earth to go around the sun — or is it the other way around" I can never remember who does the orbiting Anyway, the Romans decided we needed that extra day every fourth year to catch up and prevent us from eventually having one with more days than any of us could handle, and the Leap Year was born.

"Leap" would not have been my choice of names One additional day does not a leap make . . . but then I haven't designed any calendars lately. Perhaps we should call it a leastritis year to add the Romans, a race with their own form of imagination.

The whole thing makes February a more interesting month every four years, but it seems to me to be further proof of Man's inability to organize things properly

Report from Parliament Hill

By Hon. Don Mazankowski P.C., M.P.

The Budget a Failure

The federal budget tabled in the House of Commons by Finance Minister Lalonde on February 18th fails to address the serious problems facing the Canadian economy

Unemployment

Nothing in the budget will have a significant impact on the major issue — unemployment. Today nearly 1.5 million Canadians are out of work the same number as when the Special Recovery Program began a year ago. Mr Lalonde himself projects that the unemployment rate will average 10.9% in 1984 and that over one million Canadians will remain unemployed in each of the next five years. The result of the government's failure to create jobs and lasting growth will be tremendous suffering and tremendous potential

Jobs for Youth

No group will be harder hit than young Canadians Today one in five of our youth is unemployed. The $150 million in extra spending provided in the budget will not reduce this figure to any degree

By denying young Canadians the opportunity to develop skills and gain experience, the government is wasting our most precious resources the talents and energy of Canadians

The government seems determined to rely on the uncertain recovery to create the jobs we require Yet the deficit and continued high government spending threaten to abort the recovery before it fully takes hold

The Deficit

The decsit for 1983/84 will be $31.5 billion, $700 million higher than projected last April In 1984/85 it will be $29.6 billion, up $800 million from the previous forecast In November 1981 then Finance Minister MacEachen projected a $9.5 billion deficit from 1983/84 and a $10.0 billion deficit for 1984/85 The deficit is now 3 times that amount and is clearly out of control There is no reason to believe that the latest projections are any more accurate than in the past

Despite promises to reduce the deficit and control government spending, both continue to escalate The increases will renew fears that the deficit will crowd out private borrowers, rekindle inflation and cause interest rates to rise Unless interest rates come down, the investment required to produce jobs and growth will not take place.

Budget Proposals

The budget contains a host of promises to benefit Canadians. Many of these, such as the increase in pensions for senior citizens, the simplification of the tax system for small business, capital gains changes for farmers and a fairer deal for taxpayers fighting Revenue Canada, have been proposed by our Party and we welcome their adoption However, it remains to be seen if they will be implemented before an election

Tax Increase

What the Minister failed to mention in his budget speech were the $800 million in new taxes for 1984 imposed by his previous budget. These still remain in place and will reduce consumer demand, thereby stalling the recovery

The budget is a failure and will not contribute to a stronger economic future for Canada

League info unknown

The situation in regards to the Beaverhill Hockey League was not known at presstime

The regular schedule was supposed to have ended on Saturday but, Tofield Satellites hosted Lamont last night (Tuesday) in a postponed contest that will be reported next week.

However, a Tofield victory in last night's game would have clinched second place for the Satellites and might have meant that other postponed games would not be necessary to reschedule

While playoffs might get underway later in the week, information in this regard was not available

Attempts by The Mercury to get in touch with any league officials (on Tuesday morning) were unsuccessful

Hockey fans are urged to listen to sport reports on CFCW for information.

Satellites hosted Bentley on Friday night in Northern Alberta intermediate 'C' quarter finals.

Bentley won the contest by at least three goals and a return match in Bentley is slated for Friday night.

Standings	W	L	T	GS	GA	Pts
Lamont	16	4	3	182	102	35
Tofield	14	5	3	147	78	31

League situation fuzzy

The picture of the County (Camrose) Senior Hockey League appears to be somewhat fuzzy, at this time.

However, the picture may have been brought into focus during an executive meeting held in Camrose last night (Tuesday)

Rosalind whipped Tofield Toros on Friday night in Rosalind in the only game that was played during the past week with scoring details of that game not being available.

Toros were to have met Nursette in Camrose on Saturday night but, the game didn't get played.

Prior to the Nursette-Toro contest, CLC Vikings tangled with Red Deer in an ACAC playoff contest that took two overtime periods before a winner was decided.

When it was obvious that the game was going to be nearly two hours late (near midnight) in starting, Toros packed up their equipment and went home. Nursette remained in the rink and were ready to play and as a result, laid claim to the two points.

While games scheduled for the past weekend wouldn't have completed the regular schedule, it might have determined the final standings and plans were that the playoffs would get underway this week.

Another setback occurred on the past weekend when league officials were told that Nursette (composed of [illegible] players) would not be able to play this week because of exams.

One immediate reaction from another team was that, if Nursette couldn't play, they be disqualified and replaced by Kingman.

Fans of the Toros are urged to listen to sports reports on CFCW to find out the next scheduled (playoff) action for the Tofield team will take place.

Colourful shoot set

There's going to be a lot of shooting noises south of the city on the coming weekend.

The [illegible] Loaders are holding their annual Winter Rendezvous which has been named the March Hare Shoot.

This event will be held on Saturday and Sunday and is for round ball open sights muzzle loading only except for shotguns which are cartridge only.

It should be a colorful occasion which might appeal to spectators as all of the participants will be attired in costumes from Alberta's early days.

The events start at eleven o'clock each morning and are as colourfully entitled as the participants will be dressed.

Saturday's competition will include a pistol duel, bullet splitting, shoot the spook, grouse picking, ribbon cutting and card cutting.

The events slated for Sunday will consist of a traditional target shoot, skunk shoot, let's play crib, a chicken shoot and a blanket shoot.

Entries for the two-day competition may be telephoned to Barb or Paul at 672-3634 (after five o'clock).

Spectators are welcome on either day at the outdoor range which is located south on Main Street (signs will be posted).

Benefit dance set

A dance is planned for Saturday night to raise funds for rescue equipment for Tofield.

Sponsored by the Beta Sigma Phi sorority, it is hoped that funds can be donated to the Tofield Fire Department rescue program.

Gail Jordon of the sorority says her group supports the Fire Department in its efforts to establish a rescue service that when required, will respond to motor vehicle, industrial and farm accidents. Other community groups have also pledged future support for this program

In the past month, the fire department has responded to two incidents where assistance was provided to the RCMP and ambulance service.

Tickets for Saturdays dance are available in advance from members of the Beta Sigma Phi or the Fire Department. They will also be available at the door.

Council meets

by Joan Murray

Village of Holden Councillors met last week.

It was decided that Christine Mackay, village administrator, would attend the L.G.A. (Local Government Administrators) annual workshop in Red Deer.

The Village of Holden will be represented at the Alberta Municipal Affairs Seminar in Daysland on March 16th by Mayor Kevin Stombough and Village Administrator, Christine Mackay

There, they will be given updated information on topics such as budget processes, annual financial statements, preparation of by-laws, preparation of minutes, council meeting procedures, procedural by-laws, policy manual preparation, public relations (council-administration-public) and new legislation.

A letter of support was sent to the ERCB regarding the postponement of the Genessee power plant.

The Holden Power and Figure Skating Club requested pins for presentations at the Ice Carnival. Twenty-five were awarded for this purpose.

Sylvia Burden, Wanda Mason and Marvin Tomaschavsky were appointed to the Holden Recreation Board for 1984.

The next general meeting will be held March 19th. The information obtained for this story was taken from the unapproved minutes of the meeting.

T.G.H.A. Flashes

The Tofield Hospital Auxiliary had a lively meeting last Monday evening as the membership gathered ideas for future projects

The first upcoming event is a perogy supper, March 24 at the Tofield Legion Hall. Perogy workshops and individuals who wish to make perogies at their convenience may, on completion, store them with Rose Charters (662-2615)

February tray favours were supplied courtesy of the Brownies and their friends

The volunteer of the month was Anne Friesen for her lovely quilted donation.

The special projects group is still in need of "thank-you" note paper and Easter ideas

Several Hospital Auxiliary attended the recent Northeast Regional meeting of Hospitals and had an informative day in Bonnyville. Currently Tofield is one of the younger Hospital Auxiliaries in this area

A special thanks to Don Roth (Hospital Administrator) and Mirr Kraus (D.O.N.) for their considerations in including the Tofield Hospital Auxiliary members on this trip

Horse club has meet

by [illegible] Krystal

The regular monthly meeting of the Katchemut Creek Family Horse Club was held on Sunday in the Beaverhill Family Centre.

Many members arrived on horseback and North Cooking Lake members arrived by team and wagon.

The meeting was called to order by president Blair MacCormac. After the minutes were read and the treasurers report given, the meeting moved into new business.

It was decided the club will hold pony rides during the Tofield Rodeo. Our contestant for Queen of the Sodbuster Rodeo was voted upon with Teresa Williams the successful candidate.

Teresa was the first runner-up at the Camrose Rodeo Queen Contest in 1983.

Discussion was also held regarding other up-coming community events in which the club has been invited to [illegible].

This year's club prince and princess were voted upon. The club princess is Jenny MacCormac and club prince is [illegible].

[illegible] "No stallions allowed upon the grounds" had been questioned [illegible] for their opinions. After discussion, voting was held. The rule was amended to read, "No stallions allowed upon the grounds, unless the horse is under harness".

[illegible] a photo album kept of club events. Angela Wood and Klay Krystal volunteered for the job.

[illegible] club is holding a twilight hayride on March 17 at 7 o'clock starting at the South Reserve Gate. Anyone wishing to ride their horse instead of the wagon is welcome to do so. There will be food and drinks served at some point on the ride and anyone wishing to join in the fun is welcome.

The next meeting is to be held on March 25 at 2 o'clock in Beaverhill Family Centre.

Co-op closes

by Joan Murray

After 52 years of operation, the Tofield Co-op Store is closing its doors.

Manager John Zintel has been in charge of this store for six years and has been managing Co-op stores for 22 years.

He attributes this unfortunate event to the declining economy and to local people shopping for their groceries in [illegible].

They will be cleaning the inventory out with the appropriate sales. When this is accomplished, the fixtures will be sold and the building rented out.

Students honoured

by Joan Murray

All Tofield School students who have achieved an average of 80% or more in all subjects during the second quarter of the school year have, in recognition of their academic excellence, had their names posted on the Honour Roll as [illegible].

Grade 7: Kelsey Carlisle, Errol Hastings, Karen Hubbard, Danny Neufeld, Michelle Pelster, Craig Smith, Melody Sommer, Karen Sware, Rodney Tiedemann and Lisa Voltner.

Grade 8: Bobbie-jo Connolly, Rashid Kashani, Jason Lammerts, Candy MacDonald, Chris McLauchlan, Stacy Neufeld, Peter Oomen [illegible].

Grade 9: Lisa Brodie Hami Hastings, Cheryl Jeffrey, John Kallal and Paul Strong.

Grade 10: Teresa Burtis, Armand Eglauer and Jennifer [illegible].

Grade 11: Norman Brom, Ruth Collins, Rebecca Laidlaw, Cathy Litwin, Darren Lammerts, Jason Moses, Reva Robillard, Chris Strong and Debbie Undin.

Grade 12: (based on teacher submitted marks) Debbie Kallal and Tracy McShane.

The quarterly Honor Roll is basically an honorary one because the actual Medallion Award is not given out until October after the final list is made up of those students who have reached and maintained an over 80% average throughout the year.

Correction

There were errors in an obituary in the Holden news in last week's edition of The Mercury.

Charles Simms Lamb was 92 years of age, not 82 and one of his surviving sons is Eric, not Eris.

Dancers hold Karnival

by Joan Murray

In spite of the many hockey tournaments held on Saturday, the Tofield Dance School held a very well attended and successful Krazy Kwarter Karnival.

The funds raised will be used for hall rental, materials for concerts and general club expenses.

All the prizes for this event were either made or donated by parents and other club members.

The dance club was started six years ago by Elaine MacDonald and Nellie Young.

Today, with Elaine Porisky as the instructor, it boasts some 51 members who train in tap, jazz and ballet. They are arranged in groups according to ability and age.

Most of the dancers are working on their preliminary level but, at least one of them has achieved level five. The testing is done by the Sher[illegible].

Parents and other community members will have an opportunity to view the [illegible] Dance Concert to be held on April 16th.

Record high set

It took nearly two months of trying but, a record high temperature was finally set last week.

An exceptionally mild winter has witnessed the thermometer flirt with record marks since the start of the new year but, up until the last week, the best that could be achieved was to tie two marks.

That changed last Monday (Feb. 20) when the mercury climbed to eight degrees above zero.

That broke the old mark of seven above which had been established away back in 1931.

Although the temperature remained above zero for the balance of the week, it did not again approach record-breaking levels.

While temperatures have cooled off in the past few days, it is still considered to be normal for this time of year.

Record high temperatures for next month (March) range from nine to eighteen degrees above zero while the record lows are from minus twenty-one to minus forty-three degrees.

Between the Covers

Three more recently-published [illegible] in the Library this week.

"Poland" by James Michener, "Forced Landing" by Thomas Block, and "Ancient Evenings" by Norman Mailer have all arrived with a long-overdue shipment [illegible].

Remember, if a book you wish to read is out when you ask, you can add your name to a reserve list. There are no renewals on books reserved for other patrons.

Four new cookbooks add some variety to the 641 section of the library.

"Italian Cooking" by Robin Howe, and "Chinese Regional Cooking" by Deh-Ta Hsiung [illegible]. New techniques can be explored with the aid of a book such as the "Food Processor Cookbook" by Tony Schmaeling, or "Farm Journal's Complete Cake Decorating Book" which covers everything from cake and frosting recipes to detailed instructions on very fancy floral decorations.

Two more new computer books have been added to the growing collection in 001.64.

Dona Meilach has written a book called "Before You Buy A Computer: A practical guide to computer shopping". Published in 1983, this book covers many of the models currently available, and discusses many aspects and features of computer ownership to consider. The other book is for owners of the inexpensive Timex/Sinclair 1000, "BASIC Programs in Minutes" by Sidney Trost, but it would be easily adaptable to other makes as well.

The three Library story hour programs have gotten off to a good start.

There is still some room in each of the Preschool groups, Tuesday mornings 10-11 a.m. and Friday mornings 10-11 a.m. There is also space in the Booktime program for Kindergarten to Grade 3 students, Tuesdays at 4 p.m., due to messages being sent home to parents a few days later than anticipated. For further information on these volunteer-run programs, please call the library at [illegible].

Please stop in and enjoy the attractive display arranged by the Tofield Brownies. This is Scout and Guide week, and the theme of the display is Brownies Around the World. The other current library display highlights a number of popular Alberta Authors.

Regular library hours are Tuesday 1-5, Thursday 3-5 and 6-8, Friday and Saturday 10-12 [illegible].

Reading for the Visually Impaired?

Is there someone in your family, or among your friends and acquaintances who no longer reads for pleasure because of a visual, physical or perceptual handicap? No doubt you have seen for sale, books read aloud on tape, available in many bookstores now.

However, each of those books is a shortened adapted version of the original, the cassettes are not cheap, and you must already own your own playback equipment.

There is an alternative. Full length books on tape, mysteries, romance, adventure, biographies and many others, are available at no charge to the handicapped. There is even a small selection of such "Talking Books" available in Ukrainian, and there will be some in German in the near future.

Where are these books available? At your local library! Every library in Alberta, including those in the County of Beaver, is entitled to borrow these taped books for their reading-handicapped patrons from Alberta Culture Library Services. Even playback units are available for loan on a trial basis.

If you know of someone who is denied the pleasure of reading because of an inability to see the print, hold a book, or other such handicap, ask at your library about the Talking Book Service. You may help to bring a whole new field of entertainment to a special [illegible].

Blazers ousted

Tofield Blazers have been eliminated from the provincial playoffs.

The pee wee 'C' team lost out in the zone 2 semi-finals when they were ousted by Andrew.

Andrew won at home against the Blazers by a 6-2 count on Saturday and in a match in Tofield on Sunday, Andrew won 10-2 to take the two-game total-goal series [illegible].

Tofield's goals in Sunday's contest were scored by Cunningham and Neufeld with scoring in Saturday's game not being available.

Prior to having been eliminated by Andrew, the Blazers had earlier ousted Lac La Biche and Strathcona enroute to their berth in the zone semi-finals.

Spilstead district news items

by M. Fisher

On Feb. 22, the 1st Spilstead Pathfinders – Girl Guides of [illegible] their first [illegible] daughter banquet. The group committee executive was extended an invitation to join them on this occasion. The [illegible] began with a potluck supper, followed by some talks given by the girls on various topics concerning Girl Guide organizations and how the Pathfinders came to be. The Pathfinders then entertained all by singing an action song they had learned at their recent weekend winter camp. The evening concluded with a very interesting, as well as educational, slide presentation by Margaret Lyall, assistant Pathfinder leader, on her trip from England to India, by bus.

The Spilstead Community League held its leap year dine and dance on Saturday evening, with a medium-sized crowd in attendance.

The Spilstead Community League will be holding its annual meeting on Tuesday at 8 p.m. If you have any interest in how this community runs and what it does or what activities we partake in, attend [illegible] to show you care.

The Spilstead Ladies Society will be holding their annual pancake supper on Tuesday, from 5 to 7:30 p.m. Everyone is welcome.

Mrs. Anne Motkoski is home after spending several days in Kelowna visiting family.

Saturday afternoon visitors with Mr and Mrs. George Taylor were their son and family, Brian and Dineka Taylor, grandchildren Ronald, Barbara and Cathryne of St. Albert and they, with Brian's parents, visited with Robert and Marie Taylor of Viking during the afternoon.

Members of Holden Lodge Order of the Royal Purple, HRL Mary Semotiuk; PMIL Helen Bilyk, Ladies Anne Scherger, Anne Milimaka, Emily Ogonowski, Anne Rurka and Kate Nichols attended the meeting of Irma Lodge OORP on Feb. 21st, taking the travelling gavel which HRL Semotiuk presented to HRL Louise Prosser of Irma Lodge

The World Day of Prayer is being held this year in St Gregory's R.C. Church commencing at 1 p.m. with ladies from all churches in Holden taking part in the service. At the conclusion of the service the hostesses, ladies of the CWL, will serve lunch.

The Holden and Viking Girl Guides are combining their meetings this year under the Leadership of Mrs. Dorothy Emerson who is the District Commissioner, holding their meetings in Holden. On Sunday, they held their Thinking Day celebration in Viking Lutheran Church and on March 8th they will be holding a Fun and Frolic Day in the Bruce Curling Rink from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. with registration at 9:45 a.m.

larger School Zone signs are on order to be placed in the area of 50th Avenue and Secondary Road 834 to further ensure the safety of school children in that area

A committee composed of Councillors Tom Lytle and Jack Lampitt will meet with the Agricultural Society on Friday to negotiate an agreement regarding the Recreation Director's contract

The service contract on roof-top heating/air conditioning units on Town Hall has been awarded to Serv-All Mechanical Services Ltd. for a period of one year

In a discussion of new business, Councillor Lampitt brought up the subject of trees, namely black poplars, located in Lions Park, which grow like weeds and fill the air with a profusion of fluff every year. As this is the last year the power company will cut down and remove trees free of charge, that means that the task of such an endeavour in the future will be with the town. It was recommended that those trees be cut down entirely and removed, but a definite decision will be left until after the Lions Club meets to see how they feel about it

Only the black poplars are in question. The white poplars will remain and possibly less offensive trees, such as maple, could be planted. They grow to a lesser height but would provide shade and beauty.

Those areas of town where water has accumulated and frozen causing deep depressions on roadways will be graded to eliminate any further problems to motorists and property owners.

It was decided to table appointment of a Disaster Services Officer until the next meeting when the Town Administrator could be present.

District news from Ryley

by Lena Bell

The Ryley High School girls and boys played basketball in Tofield last Thursday evening and they both won their games. On Saturday, they went by bus with Ron Teske the driver, to Viking for more basketball games. The Viking girls won their game, coming out first and won a trophy Ryley girls came out second. The Ryley boys won their game and Tofield came out second.

Elmer and Kathleen Anderson were happy to have their granddaughter, Robin (Solberg) Murray and husband Jack who were married Feb. 18, drop in and visit them; also Elston and Maureen Solberg who were one of the best men and bridesmaids and their baby; and Craig Solberg, Henry Hafsos of Viking; the Lawrence Anderson's of Thorsby, Henry Podruzny's of Camrose and Lorne Anderson's of Tofield. It was the Ryley Ladies Auxiliary who served the wedding supper and last weekend, Ole Steffason of Wainwright dropped in to visit Elmer, and old-time friend. They worked on C.N.R. at Lindbrook a number of years ago Mrs George burton and daughter and Elli Pattison called in to pay them a visit during the week also

The Ryley girls also won their game last Tuesday evening against Daysland and the Tofield team lost to Daysland.

Seventeen senior citizens from Ryley went by bus to Viking last week to take in the opening of their new Senior Citizen's Centre.

Morley Anderson fell and hurt his ribs and is a patient in Tofield Hospital.

Agriculture Week Celebrations

Join us in celebrating Agriculture Week, March 5-11. Alberta Agriculture, in conjunction with the County of Beaver Agricultural Service Board are sponsoring a free pancake breakfast March 6. Pancakes and sausages will be served from 8 a.m. to 10:30 a.m. From 11 a.m. through to 3:30 p.m. will be presentations on the use of microcomputers on the farm. Be sure to join us for a day of fun and information. You may walk away with a door prize! Lunch will be available at a nominal cost.

The next evening, March 7, our focus turns to two generation farm families. A presentation by Jacquie Jevne, a farm wife and member of a multi-generation farm unit will open the evening. Students from the Tofield Drama class will present sketches regarding the take-over of the family farm.

The evening starts at 7:30 p.m. at the Holden Regional Arts Centre. Cost is $2 per person or $5 per family.

Involving several families in any business operation requires certain skills. Join us for an evening of practical information on making your farm family a cohesive unit.

To register, phone 663-3555.

Report from Parliament Hill

by [illegible] P.C., M.P.

The Budget A Failure

The federal budget tabled in the House of Commons by Finance Minister Lalonde on February 15th fails to address the serious problems facing the Canadian economy.

Unemployment

Nothing in the budget will have a significant impact on the major issue: unemployment. Today nearly 1.5 million Canadians are out of work — the same number as when the Special Recovery Program began a year ago. Mr. Lalonde himself projects that the unemployment rate will average 10.9% in 1984 and that over one million Canadians will remain unemployed in each of the next five years. The result of the government's failure to create jobs and lasting growth will be tremendous suffering and lost human potential.

Jobs For Youth

No group will be harder hit than young Canadians. Today one in five of our youth is unemployed. The $150 million in extra spending provided in the budget will not reduce this figure to any degree.

By denying young Canadians the opportunity to develop skills and gain experience, the government is wasting our most precious resource: the talents and energy of Canadians.

The government seems determined to rely on the uncertain recovery to create the jobs we require. Yet the deficit and continued high government spending threaten to abort the recovery before it fully takes hold.

The Deficit

The deficit for 1983/84 will be $31.5 billion, $300 million higher than projected last April. In 1984/85 it will be 29.6 billion, up $800 million from the previous forecast. In November 1981, then Finance Minister MacEachen projected a $8.5 billion dollar deficit for 1983/84 and a $10.0 billion deficit for 1984/85. The deficit is now three times that amount and is clearly out of control. There is no reason to believe that the latest projections are any more accurate than in the past.

Despite promises to reduce the deficit and control government spending, both continue to escalate. The increases will renew fears that the deficit will crowd out private borrowers, rekindle inflation and cause interest rates to rise. Unless interest rates come down, the investment required to produce jobs and growth will not take place.

Budget Proposals

The budget contains a host of promises to benefit Canadians. Many of these, such as the increase in pensions for senior citizens, the simplification of the tax system for small business, capital gains changes for farmers and a fairer deal for taxpayers fighting Revenue Canada, have been promised by our Party and we welcome their adoption. However, it remains to be seen if they will be implemented before an election.

Tax Increase

What the Minister failed to mention in his budget speech were the $865 million in new taxes for 1984 imposed by his previous budget. These still remain in place and will reduce consumer demand, thereby stifling the recovery.

This budget is a failure and will not contribute to a stronger economic future for Canada.

Holden and district news

by Anne Shevchook

Lawrence Pasnak of Edmonton, formerly of Holden, passed away suddenly at the University Hospital in Edmonton on Feb. 18, at the age of twenty-five years. Lawrence was born in the Tofield Hospital on July 14, 1958. He received his education from grades one to twelve in Holden and graduated in 1976. He continued his studies at Camrose Lutheran College, majoring in Education, and then he attended the University of Alberta for one year. His employment included work at the Land Titles Office, a cook for handicapped children and a job at McDonalds.

He leaves his mother, Victoria of Holden; two brothers, Darrell of Holden and Randy of Edmonton; his grandmother, Mary Pasnak of the Viking Nursing Home; numerous aunts, uncles, cousins and friends.

He was predeceased by his father, Benny.

Divine Liturgy was held at St. Mary's Ukrainian Catholic Church in Holden on Feb. 23. Rev. Oleksy Zachariasevych and Rev. Harry Boretsky as concelebrans.

Interment was in St. Mary's Ukrainian Catholic Church Cemetery in Holden.

Pallbearers were Shawn Hatherly, Jacques Toutant, Donald Horbach, Tim Maksymetz, Alex Horbach and Edward Payne. Mount Pleasant Funeral Chapel of Camrose was in charge of all funeral arrangements.

Public airs views ...on education

by Joan Murray

In 1983, the Alberta Teacher's Association conducted a public opinion survey throughout the province to determine community held views about public education.

The concerns voiced by the survey were that schools should concentrate more on basic education, improve discipline and offer more counselors on job training.

The Association decided to encourage local teachers to sit down with members of the community to discuss the kinds of changes that can be expected in education and how they can begin to plan for the future.

The teachers in the County of Beaver felt that before they could sit down and discuss the future of education it might be a good idea to find out how the present was perceived.

A parent attitude survey was sent out the week of February 20th to approximately 400 families. The response was more than anticipated, 286 families.

The two foremost benefits from this survey were that families considered the type of education their children were receiving and teachers got some feedback on how parents felt about the system.

Generally, the majority were satisfied with the overall performance of the schools but, concern was indicated in

Spiel is held

by Joan Murray

The final game in the First Event finals of the Tofield Men's open bonspiel on Sunday evening was tied and they had to play an extra end.

To top it all off, they had to measure the counting rocks to determine the champions.

Dale Wiseman rink of Ryley edged out Dave Sears of Tofield by half a mark.

Third for the Wiseman rink was Don Wagner, second was Bruce Peterson and lead was Henry Bekker.

Taking third place was the Ron Tesko rink of Ryley and fourth place went to the Dennis Vallieux rink of Tofield.

In the Second Event, the Armand Goubault rink of Tofield took first place. Curling with Goubault were Tom Eglseer, Ralph Leach and John Dann.

In this event, the Lyle Heigberg rink of Tofield took second place, Elmer Douglass of Ardrossan captured third place and Larry Sebin of Hay Lakes came in fourth.

The Third Event was won by Edmonton's Bernie Desjarlais with Jack Draper, Elmer Sorvisto and George Pyle.

Second place in the Third Event went to the Abe Peetoom rink of Tofield.

Cliff Gorden's rink of Tofield took third place and Bill Hoehn's rink of Holden came in fourth.

School future debated in Holden

by Joan Murray

At a public meeting held in Holden on Monday night, County of Beaver Superintendent Bill Schoeman stressed the fact that the purpose of this meeting was concerned mainly with the organization of instruction for students attending the Ryley and Holden schools.

The communities would first have to accept this proposal and then decisions would be made.

"Our first responsibility is for the students," he said. The solution to this lack of quality education the students are now receiving can be overcome by the proposal of kindergarten to grade 9; and kindergarten to grade six, along with grades 10, 11 and 12 facilities which was recently approved "in principle only" by the County of Beaver School Board.

The construction of a Home Ec and shop facility at Tofield, design of an improved study program, future construction for Holden School and Holden Colony were topics touched on briefly, as this public meeting was set up to inform the parents and concerned citizens of Holden community, just exactly what this Board has proposed and to discuss in depth the advantages, disadvantages, alternatives and general opinions of this proposal.

The School Board found that, since 1 980, the Holden School population has dropped from 481 to 406 and the Ryley School population decreased from 373 to 344, due in part, to people moving out of the area and to others sending their children to schools with higher quality education.

There is a general dissatisfaction with cycling programs as this procedure can result in a lapse in learning because of an unnatural progression of subjects. Doable programming is unsatisfactory because it does not allow the the teacher to concentrate fully on either the metric or general programs, which causes a reduced level of efficiency. Keeping the present system could result in combining two grades in one classroom because of such reduced numbers.

Inadequate facilities lead to limited options. Sometimes there is no choice because only one subject is available, making it no option at all. Students end up taking what they can get rather than what they desire for future needs. Higher standards must be achieved to ensure students being able to enter University and/or programs best suited to their abilities and future career plans.

Social and academic expectations of the community could be met with separate senior high school and junior high school facilities.

The Board proposes the solution of forming a K-6 school in one community and a K-9 with 10, 11, and 12 school in another because it would result in better programming as well as eliminating the need for correspondence courses; reduce teaching loads enabling the instructor to specialize in his chosen field; this would give students better quality education in each subject, result in better utilization of staff freeing some teachers for increased programs, produce valuable education programs in both communities; stabilizing the present school situation and alleviate fears and uncertainties of the parents; maintain the present situation of the senior high students having access to specialized areas but allows the junior high students to

Weatherill wins

By Joan Murray

After many challenging games, Shane Weatherill emerged victorious over 31 other members of the Tofield Curlers 4-4 Team Tkt.

He triumphed over Graham Adamson in the final game of the 83-84 session on Monday during the noon hour.

Third place was won by Sean Connolly.

Mr. Hastings, a grade 6 teacher at the Tofield School, runs this club every year. The first 32 students from grades 4-6 to bring their enrollment fee of one dollar make up the club. They meet every Wednesday at noon from Remembrance to Easter.

From now until April, there will be an open tournament involving anyone from grades 4 to 9.

The final tournament will be held on April 18th.

Looking wide

Education Minister David King recently announced a major review of the entire School Act in Alberta. He is asking for input from individuals, organizations, pressure groups, anybody interested in the future of education in Alberta.

It's almost fourteen years since the School Act last faced major revision and Mr. King thinks that one won't be ready till the fall of 1985. He wants one that will meet as much as possible the problems of today and hopefully be able to address some of the needs likely to develop in the next couple of decades.

Philosophies change, of course, even though some things are basic, and despite the vast increase in computer knowledge, there still remains the need to be able to assess the information available. Even to know where to find the information available can be a major challenge to computer users.

Mr. King, and probably his deputy minister Dr. Rene Rosetti, deserve congratulation over the far-seeing parameters established in the call for this review, this study, of the School Act.

Some concepts never considered before are to be addressed, such as compulsory attendance, and where that fits with the Canadian Charter of Rights. Is the 'right to education' an unlimited right, regardless of resources? Is the right limited, and if so, how and why? Does the Charter indicate an obligation for attendance, as part of our duty to society? What is meant by 'education'? Does it differ from 'training'? What are the roles of parents? Of professionals? Should there be a right to choose which aspect of the educational system one will support financially or otherwise? What is the range of a school board's operation? Its authority? And on, and on, and on.

Clearly, the people designing the survey have done an excellent job. They suggest that the government wants students treated equitably, not necessarily equally. They want to know where the public agrees or disagrees, what the teachers think, how the parents view things, who should pay, and how, what the students deserve, what they get, what we can afford, and much more.

Mr. King doesn't look for a new Act till the fall of '85, but surprisingly that doesn't leave much time for a really big job like this.

The first stage is a questionnaire going to every household, inviting public comment. There follows the arduous task of analyzing the results, evaluating them, preparing discussion papers, putting these before the public, developing principles and proposals which would form the foundation of a new School Act, then flying kites over this, amending it, and finally gaining endorsement.

More than a year and a half away.

But in policies such as this, that amounts almost to the 'day after tomorrow'.

Report from Parliament Hill

By Hon. Don Mazankowski
P.C. M.P

PC Task Force on Revenue Canada

I am pleased to report that the Leader of the Opposition, Brian Mulroney, M.P., has announced the formation of a Progressive Conservative Task Force on Revenue Canada.

"The government's continued stonewalling on Revenue Canada's abuse of Canadian taxpayers leaves us no alternative," said Mr. Mulroney. "Our requests for a thorough, public airing of the Department's dealings with Canadians have been repeatedly denied by the government.

"We believe that the people must be heard. We will therefore hold our own public inquiry into Revenue Canada."

The Chairman of the Task Force will be my colleague, the Honorable Perrin Beatty, the party's spokesman on Revenue Canada. He will be accompanied by four additional permanent members, John Bosley, Dr. Lorne Greenaway, the Honourable Robert Howie and Senator Guy Charbonneau.

Additionally, other members of Parliament will be joining the Task Force when it is in their region. The Task Force will conduct public hearings throughout the country to give Canadians the opportunity to express their concerns about the Revenue Department's treatment of individual taxpayers.

Mr. Mulroney announced that the purpose of the Task Force is to make recommendations on the management of Revenue Canada, the administration of the Income Tax Act, the powers of the Department and its tax collection techniques. For weeks, Revenue Canada has been the centre of controversy over its enforcement activities which include the setting of quotas for tax auditors, the seizing of taxpayers' bank accounts and other questionable practices.

The Task Force will begin its hearings in the first week of March and will be holding them in the major centres of the country. The Task Force will conduct its hearings with the utmost of fairness to all citizens appearing to be heard, including any employees of Revenue Canada, the vast majority of whom are trying to do a good job. The services of Drache, Goldstein, Rotenberg and Horwitz, a prominent Ottawa law firm with extensive experience in income tax matters have been retained.

I know that individuals and businesses within the constituency have experienced problems with Revenue Canada. Should any of you wish to attend the hearings in Edmonton, they will take place on Monday, March 12, Edmonton Convention Centre, Room 3, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

For those who might be interested in appearing before the Task Force you should contact my Vegreville office.

Mazankowski responds to tax issues

Don Mazankowski, M.P., responded to Prime Minister Trudeau's challenge to the Opposition to specifically identify cases in which Revenue Canada has been unduly aggressive and intimidating in its pursuit of income tax assessments and collections.

On December 21, 1983, responding to a series of questions raised in the House of Commons by the Progressive Conservative Opposition concerning the current practices of Revenue Canada, Mr. Trudeau said "Can they give any cases where a taxpayer of Canada has been forced to pay taxes that he did not owe. If there is a doubt, if there is any over-zealous employee, the Minister would be happy to hear of the case and set it right."

Mr. Mazankowski's response indicated that in December alone, eight cases were brought to his attention in which individuals felt they were being unfairly penalized by the system. So far, at least one case had been resolved in favour of the taxpayer and Mr. Mazankowski urged the Prime Minister to ensure that all of the individuals involved received fair and equitable treatment.

The current practice of the Department, which is to establish a high level of tax owing, then demand payment in full while forcing the taxpayer into a long and costly appeal process, is unfair" said Mr. Mazankowski.

Revenue Canada has even gone so far as to try and con five air fares owing to third parties. This can have a particularly harsh impact on small businesses and subcontractors who see their payments redirected to the tax department."

"No one questions the legal right of the Department to ensure that the Income Tax Act is upheld" continued Mr. Mazankowski. "However, there comes a time when commonsense should prevail. It appears that Revenue Canada have forgotten this rule."

"For our tax system to function, there must be two way trust between the government and the taxpayer. The current actions of Revenue Canada are eroding that trust and this trend must be reversed."

As well, Mr Mazankowski expressed concern that leaked departmental memos had established that a quota system exists within Revenue Canada. "Such a policy seriously threatens the integrity of our tax system and I hope that it will be abolished immediately" he concluded.

Grade 12 test results revealed

Education Minister David King has released the provincial results of the Grade 12 diploma examinations administered in January. Individual results statements are being mailed to approximately 25,000 students this week.

In releasing the examination results, Mr. King stated that he was pleased with the overall results in English 30, English 33, Social Studies 30, and Chemistry 30

Approximately 8,000 students took the English 30 examination and achieved an average mark of 61.1 per cent. Per the almost 4000 students who wrote English 33, the average examination mark was 63.8 per cent. The average of school-awarded marks in English was 63.7 per cent, while that of English 33 was 68.2 per cent.

Approximately 7,100 students wrote the Social Studies 30 examination and achieved an average mark of 62.4 per cent. The average of school-awarded marks in Social Studies 30 was 64.5 per cent.

Nearly 5,700 students wrote the Chemistry 30 examination, attaining an average mark of 62.5 per cent. The average of school-awarded marks in Physics 30 was 67.6 per cent.

Examinations in Mathematics 30, Biology 30, Chemistry 30, and Social Studies 30 are available in both English and French. Thirty students in Mathematics 30 and two students in Social Studies 30 chose to write the examinations in French. The marks achieved by these students are included in the above-noted summaries.

A student's final standing in a diploma examination course is made up of 50 per cent of the diploma examination mark and 50 per cent of the mark awarded by the school. In order to obtain credit in any of these courses, the student must earn a final course mark of 50 per cent. Results statements for individual students will show all three of these marks.

A detailed analysis of the examination results will be prepared in March to assist schools and school boards in monitoring their students' strengths and weaknesses in relation to the key objectives of the programs of study.

In explaining the difference between the school-awarded mark and the diploma examination mark, Mr King stated that the school-awarded mark reflects achievement in all of the objectives of a course while the diploma examination score reflects achievement in those major objectives of a course that can be examined by a paper-and-pencil test.

Loose Ends

by Carol Livingstone

DEAR LORD

I have no sense of direction. Oh, I know all the easy ones up and down, forward and backward, right and left — but start talking north, south, east or west and you might as well be speaking Swahili. "We live 5 miles south, ½ mile east" is as effective as pointing and telling that you live "somewhere over there". It's worse in metric. I don't live on the east side of town, I live "down the street from that big white church". My house doesn't face north or south, it faces "the street".

It's true. If you want to lose me, just take me into the city, any city, turn a few quick corners and then leave me on the sidewalk. You'll never be troubled with me again. You can understand why I seldom go on any long trips with my husband without first checking that his mood is good.

I make a lousy navigator. I travel through the use of landmarks. If someone moves or eliminates a landmark I'm in trouble. Don't laugh, they have been removing a lot of those in the last few years. When we lived in Calgary I used the downtown bus depot as a landmark. When leaving the Bay, I knew that I wasn't lost when I saw the BUS sign across the street. They moved that depot and after that I'd wander aimlessly inside the Bay, looking for a place to camp until the security people arrested me or my husband sent out a search party, whichever came first. Fortunately, we moved before they decided to tear down the Bay, as well.

On camping trips I just follow my family and hope that they love me enough to keep me in sight. (Following your nose only works when the driver knows where it's going.) On camping trips I just follow my family and hope that they love me enough to keep me in sight. (Following your nose only works when the driver knows where it's going.) I don't really worry though. If they lose me, the after-camping laundry would never get done.

It's somewhat depressing and very scarey, never knowing where you are. I'm lucky though — so far I have little trouble remembering where I've been or where I'm going (although "why" is another question altogether), and in case of emergencies I have a slip of paper with my name, address and telephone number on it, pinned to my inner thigh.

Education . . .

...ing, foreign languages, general attitude towards citizenship and proper values.

On the evening of Feb. 27th, parents and teachers met to discuss what the future might hold for education.

The general feeling was that while a basic education was still very important, especially in the language arts area), it should be broadened to include computer literacy, expanded fine arts and foreign language programs.

It was almost a unanimous feeling that personal and career counselling was a necessity in today's educational system.

At the meeting, 42 parents and 35 teachers were present.

Mrs. Patte Sinclair and Len Sutherland (organizers of the evening), said they were more than pleased with discussions that took place.

School future . . .

...have these same advantages; increase program offerings such as drama or foreign languages; increase class numbers to allow for better interaction between teacher and pupil. Larger numbers promote motivation and more interesting class discussions. At present in Math 30, there are 16 students in Ryley and 11 in Holden. Combine the two for a class of 21 and you create this kind of classroom atmosphere; allow for an eight period day, a concept that would partially eliminate the semester system and allow students continuity in many subjects throughout the year. Only options would have to be on a semester system. The trend across the province ...

...program. This will be investigated carefully and does not depend on the issue at hand.

The disadvantages of the proposal are mainly in the area of transportation. Don Kondrat, Supervisor of Instruction, approached the podium and proceeded to outline the optional bus routes with slides projected on the gym wall. Busing would increase for about 130 students. Travel time could increase by 10 or 15 minutes. They have considered a feeder bus system, express bus system or a combination of both. Load factor and time factor have to be considered before a decision can be made. The fact ... to leave their home community did not seem of great concern at this time.

A question period of ... minutes was allowed. Most were directed at Mr. Kondrat. In answer to inquiries, he assured the people that there would be no additional burden on K-6 students and government grants would cover costs of buses and repairs.

Many wanted to know if this was the only solution. Mr. ... he could see, but if anyone had ... they could air them in smaller group discussions to follow.

It was also asked if this change was being done for economic reasons. The answer was that the main concern was for the betterment of the students but as a result the tax dollars would be utilized to the fullest. These two factors contributed to the Board being unanimous on this issue.

The meeting was interupted for coffee and to divide the crowd into six smaller discussion groups. Each went to separate areas to discuss the ... lively debates, the group leaders asked their secretaries to step up to the microphone and tell what went on in their group.

As a whole, they were in agreement that the quality of education would increase, and the lack of foreign languages would handicap students in entering university programs and applying for government positions in the future.

The fringe area parents were concerned over their options as to where their children would be allowed to attend school. They were satisfied by the fact that they would be notified far enough in advance to approach the Board as to their preferences.

No one came up with a viable alternative although several were discussed.

A general feeling remained in a majority for the proposal, a few against and a few abstainers.

School trustee, John Warner closed the meeting with the remark, "If people don't let us what they think, we don't know what they want. This meeting was designed for this purpose."

Holden and district news

by Mrs. G.H. Taylor

Mrs. Margaret Hallett has been a patient for over the past week in Viking Hospital with the flu. Mrs. Anne Scherger and Mrs. Helen Zwierschke were visiting with her on Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Bill Laskoski who had been a patient in Tofield Hospital for several days, returned to the Lodge early last week.

Other residents of Holden Senior Citizens Lodge, patients in Tofield hospital, were Mrs. Melania Sherwaren and Joe Grestyayes has been there for some time.

Steve Tkacsyk is a patient in Viking Hospital.

Annie and Fred Tchir returned home last week after holidaying for two weeks visiting their daughter, Desdra and family, Mr and Mrs. Hamblin, in Vancouver Island, B.C.

Mr and Mrs. Bruce Budd were recent weekend visitors with their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Mary in St. Albert. On the Monday, they drove down to Leduc and ventured with Mrs. Beth Campbell in Extendicare Nursing Home and also called on Marjorie and Ken Campbell.

Mrs. Kasprick has been a patient for the past several days in Tofield Hospital, after suffering a slight heart attack.

Mrs. Helen Sieczyk left Saturday afternoon for Ft. Saskatchewan, spending the weekend with her son and family, Dr. and Mrs. Bob Sieczyk to see her grandchildren take part in an ice show.

Mr and Mrs. Jim Budd of Camrose were Sunday evening guests with his parents, Mae and Bruce Budd.

Rose and Ken Sharpe returned home on the weekend from Florida where they have been enjoying a week's holiday.

Mrs. Helen Zwierschke, after being a Monday visitor in Edmonton with Aileen, drove home via Leduc and called on Mrs. Beth Campbell.

Mrs. Annie E. Miller of Vegreville, a sister of George J. Giebelhaus, passed away on March 1st at the age of 89 years. She is survived by one son, Gordon; four daughters, Mrs. Burton (Edna) Thorney, Mrs. Al (Alma) Jansen, Mrs. Ron (Elaine) Lowe, all of Vegreville, and Mrs. Allen (Anne) Christenson of Holden; 15 grandchildren; 39 great-grandchildren; one sister, Mrs. Ross (Margaret) Zwierschke of Vegreville, formerly of Holden, four brothers, George J. Giebelhaus of Holden, Adam and Henry of Fort St. John (former Holden residents) and Con J. of Camrose, who was also a former Holdenite. She was predeceased by her husband George in 1969, a granddaughter Beverly Ann Miller in 1983 and one brother, John in 1969. The funeral was held on Monday in Salem United Church with Rev. R. Seal officiating and interment was in the church cemetery.

The Holden and District history book will be launched at the Holden Homecoming on August 4-5-6. The books will not be sold before the launching date and all pictures will be returned with the book.

Miss Inger Melby of Vancouver, B.C., who has been a guest of Mrs. Ethel Brekstad for a few days while visiting with her brother, Conrad Melby, a patient in Tofield Hospital, returned home last Thursday morning.

The World Day of Prayer, which was held on Friday in St. Gregory's R.C. Church, was very well attended with many members of the various churches taking part in the service and rendering special music. The guest speaker was Sister Joan Kirk. Mrs. Peggy Brown accompanied the singing of the last hymn with playing the violin and had a short solo. After the service, the ladies of the C.W.L. served lunch.

Girls keep busy schedule

Again this year, besides their meetings once a week, Tofield Brownies, Guides and Pathfinders have been involved in several exciting outings with more in the planning stages.

The Brownies invited the Edson Brownie Pack to spend a November weekend in Tofield. The girls enjoyed a pot-luck lunch, a sleigh ride at the Allan Gill farm and a trip to the Planetarium.

In December, enrollment took place. Eleven youngsters gave their pledges to the Commissioner to become full fledged Brownies. Those enrolled were Jessica Coleman, Erin Lee, Jenny Koss, Melanie Nahirniak, Crystal Norton, Shannon Quinn, Candace Regehr, Dawn Sutton, Shannon Sears, Charlene [illegible]

The girls met at May Korobko's on Feb. 4 for a winter adventure outing. Despite the cool day, all seemed to enjoy the day outdoors.

On February 18, the [illegible] rollerskating at Sportworld.

Thinking Day was on February 22, celebrating the joint birthdays of Lord and Lady Baden Powell. To acknowledge this, a Brownie display was set up in the library. The girls wore their uniforms to school and a program entertained the parents in the evening.

The Guides had their enrollment in December and the new members are Deanna Brown, Catherine Curtis, Pamela Lysons, Misty Hagerman, Stacey Herricks, Shawna Ryan and Robin Sandal. On February 23rd another enrollment was held with the two new members being Stacey Larin and Shannon Larin bringing the number of members to 16.

During regular meetings, the Guides have been learning to knit with help from Phyllis Falls, Esther Anderson and Irene Lang. Lynn Gates also attended a meeting displaying the spinning of raw fleece.

Don Carlson attended a meeting with films and discussions on fire safety skills. The Guides visited the Fire Station and will be tested by Mr. Carlson for their fire safety badges in the near future.

On March 3, the Guides travelled to a Guide Fair at Hay Lakes. Part of the money donated by the Legion to the Brownies, Guides and Pathfinders was used for this trip as well as the rollerskating trip.

The girls will be working on a history badge with May Korobko assisting.

Pathfinders are in their first year with members being Ann Tiedemann and Sandra Porisky.

The girls meet with the Brownies every Wednesday evening helping the ladies with various Brownie activities.

Ann and Sandra attended a camp at the Cutty Sark Club on Feb 25 and 26 They enjoyed a weekend of crafts and [illegible]

The girls have recently applied for attendance to the International camp in Quebec scheduled for this summer.

New books have been arriving regularly at the Tofield Library during recent weeks. If you do not see the one you want, ask to have it put on reserve for you.

This week look for Andrew Greeley's newest title, "Ascent into Hell" based on a priest's choice between two worlds.

Mary Stewart has added a postscript to her extremely popular Merlin trilogy, a biographical novel of the life of Mordred, the son of King Arthur. As well-written as all her novels, this one ties up the loose ends in a different fashion than most versions of the legend.

For royalty-watchers, a look at "Charles and Diana's First Royal tour" will be a treat, with its many photographs of the country of Australia, and of the royal couple.

Closer to home, another book of excellent photographs is "Western Wildlife" by Dennis and Esther Schmidt.

Tofield has a considerable Ukrainian population, many of whom may be particularly interested in these two new books. Michael Czuboka has written "Ukrainian Canadian, Eh?" a collection of short biographies of modern famous Ukrainian Canadians, as well as a history of the hardy pioneers from the Ukraine. The second book "The Glistening Furrow" by Sophia Slobodian, is a fictional account of pioneer hardships in the Canadian West.

The Friday Preschool Story Hour is full, but there are a few places left on Tuesdays at 10 a.m. Also the Tuesday Booktime for students in K-3, at 4 p.m. has room for a few more. These programs will continue until April 3, take a break, and then resume on April 24 for eight weeks.

Regular library hours remain at Tuesday 1-5; Thursday 3-5 and 6-9; Friday and Saturday 10-12 and 1-5.

The following article is taken from the Weekly Letter which is published by the Research Station, Swift Current, Saskatchewan (Agriculture Canada)

WHEAT VARIETIES FOR 1984

Leader, Columbus, Katepwa and Neepawa are choice hard red spring wheat varieties for 1984.

Katepwa resembles Neepawa in many characteristic s. In addition, Katepwa may yield slightly more than Neepawa, has better leaf and stem rust resistance and threshes easier.

Wet weather between swathing and combining can cause grain to bleach or sprout. The grain of Leader and Columbus have more resistance to sprouting and weathering than other varieties. Better grades might be obtained with these two varieties.

Leader, a variety developed at the Swift Current Research Station, has resistance to wheat stem sawfly. Leader yields about the same as Neepawa in southwestern Saskatchewan even when sawflies are not a problem. Last year Leader tolerated the August heat as well or better than other varieties.

Leader matures two days earlier than Columbus and about two days later than Neepawa. Columbus is later maturing and should be sown early. Leader and Neepawa are similar in height and about 2 to 3 inches shorter than Columbus. Neepawa and Columbus have stronger straw than Leader

Both Leader and Columbus are more susceptible to root rot than Neepawa. However, Leader and Columbus have better leaf rust resistance than Neepawa.

When choosing a variety one should give consideration to special features of a variety For examples, the longer straw of Columbus may be desirable on lighter soils, but undesirable under irrigation Also, the taller straw is desirable for snow trapping. The grain of Neepawa is held tightly in the head. This is a two-edged sword' Neepawa does not shatter easily, but it also requires more energy to thresh the seed out of the head and the dockage can be expected to be higher than that of Leader, Columbus and Katepwa. Lengthening the rotation may cause wheat stem sawflies to build up. Consideration should be given to using the sawfly resistant variety Leader for a period in the rotation.

HY320 is a high yielding, semidwarf, red spring wheat. It has quality different from all existing classes and no official class name has been established. Its quality has been referred to as "3M" indicating a medium hard kernel, medium protein content, and medium gluten strength. The Canadian Wheat Board will contract for about 100,000 acres in 1984.

HY320 yields about 30 per cent more than Neepawa both under dryland and irrigated conditions. It has strong straw that is about 6 inches shorter than Neepawa HY320 has resistance to leaf rust and shattering. It is, however, susceptible to both loose smut and bunt Both of these diseases can be controlled by fungicides. It is about 4 days later maturing than Neepawa and should be sown early

Fielder is a soft white spring wheat which the Canadian Wheat Board might contract for production in the irrigated areas Fielder is an awned, semidwarf type that requires about 4 days longer to mature than Neepawa. It yields about 25 per cent more than Neepawa

These varieties can be observed in the field during the summer at the Agriculture Canada Research Stations at Swift Current, Regina, Indian Head, Melfort, Saskatoon and Scott or at the University of Saskatchewan in Saskatoon

FAIRWELL TO COUNTY OF BEAVER

As my contract has now expired in the Ryley District Office, I would like to take this opportunity to wish the County of Beaver fairwell. During the year I have been fortunate to have met many progressive and receptive farmers Farmers come to D A 's for advice and information. Dealing with the farming community is also a learning experience for us. I am pleased to say that I have gained experience from working with you and hope that my services have been of benefit to the area.

Here's hoping that 1984 brings top production, top prices and accessible markets to sell to! Sincerely, Barb Bennett, D.A.

Mazankowski visits

by Joan Murray

Conservative M.P. Don Mazankowski and his wife, Lorraine, greeted members of the Tofield community attending an open house coffee party in the Tofield Legion Hall on Saturday afternoon.

George Nerlman was also present to talk with the people and answer any questions they might have

For the first portion of this gathering, Mr. Mazankowski mingled with the crowd discussing any topic of concern.

He then addressed the crowd with the commitments that the Conservative Party have made to the Canadian public, some of which were to remove the 9% sales tax on farm fuels, to reinstate VIA Rail passenger service and to alleviate unemployment by concentrating on the Nations natural strengths such as forestry, fisheries, agriculture and energy.

He said "New wealth would have to be generated to support senior citizens' pensions and medicare and to restore the financial viability of this country "

He went on to talk about the fact that we have a 31.5 billion dollar deficit in Canada, and if the basic industries could get back into full production combined with the private sector being induced to take necessary risks and initiatives, this could once again be a productive country and show a decrease in this vast sum.

While he was visiting in Vancouver, B.C., Barrie, Ont., and St. John, N.B., recently, he concluded from public comments that the people of Canada as a whole seem to want some sense of personal security, a decent living and a secure future.

He said that if there is an election before 1985, the Conservative Party "will win if we deserve it."

He then invited the group to air their views and welcomed any comments or questions.

Some of the main topics brought up were the Crow rate, western grain stabilization program and the metric system.

Spilstead news items

by M. Fisher

This past week has seen the Pathfinders, Cubs, Scouts and their leaders working very diligently on various handicrafts for their first tea and bazaar which will be held at Spilstead Hall on Saturday, from 1 to 4 p.m. This is a chance for members of the Community to come out and see for themselves what the young people are accomplishing. Anyone who would like to rent a table at this bazaar, to sell their own articles, please call 662-2752 for information.

The monthly bingo will be held at Spilstead Hall on Thursday at 7:30 p.m.

Anyone having any articles they wish to have included in this column, please give me a call at 662-2752.

Playdowns commence

Semi-final action in the Beaverhill Hockey League is underway, with action starting this week.

Tofield Satellites are facing Mundare in one best of seven series while Lamont and Vegreville are meeting in the other match-up.

Both series got underway last night (Tuesday) with games in Tofield and Lamont.

Satellites will go to Mundare on Thursday with a return game in Tofield on Saturday and the fourth game goes in Mundare one week from yesterday (Tuesday).

Games in the other series are slated for tonight (Wednesday), Saturday and Tuesday with Lamont having home advantage.

The winners will advance to the league finals which will also be a best of seven series.

Tofield was assured of second place and home advantage in the semi-finals when they whipped Vegreville 7-3 in their final game in the regular schedule.

Satellites' involvement in provincial playoffs came to an end in Bentley on Friday night.

Bentley edged the Satellites 6-4 to win their total goal series in Northern Alberta quarter-finals by a 13-7 margin.

Curlers win

by Joan Murray

The Tofield Junior High Girls' curling team were successful in capturing first place in the county competitions, which were held in Holden.

Leanne Sears, Doralynne Murphy, Karen Sware and Odette Weder, proudly brought the girls' trophy back to Tofield for the first time since 1980, when Trudy Williams' team won it.

The boys' team consisting of Leonard Eglauer, Willie Baker, Curtis Schack and Kelcey Carlisle lost in a close match with Ryley School at this same competition.

In Senior High curling, Vanita Eglauer, Richard Baron, Sharleen Weiss and Grant Taylor made up the rink which placed 2nd in zone competition.

They earned the right to compete in this event after coming first in both county and regional tournaments earlier.

The boys' team, as well as the girls' team were eliminated during the county playoffs.

Winner

Sigurd Snortheim of Ryley was the lucky winner of a VCR machine. He is being congratulated by Ryley Legion President Walter Williams. Proceeds of this raffle went to the Ryley Senior Citizen's Sunshine Club. Joan Murray photo

AOC
FINANCING ALBERTA BUSINESS

The Alberta Opportunity Company provides financial and counselling assistance to small business enterprises.

Tools of the Trade.

Ask just about any oilman in northeast Alberta what the oil patch was like before George Grant and Ernie Schack. To order special custom tools, you had to call Houston, wait seven or eight months, and spend a Texas-size fortune.

That's why Ernie and George decided to start Endiem Oil Tools Ltd. in Lloydminster five years ago. Their company would make, sell and service tools for the oil industry locally, taking less time and money to deliver.

There was one snag, however. Since their idea had never been tried in Alberta before, regular lenders were reluctant to finance them. George and Ernie then approached the AOC.

The AOC recognized the merit of their idea and gave them the financing they needed. From a company of three people, Endiem Oil Tools today has grown and prospered into a firm employing 25.

If you have a sound business idea, but you're unable to obtain financing through regular sources, call or visit your nearest AOC office and ask for our brochure, Financing Alberta Business.

Toros lose in opener

Playoffs in the County Senior Hockey League got underway on the past weekend with games in Tofield and Camrose.

Tofield Toros ended the regular schedule in second place despite losing their last game in the regular schedule and will have home advantage in their best of five semi-final [illegible].

The first game was played in Tofield on Monday night and the second match is scheduled for Tofield on Friday night with the third game slated for Camrose on Saturday.

Camrose Blackhawks whipped Rosalind 9-4 in the opening game of the other series which has games scheduled for Saturday and Sunday.

Toros hosted Nurnette on Friday night in a regular league game and were whipped 9-4 in a game that resulted in Nurnette finishing the schedule in third place, ahead of [illegible].

Scoring details from that contest were not available.

The same teams went back at it on Monday night in the opening playoff game with Nurnette totally dominating the game as they blasted the Toros by a 15-3 count.

It was an excellent contest for the visitors while, in contrast, Toros just couldn't seem [illegible].

Final statistics (individual) are expected to be released [illegible].
